RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GATES and SARGE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 32.

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1943.

Whereas, The observance of the Sabbath Day is a national heritage of great price; and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has always been in the forefront among the States comprising this Nation in its recognition of this sacred Day; and

Whereas, In wartime, the distress of the people of the world and of this Country as an active participant has punctuated and emphasized the value of this Holy Day; and

Whereas, The Churches of our land, by virtue of their observance of the Sabbath Day in Pennsylvania and throughout our Country, are making a vital contribution to the high morale necessary to its advancement; and

Whereas, The Sabbath Day is being observed by the members of our armed forces in every part of the world; and

Whereas, The House of Representatives and the Senate desire to demonstrate their deep interest in the continued observance of this sacred Day; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the Legislature hereby acknowledges the contribution to our Country's development and spiritual well-being through consecrated observance of the Sabbath Day; and

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, shall issue, publish and declare an appropriate proclamation to the people of Pennsylvania emphasizing the importance and value of Sabbath Day observance.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. GROSS and WALTON. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 33.

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1943.

Whereas, The experience of every civilized country in the world as exemplified by the laws on their statute books governing the practice of pharmacy, including those on the statute books of all of the states of our own country, requires that a pharmacist shall have at least four years of professional training in a college of pharmacy to make him a safe person to be entrusted with the responsibility of handling the many dangerous drugs and medicines prescribed by physicians, such as strychnine, morphine, sulfamilamide, bichloride of mercury, serums and vaccines, etc., and

Whereas, Members of the armed forces of the United States and especially those of them who are overseas at various fighting fronts, are entitled to receive, and it is the policy and desire of the people of the United States to furnish to them, the best treatment and meet proficient services within the power and capacity of the people and especially to furnish proficient and skillful graduate pharmacists to safeguard the health and lives of its fighting men; and

Whereas, The compounding and dispensing of drugs and medicines is essentially a professional service requiring great skill, intimate knowledge and experience with drugs and medicines; and

Whereas, This can only be accomplished by creating a Pharmacy Corps in the Army, which will have the authority required and the personnel of which will be adequately educated and trained for the purchase, selection, manufacture, standardization, storage and dispensing of medicines and for such other pharmaceutical and administrative duties as their education and training qualifies them to perform; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to pass Senate Bill No. 216 (House Bill No. 997), which creates a Pharmacy Corps in the Army of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of Congress and to each United States Senator and Congressman from Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. DENMAN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 34.

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1943.

Whereas, Many members of the armed forces of our Country on active duty outside the states of their residence have been required to pay taxes and secure automobile owners' and operators' licenses in states in which they are temporarily stationed, regardless of the length of their stay, so that their burdens are increased, as are their indignation against the governments and civilian populations of these states; and

Whereas, For our Country's common good, it behooves those of us still at home to treat with solicitation and respect the myriads of our young men and women who have temporarily left families and friends, homes and jobs, in their native states, to serve with the armed forces of our Nation in other states, in order to keep up their morals and fortify their strength; and

Whereas, For these purposes there have been introduced into the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania bills exempting nonresidents of the Commonwealth in the armed forces in time of war from all motor vehicle registration and license fees while stationed in Pennsylvania, and prohibiting the collection of Pennsylvania state and local taxes from any person in the armed forces not a resident of the Commonwealth and not declaring his intention of becoming such; and

Whereas, It is the conviction of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania that the passing of similar laws by all the states of the United States would create and encourage necessary good-will among the members of the armed forces of America temporarily stationed in states other than their residence toward said states and their citizens; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to request and urge the General Assemblies of all other states of the United States to pass similar legislation without delay, exempting nonresidents from taxes and automobile licenses of the states in which they are temporarily serving with the armed forces of our Country; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be promptly transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to the National and Pennsylvania secretaries of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled War Veterans.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

My dear Speaker:

The cordial invitation of the Legislature of Pennsylvania for Madame Chiang Kai-Shek to appear in Pennsylvania was duly transmitted.

I have received from Madame Chiang her expressions of keen regret that she is unable to comply with our request. Her declination was upon orders from her physician.

The gracious manner in which she declined, I know, would have been inspiring to the Members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to oppose the final passage of House Bill 232, inasmuch as I do not consider it a fair measure for consideration by this House of Representatives. The bill, as the title indicates, states that it is designed to revamp the system in the Clerk of Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County. It states that it changes the title of certain deputy clerks and other employes, also equalizes the salaries thereof.

However, Mr. Speaker, it does not do exactly that. It brings back to the halls of this House the time-honored system of job-grabbing and pork-barrel politics to the tune of two more jobs on a very much overloaded payroll, and also a further increase of approximately twenty-five thousand dollars in the payroll of the Court of Quarter Session of Philadelphia County.

We of Philadelphia for many years have been trying to cut down the expenses of running our city government. The people of the city of Philadelphia have been frustrated from time to time in their efforts to cut down the heavy budget of the city of Philadelphia. Within recent years we have been in the position to have city council pare down the budget to a certain extent, and now we come to a legislative session and different departments who obtain their salaries from the Legislature come knocking at the door of the Legislature to obtain salary increases in the face of an already overloaded payroll.

It is not fair to the people of the city of Philadelphia, it is not fair to the Members of the House to ask them to give increases, when we are trying to cut down local taxation as much as possible, so that the people of the city of Philadelphia and the people of the Commonwealth can do their bit in contributing to the war effort.

If we go on haphazardly increasing salaries it will not permit us to buy bonds and stamps that we would like to buy in order to contribute our part to the war effort. However, I feel that possibly this bill will go down to defeat. It still is a further indication, as one of our Philadelphia newspapers very properly said a few weeks ago when this matter was up for consideration, that those things which belonged to Caesar must be rendered to Caesar. Caesar is not dead, Caesar's ghost still lurks in City Hall in Philadelphia and the Legislature of Pennsylvania must do its bidding.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, during the latter part of last week and the beginning of this week much has been said about House Bills 312 and 313. It is not my purpose today to go into the demerits or merits of these pieces of legislation. I think that is now a matter of written record. I only want to impress upon the membership of this House that if this is the type of legislation desired by his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, when he came before the joint session of the Assembly and asked that petty politics be discontinued, that matters of local issue be cast aside to make way for the big picture ahead, for the picture of cooperation between the state government and the federal government, between Members of the Legislature and the executive offices of the Commonwealth, then I do not believe that we know the definition of the word cooperation. The truth of the matter lies in the record, gentlemen. These bills, as has been explained to you, are an attempt to return the vicious, fraudulent bail racket to Philadelphia, and I say to you today that if the people from Tioga County, if the people from Delaware County or if the Representatives from every other county within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania want to pass legislation to return the bail racket to Philadelphia, then those Representatives in the General Assembly today will vote for House Bill 312 and House Bill 313. If we desire, on the other hand, to do our legislative duty and turn back this vicious legislation, the kind which we are now to debate, I say to you you will vote clearly and distinctly against these measures and give to the people of Philadelphia the type of government that they desire to have.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, you hear a lot today about the meat shortage in Philadelphia. It is very evident there is plenty of political pork there. In regard to House Bill 232, we are advancing one gentleman in Philadelphia, a Deputy Clerk, from six thousand to eight thousand dollars. To the Clerk who is being paid twelve hundred dollars, we are giving nothing. We want to be fair about this and treat the employes equally. There is one man who is making six thousand dollars. Why do we give him two thousand dollars more and give to the janitor nothing? Those who are making fourteen hundred dollars, why do we give them an extra one hundred dollars? Those who are making seventeen hundred dollars, why do we give them an extra one hundred dollars, if we want to be generous about it and take a thousand dollars off Deputy Clerk?

It is very evident, Mr. Speaker, that the Deputy Clerk in Philadelphia is not worth such a salary. He does less work in my opinion than those clerks that he has under him and they are getting fourteen hundred dollars apiece, or the janitor. So, I say to the Members of the House this is a little bit of political pork grabbing by the Republican party in Philadelphia.

In regard to House Bill 312, which is a bill to steal four jobs from the Democrats, I warn Republicans of Philadelphia that this bill will come back to haunt them when we have another disgraceful spectacle in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in the course of this debate we heard certain statements made that there was no change in the machinery of the present setup with regard to House Bills 312 and 313. You know at the present time the City Controller in Philadelphia is the Bail Commissioner who certifies every bail piece entered, and we have heard on the floor of this House statements made by proponents of the bill that there is no change in the machinery. We have also heard statements by these same proponents to the effect that the Controller's records are records open to the public, and that any of the other department heads may come in and get them. You have also heard of the argument with regard to that, namely that those records are not public property, and no other department head can go in and get them. There is nothing in these bills which transfers those records to the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Here is the situation which you will create if these bills pass here today. You will be transferring the duties of the City Controller with regard to the taking of bail without transferring the records in his possession. Those records are very important, and I say to you that the effect of the passage of these bills will be to destroy the present system of entering bail in Philadelphia.

We have not heard a single word of criticism against the present Bail Commissioner. Why then should we change it? We have not been shown that the present Commissioner has not been doing his duty properly. We have not been shown that anybody else can do it better. If that is the case, gentleman, why pass these bills? We are here to legislate for the purpose of improving conditions. Thus far we have not heard where these bills will improve conditions. On the contrary we have found, and the facts are present to testify to the effect that the present set-up is really the best set-up. The present Bail Commissioner, the Controller, is the watch dog. We all believe in the check and balance system. That is the system upon which our government is predicated. Here under the present system we have a check and balance in the matter of taking bail. If you pass these bills you remove the check and balance system in taking bail, and you make it possible to restore in Philadelphia the bail racketeering which existed prior to the enactment of the laws which are presently on our statute books.

Therefore, not with the sense of bias or prejudice or party politics, I submit to you, gentlemen, on the basis of logic and good government, these bills should be defeated.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in what order are we taking the bills?

The SPEAKER. In the order in which they appear on the calendar, House Bill No. 232, Printer's No. 43. The next will be House Bill 312, Printer's No. 49; the next, House Bill 319, Printer's No. 50.

Mr. SKALE. Do I understand that a separate vote will be taken on each bill?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Bentley, Mihm, Levy and Chudoff asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

There will be a Caucus of the Democratic Members during recess in the old House Caucus Room.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess for fifteen minutes. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER. The time of recess having expired the House will come to order.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FIGLOCK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we, in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, pride ourselves on living in one of the greatest, if not the greatest, state in these United States. Pennsylvania is one of the original thirteen colonies which comprised America a long time ago. We have made tremendous strides in all phases of civilization and yet we have neglected a very large percentage of our citizens who, in peace times devote their energies to character moulding, and who, in war time, as now, are confronted with additional tasks such as Red Cross drives, welfare drives, the sale of war bonds, salvage drives, assistance in rationing and other necessary war time labors.

These people I speak of are your teachers. Other states even before the war have paid them a desert salary,—why can't we? It is an undispuable fact that the cost of living has risen 39% or more since the outbreak of the war. Teachers today, because of this rise, are unable to support their families properly.

In the coal fields, and I know whereof I speak, the salaries of the teachers are so low that many of my friends in the profession have resorted to borrowing money from whatever source possible to maintain a decent standard of living. In my district the teachers have on occasions waited a long time for their salaries. Sometimes as long as three months, with the result that they spent their pay before they got it. This condition is bad enough—underpaying them makes it worse. The teaching profession and its problems cannot be disregarded or passed over too lightly. Education today, more than ever, remains one of the bulwarks of this Republic. Let us help preserve it. In these troublesome days, we cannot relegate the teaching profession to a menial task or a common labor. We can't afford to have it degenerate. We must make it attractive and luring to men and women properly qualified who would embrace it.

You all know that the germ of dissatisfaction breeds laziness and inefficiency, and we can't afford to have it in our schools. The boys and girls who will be the men and women of tomorrow, can't afford to either. The teachers financial status is not a healthy one these days, or conducive to the best interests of education. Employes in private industry can bargain collectively with their employers, and they have the remedies necessary to enforce their demands. The teachers can only look to us for bettering their working and financial conditions. Isn't it about time, gentlemen, that we take the necessary steps to correct the evils which beset teachers in these days of high prices and living? We should and we must.

An increase in the teachers' salaries commensurate with rising prices should be enacted to better enable them to provide for their families and themselves with the necessaries of life. It is not asking too much. My wholehearted support—yes, and yours too—should go to them for the splendid and thankless tasks they are doing. These teachers help to make our great Republic what it is.

God bless the teachers and may they carry on their splendid labors, and may we help carry them on by giving them the aid and assistance they now seek.

BILL ON SECOND READING

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will return to the second reading calendar. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the Chair returns to bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 16, entitled:

An Act prohibiting any political subdivision from imposing any wage, income or occupation tax upon non-residents.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCANLON offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "any" where it first appears in said line, the following: "resident or".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, we on this side of the House are for the enactment of legislation prohibiting the Republican City Council of Philadelphia from further imposing this un-American tax on our people.

The Democratic party of Philadelphia has consistently been against the obnoxious, unfair, and above all, pocket-picking levy commonly known as the "wage tax."

We in the legislative branches of municipal, county and state government should cut taxes to enable the wage earner to do his share in the paying of the war costs. We all know war is costly and yet there is little or no complaint on the part of the federal taxpayer to give and give. He bitterly resents having to be taxed to keep political henchmen on the public payroll.

"Help the little taxpayer" should be the aim of this body. The program of the Republican Party to take care of the rich is short of criminal.

What are the taxes the Governor wants eliminated? Who do they help? The little fellow—no. The little man will not benefit if we wipe out the State Personal Property Tax, Bank Stock Tax, the tax on shares or the Corporate Loans Tax.

As a subterfuge, the man who wants us to conduct ourselves on a non-partisan basis suggests the discontinuance of the mercantile taxes. If it meant the death knell of the mercantile levy, I would not refer to it. But do you know what the Republican leadership in Philadelphia is telling its workers in order to keep them in line and interested in their bad management of our civic affairs? I'll tell you. "If we win the coming Municipal election we will impose the mercantile tax on the Philadelphia businessman and small store operator, and then we will have plenty of jobs for you workers." I therefore ask the members of both sides of this house to support these amendments which would eliminate this obnoxious tax both on residents and non-residents.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, it would be entirely inconsistent with my position taken with regard to this so-called iniquitous tax were I to agree to these amendments. Certainly in taking the position that Philadelphia has no right to levy a tax on non-residents I could not take the alternative position that a member from Delaware County had the right by his bill as amended to say that Philadelphia could not levy any tax. That is a matter for Philadelphia, it is a matter of home rule for Philadelphia. So long as Philadelphia continues to tax its own, and does not seek to impose its taxation on those who do not reside within the confines of their city, I have no objection to that.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I am asking you to vote "no" on these proposed amendments.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, it is a very interesting thing to consider the purpose of this bill this afternoon, and it is doubly interesting to the members of this Legislature who represent their people in Philadelphia to consider exactly what it means. If it were not for the fact that Philadelphia's wage tax was divided into four distinct parts, it would not be possible for Mr. Bretherick to come here and ask you to repeal that part which directly affects persons in his district.

The four parts of the Philadelphia wage tax are arranged in this fashion: First of all, the ordnance passed by city council says that every resident in the city of Philadelphia earning his wages within the city of Philadelphia, shall be called upon to pay one and one-half percent. This, of course, applies to preceding years. In the present year there is a reduction of one-half of one percent.

It further states, Mr. Speaker, that every resident of the city of Philadelphia, even though he earns his money outside of Philadelphia, is also obliged to pay one and one-half percent tax on the total earnings for that particular period. In the case of individuals residing and working in the city of Philadelphia, the tax is deducted by the employer. In a case where the employer refuses to deduct the tax, and some examples of this are employes of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, the Frankford Arsenal and other Governmental or state agencies, who have refused to deduct the wage tax from the wages of those persons who are under their supervision.

On the other hand the ordnance further provides that those persons who are employed in Philadelphia and reside outside of the city limits must also pay the city wage tax. In the case where they are employed in Philadelphia, where their employer is obliged to deduct the amount of their tax, he does so. It is on that point that Mr. Bretherick's ire has been aroused. It is upon that point that he has introduced the bill which is now before us.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, in all seriousness that if the city of Philadelphia continues its tax on its own residents, those who are residents of the surrounding territories, who come into the city to earn their livelihood and enjoy the protection of the Philadelphia Police Department, its Fire Department, its various other public utilities, why should they be exempt from it? We in our turn are opposed to it. I have always been opposed to these wage taxes, and yet I can see no reason why if the tax is to be imposed upon me as a resident, persons who earn their income in Philadelphia, even though they are not residents of the city, should not be obliged to pay this tax. I think that is the only one justifiable course that the Members of this Legislature can take. If you say to the people of the surrounding sections of Philadelphia that this act is not good for them and you are going to legislate it out of existence, then you ought to do the same thing for the citizens of Philadelphia, and that is exactly what the amendments of Mr. Scanlon are intended to do. If you say that this tax is not good for the surrounding sections of Philadelphia, it is also not good for the residents of the city of Philadelphia. It seems to me that Philadelphia through the years has wasted millions and millions of dollars, so much so that there came a day when the great municipal gas works was packed up and taken figuratively to the pawn shop and pledged for the magnificent sum of forty-one million dollars. Then came a period of readjustment and refunding and refinancing. Then came this great wage tax, a tax which thousands and thousands of people in Philadelphia and the surrounding sections have never even paid, in spite of the fact that there was a penalty, both monetary and penal. It seems to me therefore, Members of the House, if you vote against these amendments you will vote against the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia's citizens must pay these taxes. Let everyone who earns his money in Philadelphia stand his fair share of the expense.

It is legal for the city of Philadelphia to impose this tax upon non-residents, and those of you who have been close to it will recall that the first test case was with a woman coming from the State of New Jersey, across the Delaware River. The Courts upheld it in every respect. They said that it was legal so far as the present statute goes.

This tax has taken on a political aspect perhaps. Some Republicans here cannot conscientiously vote for the measure. They know perfectly well that it would be contrary to the party's dictates, and at the same time I feel that they are in every way convinced that this tax is an unfair one.

On the fifteenth of this month, next Monday, you people all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will have your worst headache ended over your federal income tax, and you know what that means. But at the same time the business men of Philadelphia will be having two headaches because on the fifteenth of March they must also make a return on their net profits. That return goes to the city of Philadelphia under the present wage tax. Let us eliminate it, let us vote for these amendments and show the people of Philadelphia and the surrounding territories that you mean to cooperate with them and relieve them from the terrible burden of which they are now complaining, and when they pay their income next year I trust that they will pay it to our country and not to the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WELSH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know whether any one working elsewhere in Pennsylvania for a corporation or an employer, domiciled in Philadelphia is subject to this wage tax, even though he may never go near the city of Philadelphia

Mr. WELSH. He is, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, in that event any salesman working for a corporation or an employer in the city of Philadelphia is subject to this wage tax, even though he may live in Erie, or in Pittsburgh or some other distant place from Philadelphia and never go near the city?

Mr. WELSH. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WELSH. I will say that the Members of the Legislature representing Philadelphia districts, earning their money in Harrisburg, are also subject to the income tax in Philadelphia.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware if he did not say a few moments ago the reason he was opposed to Mr. Scanlon's amendments was because it violated the principle of home rule.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I said a few minutes ago that it would be inconsistent with my position to say that Philadelphia has no right to levy a tax on those who reside within its borders. I, representing my constituents in Delaware County, have no right to say that Philadelphia cannot levy a tax on those residing within its borders. I do not feel that I have the right to interfere with Philadelphia's management of its own affairs so long as it does not endeavor to tax the residents of the rest of the state, who happen to work in Philadelphia, and I do not think there is a county in the state of Pennsylvania that does not have a resident subject to the payment of this Philadelphia wage tax.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would again request the gentleman to kindly answer the question. I asked him if he did not say that the reason he could not support Mr. Scanlon's amendments to the bill was because it violated the principles of home rule.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, qualified by my previous answer, I would say that that is entirely correct.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly inform the House as to how in his imagination voting for his bill to tell Philadelphia which imposed a wage tax, and it is a wage tax on both residents and nonresidents, he then thinks his bill adheres to the principles of home rule?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I think the answer is very simple. Home rule contemplates legislating for your own. I think certainly it does not contemplate legislating for those who do not reside within the limits of the municipality, and I think I can go back to the Declaration of Independence for a statement as to that.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, we won't have to go back that far, just skip the Declaration.

Mr. BRETHERICK. It might be interesting, I think.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire further to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, so long as the gentlemon does not make it an inquisition. However, I still have this same sore throat.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the gentlemen do not go back further than the question on the amendment to this section.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot follow the consistency of the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I did not expect that the gentleman could.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, certainly the gentleman from Delaware knows that he made the statement concerning home rule. That is a very patriotic gesture on his part but I would like the gentleman to explain to the House how he can consistently say that the amendments of Mr. Scanlon violate the principles of home rule, but that the bill which he sponsors, which steps right into the city of Philadelphia and into the old City Fathers' office, does not violate the home rule principle?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, certainly the City Fathers stepped outside the bounds of propriety when they left the borders of their own municipality and endeavored to tax those who resided outside of their borders.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I personally believe that probably Mr. Bretherick does not know the ordinance that levies the city wage tax. When he talks about assessing the people outside the city he must remember that what the City Fathers in Philadelphia imposed in this ordinance is a wage tax on the people that are working in Philadelphia, and an income tax on the residents of Philadelphia. How Mr. Bretherick can say in his bill, I am going to tell the officials from Philadelphia what to do with their councilmanic ordinances on one hand, and maintain his very patriotic waving of home rule on the other, I do not know. I would suggest that the gentleman from Delaware is a little off the track.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest that the gentleman read the ordinance declaring this a Philadelphia wage tax.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I have read the ordinance.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will look at the title of the ordinance he will find that it is not called the Philadelphia wage tax.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want the gentleman to explain to the House how, when he introduces a bill of this kind, he does not violate the principals of home rule. That is a pet subject for the Republicans, they know all about home rule, and I want him to explain why his bill does not violate home rule.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia for just one question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, am I now to understand that the gentleman from Philadelphia is defending the wage tax in toto?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that that question deserves an answer. According to the Speaker's ruling we are debating an amendment to abolish the wage tax in Philadelphia, not only on non-residents but on residents. I am arguing in favor of an amendment to do that. How the gentleman could ask such a ridiculous question, I cannot comprehend.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I was under the impression that the gentleman was in favor of the complete elimination of the wage tax.

Mr. LEVY. I certainly am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. For a few minutes he was certainly defending the City Fathers in everything that they had done.

Mr. LEVY. I have not made any statement on the bill, nor on the amendments, Mr. Speaker. I am endeavoring to find out from the gentleman from Delaware whether or not he knows what home rule is.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman talks so much and so loud that he is very apt at times to forget exactly what he has said.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, that still is not an answer as to what home rule is. I want to know whether the great advocate of home rule. one of the leading members of the Republican party in the House, introduced a bill in direct violation of the principles of home rule; that is what I want to know.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I always thought home rule contemplated legislation affecting your own. I think home rule derives its name possibly from the role played by Ireland in the old days. They complained about it very stenuously down through the years with considerable success. I think their position was that Ireland should be able to pass laws and effect tariffs for itself. Philadelphia under that same general proposition ought to be in a position to impose taxes and make laws or pass ordinances which affect Philadelphia, but I do not think that it comes within the provisions or the definition of home rule to permit Philadelphia to pass laws, rules and regulations and what not, which affect residents of every county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That is not home rule.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman either will not answer the question or he does not know the answer, but it is obvious to every member of this House that a bill that strikes at the legislative power of a municipality is certainly a violation of the home rule principle. I might inform the gentleman from Delaware that Philadelphia does not legislate for Philadelphians. It never did. Philadelphia has always legislated for Philadelphia, and if the gentleman were sincere, if the gentleman from Delaware feels that this tax is not warranted, if the gentleman from Delaware feels that this tax is bad on the statute books of Philadelphia, why does he not accept these amendments? No, he don't want anything like that. He may tread on the party in power in his own city. So he comes before us this afternoon and he says "No amendments. What I want to do is defend myself and defend the people of Delaware County."

There is no legislation, Mr. Speaker, relative to the people in Delaware County. The legislation as propounded by City Council is an ordinance enacting a wage tax on the wage earners in Philadelphia. Now, if the gentleman from Delaware feels that the people in Delaware County who work in Philadelphia should be exempt from paying the wage tax in Philadelphia, then why does he not get to the root of the evil and go along with an honest amendment? Oh, no, that he won't do. Certainly, gentlemen, it is obvious that the gentleman from Delaware refuses to do this because he realizes it might tread on some of his Republican brethren.

I say to the gentleman from Delaware, if you are sincere about the wage tax in Philadelphia, you will accept the wisdom and the counsel of Mr. Scanlon of Philadelphia, who has placed such counsel in the form of an amendment, and you will not ask this House to defeat the amendments; you will ask this House to approve them.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, every once in a while there is a bill before this House in which the view point of that long ago forgotten man, that fellow who carries the cross in one hand and the bag in the other, that fellow who ultimately pays the bill, the employer, might be useful in determining the outcome. I recall several years ago when this Philadelphia wage tax was first ordained, about the same time, as has been said here before, that Philadelphia was up in Harrisburg making arrangements to hock its gas works, that we had on the part of our employes just a mild sympathy with this Philadelphia wage tax.

I am going to tell you why I believe the employer's view point has at least a modicum of reference to what we are discussing. Each and every increase in salary and all wage increases that have been granted under the principle of collective bargaining, has been made after the citation of the Philadelphia wage tax as something that came off of the employee, and therefore a reason why he should have increased pay. I said that our people in my own particular business are, strangely enough, people who come from Delaware County, from Montgomery County and from the State of New Jersey. Just because they want to live out where the grass is a little greener in the spring time, where the birds sing a little sweeter, they cannot quite understand why they should be called upon to pay for any part of Philadelphia's municipal stupidity and incompetence, but our people, Mr. Speaker, read the Philadelphia papers and this morning this is one thing they read:

> Representative James H. Irvin (R., Philadelphia) introduced a bill to permit Registers of Wills to retain commissions for their own use out of money collected as agents for the Commonwealth.
> The measure would restore a practice which was wiped out by the Legislature in 1937. Under the law it was not uncommon for the Register of Wills in Philadelphia to pocket about $70,000 a year in commissions. The present salary of the city's Register of Wills is $5,000 and he may retain commissions up to $10,000.
> Companion bills would make the Commonwealth pay for the bonds required of Registers of Wills and County Treasurers.

People living in Delaware County, Montgomery County, in the State of New Jersey and in Bucks County and where ever you please wonder when they read things like that and then are asked to still contribute to Philadelphia's financial worries. Tomorrow morning I suppose the people of Delaware County, Montgomery County and the State of New Jersey will read something to the effect that the Clerk of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace and of the Municipal Court will receive a salary of ten thousand dollars per annum, and then they will go on to read that there will be eight thousand dollars per annum paid to six other Court clerks, five thousand dollars to one chief accountant, and so forth and so forth. Those are very handsome salaries. They represent as I have learned upon the debate here, an increase over what is being paid now for the accomplishment of the same work.

It is not my purpose to criticize Philadelphia's financial management, although I believe that their philosophy about municipal management is distinctly cockeyed. What I do say is this: the question has been raised here about home rule. That is a question, of course, involved in this discussion, but it seems to me that there is another and more vital question, and that is the question of taxation without representation. I say to you if the people of Delaware County or Montgomery County or the State of New Jersey were given representation for their taxation they would within a very short space of time provide the City of Philadelphia with a sensible philosophy of political management. It is my belief that we in Delaware County, Montgomery County, and elsewhere outside of Philadelphia are being wrongly taxed. We have no choice in who will spend the money that we pay in contribution to that tax and therefore it is decidedly a taxation without representation.

On the other hand, Mr. Speaker, the people of Philadelphia who are paying their tax—and I certainly sympathize with them—I would certainly tear down party lines if I were a resident of Philadelphia on that matter. if for nothing else—if they chose to go along and cast their votes and pay their tax, and their votes are cast for the privilege of paying this tax in Philadelphia, that is distinctly their affair. That is home rule in the essence.

Therefore, I believe, Mr. Speaker, that this bill as it now stands is a clear bill, it is one that is available for immediate consideration and without amendment. To call this tax a wage tax or an income tax is beside the point. A tax by any other name would smell as foul.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that the amendments be voted down.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, in the gentleman's remarks I presume that he was referring to House Bill No 232 which was passed by this House today. Can the gentleman tell me how he voted on House Bill 232?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I voted "aye." I voted "aye" because I believe down there in Philadelphia you have the right to take all the lacing you please to take, and it isn't particularly any of my business.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman recall House Bill 2 which passed this House some two or three weeks ago, which provided a war bonus increase for the county employees of the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. JAMES. Yes, I recall that bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, how did the gentleman vote on that bill?

Mr. JAMES. I voted "aye" on that bill for the same reason, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TATE. I thank the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a further statement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, has raised the old cry of taxation without representation. He calls to mind increases in salary which have been granted by legislation, which have been passed by this House with particular reference to Philadelphia County. Does the gentleman know that House Bill 232, to which he referred, provides an increase in the payroll of Philadelphia County to the tune of twenty-five thousand dollars? Does he know that House Bill 2 which passed this House, on which he voted "aye," increased the payroll of Philadelphia County to the tune of two hundred and thirty-two thousand dollars? I cannot see how the gentleman can stand here and say that he is being taxed without representation when he is consistently voting for measures which increase the payrolls of the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, there is one factor that seems to have been overlooked in this thing, one factor that the Philadelphia Representatives who have spoken on the subject have not seen fit to mention. In the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of last week was a statement to the effect that some fifty thousand persons who reside outside of the city of Philadelphia were earning their living in the city of Philadelphia. I wonder whether the gentlemen in this House realize that at the present time there are approximately thirty-five thousand Philadelphians who are working in Delaware County's war industries at wages greater than have ever been paid in the history of the United States of America; that those men earn their money in Delaware County and take it back into Philadelphia County to spend. The men from the outlying sections of Philadelphia, who earn their money in Philadelphia spend their money in Philadelphia, not only they, but the members of their families spend their money in Philadelphia because that is a great shopping center.

Mr. Speaker, I say to you that if ever there was an unfair tax on the back of any municipality, the Philadelphia wage tax, as Mr. Levy has dubbed it, is that tax, especially in view of the fact that Philadelphia is one of the sources of workmen to our own County of Delaware and the other counties in Pennsylvania, where as I said before they are earning more money than they ever earned before—and we have no objection to that whatever. We are proud to have them come into our community, we are proud to have them come and use the facilities of our municipalities, and we are glad to give them police protection and let them use our roads. We are perfectly willing to have them take their money out of our county and spend it where they want to, but I say to you, that it is an unfair and obnoxious tax and it ought to be repealed as far as the nonresidents of Philadelphia are concerned.

Therefore I ask you again to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I will endavor to answer the gentleman's questions.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I have in my possession a mimeographed copy of a letter addressed to the Honorable Weldon B. Heyburn to Honorable George Woodward, both senators in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. This letter no doubt every member of the House received or at least every Member of the House from Philadelphia. In this letter he states that there are six hundred school teachers employed by the school district of Philadelphia residing in Delaware County. I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Speaker, as to whether or not he believes that these school teachers who work for the school district of Philadelphia should be subjected to a wage tax?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, may I say first that I think that letter is just as inane and nonsensical as some of the other articles that have appeared in that gentleman's Pennsylvania Legislator.

May I say this in connection with House Bill 136, which is the famous teachers' salary bill, that I have received numerous letters from—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the gentleman is answering the question.

Mr. BRETHERICK. I think, Mr. Speaker, I am answering his question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that we have gone far afield from the question on the amendments to the first section. Will the gentlemen please confine their remarks to the amendments before us.

Mr. BRETHERICK. I was saying, Mr. Speaker, that I have received scores of letters from teachers who reside in the city of Philadelphia but who teach in the schools of Delaware County, and my answer therefore to the gentleman from Philadelphia is "no."

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to speak on the amendments. Every one of the previous speakers agrees that the tax is no good, not for us in the city and not for those outside of the city. Now, all the amendment does is take in everybody. Why not vote for the amendment and dispose of the thing? I think that is the honorable thing to do. Everybody agrees it is no good for us in the city or for those outside the city. Why not kick it into the waste basket and vote for the amendment?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS TO RESOLUTION

Mr. GOODWIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to add an additional name as sponsor to a condolence resolution.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WEISS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on January 26, 1943, Governor Edward Martin in his message to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania had the following to say with reference to reapportionment:

> "A fair and equitable re-districting and reappointment of our Congressional, Senatorial and Legislative districts should have the immediate consideration of this Legislature."

Since January 26, 1943, we have not heard anything further from our Honorable Governor except for the fact that he is interested in Congressional reapportionment. By the way, it happens in New York, the people are faced with the same situation with reference to reapportionment, and Governor Dewey, who also happens to be a Republican, is actively sponsoring a reapportionment measure.

On January 19, Representative Tiemann of Philadelphia introduced a very commendable resolution in reference to reapportionment, which among other things asks the House Committee on Legislative Apportionment to make an immediate survey of the state on the basis of the last Federal census, and to recommend as early as possible during the present session legislation for reapportionment of the legislative districts of the Commonwealth.

That was on January 19. Nearly two months have passed, and I think the resolution is still resting very safely in the Committee on Reapportionment without any action having been taken by it up to the present time.

On February 2, 1943, the following is part of an excerpt from the Philadelphia Inquirer mentioning statistics in a few districts in Philadelphia in reference to the House and in reference to the Senate:

> "In Philadelphia for instance one House district, the ninth, in the central city has a population of 9,618. The seventeenth district, in the northeast, has a population of 177,522. Each district has one assemblyman".

Mind you, there is a difference of 168,000 people as far as a Representative representing the people is concerned, and we have numerous instances of the same type throughout the state. I say to you that it is not fair for one representative to represent 177,000 people and another representative to represent 9,618 and have the same voice in the government.

Gentlemen, when it comes to reapportionment as far as the Senate is concerned, we also must go to Philadelphia—by the way we always had to go to Philadelphia for everything else, so also reapportionment. In Philadelphia one district, the third district of Philadelphia, has a population of seventy-five thousand and has one Senator, while the fourth district, embracing West Philadelphia, has 412,371 residents, more than five times as many as the other, and it also has one Senator.

You also note many of the newspapers, especially the Pittsburgh Press and many other papers throughout the state are crying for a reapportionment bill to end this lop-sided representation, but in looking over the House History and the Senate History I note that the only bills referring to reapportionment are the two for Congressional representation in which the Members on the other side found out they were asleep and the Democrats elected a couple of Congressmen. The representations as far as Congress are concerned, and especially as passed during the special session, is not nearly as bad as the Senatorial and Representative reapportionment, and yet up to the present time it seems that Congressional reapportionment worries them a lot more than the Legislative or Senatorial reapportionment.

I might say that I have introduced, two bills, one for the reapportionment of the House and one for the Senate. These bills may not be satisfactory to all the Members of the House or the Senate but there will be at least one bill in each House that we have to talk about, because if something is not done by March 15, we will again not have any reapportionment.

The last reapportionment bill was passed fifty-five years ago and times certainly have changed during that time. I hope therefore that you Members of the Legislature will forget your little personal difficulties and the possibility that some of you might lose your seats due to the fact of reapportionment, and try to be fair to the rest of the state by going along with a fair and equitable reapportionment bill.

I am willing to sit down with any Member on this side of the House or the other side of the House in an effort to get an equitable bill.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. GOODWIN, MORAN and HEATHERINGTON offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1943.

The Mother of the Honorable B. Frank Hunter, a member of this House, died on Sunday last, and left to her children and grandchildren, who mourn her loss, the memory of many happy years devoted to them and their comfort, and her devotion to her husband who predeceased her.

After a life that lasted well beyond the three score years and ten that mark the end of our allotted span, she wearied of the way and fell asleep.

The accomplishment of rearing an outstanding family becomes a resplendent memorial to her years as wife and mother; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives extends to the family of Mrs. Mary Harman Hunter, and in particular to our fellow Member, the Honorable B. Frank Hunter, its deepest sympathy; and that this resolution be spread on the Journal of the House, and a copy thereof, duly certified, be forwarded to them by the Chief Clerk of this House.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING PRESIDENT

Messrs. COHEN and TATE offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1943.

Whereas, March 4th marked the 10th anniversary of the induction into office of our beloved President and courageous Commander-in-Chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt; and

Whereas, During the earlier years of his term as President he charted a course through our worst and longest economic depression, and it was in large part due to his leadership and determination in combatting the misery and discontent of that depression that our democratic institutions were so preserved and vitalized as to be able successfully to assume the then unforseen burdens to be imposed upon them by World War II; and

Whereas, The statesmanship and foresight of President Roosevelt during the years preceding the outbreak of World War II, contributed immeasurably toward the ultimate and indispensable union of the many nations opposing the conquests and ambitions of the axis powers; and

Whereas, Ever since our Nation was plunged into war on December 7th, 1941, by the treacherous Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt has ably and courageously led our Nation along the path to ultimate and inevitable victory; and

Whereas, He has steadfastly advanced the cause of the "four freedoms," and given voice to our determination that the present world conflict shall be followed by a "peace" in the true sense of that word, with due consideration to be given all races and nations; and

Whereas, By his real and lasting achievements, in both time of peace and time of war, Franklin Delano Roosevelt has taken his place among our greatest presidents and leaders; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania send their hearty congratulations to the President of the United States on the occasion of the 10th annniversary of his induction into that high office; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President at the White House as a token of the continued confidence of the people of Pennsylvania that under his leadership and statesmanship, the United States of America will achieve final and complete victory in this war and, in the peace to follow, will attain the ideals for which we are fighting.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1943.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.,) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, to worship Thee in sincerity is our desire. May nothing now prevent the fulfillment of that desire. The pressure of worldly affairs is constant and demands upon our time and thought are insistent, but they who wait upon the Lord will not be denied the strength to counteract the pressure and will be able to meet all just and righteous demands. This is Thy promise to us. That promise has been made good to every nation and to every individual who has believed and practiced it.

Thou knowest, O God, what each of us needs to prepare us to be profitable servants of God and the State. We may not know, or thinking that we do know, may be mistaken. Keep us, we pray, from the folly of assuming that we are self-sufficient, so that we can honor Thy name and serve the State during these difficult times, when more than human wisdom is needed. We lack wisdom. We ask God for it, the God who "givest liberally and upbraideth not."

For our political leaders, for our military leaders, for all men and women giving their all for the maintenance of freedom and justice in the world, for all people everywhere, we pray in Jesus Name. Amen.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I wonder if the Chair could advise the Senators why we have a Wednesday session, when about fifteen members are absent? It seems foolish to bring some of us here on Wednesday when other members of the Senate do not think enough of their duty to come here on Wednesday. It seems to me a foolish gesture for us to come in here on Wednesday unless we are sure all of the Senators will be present and then pass over bills because we do not have sufficient members present in the Senate to vote on the bills and to pass them, under the Constitution.

I believe, Mr. President, that while in the halls of Legislatures members make speeches concerning absenteeism of labor, they had better be making speeches concerning absenteeism of Senators.

The PRESIDENT. In response to the remarks by the gentleman from Allegheny, the Chair can only say that the Senate is meeting because the Senators desire to meet and have fixed a Wednesday meeting.

The Chair suggests that the gentleman from Allegheny direct his inquiry not to the President but to the Majority Floor Leader of the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this is a regularly scheduled session of the Legislature. Every Wednesday we meet. The absentees, of course, are absent without leave of absence, I believe, as I only remember leave of absence being granted to one or two Senators. There is just nothing we can do about that, unless we notify them to be here, or else, next Wednesday

The PRESIDENT. As long as a majority of the Senators desire to hold Wednesday sessions, the Senate will continue to hold such sessions.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 289, entitled:

An Act limiting the extent to which liability may be made retroactive in cases in which, upon the basis of court decision or administrative ruling, a liability to the Commonwealth for taxes or other moneys is asserted which had not theretofore been claimed.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill (bills) at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT, ZIESENHEIM and GOURLEY read in their places and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 290, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act, approved the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 599), entitled "An act relating to motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions, together with orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment, prelude, playing, or selection in connection with or incidental thereto on Sunday; prohibiting motion picture exhibitions and sound motion picture exhibitions, and orchestral or other instrumental musical or mechanical musical accompaniment, prelude, playing, or selection incidental thereto on Sunday during certain hours, and also during other hours, unless the electors of a municipality approve thereof; regulating the employment of persons in conducting such exhibitions on Sunday; providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors; and providing penalties; and repealing inconsistent laws," by making it lawful for persons, copartnerships, associations or corporations to conduct, stage, manage, operate or engage in motion picture exhibitions after two o'clock postmeridian on Sundays, whether or not there be a charge of admission thereto, in any municipality within a radius of fifteen miles of any army, navy, or marine depot, reservation, encampment, base, airfield or school.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have some statements relative to this bill, but in order to expedite matters I will present my statement to the Chair and ask that it be incorporated in the Legislative Journal, in order that my remarks upon the presentation of this legislation may be contained in the Journal.

This legislation pertains to the so-called Sunday movie privileges for soldiers and war workers in areas where they are now deprived of that recreational opportunity.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland is granted and the remarks will be spread upon the Journal.

Pennsylvania cities near Army camps are confronted with serious problems relative to entertaining service men who visit those areas on week-ends. Communities close to military reservations have realized their civic duty and responsibility to provide wholesome entertainment for service men on Sunday, but they have been handicapped by the lack of facilities.

A law placed on the statutes of this state when the country was not at war prevents these cities from availing themselves of a natural reservoir of wholesome entertainment—the motion picture theatres. We propose to make these facilities available in an emergency measure which will make it lawful to open motion picture theatres on Sunday for the duration of the war and six months thereafter.

It is not maintained that Sunday motion pictures will be a cure-all for recreation problems faced by civic leaders of communities who are hosts to the visiting service men, but they will help a great deal.

Since Harrisburg is one of the cities concerned I would like to call your attention to a letter written to the editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph by one of the Protestant ministers of that community. Two paragraphs of the letter which was published on February 6, 1943, follows:

"The Churches have exerted themselves on behalf of soldiers, and so have those sponsoring various afternoon musical and dramatic programs. But our problem is still acute—there are the long hours between and after. And there is also our responsibility to the soldier who for one reason or another doesn't care to go to a church or to a concert. I can conceive of but one solution to the problem, and that is movies for service men on Sunday.

"No city has been unaffected by the war, and every city has to make certain adjustments in order to accomodate the service men in its midst. As a minister I might be expected to be hostile to the competition that movies would offer. On the other hand, I feel that any church which survives only by outlawing competition, does not deserve to survive. I'll take my chances with the competition. And as for the "moral angle"—are we to say to these men, "It is moral for you to kill, but it is immoral for you to attend movies in Harrisburg on Sunday?"

I would also like to call your attention to the fact that at least four other states have legalized the showing of motion pictures near areas of military concentrations or are taking steps in their Legislatures to that effect presently.

Tennessee was the first to act when the legislature's attention was called to the entertainment problem in cities near Army camps. The bill was passed in record time and signed by the Governor several weeks ago.

South Carolina and Georgia legislatures are now considering similar bills. In New Hampshire the bill was quickly passed by the House after the opening time had been changed from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. Its passage is assured.

Many Army special service officers and chaplains have expressed concern over the lack of recreation facilities in some of these cities near large camps. They have used that old maxim: "An idle mind is the Devil's workshop," in reporting their observations.

There may be a few people opposed to such a move who will say: "The soldiers can go to the movies in their camps on Sunday if they want to." To them we will say just as an Army major, a special service officer of one of the large camps in Pennsylvania, wrote not long ago: "We have plenty of activities on this Post for the men. However, soldiers like to get away from this Post whenever they have the opporunity, and normally they have this opportunity on week-ends."

This bill then, is offered to meet an emergency situation, one in which the people who are hosts to the service men have asked our help. It is our duty to see that this medium of recreation is made available.

RESOLUTIONS

DEFERMENT AND POSTPONEMENT OF ACTION INVOLVING AND MODIFICATION OF IMPAIRMENT OF THE NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY OR INDEPENDENCE OF THE UNITED STATES

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to present a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KEPHART offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

In the Senate, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, A strong and wholly commendable sentiment exists throughout the Nation in favor of the development of a plan or plans for international organization, or at least cooperation to the end and that any nation or combination of nations may hereafter be prevented from imposing its will by force and in violation of law, right, and justice upon any other nation or group of nations; and

Whereas, The participation of the United States in any such plan, if such plan is to be effective, will necessarily involve a modification or impairment of our national sovereignty and independence; and

Whereas, Any such modification or impairment of our national sovereignty and independence must be accomplished only by the President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Senate, as provided by Article II, Section two of the Constitution of the United States; and

Whereas, Approximately one-fourth of the voting constituents of the aforesaid President and of the members of the Senate are now, or shortly will be, engaged in serving their country in the armed forces, and therefore prevented from expressing any views or exerting any influence of a political nature concerning the interest of both themselves and the Nation for which they are fighting; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through its duly constituted officers, hereby memorializes the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania that the participation of the United States in any plan, conference, treaty, or other action involving any modification or impairment of the national sovereignty or independence of the United States shall be deferred and postponed until such time as at least two-thirds of the citizens of the United States serving in its armed forces at the conclusion of the current hostilities shall have been returned to their homes, released from such service, and restored to a position to assert their proper voice and influence in the political affairs of their country.

FELICITATING SENATOR DENT

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, Tradition in this country says that "Life begins at forty," and

Whereas, We young members of the Senate under forty are happy to see life begin for one of our members today, and

Whereas, He has always been a peppy youngster, especially off the floor of the Senate, and

Whereas, In the previous Sessions of the Senate this member has taken an active part in all debates and at one time was looked upon as a potential leader of this body, now that age is against him, be it therefore

Resolved, That the Senate extend their sympathies along with their congratulations to this member, namely, the Honorable John H. Dent, who this day has reached the age of forty years, and who no longer can be looked upon as a young aggressive Democrat, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his desk and not printed in the Legislative Journal as we do not want to disclose to his constituency the fact that he is growing old on the job.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 49, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice, procedure, regulations, and adjudications of departments, departmental administrative boards and commissions, independent administrative boards and commissions, officers and other administrative agencies of this Commonwealth, and judicial review thereof; and preserving equitable jurisdiction in certain cases

The first, second, eleventh, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-third, twenty-fourth, twenty-fifth, thirty-first, thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, forty-one, forty-two, forty-third, forty-fourth, and forty-fifth sections were separately read and agreed to.

The fifty-first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WALKER offered the following amendment.

Amend sec. 51, page 9, by inserting between lines 2 and 3 the following: (d) None of the provisions of this act shall apply to regulations or adjudications of the Public Utility Commission

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting against these amendments.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, if I understand the amendments correctly, they will remove the Public Utility Commission from the provisions of this act.

Mr. WALKER. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman the reason for it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this bill, which is entitled "Administrative Agency Act," is divided into two sections. One section deals with rules and regulations of various departments; the other deals with adjudication of various departments.

Now, Mr. President, in the adjudication section, the Public Utility Commission is not involved, because all appeals from adjudication of the Public Utility Commission go to the Superior Court. There is no Common Pleas Court action on anything involving the Public Utility Commission, and that is the practice at the present time, and it is not the desire of the Bar Association that fostered this Administrative Agency Act to interfere with the precedent and the practice that is set up in involved rate cases before the Public Utility Commission. The only matter that would be involved with the Commission, under this Administrative Agency Act, would come under the first section, or the first portion of the bill which deals with rules and regulations. The rules and regulations of the Commission are circularized among the practitioners and those who appear before the Commission. Now, they will be published under the Pennsylvania Register Act, which is a companion bill to this Administrative Agency bill, so that the general public, if they so desire, will have the one simple place to get the laws.

The thing we are doing is this, by removing the rules and regulations of the Public Utility Commission from this Administrative Agency Act, we are not taking them out of the Pennsylvania Register, we are simply centralizing any appeals that may be had to the Superior Court, so that we will not be involved with litigation in the Dauphin County courts. It is a practice that has grown up since 1914, when the first public utility law was passed. Practitioners of the Bar Association who are obliged to appear before the Commission much prefer this method of handling the situation, and we think it is more conducive to the public good.

Mr. COLEMAN. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. CARR. I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, if the situation is as he now states it is, why he prepared the bill as it was prepared.

Mr. WALKER. Why did I prepare the bill as it was prepared, is that correct.

Mr. CARR. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Butler, may I say, first, that the bill was prepared by a sub-committee of the State Bar Association, and in the preparation of a lot of bills, you cut to a general pattern, as was done in this case. There were a number of amendments put into this bill in committee to correct deficiencies in the bill, by covering situations that were discovered after the bill was discussed in committee.

If the gentleman from Butler will examine the bill, he will notice there are a number of committee amendments which were made to the bill, and those were to cover situations that came to the committee by constructive suggestions from members of the committee.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, if on a previous occasion he did not make a very extended speech in which he cited the necessity for this exact thing with regard to the Public Utility Commission, and stated at that time that the Commission did not publish their rules, and that when you went in to practice before the Commission, they would spring some rule on you which had never even been typewritten, and therefore, lawyers practicing before that commission were always in the dark about what they were doing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the discussion that the gentleman from Butler is referring to took place in caucus. I have no objection to answering the question, but I request leave to express all of the remarks that I expressed there previously to explain the case, because the question that the gentleman now propounds is only half a question.

The Public Utility Commission, for years, has been preparing a revision of their rules of procedure and practice, and I made two distinct remarks, one with regard to the rules of the Public Utility Commission—and I did censor them in Caucus for not getting these rules out and getting them printed, so they would be available. While the present volume of rules shows they were revised, I think in 1930, an examination of those rules shows they have not been changed since they were originally drawn in 1914, and as a result, a lot of constructive suggestions growing out of long time practice before the Commission have not been reduced to written rules and regulations and adopted by the Commission, and this has been a fault which has existed over there for a long time.

May I say to the gentleman from Butler, as to the remarks I made in caucus, in the privacy of the Republican caucus, it did not take them very long to get over to the Commission, and may I say they had a very salutary effect, because the rules are now at a place where they are being presented to the public and to the practitioner for constructive suggestions and final adoption.

The commission will adopt their rules nisi and present them to the public and after they receive constructive suggestions from the public and from the practitioners who practice before the Commission, they will then be adopted finally.

The remark that the gentleman from Butler attributed to me about the rules being reduced to writing was a remark I made with regard to certain bureaus in the Department of Education, where an investigation was conducted by the Committee on Judiciary General in 1941 under a resolution. We found a number of bureaus in the Department of Public Education that did not even have rules and regulations reduced to writing. Now, when we were kids, when we played cowboy and Indian we made up rules as we went along, and when we went over to the Department of Education, we found they were still playing cowboy and Indian and made up their rules as they went along.

That is the purpose of this bill, to stop that. May I say to the gentleman from Butler, most sincerely, I have had the privilege of extended experience before the Public Utility Commission, and I think that these rules and regulations now being presented to the public by the Commission and printed in the Pennsylvania Register will accomplish the thing that this Administrative Agency Act hopes to accomplish in other departments? I think that is the best way to handle it, and also, this position I am taking is the position being taken by the members of the sub-committee of the State Bar Association. They did prepare the bill and actually participated in the physical drafting of the bill. It is also approved by the Law Bureau of the Public Utility Commission, where some of the members have had twenty or twenty-five years of experience in that department.

I think that this is the proper method of handling that particular problem, and that is why we made what might be termed or might be viewed as an exception.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President. I think that it was one of our distinguished statesmen who said that words were made to conceal but not to reveal meaning, and when I get an outburst of words like that, it seems to me that it is just the same usual trickery which is sometimes employed before the Bar to confuse an issue, rather than to reveal the meaning of it.

May I say to the gentleman from Allegheny that it might be inferred by those who heard his words that I went to the Public Service Commission about this thing, and may I say, Mr. President, that I have never been to the Public Service Commission about anything. I have never come out of a Republican Caucus and revealed what occurred there.

Mr. President, if you will recall my opening question here, it was phrased so that unless the gentleman himself had revealed where his remarks were made, no one could have known where those remarks were made. I did not say they were made in the Republican Caucus.

It has been alleged that there has been pressure brought to bear upon this thing from the Public Utility Commission because they did not like it. If that is true—and I am not saying that it is—then may I say that democracy has reached a status where the very thing which we are complaining about in Washington has happened in the State of Pennsylvania? If a man can be compelled to retract something that he has declared to be beneficial to the people of Pennsylvania, because it becomes distasteful to a bureau which is designated as an arm of this Legislature, then I say we Republicans have not very much room to kick against what is going on in Washington as to bureaucracy. I may say further, Mr. President, that it has been also whispered in my ear that men who practice before the Public Utility Commission would not have the temerity to stand up here and vote for something they think is right, because they think that they might be penalized or some other action taken against them for voting the way they did, and if that is the case, then certainly something is wrong, something is rotten in the state of Denmark.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Allegheny whether, under this bill, without his amendments, appeals do not have to go from the Public Utility Commission to the Superior Court, except with respect to rules and regulations which the Commission may make.

Mr. WALKER. That is the statement I made awhile ago, Mr. President, in answer to the interrogation of one of the other members of the Senate. Mr. President, that is correct.

Mr. KEPHART. I further desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. President, and ask him whether the only thing that his amendments do is to not require the Public Utility Commission to publish their rules and regulations in the Pennsylvania Register before they become effective, and to preclude an appeal from those rules to the Dauphin County Court.

Mr. WALKER. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. I further desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny County and ask him whether after his amendments are passed, if those rules and regulations made by the Public Utility Commission could not be challenged in the Dauphin County Court or any other court, because they were invalid, as unconstitutional, or did not come within statutory authorization.

Mr. WALKER. The gentleman is learned in the law, Mr. President, and he knows that is correct.

Mr. KEPHART. Therefore, Mr. President, the only change that his amendments make is that the Public Utility Commission does not have to publish their rules and regulations in the Pennsylvania Register before they become valid.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia now is mis-stating what the act does. He stated it correctly a moment ago. Without these amendments, the rules and regulations of the Commission not only would be obliged to be published in the Pennsylvania Register, but appeals could be taken by interested parties to the Dauphin County Court. With this amendment, it changes both of those, so that not only would the rules and regulations be published in the Register, either voluntarily or not at all, but appeals could not be taken to the Dauphin County Court under the Administrative Agency Act.

Mr. KEPHART. That is correct, Mr. President, but under the law, the regulations of the Public Utility Commission could be challenged for the reasons given in the act, namely, they violate the Constitution of the Commonwealth, they do not come within the statutory authorization of the agency, or that they are issued without observation of the procedure required?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, without attempting to give legal advice to a very learned member of the Bar, I would suggest to him not only could you appeal those rules to the Dauphin County Court, as you could the rules of any department on the Hill, but that an appeal in my opinion, would lie under the Public Utility Act of 1937 to the Superior Court.

Mr. KEPHART. I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, and ask him why he feels that the Public Utility Commission is different from other commissions of the Commonwealth, in that they should not have to publish their rules and regulations in the Pennsylvania Register, as other commissions are going to be required to do under this act if it is passed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, there are a number of exceptions in the bill; this is one of them. I would like to answer the gentleman's question first, before I discuss what was said by the gentleman from Butler.

The rules and regulations of the Commission, like the rules and regulations of the Department of Revenue, like the rules and regulations of the tax collecting authorities over there, and the Board of Tax Appeals and the Board of Review of Taxes, all deal with technical subjects which are circularized among those involved, among those who practice before them, among those who are interested in the subject matter of the department.

The gentleman is making no comment at all about the fact that there are other departments on the Hill which are exempt from certain portions of this act, and, if the same phraseology had been used to eliminate the Public Utility Commission, perhaps it would at the same time eliminate the suspicion that arises in the gentlemen's minds.

As I have said before, the only portion of the act that covers the Public Utility Commission would be that portion dealing with the rules and regulations, and that is the only portion out of which they are taken, because they were automatically out of the other under the Public Utility Act of 1937.

Mr. President, there are other departments that are taken out of the same category, or the same phase or portion of the act, and it is not any more peculiar for the Commission than it is for them; it is just a question of trying to expedite a technical practice.

Now, Mr. President, may I say that I hope that I misunderstood the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr. I have a very distinct impression that he was suggesting trickery on the part of the sponsor of this bill in presenting these amendments or in attempting to straighten this matter out, and I want to say to the gentleman from Butler that that is not the case, and if that impression that I gained, is correct, I am very sorry that he has it, because there will be nothing that I can say that will disabuse his mind on that subject.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny has no capabilities of reading my mind whatever; he has no right to take words out of my lips that did not flow from my lips. If he wants to assume that there is suspicion of trickery there—well, we sometimes reveal what is in our own minds in what we say about somebody else.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. CARR. Roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as present and not voting.

The gentleman from Jefferson will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CARR and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. KEPHART, I intend to ask that the roll be called on second reading on this bill and I desire to make a few remarks on the bill on second reading. Am I in order to make them at the present time?

The PRESIDENT. Action has not yet been taken on the title. The Chair will afford the gentleman from Philadelphia opportunity to make his remarks when that has been completed.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to and pass the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, this bill was introduced to make uniform procedure for administrative bodies, and I think it was an important piece of legislation. However, it has been so hacked at and changed and has made fish of some and fowl of others that it does not accomplish its purpose.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the bill should be defeated and I ask that the roll be taken on second reading on this bill.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "present."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Jefferson will be so recorded.

RESOLUTION CALLED FROM TABLE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at this time I call from the table Senate Resolution, Serial No. 23, introduced in the Senate by myself February 16, 1943.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE ACTIONS OF MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES IN ACQUISITION OF WATER COMPANIES

In the Senate, February 16, 1943.

Whereas, Pursuant to the Act enacted the 17th day of May, 1939, entitled:

"To amend sections three, four, five, nine and eleven of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 463), entitled as amended 'An act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of "Authorities" for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers, and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes,' as amended, by omitting the requirement that the resolution or ordinance of the intention to organize an Authority shall set forth the proposed Articles of Incorporation; regulating the publication of such resolutions and ordinances; by including waterworks, water distribution systems, low head dams, and parts of sewer systems as projects; by authorizing the municipalities to limit the projects to be undertaken by an Authority; by authorizing a longer term for the bonds issued by an Authority; avoiding competition with existing enterprises; by including waterworks, water supply works, water distribution systems, and parts of sewer systems as facilities which may be transferred to an Authority by any owner in addition to the Commonwealth and the political subdivision thereof; and authorizing authorities to acquire water and water rights, subject to the approvel of the Water and Power Resources Board," and

Whereas, This act contains, among other things the following:

"The purpose and intent of this act being to benefit the people of the Commonwealth by, among other things, increasing their commerce and prosperity, and not to unnecessarily burden or interfere with existing business by the establishment of competitive enterprise, none of the powers granted by this act shall be exercised in the construction, improvement, maintenance, extension, or operation of any project or projects which in whole or in part shall duplicate or complicate with existing enterprises serving substantially the same purposes; Provided, however, That the municipality or municipalities organizing such an Authority may, in the resolution or ordinance signifying their intention so to do or from time to time by subsequent resolution or ordinance, specify the project or projects to be undertaken by the said Authority, and no other projects shall be undertaken by the said Authority than those so specified," and

Whereas, Pursuant to this act of Legislation various county and municipal authorities have been created, and

Whereas, Said authorities have proceeded to purchase water companies, waterworks and water systems among other things, and

Whereas, It has come to the attention of members of the Senate of Pennsylvania that there is a serious question as to whether or not this act is being used contrary to the wishes of the Legislature, and

Whereas, It has been charged by persons affected by the actions of said authorities that the purchases have not been made in the interest of the rate payers and citizens, and

Whereas, With the many opportunities open for acquisition of water companies by the rate payers and citizens of a community and the great possibilities for mutual benefits that will result from revenue from said acquisitions it becomes imperative that the Legislature make it possible for such acquisitions to be made at the lowest possible purchase price, a price based more nearly upon the real value than the present system that uses a value based upon earning power, and

Whereas, In many cases such purchases by Municipal Authorities have become subjects of court litigation and the basis for rumors, and accusations, therefore be it

Resolved, That pursuant to the above statements and quotations, that a committee of six (6) members be created for the purpose of interrogation and investigation of the actions of certain Authorities to determine whether or not the said actions have been taken in the public interest and for the welfare of rate payers of these communities and citizens of the Commonwealth, and whether this act has been used for personal and private gain to the detriment of public interest, and be it further

Resolved, That this committee shall make a report to the General Assembly as to whether this act should be amended or repealed. This committee shall have the power to subponea persons, records and books that have any bearing upon the contents of this Resolution.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. KENNEDY. RESOLUTION No. 35.

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1943.

The scarcity of farm labor is threatening the production of food stuffs necessary to the successful prosecution of the war.

The greater need of the armed forces for the youth of this Nation has deprived the farm of the labor required to seed and plant and cultivate and harvest the crops required to feed the Nation and our allies.

There are now confined in concentration camps throughout the Nation thousands of strong and capable men whose help on the farm at this time would be of inestimable help in producing the food that will be so much needed during the months that lie ahead. These men are the conscientious objectors whose scruples against war have kept them out of military service. Their strength and their abilities are being wasted.

To put these men and their wasted time and strength at work on the farms of the Nation would not only assist in the production of food, but might keep more certain their pride and self-respect. It might produce farmer patriots instead of soldier or sailor heroes; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation as will be necessary to authorize the use of all conscientious objectors on the farms of the Nation for the purpose of increasing the production of crops essential to the needs of the people of the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Senate, and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Representatives and Senators from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 356, entitled:

An Act to amend clause one of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" increasing the period for which contracts for lighting may be made

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill, preferably Mr. Gates.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GATES. I will most assuredly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand House Bill 356, Printer's No. 80, it amends the existing law concerning townships of the second class by permitting the township supervisors to enter contracts with any person, co-partnership, association or corporation for a period not extending ten years for the purpose of securing and maintaining a supply of light, presumably for street lighting; is that correct?

Mr. GATES. That is perfectly correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that that is an extension of the existing period for which such township supervisors are permitted to enter contracts?

Mr. GATES. It is an optional extension from five to ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is the gentleman familiar with the reasons which led to the provisions in the present law limiting such contracts to five years?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I am familiar with the reasons why I am attempting to increase the period from five to ten years and will be glad to speak on that later.

Mr. BENTLEY. As I understand it, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not familiar then or does not propose to speak on the reasons which led to the original limitation of five years?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, it was debated at length on the floor of this House, at which time I was a Member, and it seemed to be the concensus of the majority of the members present—I think the Democrats as well as the Republicans, that the extension should be granted to five years. Now, conditions have arisen over our state, and it looks to me like it might be wise to extend it to ten years, but, Mr. Speaker, after I have given my reasons, if the reasons of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley, appeal more to the reason of the House, then I would ask you to vote against the bill, if you do not think it is a good bill for the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the facts, or will he concede that if his bill is enacted into law it will permit township supervisors to bind by contract other supervisors who may follow them?

Mr. GATES. The purpose of the bill, Mr. Speaker, is to do that very thing, to increase it from five to ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman state the reasons which justify the increase from five to ten years in lighting contracts?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would be happy to do that. I had thought of doing that when I spoke in favor of the bill, but we may accomplish the same purpose by answering the question. There have arisen in many townships of our state questions of extending the time from five to ten years for a contract, mainly natural gas lighting and electric lighting. I would like to give you one specific instance whereby at the present time certain supervisors are paying a yearly rate of forty-six dollars under a five year contract. If they take the contract for the same light, the same candle power, for a period of ten years they will secure a reduction in the flat rate of from forty-six dollars to thirty-nine dollars.

I can very readily understand that this is a debatable bill, but in western Pennsylvania, in some of the townships where they light by natural gas, it certainly would be very advantageous for them to have a ten year contract, because natural gas is a commodity in our state that is rapidly being depleted, and if it were possible for them to have a contract for natural gas for ten years, I think it would be very acceptable.

Then I wish to say to the Members of this House, and I think it is very vital, that no contract made by the township supervisors is binding until it has the approval of the PUC of the state of Pennsylvania, so that you have the advice, wisdom and counsel of the supervisors, backed up by the wisdom, counsel, experience and advice of the Public Utility Commission.

This bill may not be applicable to every township in the state of Pennsylvania, but it is applicable to a great many townships. It is not a "must" bill; it is entirely a "may" bill. To those townships that find it has great advantage, I think this House should give them the right to save money for the taxpayers of their townships. The townships wherein it is not advisable have no responsibility to extend the contract from five to ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the gentleman from Armstrong, he has given three reasons in support of his amendment; first, it is not mandatory but discretionary upon township commissioners; second, it will affect a savings in a case or two with which he is familiar; and thirdly, the contracts are subject to the scrutiny of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, that is correct as I understand it.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, addressing myself to the first reason stated by the gentleman from Armstrong, that it is not mandatory but is discretionary. Will the gentleman concede that carrying that out to its logical conclusion, there might not be any limitation to the contracts.

Mr. GATES. No, Mr. Speaker, it is limited in this bill to ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. However, Mr. Speaker, is it not true that if we carry the reason that it is not mandatory but discretionary to a logical conclusion it might be argued—following that idea to its logical conclusion, that there should not be any limitation whatever of time for these contracts.

Mr. GATES. No, Mr. Speaker, I think the time element to a certain extent should enter into it. There may be, Mr. Speaker, contracts where the township supervisors enter into contracts for seven or eight years, but this bill gives then the discretion of entering into a contract limited absolutely by this bill to ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman with reference to his second reason, that it will effect economies, how does he compute these economies? Is it not a fact that you would compute such economies on the basis of present day rates?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I might say that Mr. Bentley was very fair in regard to this bill, so fair that he sent a little note over to me asking that he might interrogate me because he was very vitally interested in this matter. I consented, and I want to compliment the gentleman from Allegheny for his courtesy and fairness. There isn't any question about the controversy as to whether it might be advisable to enter into a contract for five or ten years. Electric light, electricity may be cheaper in ten years—no one knows, but in the wisdom of the supervisors and in the wisdom of the PUC, if they thought that a certain contract is advisable for saving money for the taxpayers, then I think the responsibility is on them, and we have given them the right to save that money. I do not think anybody could answer the question intelligently what the rates will be in ten years.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman stated at the present time that economies may be effected, that statement is based solely on the theory that rates will stay at the figure as now and does not contemplate lower rates?

Mr. GATES. That is the controversial part of this bill, Mr. Speaker. No living man can answer that question. It is absolutely on the basis that I gave a little while ago, present day rates.

Mr. BENTLEY. I thank the gentleman from Armstrong.

Mr. Speaker, I had the feeling that perhaps we could enlighten the membership of the House by an interrogation on this bill, and I am quite sure that with the very very courteous answers of Mr. Gates we have brought forth some answers to the question which might not have been previously apparent to the membership.

However, this very simple little amendment to a bill, which on its face is quite simple, presents a problem that has very broad implications. As the membership remember, I initiated the line of interrogation by asking the gentleman if he was familiar with the policies which had led to the Legislature's placing a limitation on contracts of this sort. I think the members will agree with me that there is a very definite need for limiting contracts of this sort; if for no other reason, than that one Legislative body should not bind its successors by its actions. That alone is sufficient to give pause in permitting long term contracts such as these.

I think the gentlemen of the House are familiar with the fact that this legislative session may not under the Constitution bind the action of subsequent Legislatures. That is good, sound common sense; it is good Constitutional law, and yet there is a method of evasion, and that is by a legislative body entering into contracts which run beyond the term of the legislators or the terms of its members. For that reason we have to be very careful on these things, because under the impairment of contract obligation clause of the Constitution those contracts are protected.

The vice which originally led to a five year limitation was the time-honored scheme of one man coming in and talking to the Borough Clerk or Township Clerk and getting a fat, juicy contract for himself or his firm, by the placing of a little gratuity where it would do the most good. That I think has been largely cut down by this five year limitation, but that would be given further life if once again we allow long term contracts to be placed on the books.

In addition, Mr. Speaker, as Mr. Gates has stated, there is the very vital question of the wisdom of permitting township supervisors or any other public officials to gamble in futurities, and that is what this comes down to. I might state that the entire trend of street lighting costs in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been downward in the last few years. I am advised by members of the Public Utility Commission that they have every reason to anticipate that in the future public utility costs will continue downwards. Now, it is not sensible to expect the township supervisors who are unfamiliar with this downward trend not to be sold a long term contract based on a slight reduction of present day costs. The utilities, who know this trend and have all the facts and figures available, are fully aware of it, and they can present a slight reduction in cost which looks very attractive and then bind the municipality or the township to a long term contract, and in the end it is going to cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars. It is from that sort of thing we must protect them.

I might state also, Mr. Speaker, that contracts such as these are in a sense discriminatory contracts. On what reasonable basis can a utility or any firm extending light services to the general public offer to "A" township a reduced rate because of a long term contract and on the same date offer to "B" township a higher rate. Presumably these Utilities must file their rate schedules with the Public Utility Commission. Those rate schedules provide that the rates shall be the same to all consumers. Those rates are fixed on a reasonable return on their investment and if those rates are proper how can they be reduced on the basis of a long term contract to one customer but held up at a higher rate to another customer? The answer is obvious, if they are able to affect a reduction in the case of one township by reason of a long term contract, then either the rates are too high originally, or they are taking from the short term consumer and giving to the long term consumer.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I think we might say that this matter of principle which is here involved extends across the whole field of municipal use of public utility service. If we make this entering wedge permitting these long term contracts, then we find it will be extended not alone in the field of lighting but in all fields, and with reductions over the whole field of utilities which are anticipated after this war, I think it is the duty of this House to protect unwise investments in long term contracts by unwary township, county or other public officials.

I ask the membership of the House to vote down this bill as a matter of principle.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, many of the arguments of Mr. Bentley are, to my mind, answered fully by the fact that when we increased the time in this House to five years, it proved advantageous to the State of Pennsylvania.

I am quite sorry that the gentleman brought in the question of the integrity of the supervisors of the State of Pennsylvania. I do not know each and every supervisor in my state but I do know personally practically all the supervisors in Armstrong County, and I am very proud to stand here as the Representative from Armstrong County and testify before this body that I have the utmost confidence in the integrity of every supervisor in my county.

As for the future, it is not my privilege, neither is it the privilege of any man in this House to do like some of the men across the water, look into a crystal ball and tell what might happen in the future, but we as individuals can only judge the future by the experience of the past and the present, and the experience of the past has led me to say to you Members of this House that it was wise indeed to have increased the time to five years. I am not asking anything unreasonable, and Mr. Bentley was so fair in suggesting to me that the Republican side of this House was very light that maybe we had better pass this bill over until such time as we had a full membership of the Republican members. This is not a Republican measure; therefore it rises or falls purely on its merits. I would suggest to the Members of the Democratic side, especially some of you men from the northern or northwestern part where you use natural gas, that you know as well as I do that contracts that could be made for ten years would be beneficial; that is a foregone conclusion.

As to the question of the decrease of electric light rates. I would differ most heartily with my colleague, Mr. Bentley. I think if he would look into this matter he would find that from this time forward the increased use of electricity will be very, very great.

With these few arguments in favor of a bill that may not help Mr. Bentley in Allegheny County, but which I feel will help the majority of the country counties of Pennsylvania, I most respectfully ask both sides of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I regret that Mr. Gates has construed my remarks to reflect on the township supervisors, in particular or in general. I meant no such insinuation. I do, however, repeat the proposition that in the abstract it may cast temptation before men who may yield to it, and it has been the experience in government generally, I believe, that it is a wise procedure to remove in all cases where possible such temptation.

I might say also that I oppose this bill, not because it affects the city of Pittsburgh or the county of Allegheny where I reside. My opposition to the bill springs from a matter of principle, and the principle is state and nationwide.

My colleague, Mr. Grant, has mentioned one further argument which I would be remiss did I not place it before the House. The entire trend of recent public utility ownership and utility service has been in many, many cases toward municipal ownership. I think it is a forward-looking and beneficial trend. Need I mention to the membership of the House that in many cases it might be very wise for a utility in order to prevent municipal ownership or municipal construction of street lighting facilities under an authority to go in and offer an exceedingly attractive contract to township supervisors in order to forestall for a period of ten years such municipal ownership, construction or authority.

I feel that after this war is over one of the very finest things we can do as to post-war planning and post-war construction is to have our own municipal street lighting or other types of utilities. This bill will throw a very formidable obstacle in the path of such ownership.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, more than one hundred five members or a majority of the House having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 374, as follows:

RESOLUTION

DISPLAY OF WAR BOND POSTERS

Messrs. LEONARD and KIRLEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, the United State of America is engaged in prosecuting the most costly war in our history, and

Whereas, it is an undertaking that will continue to draw heavily on the resources of the entire nation to provide the billions of dollars needed for the procurement of adequate equipment for our defensive and offensive operations, and

Whereas, one of the means adopted by the government of the United States to help finance the preservation of our form of government and our way of life is through the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, Governor Edward Martin has, on more than one occasion, stated that he will cooperate in every respect with the United States government in prosecuting this war so as to bring about quick and complete victory, and

Whereas, to give expression to Governor Martin's desire to shorten this war and to give tangible evidence of the cooperation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, one of the means to aid in urging the purchase of War Bonds is available in the use of the display windows of the Stores of the Liquor Control Board, and

Whereas, HB 465, has been introduced to effect this purpose, and such action is immediately needed, now therefore be it

Resolved that the Governor direct the Liquor Control Board to make available to the United States Government space in all State Store windows for War Bond campaign posters for the duration of the war.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I object to the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DIX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is my intention to introduce a bill today, which will benefit sixty thousand school teachers of the state of Pennsylvania. This bill is so modest in its requirements and so simple in its form that I sincerely hope it will be given very careful consideration by the Committee on Education. The bill does for the teachers of Pennsylvania exactly what the previous Administration did for other state employes; in other words it increases the income of the teachers fifteen percent, up to those receiving three thousand dollars per year.

Before I introduce this bill I would like to read for the benefit, I believe, of the Members who are not entirely familiar with the situation, a short extract of statistical data that I have secured, and also a very brief prepared address.

I find that in the state of Pennsylvania we have a total of 62,566 teachers as of 1942; 10,529 of these are in the first class and 14,005 are in the third class, and 23,516 are in the fourth class, which is generally known as the rural teachers group.

The average medium salary of all the teachers of Pennsylvania is very close to fifteen hundred dollars, which any Member, I believe, will agree is not at all exhorbitant. These figures have been furnished me, I am sure, by authoritative sources, and they indicate that in the two thousand to three thousand dollars class there are ten thousand teachers and in the one thousand to eleven hundred dollar class there are twelve thousand teachers.

The bill that I intend to introduce, I am sure, as I said before, is so simple and so modest in its requirements that it ought not to have any difficulty in being understood by anybody, and with your permission, Mr. Speaker, I would like to read a short prepared statement.

I was rather amusing to me to hear the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, state the other day how interested were the leaders of the Demacratic party in the Legislature in the welfare of the teachers of Pennsylvania.

If my memory serves me right, an example of their great interest was plainly indicated two years ago when the leaders of the minority party were in control of the House and had everything their own way. I also recall that at that time I was the first member of the House to introduce a bill to give the lowest paid group of teachers, those of the rural sections of the state, an increase in salary. It provided that these teachers receive two annual increments of $100, bringing their salary up to $1,200 for the current year of 1943.

The Democratic leaders stole my bill, revamped it almost word for word, but, notice this, they reduced the increments from $100 a year for two years to $50 a year for two years, and that is the way the bill passed finally, which shows the great interest of the present minority party leaders in the welfare of the lowest paid group of teachers in Pennsylvania. They reduced the increments fifty per cent. So I say, the minority leaders do not come into this session with clean hands when they now wish to pose as the benefactors of our educators in the rural districts and villages of our Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly: Today I am introducing a bill that is frankly not an increment bill, and it is not a bonus bill. It is simply a bill to pay at least a portion of the increased cost of living to over 90 per cent of our teachers. It is so modest in its request for additional aid that I hope it or a similar bill which is even more liberal will be adopted by the Republicans and given final passage. The bill is simply in keeping with the increases given other state employees on capitol hill and elsewhere in the Commonwealth. It's cost can easily be defrayed without hurting anybody by an increased tax on luxuries, which the general public can easily get along without or can easily pay the additional tax.

Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the Assembly: There is so much that could be said in favor of this or a similar bill that I could speak on this measure a much longer time, but I will not do so at this time, and I thank you all for allowing me at this time to call your attention to the most deserving class of public servants in our Commonwealth.

INTERROGATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, while the gentleman was making his address I was being interrogated by members of the press, and I heard some reference to my name, and some reference to the now minority party. Will the gentleman tell me to what that reference is?

Mr. DIX. In answering the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, I would like to say also that I did not pay proper attention to the Speaker, because I was also being interviewed by members of the press, so I will be very glad now to answer that question.

I said that according to a statement—these are not the exact words, of course—which had been previously made, you appeared to assume that you are unusually interested in the welfare of the teachers of Pennsylvania and almost inferred that the Republican side of the House did not appear to be so interested.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, did I hear the gentleman say that in the 1941 session, when we had full sway, that we failed to act on the measure?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I said that I introduced a bill at that time which provided increments of one hundred dollars for two years, and that the Democrats stole this bill.

Mr. COHEN. That's what I thought I heard.

Mr. DIX. And recamped it, Mr. Speaker, and reduced the amount to fifty dollars instead of one hundred dollars, which indicated how interested they were in the welfare of the teachers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

I might state that over the air right now we hear "the best tunes of all go to Carnegie Hall," and I am quite certain that if the sponsor had taken the tune "somebody stole my bill" and sent it to Carnegie Hall he wouldn't have to worry about it here.

But, Mr. Speaker, my impression is that the gentleman said that in 1941 the Democratic Part had full sway. May I remind the gentleman that there was a Republican Senate in 1941 and a Republican Governor, if you remember who he was. In any event, Mr. Speaker, the Democratic side is perfectly happy to have all the support, all the advice and all the energy of any Member on the other side who is really, honestly worried about the school teachers.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I feel sure that the Republican members on this side of the House will cooperate with any sound legislation which is proposed either by the Democrats or the Republicans.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord our God "How excellent is Thy name in all the earth"; who hath set Thy glory above the heavens; how great is Thy mercy, and how generous is Thy provision for all our needs! Thou hast not withheld from us any good thing. Today, as always, we have been given our daily bread. Today, as always, that spiritual bread that nourishes and strengthens our souls is available. As our bodies in their hunger long for food, so may we in our souls long for the bread of life. Then will we be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Then will we not fear what man can do unto us.

What Thou knowest that we need to make us profitable unto Thee and helpful to our fellow-men we pray that Thou wilt give us.

Give us the faith to believe that at the heart of the universe there is a sovereign God, and that "all things work together for good to them that love Him."

Enable us, each of us, today to do Thy will in all matters that come before us.

Give faith, courage and confident hope to all our chosen leaders. Give to our nation victory over all her enemies. Arm our soldiers with the panoply of God. Then we will fear no foe.

In the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO USE SENATE CHAMBER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the Committee on Federal Relations has a resolution, sponsored by three members of the Senate, Messrs. Farrell, Carr, and Woodring, a resolution to memorializing Congress to set up a federation of the world, and it has excited considerable interest pro and con.

The original idea was to hold a regular committee meeting, but the Chairman has been requested to make it a public hearing, and as we are unable to get the Senate Caucus room, I now move that we be allowed to hold this public hearing in the Senate Chamber, on Tuesday, March 23, at ten o'clock a. m. Everybody is invited.

I might say that a man who is going from one State Legislature to another explaining this resolution will be present, and I have no doubt he will be interesting. He is entirely a proponent.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia desire to call this resolution up, or is he just asking permission to use the Senate Chamber to hold the hearing?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I do not know who owns this Chamber, but I am trying to get permission to hold a meeting here on Tuesday morning, March 23rd.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection permission is granted.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. THOMAS, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 15, 1943.

RESOLUTION

WAR BOND CAMPAIGN POSTERS

Mr. McGINNIS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 15, 1943.

Whereas, the United States of America is engaged in prosecuting the most costly war in our history, and

Whereas, it is an undertaking that will continue to draw heavily on the resources of the entire nation to provide the billions of dollars needed for the procurement of adequate equipment for our defensive and offensive operations, and

Whereas, one of the means adopted by the government of the United States to help finance the preservation of our form of government and our way of life is through the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, Governor Edward Martin has, on more than one occasion, stated that he will co-operate in every respect with the United States government in prosecuting this war so as to bring about quick and complete victory and

Whereas, to give expression to Governor Martin's desire to shorten this war and to give tangible evidence of the co-operation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, one of the means to aid in urging the purchase of War Bonds is available in the use of the display windows of the Stores of the Liquor Control Board, therefore be it

Resolved that the Governor direct the Liquor Control Board to make available to the United States Government space in all State Store windows for War Bond campaign posters for the duration of the war.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I would like to request that some of the members of the Senate be summoned to vote on this bill. I suggest that the Sergeant-at-Arms round up the Senators.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, before any such action as that requested by the gentleman from Philadelphia is taken, I think we should have a bill before us that is worthy of serious consideration—to call the Senators in for a bill of this character, which I personally do not think is worth the paper it is written on. This bill has been printed every day in the Senate for weeks and weeks, wasting the printer's time, and to now waste the time of the Sergeant-at-Arms, I must object.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the bill now before the Senate provides for civil service in counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes. In Allegheny County this will affect about sixty employees, and in the smaller counties it surely will affect less than sixty. I would say that in every one of the smaller counties it would affect very very few people, yet it provides for an elaborate civil service commission. It does not say what the salaries will be for clerks, employees, and stenographers to look after only sixty employes in Allegheny county, and for very many less employes in other counties.

Mr. President, when I first came to Harrisburg, I was an enthusiast for civil service. There was not then a soul in the State government under civil service, but during the Earle administration there were fifteen thousand, or about half of the employes of this State put under civil service, and the more I see of civil service, the more determined I am to be against any civil service bill.

I have seen civil service at work for a great many years, and I will venture to say that here in the Capitol, if any of you were to go into the civil service offices of the State, and then go into the other offices where they do not have civil service, I guarantee that there will not be a person on this floor but will admit that they get more courteous service, better service, more up to date service in the offices where they do not have civil service.

In Allegheny county, we have in our Courthouse Republican offices and Democratic offices—I mean the heads of those offices. There is no civil service in the Courthouse. Over in our City-County building, I think there are three or four or five thousand civil service employes, and there too, is a splendid opportunity to walk into those offices, if you are a taxpayer, and no matter who you are going to see in those offices, if you go into a civil service office after five o'clock you will not find a soul, they rush out the moment the clock ticks five—but if you go into the Courthouse where they do not have civil service, where the employes are interested in their departments, interested in the men that appointed them, interested in doing favors for the taxpayers, you will find them on the job.

Of course, Mr. President, I have heard the argument that the postal department has been run on civil service for a great many years, and I will admit they have done a good job, but that is the only place that I have seen civil service work in government. On the other hand, Mr. President, the Pennsylvania Railroad does not have civil service, nor does the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and they are big corporations, and I will say to you that they have just as efficient, just as loyal and just as good employes in those railroads as they have in the postal department of the United States, so it may be that it is management and direction that makes success in office.

I have observed this about civil service employes, that the longer they are in civil service the poorer citizens they become. They neglect the ballot, they neglect politics—they are supposed to stay out of politics, and the longer they are in, the less they are concerned even about civil duties in their home communities. They get into a rut and feel that they are in for life and they do not have to pay much attention to their bosses in the office or to anybody else.

I know that civil service has been praised, I know that a lot of the papers, perhaps most of time, are praising civil service and are demanding it.

Mr. President, I am fearful of another thing, too. You know, there are a lot of common, ordinary people in the State of Pennsylvania in the cities that have had a hard time perhaps, to send their boys and girls through school, but another family, which was perhaps lucky, was able to send their boy or girl to college, and lo and behold you, when these civil service examinations are over, these college boys and these college girls get the highest marks and they get the jobs, whereas the ordinary men—and most of the people in Pennsylvania are just plain ordinary hard working citizens—do not have a chance.

I say to you, if you extend civil service more in the State of Pennsylvania you will find that you will have that class of college graduates, whose fathers and mothers may have been lucky enough to send them to college, and the common, ordinary father and mother will not have a boy on the public payroll, and if you build this thing up, it may get so powerful that they may control the different departments of government in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, do you know that I read an editorial in the Pittsburgh Post this morning, where the Civil Service Commission in Pittsburgh is being attacked. Now, what happened there? The City Council, elected by the people, was forced to knock off about 250 employes. Most of them were not under civil service but every one of those under civil service that was knocked off took an appeal to the Civil Service Commission and had hearings there for weeks and weeks, and now they are going to appeal to the courts. They have denounced our council for cutting down the payroll, and especially cutting them off, and that is an indication of what happens when you build up such a group and plant them in office and then have no control over them.

Did you ever try to fire a civil service employe, no matter what his record was? Why, you will find that he will appeal and appeal, he will go to court and get a clever lawyer and he will stay on the payroll, nine times out of ten. So Mr. President, I feel that we should not, even in the City of Pittsburgh or the County of Allegheny, build a Civil Service Commission for sixty employes. We have sixty policemen in the County of Allegheny who are not under civil service, and if you put those policemen under civil service they will be so cocky and so fresh that they will pay no attention to the men that appointed them or to the party that appointed them.

Do you know that I feel that the Hatch Act was one of the worst acts ever written in the United States. What is going to happen to our people if they can not engage in governmental affairs, and especially in politics?

I feel that enough people do not engage in politics. I would like to see every voter in Pennsylvania engage in politics. For us to pass bills like civil service bills and Hatch Acts, to prevent people from exercising rights that our fathers fought and died for, I think is wrong.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, this is a bill which, as I understand, applies to Allegheny County police alone. It is very difficult for me to differ with my esteemed friend, Senator McGinnis, but I do differ with him; on the question of civil service, we are as far apart as the poles, because I believe that ultimately all municipal and governmental employes, not only of the cities but of the municipalities, will belong to the civil service system, and even if I did not believe in the general principle of civil service, my experience with members of the police force indicates to me that policemen certainly should be under civil service. There is not a more difficult nor a more dangerous vocation in the world than that of a policeman. He has a dangerous job to do. The policeman is the protector of all the people in the community in which we live. Frequently we find accusations of graft and corruption in the police forces in our metropolitan areas. The only answer to such charges is this, that we have to have competent, honorable men on our police forces, and it is very difficult to get competent men for the inadequate salary which the average policeman receives. It is almost impossible to get competent men, when the men realize that their term of office is going to depend on the political whim or caprice of a political party.

I understand from the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, that there are only sixty members of the Allegheny County police force who will come under the terms of this bill.

In 1941, this Legislature passed a civil service bill for policemen which applied to all the boroughs and townships of Pennsylvania. Policemen in the City of Pittsburgh have civil service and to the best of my knowledge, this is the only remaining group of law enforcement officers in our county which does not have civil service.

I sincerely hope that when you cast your vote that you will cast it in the affirmative on this bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this seems to be a kind of a free-for-all on civil service, and I simply want to put the thought in the mind of the Minority Floor Leader, Senator McGinnis, that if it were not for civil service in the United States Post Office—all of the fourth class postmasters being New Dealers—we would have the same President in the White House forever and ever, and I am against that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I just want to say one word in this connection. This bill does not keep police out of politics. It did when it was first introduced. This bill says, page 12, line 11, "engaging or participating in the conducting of any political election or campaign otherwise than to exercise his own right of suffrage." That is taken out, so that gives carte-blanche, in my opinion, to policemen. From the fact that we once put that provision in the bill and then took it out, they must assume that our intention was that they could go ahead and engage in politics.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I do not think that I made any statement to the effect that this bill would keep policemen out of politics, and although I believe in civil service, I certainly do not believe in the Hatch Act. I believe it is the duty of every man and woman to play a part in the political life of the community in which he or she lives.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in 1937 I introduced a bill similar to the bill now being debated. It that time I believed in giving civil service to policemen. I still do, under one consideration, but I am not in favor of freezing every man into office, while we have millions of boys fighting who are not given an opportunity to compete for these jobs. I oppose this bill today because I think it is unfair, it is unfair to the boys, who are honorable boys, and who would make competent policemen, by denying them the right to compete in open competition with those who have the jobs.

I say to this Senate, if it wants to give these boys who are fighting our battles a chance to come back and accept a position in public life, that it should not freeze any men into public office.

Let us think of the boys on Bataan, Corregidor, New Guinea and North Africa. They will come back, They would make good policemen, and I ask the members of this Senate to see that those boys who come back, come back to good jobs that they deserve and not to come back to find out that, in their absence, we, the Senators of Pennsylvania, have frozen every man on the public payroll.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 67 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 67 go over in its order until tomorrow, so that we can have a chance to find out just what is the intent of this bill and how we should vote on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. FARRELL. Roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. FARRELL and were as follows, viz:

PRESENT—1

DiSilvestro,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the only thing that I want to comment upon is concerning the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh. We have been here in session, are now in our third month, and bills have gone over in order on the simple excuse that members of the Senate were not present and in order that enough votes could be obtained on the Senate floor to pass a particular bill.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, only made a reasonable request, that this bill be postponed for one day. He had heard on the Senate floor arguments which he was not prepared to answer in his own mind, and he wanted to be sure that his vote would be cast in the right direction. He only asked a common, civil, decent request and it was denied by this Senate to the tune of 26-15, for no good, earthly reason.

I may have intended to vote for the bill, but I certainly will not now.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Becker,	Ealy,	Kephart,	Tallman,

Coleman,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Bowers,	Farrell,	Kephart,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Letzler,	Walker,

SENATE BILL No. 34 CALLED UP

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 34, Printer's No. 60, appearing on page 1 of today's Calendar, was previously passed over in order temporarily. I understand the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, now has his amendments prepared, and therefore; I call up Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session closing schools and suspending classes authorizing temporary assignment and reassignment of teachers extension of transportation facilities and payment of tuition in lieu of transportation obtaining full State subsidies and granting temporary farm and domestic employment certificates for certain pupils under certain conditions authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public education) with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to put such provisions into operation and to suspend the provisions of existing school laws inconsistent therewith upon findings by such boards

The PRESIDENT. The Chair calls to the attention of the gentleman from Lancaster the fact that Senate Bill No. 34 has today passed third reading. It was not voted on finally on final passage.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I call it up for consideration at this time.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman from Lancaster so desires the Chair will entertain a motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 34 passed third reading.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lancaster will proceed.

Mr. HOMSHER. My point of information, Mr. President, is that the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, requested that Senate Bill No. 34 go over temporarily until he could find his amendments, which he desired to offer.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct, but the Clerk informs the Chair that Senate Bill No. 34 had already been read and had passed third reading but had not passed on final passage, when the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, requested that the bill go over in order.

Mr. HOMSHER. Then, Mr. President, I desire to call up Senate Bill No. 34, on final passage.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Will the Chair inform me the vote by which Senate Bill No. 34 passed third reading?

The PRESIDENT. The vote was unanimous on the passage of the bill on third reading.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it does not make very much difference, I suppose. I have here an amendment that refers to page 4 of this bill which is now up for final passage—although it was my understanding that it had not passed third reading.

This bill on page 4, line 7, contains the following: "Grant farm and domestic employment permits to pupils who have attained the age of fourteen years and have completed the sixth grade or equivalent thereof, "and on page 4, lines 16 and 17, it contains the word "domestic" also.

The amendment that I propose to offer strikes from this bill the word "domestic" and makes it as it started out to be, a farm labor bill.

I do not see any relationship between domestic labor and farm labor. Domestic labor has little or nothing to do with the ultimate winning of the war, as far as I can see. Taking girls fourteen years of age out of school and putting them in domestic work, after they have completed the sixth grade or equivalent thereof—who is going to say what the "equivalent thereof" is?

Every man in this room knows that there are many who are influential enough in their district who will ask the father of a large family, particularly one of foreign extraction, to allow his fourteen year old daughter to come out of school and do dishwashing or clotheswashing or chambermaid duty around a house at the age of fourteen. If this war lasts three years, Mr. President, that girl will be seventeen years of age and will never go back to the to the seventh grade of any school; you could not drive her back to that school, and you will have in Pennsylvania many, many girls seventeen or eighteen years of age, who have finished the sixth grade. If that is to be the standard for working men's families, say so.

This bill is absolutely unfair. It is unfair because the only persons who will be employed at the age of fourteen will be girls in poor families, daughters of laboring men, daughters of miners.

I ask you gentlemen to listen to my plea here and not force these girls into labor. That is what you are doing, that is exactly what you are doing, because the fathers of girls of poor families will allow their daughters to go to work, because the influential citizens of a town will be the men and women who need these girls in their homes for domestic help, so that their wives can go out and play golf in the afternoons in the summer time, or go out and play bridge or carry on their social affairs.

I had a maid in my home but she has left and joined the WAAC's, and I do not know where Mrs. Dent is going to get a maid. Mrs. Dent has been a semi-invalid for six years, and I do not know where she is going to get a maid, but I swear to the Senate of Pennsylvania that I will never ask any man who has a daughter fourteen years of age—and I have a daughter myself fourteen years of age and I would not want my daughter to be working in your home or in the home of any other man, and I know that no member of this Senate would like to see his daughter, at fourteen years of age, work in some man's home.

I say to you members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, stand up as men, do not allow this to happen to fourteen year old girls in the working communities of Pennsylvania; do not make it legal.

MOTION THAT VOTE BY WHICH SENATE BILL No. 34 PASSED THIRD READING BE RECONSIDERED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 34 passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HOMSHER. I object, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland vote?

Mr. DENT. I do not remember having voted at all, sir. I understand that I am recorded as having voted "aye." I would never have voted in favor of this bill on third reading.

The PRESIDENT. Having been recorded as having voted "aye," how did the gentleman from Westmoreland vote?

Mr. DENT. If I am recorded as voting "aye," sir, and evidently the record has it that I voted "aye," I voted in the affirmative.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Lackawanna vote?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be called.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

PRESENT—1

Jones,

So the question was determined in the negative.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of information.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is the Senator from Erie, Senator Ziesenheim, recorded as having voted?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Erie is not recorded as having voted. The gentleman from Erie was granted leave of absence for today.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that the record may be kept straight, it is my understanding that the vote just taken was upon my motion that the Senate reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 34 passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. I understood the Chair to announce that the vote was on the amendment and I wanted to make sure the record was correct.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland is correct.

Mr. DENT. Now, Mr. President, I do not suppose there is anything to do but to vote on the bill?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct, unless the gentleman from Westmoreland has further remarks.

Mr. DENT. I have, Mr. President.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 34, entitled:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session closing schools and suspending classes authorizing temporary assignment and reassignment of teachers extension of transportation facilities and payment of tuition in lieu of transportation obtaining full State subsidies and granting

(h) Provide in lieu of transportation required by law tuition to a school in another district when educational facilities can thus be made available without requiring such pupils to walk more than one and one-half miles by the public highway from the nearest point where a provate way or private road connects the dwelling house of the pupils with the said highway to the nearest point where said highway touches the school grounds of the school to which the pupil has been assigned

(i) Obtain the full State subsidy provided for fully and regularly certified teachers when at the request of the responsible local district or county superintendent of schools the Superintendent of Public Instruction has issued to a teacher temporarily employed a Special Emergency Wartime Certificate to teach in the subject or field for which wartime emergency conditions make it necessary to employ such teacher

Section 3 This act shall become effective upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there are many other features in this bill which need very close examination, particularly the feature that says that time lost in school by this employment shall be considered as school time; in other words, they shall be credited with going to school although they are not in school. This bill started out, as I understood it, as a war measure, in order to help the so-called effort to win the war. If you will look closely at the bill you will find that not only was domestic labor included in the bill but also industrial labor was included at one time, but somehow or other, I think in committee, industrial labor was stricken from the bill.

I tell you now, Mr. President, that I would much rather see fourteen year old girls in some lighter phase of industrial labor than to see them doing menial work in some private home. I say that because the Senate does not seem to realize what a backward step it is taking. It seems to think that this war will be over, Mr. President, maybe by Christmas or next Easter, and they feel a few months out of school will not hurt a child.

If you started out on the premise that this was a farm labor bill, I would like to state, Mr. President, that the farming season in Pennsylvania, especially in my end of it, starts anywhere from the first or second week of May and ends anywhere between the first and second week in September, so there is not much school time to be dealt with.

I was a little curious when this bill was first put in, because most of our so-called country schools at home have arranged their schedules so that school children get out of school in the spring and come back to school late enough in the fall so that they can be of some assistance on the farm in planting, and cultivating and harvesting the crops. But no, this bill is not a farm labor bill; this bill does not help the war effort with farm labor. This bill is to provide domestic help, to provide girls fourteen years of age for domestic service. That is all this bill is for, because if we were sincere in trying to help the farmers we would have stricken from the bill the provision that allows girls fourteen years of age to be taken out of school, and seeing to it that they never go back to school, and that is exactly what you are doing here, because if this war lasts as they say it will, two, three or maybe four years, you can not expect a girl eighteen or nineteen years of age to go back to school in the seventh grade, with thirteen, twelve, eleven or fourteen year old children. Why, sincerely, Mr. President, that girl will be so worldly wise, after four years in the homes of some people I know, that she would not be much good as an influence to children twelve or thirteen years old. I say that because I have always been realistic in things I think and do, and so I say, Mr. President and members of the Senate, you may vote for this bill and you may condemn the daughters of the poor, common laboring men to service in the homes of a few in the community who have the money to pay some daughters to do their wives' work. You may do that if you wish, but I say to you that you are taking a step that is a long cry from the words of Thaddeus Stevens when he set up the public school system in the State of Pennsylvania. I say, gentlemen of the Senate, that you are taking a backward step that you will rue some day, especially if this war lasts, as I think it will last, more than the few months you say it will last, when you vote for a bill like this.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill was presented to us as a bill made necessary by the present war, but it looks to me like a bill which is to remain permanently on our books, because it starts out with the proposition, not during this emergency, but "Whenever during the continuance of any war in which this Nation is or may become engaged," and in addition to that this bill provides that the emergency shall continue for as long after as the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the board shall say, except that it shall not be longer than one year after cessation of hostilities.

This bill originally, in my opinion, was a good bill, because I am sure that there are a great many things that children of even fourteen years of age can do in connection with our farm work, to provide help for our farmers during this war emergency, but I do not see why anyone should want to have any of these girls do domestic service during the war. I do not think in England, during any period of this war, when help was taken from households, that any great effort was made to replace maid service in households. I do not see anything patriotic about that; I think it is very selfish to assume that we have to provide maid service to homes in times of war.

I have heard one suggestion, that a housewife may go out to a farm to do the work and have a girl come into the house to do that work. Well, I say that you can still keep the situation as it is and it will be much better, to allow the mother to stay in the house and permit the child to go out in the healthy, open air and do farm work, if it is necessary.

But why, under any patriotic reason or any war necessity reason, do you include in this bill a provision that girls shall be farmed out into domestic service for two or three years, and, at the same time, give them credit for work which they do not do in school, so that if they are out for two years, under the provisions of this bill they will get credit for it as if they attended school? To me that seems unnecessary and certainly not a bill that can be passed under the banner of the flag.

It strikes me, Mr. President, that there was no harm in the amendment offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent; I think, on the contrary, it was a very wise amendment that should have been given more consideration than it received on the Senate floor.

I had intended to vote for this bill, because it contains a great many excellent provisions, but I shall not vote for it as long as the domestic service proposition is included in the bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Homsher.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I only have one question to ask the gentleman from Lancaster and that is: why was the word "domestic" inserted in this bill.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, the word "domestic" was inserted in this bill because it is felt there may be some need for the help of those girls temporarily in certain homes.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is all, Mr. President; I thank the gentleman from Lancaster.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, we as leaders of the people of Pennsylvania, I believe, should stop to consider the trials, tribulations and responsibilities which we will have to bear after this war is over, whether it be won or whether it be lost. We must realize that the younger generation, as it will grow from year to year, is going to be faced with the responsibility of bearing up under the trials, tribulations, and responsibilities which will face every family after this war is over.

If we lose this war, we are going to have to have keen minds, we are going to have to have men and women with sound judgments, in order to try to compute the responsibilities that will face the people of this country and more particularly the people of Pennsylvania.

If we win the war, we are going to need these same young men and women with their keen minds with their sound judgments and with their reasonable thoughts.

Mr. President, if this bill passes, it would mean that when any child reaches the age of fourteen it could enter domestic employment. We realize that once a child gets out of school, especially in the families of people in the common walk of life, they hesitate to ever return. We have heard young men and young women say "I am too young to go back to school," or "I am too old to go back to school"; more particularly, "old" would have application here. A child sixteen or seventeen years of age would not want to go back to the seventh or eighth grade and once they get out of school we must bear in mind that they will never return.

Therefore I say, gentlemen, as leaders of the people of this Commonwealth, why place the younger generation in the position where, after this war is over, we are going to have young men and women who do not have the educational training to carry on the responsibilities that they will have to bear, when we have reached the point in our lives where the younger generation has to step into our shoes and use the sound judgment and sense of reason that we are called upon to use here.

I am in favor of this bill generally, Mr. President, but due to the provision which provides for domestic employment and the provision which provides that when a child is out of school, due to an emergency, that child gets the same credit which it would receive if the child had been going to school, I believe it will tend to tear down the educational principles upon which our educational system has been formed, grounded and carried on since we have had a school system in our Commonwealth. I thank you.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I should first like to state why I objected to amendments being introduced to this bill today. This bill has been on the Calendar for three weeks, it has been amended, and every member of this Senate was given ample opportunity to study the bill and to submit amendments before it came up for final passage.

In the 1942 session of the Legislature the Governor of Pennsylvania asked for a general bill giving to him almost any power, which would enable him to even close schools entirely, if necessary, during the war emergency. The Legislature did not see fit to pass such a piece of legislation, but the various departments were contacted and each department was asked what would help in the emergency.

The greater part of this bill was introduced in the special session of 1942 and almost unanimously passed by this Senate. An identical bill was introduced at the beginning of this Session and after it had been introduced, the Department of Public Instruction found some other things which they thought necessary to have enacted during the emergency and they were incorporated in the bill.

Mr. President, the greatest objection of the bill seems to be the reference to domestic employment. I think the statements or the thoughts of the members who oppose the bill are greatly exaggerated as to the intent, purpose and operation of the bill. The Superintendent of Public Instruction will promulgate the rules, will supervise and state to whom and how these permits may be granted. It is not the purpose of the bill, and I do not think we need have any fear that school girls, fourteen years of age, are going to be given general permits to go into homes for domestic work, but there may be occasions, however, when it may become necessary for girls fourteen years of age to go into homes for domestic purposes, and the bill does provide that at such times, girls may be relieved from school duties and that they may go in and do this work and receive credit for days taught.

A girl fourteen years of age, whether she is your daughter or mine, cannot object to some domestic duties. If she has not learned domestic duties in her own home it might be wise for her to have an opportunity to learn domestic duties in the home of someone else, because they all expect to grow up and be married and be housewives—that is the greatest thing our young girls and our young ladies can do.

Mr. President, when I look at the work that will be placed upon those girls, compared to what older girls are doing—take girls going into the army or into the naval forces, who are going to the four corners of the world and are serving with the army, under the worst conditions possible—compare them with girls going out to help with domestic duties, which may largely be caused by the fact that now many of our older girls are going into the armed forces.

I have here some statistics showing how many married women are going into industrial plants to work. Philadelphia has 49,000 children to be cared for this summer; in Pittsburgh 14,000 need care; in Allentown 5,500 need care; in Harrisburg 4,600 need care; in Erie 2,800 need care; in Williamsport 2,100 need care; in Aliquippa there are 1,300, and so on.

I see no reason, in the case of emergency, why girls fourteen years of age should not be competent to render such aid during this emergency, and I see no reason why those girls will not be benefited largely by the experience which they can gain in this kind of work. These girls will be needed in farm homes. Of course, the girls cannot go out and do heavy work on the farms, but the wives of farmers are going out and doing the heaviest kind of work; likewise boys fourteen years of age cannot go out and do heavy farm work, but they can assist in the lighter work, and the purpose of this bill you will find, Mr. President, will be to relieve them from going to school temporarily. I do not feel that there will be any exodus from schools under this bill to provide farm and domestic help, because the Superintendent of Public Instruction makes the rules and regulations, and I know that he will not promulgate any rules which will be harmful to the children of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I therefore request that the members of the Senate vote for this bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. I would like to ask the gentleman from Lancaster the status of a girl fourteen years of age, who might be taken out of the sixth grade and who returns to school two years hence; would she go back to the sixth grade or would she enter high school?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I do not believe any such occasion would occur.

Mr. HALUSKA. Is it not possible under this bill, Mr. President.

Mr. HOMSHER. It is possible.

Mr. HALUSKA. If it is possible, Mr. President, what would be her status?

Mr. HOMSHER. I believe the rules and regulations promulagted by the Superintendent of Public Instruction would prevent anything of that kind.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in the opinion of the gentleman from Lancaster, what would be the status of a girl fourteen years of age, who would leave the sixth grade and return two years hence; does the gentleman from Lancaster think that she would go back to the sixth or eighth grade?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, she would have to go back into the grade she would be capable of working in.

Mr. HALUSKA. Who would decide that?

Mr. HOMSHER. The supervisor or the superintendent in the school in which she enters.

Mr. HALUSKA. Would they give her any preliminary test or what would they do?

Mr. HOMSHER. I do not know what rules the superintendent would make, Mr. President, or what effort would be made to ascertain her intelligence at the time she goes back to school.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is one more reason, Mr. President, why this bill should be defeated—we do not know the status of a girl who might be taken out of the sixth grade and who might go back to school two or three years hence. None of us seem to know whether she would go back to the seventh or the eighth grade, or whether she would enter high school, and no one would be in a position to know her status and her capabilities. Certainly a bill of this nature should never pass this body.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lancaster said that this was the wrong time to present amendments, and I would like to refresh his memory and say to him that last Tuesday we did not reach the Calendar and last Wednesday there were not sufficient Senators here to vote upon the bill, so it is not my fault we did not get to it before now.

I just want to say this, Mr. President, that we do not need to make the excuse that the passage of this bill will relieve a situation where children need to be watched, because if that is the purpose of the bill, put it in the bill. I do not think there will be anybody who would object to fourteen year old girls supervising or taking care of children during the summer months when the mothers happen to be busy in war work, or even during school time in the evenings. No one would object to that. That is not the objection to this bill. There is nothing in this bill that says they are only to watch children, and there is nothing in this bill that says they are not to do all the domestic work that is to be done around a home; there is not anything in here at all to protect them except, as it generally says, that the Superintendent of Public Instruction will promulgate rules and regulations.

Gentlemen, this is the Senate of Pennsylvania. I never was one for delegating powers to any bureau. I understand it is a Republican argument that too many of the powers of the Federal Congress have been usurped by bureaus and bureaucrats in Washington. You say that is wrong and you have been fighting against it, and yet you say in this bill you can take the young girls of Pennsylvania and you say that the Superintendent of Public Instruction can make rules and regulations that shall apply to and mold their futures, especially in the years that they have between now and the end of this war, or, as Senator Shapiro pointed out, this or any war, this or any emergency, as this bill does not say this particular war. This bill does not say the war between the Allied Nations and Axis powers, it says any emergency—immediately upon the entrance of this nation into any emergency the rules of the School System of Pennsylvania will be broken down. If that is what you want, let us clearly understand that is what you want, but let us not hide behind any subterfuge. You want girls fourteen years of age to do domestic work; we do not.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to just point out —I do not intend to make a speech—I want the members of the Senate to note that there was a statement made here about rules and regulations. I ask you to look at them, because I call to the attention of the sponsor of the bill the fact that this does not give the Superintendent of Public Instruction the right to make rules and regulations under which these young girls would be farmed out to do domestic work. Let me read that provision, beginning with line 7, page 4, which relates to this question and which states that the board shall have power to "Grant farm and domestic employment permits to pupils who have attained the age of fourteen years and have completed the sixth grade or equivalent thereof" and then it goes on to say, "The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall promulgate general rules and regulations to put this provision into effect . . ." It does say, general rules and regulations under which this domestic help shall be allowed to go into homes; it just places upon the Department of Public Instruction the right to tell the various school boards how they may operate under this provision, so that they will not have to get a permit for every girl. What the Department of Public Instruction can do under this provision is to say to the various boards, if you want to take advantage of this rule you shall hold meetings at such and such a time in this State and promulgate rules and regulations under which these girls shall be sent into domestic homes or that these boys shall be sent out to do farm work.

Mr. President, I would say there is some force in the argument on this floor that the amendement to Section 4, proposed by the gentleman from Westmoreland, should be inserted.

FINAL REPORT OF ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to submit a report at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, under the act which created the Anthracite Subsidence Commission, we were given until March 15 to present a final report to the Legislature. This report is being presented concurrently today in the Senate and the House.

I had prepared an epitome of this report, which it was my intention to present here today, but inasmuch as a great many members of the Senate have certain appointments which they desire to honor, I am not going to take the time to make it at this time. I am going to ask, however, that if the members of the Senate will not read this report in its entirety, as is their custom to do at times that they do read this summary which I am presenting with the report.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask that the report, together with the remarks I have prepared, be included in the Journal.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection, the request of the gentleman from Clinton is granted.

Mr. STEVENSON. The Anthracite Subsidence Commission is concurrently presenting its final report to both branches of this Legislature. In all probability this report will not be read in its entirety by many members of this body. Consequently, I desire to present in epitome an accounting of its activities, its findings and its recommendations.

This Commission has had a most difficult assignment, in that it comprehends a highly involved and a thoroughly intricated problem. At times we were greatly perplexed but never did we despair of its ultimate solution.

For about a year we have been virtually living with this problem of surface support and have worked at it assiduously to find the answer. In the beginning we decided to tether our wits so that they would range and browse only in the field of the feasible and not stray a' wool-gathering.

Numerous hearings were conducted in the anthracite region and we harkened to a wide diversity of opinions. These ran the whole gamut from the usual ipsedixits and common crotches to those well-founded in science and experience. Many could be likened to the Apples of Sodom which were externally of fair appearance but turned to smoke and ashes when plucked from the trees.

We do not subscribe to the defeatist attitude of those who contend that the only guarantee against subsidence rests in the cessation of all mining under the built-up areas. Such a course of action would destroy the economy of the entire region which depends so largely for its prosperity upon the custom of the mine-worker. It would also cripple the tax-structures of many political subdivisions which are based rather heavily upon these mining-properties.

From actual experimental data acquired and from the collective thinking of competent mining engineers, we have concluded that flushing is the only practical approach to the solution of this problem. By flushing is meant the re-filling and packing of waste and other materials into the voids. Evidence appears to be conclusive that subsidence will not effect the surface if those voids are flushed which lay within a range of 300 feet below the surface.

Flushing has long been practised in European countries as a means of winning additional coal under their plans for the conservation of the natural resources. It has not been done for the purpose of supporting the superincumbent estates.

In our own country some flushing has been done in order to win the coal left in the pillars of the mines. In addition to this, there has been considerable pioneering in the flushing of voids under buildings in order to prevent subsidence. The results obtained have been very satisfactory.

It is the opinion of this Commission that flushing as an industry is still in its swaddling-bands; that, as it becomes a highly competitive business, the inventive genii and the applied skills of the American people will improve its methods, increase its efficiency, lower its costs and groom it as the total answer to this problem.

We are recommending that an Anthracite Subsidence Commission or Division be set up in the Department of Mines. This Commission is to consist of three men who have had at least 16 years of experience in mining and who shall function under the direction of the Secretary of Mines. It shall be the duty of this Commission to make or have made a complete survey and estimate of the voids under built-up areas; to set forth a complete long-range flushing program, initiate actual flushing operations and to arrange flushing programs with the State and Federal Governments under their respective post-war plannings. As a result of this procedure, we believe that flushing will pass from its pioneering stage into its experimental phases during the next two years.

This newly created Commission or Division will be charged with the further duty of causing an actuarial survey to be made which can be used as a basis for subsidence insurance purchasable by property-owners and out of which they may be reimbursed for damages to their properties incurred by reason of subsidence.

It shall be the duty of this aforesaid Commission or Division to submit a complete report of its activities, together with its recommendations as to flushing and insurance programs, to the 1945 regular session of this General Assembly.

To finance this program, this Commission is recommending that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania appropriate the sum of $50,000.00 from its general fund, which shall be used to defray the operating expenses of this proposed Commission or Division during this next biennium.

It is further recommending that a tax of 2c per ton be levied upon each ton of anthracite coal mined in Pennsylvania during the two year period following the enactment of this law: said money to be used only for carrying out the purposes of this law which shall include the employment of such money as sponsorship funds in connection with projects inaugurated under State and Federal post-war planning programs.

No one on this Commission is of such gasconading temperment as to presume that our recommendations should be wrapped in the cloak of infallibility but we do believe that they have been conceived in practical wisdom and that they represent the only sound and practical approach to the solution of this problem.

FINAL REPORT OF THE ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION

Pursuant to an Act of the General Assembly approved the fifth day of August, 1941 (P. L. 802) as amended by the Act of the General Assembly approved February 18, 1943, created to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence caused by the mining of anthracite coal and directing such Commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly

FINAL REPORT OF THE ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION

March 15, 1943.

To His Excellency, Edward Martin, and the Honorable The Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

The Anthracite Subsidence Commission created by an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and approved the fifth day of August, A. D. 1941, has the honor to submit its final report and its recommendations:

Membership

The members of the Commission are the Honorable George B. Stevenson, the Honorable Edward J. Coleman, the Honorable J. Fred Thomas, the Honorable G. Harold Watkins, and the Honorable John F. Cox appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Honorable Harry P. O'Neill, the Honorable Walter Gryskewicz, the Honorable Homer S. Brown, the Honorable Arthur P. Bretherick and the Honorable Earl E. Hewitt appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Duties of the Commission

The duties of the Commission as set forth in the Act are:

(1) To investigate the problem of surface subsidence in the anthracite coal area with respect to its effect on property and human life;

(2) To engage in any research necessary to discover effective remedies for the anthracite mine cave problem;

(3) To study decisions of the State and Federal courts relating to the constitutionality and effect of earlier legislation relating to surface subsidence caused by mining; and

(4) To make recommendations as to legislation which might be enacted by the General Assembly for the effective regulation and control of anthracite mining and surface subsidence.

The commission shall make its report to the General Assembly not later than the first day of February, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three.

By amendment approved February 18, 1943, the time and filing the Commission's report was extended to March 15, 1943.

Organization

The Commission met for organization on the eleventh day of March, 1942, and elected the following officers: Senator George B. Stevenson, Chairman; Representative Harry O'Neill, Vice Chairman; Senator Edward J. Coleman, Secretary. An executive committee of four members—Representative Harry O'Neill, Chairman; Senator Edward J. Coleman, Senator G. Harold Watkins, Representative Walter Gryskewicz—was also elected.

The Executive Committee met on the ninth day of April, 1942 and appointed the following officers of the Commission: Joseph F. English, Executive Director; William J. Roberts, Assistant Executive Director; Bernard Blier, Consultant; Helen Keuch, Secretary; Nancy Whitney, Clerk.

Meetings and Investigations

The Commission held public meetings in St. Casimir's Hall, Shenandoah, Pennsylvania, on the seventeenth day of July, 1942, in the Luzerne County Court House in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, on the twenty-first day of August, 1942; in the Lackawanna County Court House in Scranton, Pennsylvania, on the twenty-fifth day of September, 1942. Beginning on the nineteenth day of November, 1942, a series of meetings were held at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, at which officials of the Federal Bureau of Mines and the State Department of Mines took part in the Commission's discussions. Other governmental departments generously lent their experts at the request of the Commission.

The day preceding each public meeting was spent by the Commission in a tour of the areas affected by subsidences. Private homes, public buildings, sewer systems, and highways were thoroughly inspected. Conversations were had with the various owners and with the people of the affected areas.

At each public hearing oral or written testimony was presented by public officials, mining inspectors, school superintendents, officers of disaster leagues and protective associations; mining engineers, city and county solicitors, property owners whose properties were damaged by subsidences; attorneys and engineers of coal companies, and members of the clergy.

The subsidences viewed varied in their magnitude from "pot-holes" to "general area slides." The "general slide" is caused by the removal of the entire bed of coal and the collapse of the over-burden. "Pot holes" are confined to small section subsidences many of which occurred despite pillar support because the composition of the roof was foreign to the natural composition of the entire area.

In the areas where general slides occurred—Shenandoah, Swoyersville, Duryea, Forty-Fort, Kingston, Pittston, being examples, extensive damage to private and public property resulted. In many areas, streets, pavements, water and gas mains, and sewage lines were damaged. In Shenandoah, for instance, approximately sixteen squares were affected by a general subsidence and considerable damage was inflicted upon private and public properties. Various municipal services, water lines and sewerage system were seriously interrupted and impaired and the restoration and repair of these constitutes a major problem for that community. The educational opportunities and advantages were also seriously affected. The resulting conditions, it was stated, were deplorable because of the loss of educational facilities and the serious menace to the health of the community.

The investigation in the upper region disclosed a somewhat different situation. The damage to property in a thickly populated area is not a new experience but is one that has been suffered for years and which extends over a far greater area and affects numerous cities and boroughs. Private property owners, as well as municipalities, have been forced to expend large sums of money in the repair of damaged property and they also have been inconvenienced and injured by subsidences which have damaged their streets, water-mains, gas-mains, sewerage systems, public schools, etc.

The Problem Presented for Study

The problem which demanded a solution by the Commission was to find some valid and practical means for preventing subsidences, and for alleviating the burden upon property owners who may suffer from the effects of subsidences, and, at the same time, to foster the conservation of coal and the economic and social prosperity of the anthracite coal region.

On the legal side the Commission is faced with the decision of the United States Supreme Court in Pennsylvania Coal Company v. Mahon, 260 U. S. 393 (1922), holding unconstitutional, as violative of the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution, an act of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania which restricted the exercise of the right to surface support, either reserved by the coal owners when the surface was sold, or acquired by them from the surface owners. (The so-called third estate.)

On the economic side the Commission meets the facts that the coal industry, the life expectancy of which is 75 years, decreased in tonnage from a peak of 75 million tons per annum to a low of 41 million tons per annum; that the anthracite region is dependent upon the healthy condition of the coal industry through the employment of men within the industry itself with the consequent payrolls, as well as through the employment of those engaged in correlated enterprises; that the coal companies pay a vast amount of taxes to the municipalities of the region; that the average annual tax income of the various municipalities from the owners of unmined coal under built-up areas ranges from $30 to $50 per superficial acre of surface, amounting to more than 3 million dollars.

Extent of Mining

The anthracite region extends from Forest City, in the Lackawanna Valley on the northeast, to Dauphin County in the southwest, covering 485 square miles of superficial area over the lowest coal beds. There are many communities, cities, and towns, located wholly or in part directly over the coal measures. Available figures indicate that 26% of the entire coal area is confined within the limits of these "built-up" communities, under which the original coal content is estimated to have been 5,000,000,000 gross tons in place. During the long period of mining operations since the beginning, extending over 125 years, it is roughly estimated that 50% of the original coal content under the improved areas as a whole has been removed.

The Mine Cave situation varies considerably in the three districts. The region is divided into the north, middle and southern fields. In the northern field most of the built-up sections are over coal which lies very nearly horizontal. However, in Lackawanna County, the coal pitches generally on both sides of the valley. The same is true in the Wilkes-Barre area. In the Hazleton and Schuylkill County areas the greater amount of coal is on pitched area.

Property Valuation

The assessed valuation of taxable real estate in the five principal anthracite counties, excluding coal property, is as follows: Carbon County, $27,082,585; Lackawanna County, $176,888,231; Luzerne County, $186,149,816; Northumberland County, $53,882,267; and Schuylkill County, $123,993,446—a total of $567,996,345. The total capital invested in coal property is $250,000,000.

The population of the five principal anthracite counties in 1938 was as follows: Carbon, 61,735; Lackawanna, 301,243; Luzerne, 441,518; Northumberland, 126,887, and Schuylkill, 228,331—a total of 1,169,714.

There are 390,000 persons gainfully employed in the five counties referred to, 78,000 of whom are engaged in the mining industry. The total annual earnings of those gainfully employed are $325,846,000, and $107,446,000 of this sum represents salaries and wages paid to mine workers according to 1939 figures.

In Shenandoah it was stated that, because of the recent subsidences, property and coal valuations had decreased over 1 million dollars, and, consequently, the borough could not reduce its debt of $800,000.

In Duryea in 1929 the assessed valuation was 4½ million dollars; in 1942 it was slightly over 2 millions. In 1929 the coal owners paid 65% of the tax duplicate; in 1942 they paid 31 or 32% of this valuation.

In Kingston the 1942 assessed valuation was 17 million dollars and 2 millions of this sum was apportioned to coal.

In Carbondale with a population of about 19,371 the total valuation for City Tax purposes in 1942 amounted to a little over $11,000,000 and of this sum about $500,000 represented coal.

Causes of Subsidences

The major cause of subsidence is insufficient pillar support. In the removal of coal deposits it is necessary to leave sections to support the "top" or the roof of the chamber in which the mining is being done. The number of these pillars and their thickness depends upon the height, pitch, and depth of the vein and size of the opening. According to mining men if sufficient pillars are allowed to remain no subsidence will occur unless the pillars deteriorate.

However, in an effort to secure the greatest possible yield of coal, pillars are robbed or taken out leaving the sections mined without adequate support and, of course, subsidence results. It was found that in many cases this is a method of mining that is followed by many irresponsible operators who have leased mines abandoned by "old-line" companies. Such operators are interested in the pillars as they constitute "free" or "easy" coal. (Your attention is called to the fact that the Mine Inspectors' authority extends only to the safety of the men.) The removal of pillars or "robbing", is done in second and third mining.

Another factor that may affect adequate pillar support is the deterioration or disintegration of pillars. Pillars sufficient in number and size to support the surface may be allowed to remain in a mined area, but, due to the pressure of the over-burden and the operation of natural causes, deterioration may set in with the result that surface subsidence may occur.

Investigation disclosed that there is no knowledge of any substance which, if applied to the pillars, would prevent their disintegration. However, it was pointed out, that complete "flushing" would aid greatly in the preservation of the pillars.

Amount Spent for Repairs

The Commission was informed that one operator for over a period of nine years spent one million dollars a year in repairing property, and that ninety-eight percent of this sum was allocated to the repair of property although no legal obligation to so repair existed. The Commission was also informed that it was necessary to add as much as $1.65 per ton to the cost of production at some operations to meet the cost of repairs. Some operators, it was disclosed, were forced to close certain operations because of the economic impossibility of paying out of profits the cost of repairs to property damaged by subsidence. As a result of the closing of these operations 15,000 heads of families were deprived of their jobs.

The various municipalities were also forced to expend large sums of money for repairs. For example, the town of Forty-Fort spent about $100,000 to re-establish its sewer lines and streets; Shenandoah suffered a loss of $200,000 to its streets and sewerage system. The bankruptcy of some coal companies responsible for the damage has in many cases prevented recovery by the municipality where recovery might have been otherwise possible.

Repairs are either temporary or permanent. It is usual to make temporary repairs until the subsidence ends. Temporary repairs consist in putting large timbers under the house to prevent its cracking up. Permanent repairs consist in releveling the property, a procedure which is not followed until about five years after the effects of subsidence first occurs.

Economic factors, such as the keen competition now offered by other fuels, loss of markets, reduction of prices, high operating expenses due to the "high-rate scales", etc. caused a discontinuance of the policy of repairing by some companies. It must be noted, as well, that many newly organized companies have not adopted the policy of repairing properties damaged by subsidences.

The "old-line" companies have in many instances leased their mines to independent operators. The leases of some operators contain a provision that the lessees shall make any and all repairs to property damaged by subsidences. However, if such lessees fail to make the repairs, the only remedy the lessors have is to revoke the leases. No financial responsibility of the lessees is required as a condition precedent to the acquisition of the leases.

Some operations, closed by the "old-line" companies because the cost of repairs prevented the realization of profits on the production of coal, have been leased to Independent operators. The question was raised as to why the Independent operators could mine at a profit when the "old-line" companies could not do so. The reasons given were as follows:

1. The United Mine Workers Contract with the "old-line" companies is the result of the Roosevelt Commission of 1902. That Commission established rates at the various operations which have remained fixed so long as the original owners operated the mines, subject to subsequent increases. The Independent operators mine under new rate schedules which makes the cost of production lower than that which obtains in the case of the "old-line" companies.

2. The Independent operators have a small over-head. This fact, together with the lower rate schedules, often determines the difference between profit and loss.

3. The location of the operation might make it more economical to use a certain type of mining machinery not owned by "old-line" companies but which is possessed by the Independent operators. The possession of such machinery might also be the cause of the difference between profit and loss.

Suggested Solutions

Six solutions have been suggested: (1) that the duties of the mine inspectors should be enlarged and their jurisdiction extended; (2) that the so-called Kohler-Fowler bill should be re-enacted, in view of the general feeling among lawyers that the United States Supreme Court would reverse its decision in the Pennsylvania Coal Company v. Mahon case; (3) that a state commission be created with powers of control over anthracite coal mining similar to those exercised by the Milk Control Commission; (4) that, since coal is a natural resource, financial and other types of assistance might be received from the Federal Government under its conservation program, and that such aid be made legally possible by the acquisition of title to property beneath the populated area by the various communities; (5) that a tonnage tax be levied upon anthracite coal, to be matched by a contribution by the State, and that the fund so raised be made available in all cases of damage due to subsidence; (6) that subsidence be prevented, as far as possible, by filling the present and future voids beneath the built-up areas.

The Commission, itself, proposed a plan of subsidence insurance.

Recommendations

The subsidence problem in the anthracite coal region has been serious and threatens to become more so as mining extends under improved lands and cities. The threat, not only to property, but to life as well, is becoming more acute. Consequently, after the most careful consideration of all that its investigation disclosed, and mindful that it intends not to confer any direct benefit upon private property, but only to protect the public from detriment and danger to its health and safety, the Commission respectfully submits to the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania the following recommendations:

I. Flushing Program

1. That surface subsidence in the anthracite coal region be prevented, as far as possible, by a mine flushing or packing program. While it has been definitely established that complete surface support can be attained only by leaving sufficient coal unmined, flushing will greatly minimize or reduce the severity of any subsidence that might occur, by the introduction into the mined areas of culm, crushed slate or rock, silt, or any other similar or suitable material. The surface of a flushed area that might subside will do so slowly, evenly, and without appreciable tilting. Flushing material is available, especially in the refuse that is taken from the mines each day; in the beds of the streams and rivers which conveniently flow through practically all of the towns and cities of the region; and in the culm banks which render unsightly the various towns and cities.

2. That there be created and established, under the Secretary of Mines, a Commission to be known as the Anthracite Subsidence Commission, whose duties and powers shall be to undertake studies and prepare and execute such flushing or packing plan or plans as it shall deem necessary to prevent the loss of life, or the destruction of property, both on the surface and underground.

3. This Commission should also prepare or cause to be prepared long-range subsidence programs in cooperation with the Federal Government as soon as it sets up its post-war planning activities.

4. That the sum of $50,000 be specifically appropriated out of the general fund to put into operation the proposed commission.

5. That a tax of two cents be levied upon every ton of anthracite coal mined. The fund so raised must be used for defraying the expenses and costs of effectuating the flushing program.

In making this recommendation the Commission has in mind a two years' program which, if proven to be an effective solution, can be extended to include a complete long-range program proportionate to the magnitude of the work to be done. Such a division of this recommendation is necessary because of the costs involved, the limited experience in flushing in this country, the tremendous scope of the areas to be flushed, and the priorities on equipment and material. The Commission feels that, as flushing becomes competitive, and as experience is gained in operating flushing projects, the costs will be reduced to such an extent that a long range program will become practical.

II. Subsidence Insurance

1. That a plan of subsidence insurance be made a part of the studies of the proposed Anthracite Subsidence Commission. Such insurance will provide protection for those whose properties might be damaged before the flushing program became effective. As soon as feasible an actuarial survey of the problem involved in such a plan of insurance should be made.

III. Statute of Limitations

1. That in all actions for damages caused by subsidence the Statute of Limitations shall run from the date that the damage to the property first occurred.

Remarks

A question of constitutionality may arise under Article III, Section 18, of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which prohibits an appropriation for a charitable or benevolent purpose. For example, In Commonwealth v. Alden Coal Company, 251 Pa. 134, a tax imposed upon anthracite coal, one-half of which was to be given to the county for use of the several municipalities therein, was held unconstitutional on the theory that the money to be paid to the counties was an "appropriation resting wholly and exclusively upon charitable and benevolent considerations affecting particular communities."

Other examples of unconstitutional appropriations are found in Busser v. Snyder, 282 Pa. 440 (old age pensions), and Collins v. Martin, 290 Pa. 388 (treatment of indigent persons in hospitals).

However, the more recent decisions have indicated that the Legislature may constitutionally appropriate money for matters of governmental concern: Commonwealth v. Liveright, 308 Pa. 35 (poor relief), and Commonwealth v. Perkins, 342 Pa. 529 (unemployment compensation fund).

In the Perkins case, the opinion reads in part as follows:

"'We now hold that unemployment is a governmental concern and it is a matter of discretion as to how the legislature shall deal with it. * *

"'* * * If appropriations to perform the obligatory duties are not charities or benevolences, it should seem to be a refinement to hold where there is a governmental concern with which the legislature has discretionary power that it would be a benevolence merely because the one is obligatory and the other discretionary.

"'Adopting the language which we have just quoted, we hold that a statute dealing with unemployment, creating an agency for that purpose, is not forbidden by Article III, Section 18, of the Constitution as an appropriation for a charitable or benevolent purposes'."

The Commission concludes from the foregoing authorities that the appropriations proposed will be upheld as constitutional if the purposes thereof can be shown to be a matter of "governmental concern." The facts set forth in our report seem sufficient to justify action by the Legislature to ameliorate conditions in the anthracite region for the protection of its residents.

In Mahon Coal Company v. Pennsylvania Coal Company, supra (274 Pa. 489), the Pennsylvania Supreme Court upheld the Act of May 27, 1921, P. L. 1198 as a valid exercise of the State's police power. The purpose of that act was to protect surface from subsidence. Although the Supreme Court of the United States reversed the Pennsylvania court because the method chosen by the Pennsylvania Legislature violated the Due Process Clause in the United States Constitution (260 U. S. 393), nevertheless, the decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court is valid authority for the exercise of the police power in dealing with the subsidence problem. Obviously, no question as to the constitutionality of the proposed appropriations will arise under the Due Process Clause of the United States Constitution, if the property rights of the owners of the coal are not adversely affected thereby.

The proposal for an appropriation to inaugurate a form of subsidence insurance would have an eminent precedent in the creation of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund. In Section 28 of the act creating that fund (Act of June 2, 1915, P. L. 762), the Legislature appropriated $300,000 "for the expenses of the organization and administration of the said fund." This appropriation was refunded to the State Treasurer by the Act of May 17, 1921, P. L. 846. We do not find any court decisions passing upon the constitutionality of this appropriation. However, in an opinion by Deputy Attorney General Hargest to the State Treasurer, under date of December 9, 1915, we find the following description of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund (Official Opinions of the Attorney-General 1915-1916, p. 189, 192):

"* * * The Fund is called the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; it is created by the premiums paid by those who become subscribers to it. This Fund is not a payment made to the State in satisfaction of any debt or obligation due to the State; it is a Fund created through the machinery provided by the State for the purpose of enabling the State to further the efficient administration of Workmen's Compensation. No part of the Fund belongs to the State. * * *"

Therefore, the State Workmen's Insurance Fund and the appropriation made in the creation of such fund are a precedent for the appropriation to set up the plan for insurance against subsidence, since it is the intention to have the subsidence insurance fund repay into the State Treasury the amount advanced therefrom by the appropriation. Such an appropriation would not be for private, charitable or benevolent purposes, but for the purpose of creating an agency to enable certain people of Pennsylvania to protect themselves against the contingency of subsidence.

The proposal for an appropriation to pay for the cost of flushing mine workings with suitable substitute materials which will furnish surface support may be justified as a valid exercise of the police power in the protection of the health, safety and welfare of the inhabitants of Pennsylvania. In so far as such appropriation would serve to relieve solvent private owners from their legal duty to furnish support at the expense of the State, the appropriation would be subject to criticism. This criticism can be answered by showing that most of the residents of the anthracite coal region have already waived the right of surface support. The exercise of the police power in this case would be based upon the damage to public property, water and gas mains and sewerage lines, and the injurious consequences to the public welfare resulting therefrom.

A precedent for the appropriation to put into operation the flushing program will be found in the Act of June 16, 1936, P. L. (Special Session) 16, as supplemented by the Act of September 27, 1938, P. L. (Special Session) 43. Under those acts funds were appropriated to the Department of Health to defray the cost of pumping water from coal mines. This appropriation was justified on the theory that the water remaining in such mines would serve to contaminate the water supply, and thus endanger public health. The constitutionality of such appropriations has never been contested in any court.

In view of the foregoing authorities, it is obviously impossible to forecast with complete certainty the decision of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the proposed two appropriations. However, these authorities indicate that such appropriations would not be invalid as an improper classification or as an improper exercise of the police power. Similarly, the later authorities seem to indicate that such appropriations would not be invalid under Article III, Section 18 of the Constitution as charitable or benevolent appropriations, inasmuch as they deal with matters of "governmental concern."

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. McKINNEY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 36.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

The oil reserves of the Nation are being used up faster than oil is being produced.

It has been stated by competent authority that there will be a serious shortage of oil in the future unless new wells are developed.

The development of new wells can be accelerated only by the raising of the present ceiling price on crude oil.

The present profit per well is now so low that there is no incentive for the assumption of the risk attendant upon the drilling of new wells; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memoralizes the Office of Price Administration of the Federal Government to raise the ceiling price on crude oil so that there will be some prospect of profit held out to those who have oil land which could be developed, in order that the production of oil might be increased and the oil reserves of the country be raised, to normal levels; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Office of Price Administration at Washington. D. C.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Messrs. LEONARD and KIRLEY.

RESOLUTION No. 37.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, The United States of America is engaged in prosecuting the most costly war in our history, and

Whereas, It is an undertaking that will continue to draw heavily on the resources of the entire nation to provide the billions of dollars needed for the procurement of adequate equipment for our defensive and offensive operations, and

Whereas, One of the means adopted by the government of the United States to help finance the preservation of our form of government and our way of life is through the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, Governor Edward Martin has, on more than one occasion, stated that he will cooperate in every respect with the United States government in prosecuting this war so as to bring about quick and complete victory, and

Whereas, To give expression to Governor Martin's desire to shorten this war and to give tangible evidence of the cooperation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the sale of War Bonds, and

Whereas, One of the means to aid in urging the purchase of War Bonds is available in the use of the display windows of the stores of the Liquor Control Board, and

Whereas, HB465, has been introduced to effect this purpose, and such action is immediately needed, now therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor direct the Liquor Control Board to make available to the United States Government space in all State Store windows for War Bond campaign posters for the duration of the war.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. STOCKHAM.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 38.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, The United States of America is at war with Germany, Italy and Japan, a war which engages the manpower and productive resources of our whole country; and

Whereas, Millions of men and women have been drafted into the armed forces to support and defend the honor and integrity of the United States and its Allies, all of whom must be supported with munitions of war and the necessities of life; and

Whereas, The conduct of the war and the preparations therefor in this and foreign lands has already drained the resources of the country to an unprecedented extent, both at home and abroad; and

Whereas, The railroads of the country and other transportation agencies, striving to the limit, have been unable to meet adequately the steadily increasing demand for such commodities as oil, food and other supporting requirements of our homes, our workmen and our factories sustaining the war effort; and

Whereas, Such shortages of supplies as now exist are due principally to our lack of transportation facilities to meet the emrgency of a great all-out world war, and this while the natural waterways of our country have not been adequately prepared for war and are not completely capable of rendering the service they could render if fully equipped for this great national service; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Legislature of Pennsylvania, mindful of the tremendous loss of lives, ships and cargoes due to enemy action along the Atlantic seaboard, request the Congress of the United States to take speedy action in the matter of the completion of the already authorized and generally connnected Atlantic IntraCoastal Waterway from New England to Florida by the authorization and construction of the "missing link" across the State of New Jersey from the upper Delaware River at Bordentown to Sayreville on the Raritan River in New Jersey, a project which has been reported upon favorably by the United States Army Engineers and which, if and when constructed, will afford safe passage for American vessels and their cargoes, free from the threat and menace of the enemy submarine which has infested Atlantic coastal waters since Pearl Harbor, and is still denying the cherished freedom of the seas to American ships and shipping; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. REGAN. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, The chief reason for faith in the ultimate victory of the United Nations over the Axis powers and for the return of peace and prosperity to the world, lies in the fact that every national effort of a democracy is based upon the willing and voluntary cooperation of its citizens; whereas the dictator nations operate upon the basis of involuntary regimentation; and

Whereas, There has been no more moving example of voluntary sacrifice to further the ideals of a democratic nation than that to be found in the willingness and eagerness of the eighteen and nineteen year old youths of this country to join the armed forces and play a leading part in the preservation and continuation of the principles for which their forefathers fought so valiantly; and

Whereas, The example set by these youths serves as an inspiration to every man and woman in the land and as a constant reminder to all to make the greatest possible contributions to the furtherance of the war effort; and

Whereas, The spirit, self-sacrifice and determination of these youths who will some day be the leaders of this Nation, are final proof, if any be needed, that the United States of America is not a decadent democracy, but continues as a vital and powerful nation which will overcome every obstacle in the attainment of final victory; now therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives pause and pay sincere, if inadequate, tribute to the eighteen and nineteen year old youths of Pennsylvania, and of the Nation, who have flocked to the colors with such eagerness and determination, and who are to play such a vital part in the future of our country.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

On May 24th, 1943, on the initiative of the Koscinszko Foundation, the American educational world—including American and Canadian colleges and universities—will pay appropriate tribute to a great Pole, Nicolai Copernicus, on the 400th anniversary of his death which marked the birthday of modern astronomy.

He was a churchman, a painter and a poet, a physician, an economist, a statesman, a soldier, and a scientist; a churchman by the wish of his guardian uncle and by vocation, an artist for relaxation, a physician by training and predilection, an economist by accident, a statesman and a soldier by necssity, and a scientist by sheer love of the truth for truth's sake.

Today—when for the first time in 575 years the Alma Mater Copernicus has been closed by the invader, when the intellectual leadership of the nation is being extirpated and all visible monuments of Polish civilization destroyed—today Copernicus stands like a shining star of hope to the nation that nurtured him, and the recollection of his abiding contribution gives his compatriots courage to endure.

Stripped of all scientific verbiage and reduced to the simplest elements, Copernicus's contribution in the field of astronomy may be stated in the words: "He stopped the sun and set the earth in motion," therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor shall at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the State, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe with appropriate ceremony, the 400th anniversary of the death of Nicholas Copernicus on Monday, May 24th, 1943, to comemorate the outstanding achievements of contribution to modern science.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LONGO asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I take the floor of this House to bring the attention of the Members to a situation which I regret to say has been neglected, and has caused more destruction and mental and physical devastation to the residents of this state than the casualties in the very battle fronts of the African and Pacific campaigns.

Many conferences between the Administrative authorities, medical profession and military authorities are being held in every State where men of the armed forces of this nation have been stationed or encamped.

The problem is complicated, and perplexing. The solution is not simple nor easily arrived at. Nevertheless, a complete failure on the part of this legislature to recognize its solumn duty to cope with this problem, shall leave its stigma of neglect on this august body and indelible marks on the future generations. This subject presents the most urgent of present problems and the most serious post-war problems.

The subject matter is not pleasant, yet as Legislators, we must face and discuss this matter with every faculty at our command. Money and the spending of it should be of little consequence, if this problem can be checked or controlled. Money is secondary.

It is a common and well accepted conclusion that where a large number of men are quartered or confined, you will find that prostitution and permiscuousness flourish. Personal neglect and monetary greed, sets in motion one of the most devastating diseases ever known to the human race. Many of our young men and women in this state will fall by the wayside. No community is now, or will be, safe for there is no community in this state that has not contributed its healthiest and ablest young men and women to this world conflict to keep us free.

Just recently Governor Martin called together the military, civil, medical and lay authorities of this state into conference to meet the challenge of this "plague" in this state. The question has reached enormous and serious proportions. The military authorities are seriously concerned, because the men in the ranks are "falling out of line" as a result of this menace. A replacement must be provided for every soldier that falls out. A married man with children, or a much needed worker in a defense plant will be called to replace him.

On February 17, 1943, I wrote to Governor Edward Martin, recommending and suggesting a ten point program which I believed would determine the method of controlling to a great extent, this situation. These I enumerate as follows:

1. Amend all Acts of Assembly, having to do with immorality and indecency, granting to Judges the power to confine persons found guilty of violating these acts for the duration of the War and longer if necessary. Such an amendment, will not only act as a deterrent, but would remove from society, at least for the duration of the War, those engaged in the business of prostitution.

2. The females so sentenced to be confined in one (1) building, if possible. This would serve four (4) purposes:

(a) Afford an opportunity to those afflicted with venereal disease to be given proper medical attention to affect a complete cure of the disease.

(b) Assign to the individuals work of a nature that would aid the war effort.

(c) Prevent the spread of venereal disease and eliminate the possibility of the individuals involved from encouraging other females to engage in the same business.

(d) Through proper instruction possibly rehabilitate the individuals so that they would follow occupations of decency upon their release.

3. Amend the laws in such a manner as to make a landlord guilty of a misdemeanor for permitting his premises to be used as a bawdy house or for failing to notify the proper authorities that his premises were being used for bawdy house purposes.

4. Enlist the aid and cooperation of all members of the minor judiciary to refuse to minimize charges of immorality to lesser crimes. It is sometimes the practice to charge prostitutes and others arrested for violating the laws of immorality with disorderly conduct and/or other similar charges which permits a settlement of the cases and as a consequence those arrested are not indicted, tried and convicted which permits them to continue their illicit practice.

5. Simplify rules of evidence as to proof of guilt of prostitution by enacting legislation that mere presence of any female in a house of ill repute shall be sufficient evidence of prostitution. Such a bill would thus do away with the necessity of a "buy" which may endanger the health of enforcement agents.

6. Enlist the aid of all physicians throughout Pennsylvania to report all individuals who come to their offices for treatment of a venereal disease and discontinue these treatments before the individual is cured. (In such cases the welfare of the public is far more important than the professional ethics which some physicians claim).

7. Inaugurate a publicity program calling upon all citizens of the state to report to the proper authorities all houses, hotels or other places where prostitution is practiced and where prostitutes congregate for the purposes of solicitation or otherwise.

8. Establish a state vice-squad, composed of men and women, whose duty it will be to investigate, arrest and prosecute all such violations in the State of Pennsylvania.

9. Enlist the aid and cooperation of the members of the minor judiciary, district attorneys and judges of the Commonwealth to set bail high enough in cases involving immorality, to assure the appearance of defendants for trial. It has been the policy in the past for prostitutes and others charged with acts of immorality to forfeit bail of a small amount and move to other localities and continue the illicit practices.

10. Enlist the cooperation of district attorneys and judges throughout the Commonwealth to refuse continuances of cases involving immorality and thereby effect speedy trials and convictions. In many instances defendants charged with acts of immorality make every effort to have their case continued from time to time to escape speedy trial and conviction and in the meantime carry on their illicit practices in other localities.

On March 2nd, 1943 I received a reply from Governor Martin, thanking me for my letter and referring me to the Honorable A. H. Stewart, Secretary of the Department of Welfare. On Tuesday, March 9th, in the regretable absence of the Honorable A. H. Stewart, I was most cordially received by Dr. J. Moore Campbell, Assistant to Dr. Stewart and after discussing the various problems it was concluded that some positive action would have to be taken to check and control this serious problem.

Therefore, Members of the House, in pursuance to the solemn oath that I took upon my being sworn into office, I have sponsored a number of bills which I believed would at least help to check the most flagrant agency and carrier of this menacing disease.

In a large metropolitan area just recently, it was revealed, by the ever searching newspapers that its "Red Light District" had contributed more serious loss to man power and to the armed forces than any fifth column activity this nation has ever encountered.

Many arrests and raids were made, many of them fined or given short sentences and then released only to again enter this illegal and notorious profession, more vigorously and with a determined effort to regain any money that may have been expended.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has stated that delinquency in minor children between sixteen and eighteen years of age has increased sixty-four per cent. Immoral practices are being substituted for moral education.

The Honorable George Welsh, Judge of the District Court, in sentencing a person convicted of a bawd and running a bawdy house said:

"We owe it to the men in the services and to the boys and girls and their parents and to the whole community to see that every bawdy house in Pennsylvania is eliminated."

We of the House of Representatives owe such a duty to the whole state.

With this thought in mind and I do not contend that my suggestions or bills which I introduce will wipe out prostitution. This crime is as old as time itself and its practitioners are well versed in evading or side tracking the law. The bills I or any of us submit for the consideration of this legislature will be of no avail unless they are enforced by the powers that be. I respectfully beseech the Judges, the District Attorney, Police Authorities, the minor judiciary and the general public, for their unselfish devotion and co-operation in the elimination of street walkers, bawds and bawdy houses.

This is no time to ask the Governor, our medical profession and army officials to take time out from their many burdensome duties to solve a social problem that every family in this state may be the subject of its affliction. Should each of us avow to play his part, there can be no doubt that this menace will be controlled and possibly eliminated.

Paul V. McNutt, Director of Defense, health and welfare services has said that this problem has created a second front. It is therefore imperative to call upon the general public to enlist as civil soldiers to fight on this front, by lending their support in revealing places of prostitution and acting in concert to see to it that the authorities in their respective communities eliminate such places.

Prostitutes found guilty should be confined for the duration. Men who live on "the flesh" of women, the most revolting and lowest of the human specie "the pimp" should be removed from society for the duration. Motor vehicles and retailers used in furthering, soliciting and conveying prostitutes and inmates should be taken from our highways and confiscated. Police officers in our communities, large or small, should be penalized for their failure to report to their superiors, houses where prostitution is practiced. Rules of evidence should be simplified in order to obtain convictions. The Governor of this state should be called upon to direct the Pennsylvania Motor Police to organize a vice-squad whose duty it shall be to illiminate houses of ill repute, illegal trailers and tourists camps and persons guilty of its practices. Women should be made a part of this squad to assist in gather in information, especally against panderers and procurors.

Last but not least, hospitals should be provided, properly equipped where persons afflicted by this horrible and contagious disease may be properly treated and confined, if necessary. And here I pause, Members of the House, to congratulate the Governor, who on Wednesday evening, in a press release, informed the public of the contemplated establishment of such hospitals. This I suggested to the Governor in my letter of February 17, 1943.

The seriousness and the responsibility of all of us is most vividly revealed in the above release, "there are about twenty-five thousand cases of syphilis and four thousand cases of gonorrhea under treatment." On the basis of results of draft examiners of men, it is estimated there are nearly one hundred and seventy-five thousand syphilis and fifty thousand gonorrhea carriers in the Commonwealth, with the great majority receiving no regularly, properly supervised medical treatment.

In order to carry on this program an appropriation is necessary. This obligation, however large, will be of no consequence if the lives of men and women can be spared. If their offspring will be free of the consequences of their neglect, misfortune or dishonor and our sanitariums and other institutions will not be overcrowded with deranged minds and distorted bodies as a result of this affliction.

Members of the House, the bills I introduced are intended to prevent the very things of which I speak. Mr. Speaker, to the Chairman of Committees to whom these bills will eventually be assigned, I specifically request that immediate consideration and study be given to them. The bills are free of politics and the quicker we study and act on this subject, the sooner we may hope to add our contribution to the saving of lives, man power and the morale of the young men and women of our community.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained permission to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the indulgence of the members of the House to bear with me in my brief statement. I am suffering from a rather severe irritation of the throat, but I believe that the matter on which I speak is of vital importance.

One hundred and eight years ago Thaddeus Stevens sounded the liberty bell of public education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with a speech that was destined to be ranked with the outstanding orations of all times.

Article 10 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania gives to the state of Pennsylvania sovereign rights in the matter of public education. His Excellency, Governor Edward Martin quite properly stated that the matter of teacher salary adjustment was one in the province of the General Assembly. We Members of the General Assembly recognizing the fact that public education is the child of the General Assembly quite properly accept that statement.

In the early days of this Session, I called to the attention of the membership of this House a problem which is prevelant in this Commonwealth by the introduction of a piece of legislation and which I believe properly merits the attention of the membership of this Body.

This legislation is House Bill No. 136, which provides for increases in salaries of school teachers of the state. This measure provoked wide-spread discussion and support throughout the Commonwealth, and I don't believe there is a member of this House who does not recognize the need for increases in teachers' salaries.

For the past eight or nine weeks the Chairman of the House Education Committee, Representative Sollenberger, and a sub-committee of the Educational Committee, composed of Representatives Hare of Somerset County and Wagner of Schuylkill County, have worked diligently with myself to draw up a bill that would be in keeping with the needs of the school teachers of Pennsylvania and also within the budgetary requirements and the ability of the State to grant these increases.

I am, Mr. Speaker, presenting tonight a bill that will be co-sponsored with Representative Hare of Somerset County, which is the result of these detailed examinations of the problem, and which in my opinion should be, and can be enacted into law without the necessity of any increased taxation upon the citizens of the Commonwealth. I sincerely hope that this bill will receive speedy approval of the Educational Committee of the House and also the membership as a whole, so that we may properly and equitably solve this problem ,which, in my opinion, is one of the major ones of this Session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I sympathize with the statement and the spirit behind the statement made by the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, because I think he has found himself banging his head against a wall of obstinacy raised by this administration since the beginning of this year. He knows and every other Member of this House knows that one of the main planks in the platform upon which the Governor was elected promised aid to school teachers in Pennsylvania. There was no promise made to the politicians on the payrolls of Pennsylvania, but this House enacted very speedily House Bill 2, which provided for a cost of living increase for the duration on this War, but the school teachers, as I pointed out last week, were left out, were neglected and probably were not even considered very seriously, at least so I am told by many people who went to see the Governor on the question.

Last Monday night I insisted that some action be taken for these teachers and for the school districts generally, and I made the charge then that there was enough money in the budget presented by the Governor, both in stated amounts and in hidden amounts to make this pay raise possible.

Since that time statements have eminated from the Governor's office to the affect that most likely it would be possible to get this additional money by increasing estimates of revenue. I know that down in Philadelphia the old trick of balancing the budget was to greatly increase estimates to take care of what you had to spend, but I think that our budget makes it merely necessary to unmask these hidden funds and to find appropriate funds with which to take care of them. Statements eminating from the Governor's office and other administration spokesmen that new taxes would have to be imposed to take care of this load leads me to say one thing, that the Democratic party is absolutely opposed to the imposition of new taxes, and definitely will fight against the imposition of new taxes, particularly a tax as vicious as a sales tax or other nuisance taxes. We have come to the point where we are prepared to get rid of the emergency taxes, paid mostly by the wealthy taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and neglecting the poor taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and we ought to take care of them and we ought to be ready to give them a fair deal. We are rubbing it in pretty rough if we neglect the poor taxpayers on a tax reduction program and on top of that even suggest the possibility of imposing a sales tax.

I said last week that budgets were peculiar things, and they perplex anyone who dared to take them apart. I suppose the only person who could take them apart with any degree of certainty were those who put them together, because they only know what they put in them, and they may know where the money is headed.

I might go further, Mr. Speaker, and say that not only are the revenues of this biennium underestimated by twenty million dollars, but I believe, and I hope to be ready to prove my statement, that the estimates for the biennium to come have been grossly understated.

I am not only taking up the complaint of the gentleman from Lackawanna, I am not only referring to the platform which every member on the other side of the House campaigned on, but you know things have a way of coming back to haunt you. I have before me a post card received from one of the western counties. Specifically it comes from Cambria county. On the top of it in big print it reads "EDWARD MARTIN—PROMISES:". Then the card continues as follows:

1. Substantial increase of teachers' salaries in order to maintain high efficiency in the public schools of Pennsylvania, and to compensate for rising costs of living in Wartime.

2. That the increase of teachers' salaries shall be paid by additional State appropriation instead of by local districts.

Republican County Committee

Even if the Governor and the slatemakers and the platform-builders did not believe what they said, they at least must have fooled some of the county committee that campaigned on that promise, and they can't go back on that promise. I don't know how many other county committees made a similar promise, but this one apparently in desperation did, because as much as I can make out from the postmark on the back it was mailed in November 1942.

The Governor asked us some time ago to criticize, to publicize and to advertise his recommendations and his budget. The Democratic party is doing that now. We had hoped that he had given us a solemn, cordial and proper invitation to sit around the table to discuss these problems. Apparently the invitation will not come, so we are asking him at his other invitation, to criticize, to advertise and to publicize, and I trust that what is being said here tonight will bring a flood of communications not only to this side of the House, but to the other side of the House so that the Members will know that the people want to cash in on the solemn promise of Governor Martin.

One more thing, the Governor can have all the cooperation he wants and we are prepared to give it to him. We will give it to him either around the table or we will give it to him on the floor, or we will give it to him in the press of Pennsylvania, but whichever way the Governor wants it he can have it. We are prepared to do it quietly and we are prepared to do it with our voices raised just as high as we can raise them, and with the support of the people of Pennsylvania just as strong as that can be made.

I trust, Mr. Speaker, that the program now about to be embarked upon might at least be called to the attention of the Members on this side, suspecting possibly that somewhere on this side of the House there may be some idea of a solution, which we will happily give to the majority party.

FINAL REPORT OF ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMITTEE

Mr. HEWITT presented the final report of the Anthracite Subsidence Committee created pursuant to an Act of the General Assembly approved the fifth day of August, 1941, P. L. 802, as amended by the Act of the General Assembly approved February 18, 1943, to make a study and investigation of the various problems related to the surface subsidence caused by the mining of anthracite coal and directing such commission to make a report and recommendation to the General Assembly.

The report was read by the Clerk.

The SPEAKER. The report will be noted in the Journals of the House and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEWITT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, since the sales tax was mentioned for the first time tonight on the floor of the House, I feel that inasmuch as I was one of the co-sponsors of the bill with my colleague, Mr. McMillen, that I should at least make a statement as to why I introduced the bill.

We were informed that the Legislature might find some way to increase teachers' salaries, and I have been making a study of sales taxes for a number of years. I had this bill drawn up in 1939, but I discovered that Governor James would not sign a sales tax bill, so I never presented it, but the signs of the times this time caused me to present it again, and I presented it for two reasons.

If you read the bill carefully you will find that the money is for school purposes. The Governor also spoke of the hauling of children, and that is a very serious matter which has reached nine millions of dollars in the state. It is something we cannot do away with because we have centralized the school buildings and have built central schools, and therefore the children have to drive fifteen miles to go to school. Therefore we must take care of hauling the school children.

My idea was to take taxes off the real-estate and relieve the real-estate taxpayer and place the tax upon the people who should pay it. I have a condition in my county which is no different from other counties in the state. We have sixteen hundred children going to public school and eighty-six per cent of those children come from families that pay no taxes. It seems to me the only way we can get a fair tax for the education of our children is to see that everybody helps to educate their children. I am not going to press the bill—I don't want to get into any controversy with Mr. Cohen over the bill, but my idea was not to increase taxes; it was to reduce taxes, to take them off the real-estate and put them on those who should pay them.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEVY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, during the past few days the Governor of the Commonwealth has apparently decided to argue his case of appropriations for school teachers and school districts before the people of Pennsylvania. I don't know, Mr. Speaker, whether you or the gentlemen of the House know that apparently during this week, during this critical period there is a definite pattern forming in policy making, not only in Pennsylvania but in the United States in general.

Many of you listened intently a few weeks ago to the remarks made by a Philadelphia Congressman, who was subject to quite a bit of criticism on the floor of this House, because the gentlemen criticizing him felt that he was one of the clique that wanted to win the war without Russia. I know of another clique in America that would like to win the war without England and I also know of another clique in America that would like to win the war without the President of the United States. The national figures in Congress and the Senate of the United States who are weaving this pattern have very fine company in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I say to you gentlemen tonight, that it is just as serious a pattern nationally as it is statewide, and it is just as serious a pattern for a Governor of a Commonwealth, or a candidate for Governor to campaign upon two months before election, make a promise, just as soon as he is elected break that promise.

In 1939, we saw the spectacle of Arthur James, the candidate, touring the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on a great, noble program. He said to the people of Pennsylvania: "I am going to reduce taxes." He said to the people of Pennsylvania that "Earle was the villian, Earle brought upon you these obnoxious emergency taxes, and I am going to be the Messiah and repeal them."

You gentlemen know what happened in the James Administration. In his first ascendancy into the Governorship he asked the Legislature to reenact each and every Earle emergency tax measure. In the second half of his administration he again pleaded with the Legislature to reenact each and every emergency tax measure, and I say to the Republican Members of the House tonight that is a bad pattern, it is a blot on democracy when a candidate for Governor proceeds to go from one end of the state to the other making certain promises to the people and then when he becomes Governor breaks them.

I say to you gentlemen tonight, that is exactly what the present Governor is doing, and let him not kid the people of the Commonwealth tonight or for the duration of this session. You will recall when the Governor appeared on the rostrum of this House and addressed the joint session of the Assembly, he said "We must make Pennsylvania solid; we must reduce taxes; we must give to the people who deserve it." I don't know who he was referring to and I don't know to whom the gentleman from Indiana referred when he said the taxes should be placed on the people where they belong.

The Democratic party is very clear, the Democratic party has said time and time again that the tax belongs on the people best able to pay. If it is the Governor's desire to impose a sales tax—and he has not denied it, I say he is breaking his pledge to the people of the Commonwealth.

If the Governor finds tonight that he is placed in the position of having his Republican rural Members of the House knocking on his door asking for an increase in teachers' salaries and he doesn't want them, I say then he should be honest enough to say so. But I want to recall to the Members of the House that on October 10 the Governor went to the county of Indiana. I want to remind the Members of the House tonight that in the campaign of 1942 the Governor in sojourning through one of his predominant Republican counties said this, "I stand for the compensation of the rising costs in living in war time. We favor increasing the teachers' salaries in order to maintain efficiency in the public schools of Pennsylvania and to retain a competent and well trained teacher in every class room. This increase is to be paid by additional state appropriations."

I want to know if it sounded like Governor Martin—not candidate Martin, when he stood upon that restrum and said "The question of teachers' salaries cannot be taken up in this budget." He further said "We have got to find a way to take nine million dollars out of the transportation costs of the children of the Commonwealth."

You have the state pattern, the spectacle of a candidate for Governor once elected backing down on his promises. I say to the Republican membership tonight, if you want teachers' salaries increased, pass laws to that effect, but do not butt the taxpayers up against the teachers. There is ample money in the budget. I say to the Republican party tonight, give us honest budgets, because if there is an honest budget, there will be ample money, and not let the Governor say "I am going to save the corporations and utilities of this Commonwealth sixty million dollars," and then levy a sales tax on the people of Pennsylvania. I say to you it is your sworn duty as Members of the House to oppose this treachery, and the only way you are going to oppose it is to say to the Governor "Yes, we need increased aid, but let us stick to our promise that we will make such appropriations and let the taxes fall on those best able to pay."

I say to you tonight that you have not heard the end of it. You must be honest with yourselves and with your constituency, and the only way to be honest is to renounce definitely the plan and the pattern of the Governor of Pennsylvania.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section six hundred fifty-one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 651 Pool and Billiard Rooms and Bowling Alleys Whoever being a licensed keeper proprietor owner or superintendent of any public pool rooms billiard room bowling-saloon or tenpin alley permits such place to remain open between the hours of one o'clock ante meridian and six o'clock ante meridian of any secular day or on the first day of the week commonly called the Sabbath Day or knowingly allows or permits any person under the age of eighteen (18) years to be present [therein] in any public pool-room or billiard room upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding ten dollars ($10) and in default of the payment of such fine and costs shall be imprisoned not exceeding thirty (30) days

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in interrogating the gentleman on this specific point is to clarify the situation with respect to this bill. Will the gentleman kindly explain just what this bill will accomplish?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, I would like to say that I am not surprised that he is confused, because this bill, I believe, has been on the calendar about a month, and I have had it amended at least three times and it even had me confused for a short time.

This bill was first amended in committee. Then I undertook to amend it again to try to get it back to the original form in which I had introduced it. I feel that I have finally accomplished the amendment of the bill so that it is in the same shape it was in when I first introduced it.

This bill provides that minors under eighteen years of age may be present in bowling alleys. Does that answer the gentleman's question?

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, is there any floor to the age that minors may be permitted to be in bowling alleys?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the gentleman that several Members of the House spoke to me about this measure and were disinclined to vote for it. We discussed the matter and I promised them that if it would win their support I was perfectly agreeable to go with them to the committee in the Senate and have a floor of twelve or fourteen years, or whatever is agreeable to them, placed in the bill, and that still holds good, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARGE. The bill in its present shape, however, would allow children six years of age in the bowling alleys, isn't that correct?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, how about permitting these children to be in the bowling alleys on the Sabbath day?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARGE. Would it permit anyone to be in the bowling alleys on the Sabbath day, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. It would not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think it would be a good thing for boys under sixteen years of age to be in bowling alleys at midnight or at one o'clock in the morning?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Well, Mr. Speaker, of course I wouldn't say that that would be a very desirable thing, but after all, if parents are going to allow their children to be in those places, I do not feel that we ought to pass a law that would prohibit it.

Mr. SARGE. I noticed, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman said something about bowling salons. I noticed in the bill it said something about a bowling salon. Just what does that mean, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Well, Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Lebanon I might say that salon does not have the import that it once did. We have a ruling now from the Liquor Control Board, I believe, that there is no such animal as a salon, we have only tap rooms, so it might be the conventional interpretation of a parlor or a living room, if you please.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform me if there are any bowling alleys in Pennsylvania today that have a license to dispense liquor?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry I cannot answer that question accurately for the reason that I am not in possession of information as to whether or not there are licenses in bowling alleys, but I will say that I have been in quite a number of them and I haven't found any sort of malt or liquor license present in a bowling alley as such. In some clubs I believe that they have licenses.

Mr. SARGE. I thank the gentleman from Montgomery.

Mr. Speaker, I regret exceedingly to take exception to any bill that the genial and gracious gentleman from Montgomery sees fit to sponsor, but I doubt very much whether the gentleman himself is very enthusiastic about this bill.

I dislike to vote for a bill that provides that children under eighteen years of age may attend bowling alleys all hours of the day and all hours of the night without any floor to the age limit. I had several conferences with people on this bill. I had a conference with the Judge of our county, and in Lebanon County we have quite a problem with the children, due possibly to the proximity of Indiantown Gap to our city. Our Judge informs me that he has several cases on hand right now of children who because of the fact that they are in attendance at bowling alleys late hours of the day have neglected their school studies and as a result thereof have become problem children. If this bill is going to let down the bars to the extent that it may make problem children of some of our boys, I doubt whether it is a very good bill. I question whether this is the time to lower the age limit because I am afraid if these boys under sixteen years of age or twelve years of age or ten years are allowed into these places it will not be very long before they are hired as pin boys.

Mr. Speaker, I dislike very much to oppose this bill but I shall have to vote against it.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman I want to say I regret very much that he does not find it in his conscience to support this bill. I think he overdrew it slightly when he said that I was only lukewarm as far as supporting the measure is concerned. I would like to state, however, for the information of the Members of the House, that I do not bowl myself; I don't have any interest in any bowling alley, and as some of my colleagues have suggested, I don't have any children. But seriously, Mr. Speaker, I cannot see that there is any harm in this measure. As a matter of fact at the time I was asked to introduce this bill I went over it thoroughly and I weighed it in my mind for ten days or two weeks before I decided to introduce the measure. I feel that it is not a valid argument to say that a reduction of the age limit per se is an immoral thing. However, the people that frequent the bowling alleys know that it is unquestionably a wholesome pastime and good exercise. Down in some congested parts of the southeastern portion of the state we have quite a number of bowling alleys. Competition is very keen. They even go so far as to charge an admission to see some of the more important matches. This merely permits minors to be in bowling alleys. It does not necessarily mean that they are going to be in there at midnight or six o'clock in the morning. I presume from the fact that the bowling alleys are permitted to remain open until 1:00 a. m. that that is a proper time for them to remain open, and if the parents are going to allow them to roam the streets at one o'clock at night, I see no reason why we should close the bowling alleys, just because they happen to be in there. I certainly cannot follow the argument that they would be worse off in bowling alleys than they would be out on the streets. I want to be reasonable about this matter, I agree with the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, that we should not introduce and pass legislation that is calculated to demoralize the youth of the Commonwealth. Naturally, if I felt that this was that sort of a measure, I definitely would be opposed to it.

I might say, that unfortunately or inadvertently in amending this bill, the amended bill provided or permitted Sunday bowling. When I learned that was the situation, as I said earlier in my remarks, I three times attempted to amend this bill until I finally got it in proper shape, and I think that now any Member of this House can support this bill without compromising his morals or his religious scruples. I, therefore, ask the Members of this House to support this measure.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is not a very pleasant task that I assume presently in rising to voice my protest against this bill. I have a very high personal regard for my esteemed friend, Mr. Wood of Montgomery County, and I do not believe that he would intentionally place a bill before the House which he himself felt had attached to it some things which may not be altogether in order. But as I have given thought to this bill I am convinced in my own way that there is a proposition involved here where assets and liabilities are the main factors that we must consider. The only worthwhile asset our nation has today is the asset of its youth, and I do not believe we ought to do anything that will open the door by which the youth will be tempted to become acquainted with an environment which will in some way attach itself to their morals and undermine their physical life.

This bill permits any young man under the age of eighteen years to enter these bowling rooms. There is no limitation as to the age beneath that. There is just quite a possibility that a good many boys, twelve or fourteen or sixteen years of age will be found in that environment. I am not a moralist to the extreme but I do believe that it is a time when we certainly must give thought as to how we can help to preserve the moral standards of our youth of today, because if we throw the responsibilities upon the members of the families, the mothers who are not able to control the boys, and excuse ourselves on that theory, that does not relieve us from the liability that we owe as Legislators to help stabilize and control the morals of our youth.

I plead tonight in behalf of the youth of America. I do not think we should as men who are older in experience do anything where we create an asset for somebody else and make a liability for the greatest asset this nation his, its youth, and for that reason I am opposed to the purpose of this bill, and I trust that we will view this thing not from the standpoint as we sometimes think we are acting, but from the wider scope and the broader vision of how we can throw about our youth of today safeguards that will help them tomorrow to be the men and citizens that will lend dignity and honor and high morals to our citizenship.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I think we are all in favor of children engaging in athletics. No one can dispute that one thing. However, the thing that occurs to me in this bill is that, as one of the Members expressed himself, it places no limitation upon the age of the minor who will be permitted to enter these bowling alleys. Here is the situation in Philadelphia. Many of the centrally located bowling alleys are open day and night, and as a result of that young girls who are under eighteen years of age have been found in these bowling alleys which they have been using as places to make pickups. The military authorities in Philadelphia have been vigilant because of the venereal disease problem existing with the men in the military service. It may be a shock to learn that many young girls under eighteen years of age are afflicted with venereal diseases, and they hang around some of these bowling alleys in the central part of the city where they make their pickups, with the result that they are sabotaging the military efforts of our country. I think if this bill were properly amended to permit children to enter bowling alleys with their parents or with proper permission there would not be any objection to it, but as the bill presently reads, it is dangerous. It is dangerous because it directly affects the home. It also permits boys under eighteen years of age, it permits boys sixteen or fifteen or fourteen or thirteen and so on, to be employed in these bowling alleys as pin boys, which is also a very unhealthy condition.

So, Mr. Speaker, if this bill could be amended, I think there would be no objection, but on the face of it, this bill is vicious because it goes right into the homes of the people who have young boys and girls who might be influenced in hanging around bowling alleys, to affect the morals of these children.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate th gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphi permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SKALE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman fro Philadelphia kindly tell me what bowling alleys in th city of Philadelphia meet with the charges the gentlema has made.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentlema I would not like to reveal the names of these bowlin alleys at this time which are located in the central par of the city of Philadelphia, which were investigated b police officials and by a reporter of one of the Phila delphia newspapers.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman fro Philadelphia visit those bowling alleys?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I visited one of them.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindl tell me which one he visited?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I visited one on Marke Street near 13th Street.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman find th condition about which he spoke at the time he made tha visit?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentlema frankly at 12:30 a.m. one night I found a group of gir who apparently were no older than sixteen years of ag who were congregating with a group of service men an I watched them because I had interest in view of th pending bill, I watched them, and I saw two of the gir leave with two of the service men.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, how did the gentlema from Philadelphia arrive at the age of those girls an how did he arrive at the fact that the girls who wer out with those service men were not brothers or relative of the service men?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, it is just a matter of opin ion, the same as anyone is permitted to give an opinio as to the age of a person, that is how I arrived at m opinion, that these girls were about sixteen years of ag

Mr. CULLEN. I thank the gentleman from Philadel phia, Mr. Skale.

Mr. Speaker, as one who can speak with authority o bowling alleys in Philadelphia, because I am a bowle and I have visited them all, the accusations made b Mr. Skale are absolutely unfounded and very presump tuous on the part of one who does not bowl. I happen t be a bowler and I have taken my sons to the bowlin alleys when they were six years of age. It is against th law to take young people to bowling alleys but in Phila delphia we found out that the best place we could pu our children was in the bowling alleys. All the bowlin alleys that I know in Philadelphia are run according t law. The police department is very diligent in regard t their regulations. Sure there are children in bowlin alleys. There are children in every bowling alley i Philadelphia. Most of them come in with their parent or their friends because their parents would rather hav them there. I would like to be fair about these bowlin alleys. I do not like a smoke screen to be thrown over it

They say that these children are present in these bowling alleys at 1:30 and 2 o'clock in the morning. I visit the bowling alleys at 1:30 and 2 o'clock and I venture to say that you would have a hard time finding the children in there that the gentleman says are in there. It so happens that in Philadelphia we have ladies' bowling leagues. They are just as much interested in it as the men and I will say to the Members of the House, look at the influence that these bowling alleys have upon the children, and if you weigh that you will find out that the bowling alleys have better influence on the children than standing out on some street corner where you don't know what they are doing. I only say put anything in the sunlight, and it is good to look at. Bowling alleys are well lit. Everybody knows what is going on there and there is nothing to be ashamed of.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 354, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" providing for township planning and the creation organization and powers of township planning commissions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 16, as follows:

An Act prohibiting any political subdivision from imposing any wage income or occupation tax upon non-residents

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 That from and after the effective date of this act it shall be unlawful for any political subdivision of this Commonwealth to impose any wage income or occupation tax upon any non-resident of any such political subdivision

Section 2 Any political subdivision now imposing any wage income or occupation tax upon non-residents shall cease to impose such wage income or occupation tax on non-residents after the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-three

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I am still not angry and I am in very good humor tonight. I hope the Members of this House realize what this bill is. It is an effort on the part of some of our suburbanites to wreck the finances of Philadelphia. This wage tax has been Philadelphia's salvation. Philadelphia is now on a self-paying basis, due to the fact that we have this wage tax. I have heard much from the Members from the surrounding counties about as to why this bill should be passed.

Fundamentally it is a violation of home rule. We have now in the city of Philadelphia an acting Mayor, who outside of possibly some political disagreements with some people, has performed his duties in such a manner as to meet the approbation of all fair-minded people. We have in the city of Philadelphia at the present moment eighteen councilmen, sixteen of whom are Republican and two Democratic. Most of these councilmen have been elected one, two, three, four times in succession. They have the interests of Philadelphia at heart. They know the financial condition of Philadelphia and if perchance it should so happen that the income from various sources in Philadelphia meets their budget, there will be no cause for alarm. Philadelphia's councilmen are not anxious to impose this wage tax on anyone and they will be a happy bunch of men if in the financing of their city they can find resources to do away with the wage tax. I have no doubt that if the circumstance arises this wage tax will be suspended at the proper time, but when the Members from the surrounding counties come to this body and ask this body to pass a law telling Philadelphia how it shall run its business, it is to say the least presumptious.

They say they spend their money in Philadelphia. That is true, they spend their money in Philadelphia, but they earn their livelihood in Philadelphia. This is not an application to take care of the workmen of the surrounding counties because the people who live in the surrounding counties, what we call the "Main Line", are the white-collared, high-waged officials of banks, corporations and large institutions. They are by far in the majority to the ordinary worker. They can well afford to pay this tax if they want to receive the high pay they get in Philadelphia, and the conditions we have in Philadelphia.

I have heard it said that there are thirty-five thousand people who live in Philadelphia residing in Delaware County, not residing but working in Delaware County. Why are they working there? They are working there because the Sun Ship Company and other companies are advertising every day to take the workmen out of our county down into Delaware county. They tell us that those people bring back to us a large sum of money that they spend in Philadelphia. That is true, but we are giving to Delaware County something far more important than money; far more important than money could be. We are giving them the brawn and brain and muscle of American workmen who are building those ships that are going to take our soldiers and our produce across the seven seas to protect this great government of ours. They are requesting these men to come to their rescue, and what is the result? The result is that the large industrial establishments and ship-building plants are built in Delaware County, and Delaware County is receiving from those big institutions their taxes to pay the expenses for the running of the government of their county. They cannot have their cake and eat it too. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this is not an effort by the members from the surrounding counties to protect the workingmen. It is an effort to protect the banker, the broker or merchant and other people who enjoy all the benefits of Philadelphia and do not want to pay their small share toward conducting the affairs of our great city. And we have a great city, Mr. Speaker. You know I have a great love for Philadelphia; I have great admiration for the state of Pennsylvania. As far as the United States is concerned Philadelphia is the sweetheart of them all. I have great respect for these institutions. Philadelphia, not withstanding what my friends from the outside counties may say, is the arsenal of America. We are producing more things for the benefit of this government than any state or any other city in this great Union.

We are a patriot people, and Republicans and Democrats alike, whether they disagree politically or not, love their city, as does every other man who comes from any other part of this Commonwealth, love the city of his birth. I was born and raised within ten blocks of the district that I now represent.

Mr. Speaker, to show you what Philadelphia stands for, to show you what it does for this great Commonwealth of ours and for this great government of ours, I want to call to your attention some of the findings of the Bureau of Municipal Research. The Bureau of Municipal Research is a private institution, and so far as I have been able to find out they have no political connections, and in order that my friends might be able to know whereof I speak, I will refer now to a pamphlet published March 2nd, 1942, another one December 29th, 1942, another one October 6th, 1942, another one September 8th, 1942 and I have taken it upon myself to make a summary of how Philadelphia stands in reference to other large cities of this Commonwealth.

The proportion of taxes paid by the surrounding counties to the city of Philadelphia is so small that they ought to be happy and contented to make their small contributions to make this arsenal of America a successful, financial city and save it from going into the red. If this bill is passed our city must go into the red because we will not have money enough to run the city. There are very few of our local people complaining. This wage tax proposition has been made political propaganda in recent elections, but seems to have no effect on the people, we are still happy and content. Why not leave us alone? Don't let the men from outside of Philadelphia tell us how to run our city. They have the great American privilege, if they do not love us, they can leave us. It is a free city, with the doors opening both ways. One leads in and the other leads out. Our surrounding urban neighbors have a perfect right to use their own discretion as to which of these two doors they care to use.

In going over what the Bureau of Municipal Research has to say about the city of Philadelphia, and I am making these statements because I want to impress upon all of you members here that our Councilmen, our Mayor, our public officials both Republican and Democratic, are trying to do the best they know for the city that they all love.

The first of these is:

1. Lower Municipal and County Taxes than most large cities.

a. Real Estate Tax rate:

The Philadelphia real estate tax rate of $2.875 per hundred dollars of assessment is one of the lowest rates for large cities (more than 500,000 population). The rate in Boston is $3.82, Chicago: $3,659. Philadelphia ranks seventh from the lowest, which is

Washington, D. C. where the Federal Government absorbs most of the cost of municipal government.

2. Lower per capita tax bill than almost all large cities.

Even including income tax receipts, the Philadelphia per capita tax bill is one of the lowest in the country in comparison with all other large cities (over 500,000 population). The per capita rate in Philadelphia (including our income tax) is $49.93. In New York it is $78.30; Boston $76.37 and Buffalo $63.19. Lower rates are found only in Cleveland, St. Louis and Baltimore.

3. The government of the City of Philadelphia, including all county employees, is conducted with less employees than most large cities (cities of over 500,000 population).

A study made by the Bureau of Municipal Research (August 18, 1942) reveals that the City and County of Philadelphia employ only 9.68 persons per 1000 population. In Boston, the figure is 15.67 per 1000; in Washington 15.61; in New York City, 13.50 and in Buffalo 12.85. Philadelphia's position in the list of the 14 largest cities of the country is fifth. Nine cities employ more people per 1000 of population and only four cities employ less, and they are small size cities.

4. The cost of living in Philadelphia is less than the cost in 12 of the same 14 cities. Only Los Angeles can boast of a cheaper cost of living.

A survey published by the Bureau of Municipal Research on September 8, 1942, discloses that in every large city in the country, except Los Angeles, the cost of living is substantially higher. The rate for the City of Los Angeles is only 2 tenths of a degree less than in Philadelphia. The rate in all other cities ranges from 6 tenths of a degree to 9 and 4 tenths of a degree higher.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the history of Philadelphia, it is the history of Philadelphia and its financial setup as produced and promulgated by your City Mayor and your City Council. You come to Philadelphia, you live cheaper than any other big city in the Union; you come to Philadelphia and you get our police and our fire protection. You come to Philadelphia and get the money that supports your wives, your families and your children, and supports your golf clubs and your fancy dairies and your beautiful farms and herds of cattle. That money that is spent on those fancy farms and institutions in the surrounding counties of Philadelphia is money earned by the owners of those institutions in the City of Brotherly Love, and you members from the surrounding counties selfishly and for the benefit of a few wealthy industrialists would try to wreck the city and ruin its progress. I do not believe that the members from the other counties, whose proportionate share of the paying of this overhead for the city of Philadelphia is insignificant, would like to see the main city in this great Commonwealth put on the rocks. They would not like to see the home of independence, the city which houses Independence Hall. the city in which all our American liberties were founded and promulgated, put on the rocks for the sake of saving a few measly dollars from their pockets for the payment of this wage tax, particularly when Philadelphia is supporting you; you are not supporting Philadelphia.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I think I ought to express my deep appreciation to the gentleman from Philadelphia for the remarks which he has made to the members of this Legislature. I do not think anyone could have argued for the bill more beautifully than he has done. He told you that Philadelphia has one of the lowest real estate taxes in the United States of America. He has told you that Philadelphia has one of the lowest per capita taxes in the United States of America, but still he asks the members from the other sixty-six counties of this Commonwealth to help maintain that low tax rate, that low per capita rate for the benefit of Philadelphia.

The gentleman stated that we have no right to tell Philadelphia how to run its business. With that I'm in accord. I agree with him one hundred per cent, but we are not telling Philadelphia how to run Philadelphia's business; we are endeavoring to tell Philadelphia how not to run our business, the business of the other sixty-six counties of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The gentleman has talked at some length about Philadelphia being the Cradle of Liberty. I think the Declaration of Independence was framed in the City of Philadelphia, if my history is correct. The Declaration of Independence contains a stricture against taxation without representation. If taxation without representation was tyranny in 1776, is it not equally as tyrannous now?

The gentleman has endeavored to becloud the issue by referring to bankers and intimating I suppose, that I belong to that class. Let me tell the gentleman I was not even born with a wooden spoon in my mouth. I have worked every day of my life since I was fourteen in the law office of Brown and Williams, starting out as office boy at the age of fourteen and I have been there ever since and I can hardly be classed as a banker.

Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I could read an editorial from the Philadelphia Record, and I do not think the Philadelphia Record goes out of its way to help the industrialists and bankers, if they do I never heard of it. That editorial reads:

> Proposals to exempt non-residents from Philadelphia's wage tax through State legislation will bring cheers from many quarters. Not only from those directly affected but from many who believe that kind of taxation unfair and dangerous.
> Philadelphia has been fortunate that its neighboring towns have not—at least not yet—retaliated with a wage tax of their own on Philadelphia. Such a retaliation is talked of in Chester, which employs thousands of Philadelphians in its shipyards and defense plants.
> Retaliation would hit many a Philadelphia citizen twice.
> He's now liable to the wage tax in Philadelphia no matter where he works. But thousands of Philadelphians work in Camden, Chester and other outlying communities, and if they were to levy retaliation taxes—the Philadelphia worker would pay one tax where he worked and pay it over again here in this city.
> This merely demonstrates the basic unsoundness of the wage tax as levied on non-residents. Our City Fathers have tried to sell the idea that it is a great stunt, by which this city cashes in at the expense of its neighbors. But no community can live that way for long.
> We hope the bill introduced by Representative Bretherick, Republican, of Delaware county, and reported to the Assembly will be enacted quickly and signed by Governor Martin.
> It will be one more move toward ultimate repeal of the whole wage tax—a step long since promised.

Let men say to you that those of us who live in the rest of the State have had our problems too, we have had our difficulties in the financing of our municipal institutions. Let me say to you that in my own little town of Darby, and incidently Darby is not a bankers' town but a workingman's town, I have lived there nearly all my life except that I was raised downtown in Philadelphia. That is probably the reason I am ready and willing to stand up here and give this Senator of ours a battle. But in this town of Darby where I live at the present time, during the midst of the depression we were collecting about sixty-two per cent of our taxes, the rest of them were being returned to the county treasury for tax sales. We had difficulties in meeting our problems. We met that problem by increasing the millage on real-estate.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has boasted, and I think properly so, about Philadelphia's tax record, having one of the lowest real-estate tax records in the state of Pennsylvania, and one of the lowest per capita taxes in the state of Pennsylvania. The rest of Pennsylvania and the rest of the small communities in the state of Pennsylvania cannot boast of that because they have not the lowest tax rate in the state of Pennsylvania or anywhere else. I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia if they want to meet the problem properly, let them meet it by increasing their millage with the way we have had to do in the rest of this state.

The gentleman has intimated that we in Delaware County, and I don't know why he picks on Delaware County, because every other county in this Commonwealth is affected in some degree, in some cases more than others,—but he has intimated that we are taking workingmen out of Philadelphia. Well, gentlemen, workingmen are flowing to our county because they are making more money in war industries than they ever have in any time of their lives. They are making as much as a hundred and twenty or one hundred and thirty dollars a week. There are about thirty thousand of them who have come into our county, and if we allow them an average of about fifty dollars a week, they are taking out of our county alone about seventy-eight million dollars. That is the reason Philadelphia can afford to have a good real-estate tax rate, because they are taking seventy-eight million dollars from our county alone in order to maintain that low real-estate tax rate. Those thirty thousand men who come to our county and to Montgomery and the rest, they are using the facilities, they are wearing out our roads, they have our police protection and they are receiving everything that we ourselves receive. But when we go to Philadelphia to work we spend practically every nickel that we ever make there. I can truthfully say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that every stitch that I have on me here tonight has been bought in Philadelphia, including my spectacles, my ring, my shoes, my socks,—all of them were bought in Philadelphia, but when these gentlemen from Philadelphia come out to Delaware County and earn their livelihood there they take that money back into their own county and spend it there. We have no objection to that; we are not fighting with anyone, as the Senator said, we have no objection to that. We want them to come out into our county to work in an effort to win this war, but, gentlemen, I say to you this thing ought to cut both ways. Philadelphia comes here and cries a poor mouth and tries to create the impression that theirs is the only county in this Commonwealth, but I say to you, gentlemen, there are sixty-six other counties in this Commonwealth and let us give them a little consideration. I ask you, gentlemen, if ever you did anything for the cause of what I consider fairness and decency, I ask you to vote for my bill.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, the wage tax in Philadelphia is a vicious and unnecessary tax. It exists only because of the maintenance of drones on the City payroll and wasteful and extravagant government by the Republican party. It makes the citizens of Philadelphia pay for the sins of the Republican party. This tax is just as bad and as burdensome, for the residents of Philadelphia, as it is for residents of other counties who earn their living in Philadelphia. This Bill discriminates against the citizens of Philadelphia in favor of citizens of other counties.

The Democratic party is opposed to this bill because it relieves the non-residents from this responsibility and requires the residents to carry a necessarily higher burden. This kind of discrimination against the residents of Philadelphia will not be helped by the vote of the Democratic party. The Wage Tax is a bad tax. And we the Democrats are against it.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCANLON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has referred to the wage tax as an obnoxious, vicious and unfair tax. Does the gentleman contend that it is only vicious and unfair so far as it affects Philadelphians?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, I would say that we are definitely opposed to the tax on the grounds that we have consistently opposed the wage tax, and we do not feel that the burden of government should be carried by the citizens of Philadelphia alone.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman say that the tax is not vicious and unfair so far as it applies to those who do not reside in Philadelphia?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the tax as a whole is unfair.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the whole is usually composed of all its parts, is it not?

Mr. SCANLON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, therefore the gentleman is going to vote against the bill even though part of it is good?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would say that we are opposed to it on the ground that the majority of the citizens of Philadelphia do not benefit by the gentleman's bill.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman disagree with the position taken by his party and so stated by its candidate for Governor when he stated that they considered the wage tax vicious, not only as it applies to Philadelphia but as it applies to all the counties as well?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would say that our position is still that we are against the wage tax, and I do not see how the bill of the gentleman from Delaware will help the situation so far as we are concerned in Philadelphia.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that thirty thousand Philadelphians are employed at enormous wages in our county, would the gentleman from Philadelphia consider it fair then to levy a retaliatory tax on them?

Mr. SCANLON. I would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia agree or disagree with the principle enunciated in the Declaration of Independence, and for which the War of Independence was fought, namely that taxation without representation is tyranny?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question I would say that this tax to begin with, as indicated in the gentleman's bill, is not a uniform tax.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, that is not answering the question. I am asking the gentleman whether in effect he believes that taxation without representation is tyranny.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would say further in answer to the interrogation that as far as representation is concerned that we in the Legis.ature represent all the people in Pennsylvania, and that certain powers are granted to all counties by the Legislature.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman one more question? Since the rest of the people in Philadelphia are helping to pay the salaries of the Philadelphia officials, does the gentleman believe that we should have some voice in the selection of those officials and some slight control in the conduct of their affairs and some control of their purse strings in spending the money?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please repeat the question?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think, since we are helping to pay the freight, that we ought to have some voice in the selection of the officials and in the control of those officials and control over the spending of the money by those officials?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I might suggest to the gentleman from Delaware, let him come in and campaign on that issue in Philadelphia and let him bring out that fact.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, that is not a very intelligent answer. There is no way by which I can go in there and campaign on anything.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I do not see why the gentleman could not.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that I might be permitted to run for office in Philadelphia?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that, I said the gentleman would be permitted to come into Philadelphia and campaign. I did not say anything about running for office.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the gentleman from Philadelphia who is a member of the Democratic party, has enunciated in a statement which he read the opposition of the Democratic party to the passage of my wage tax bill which would eliminate non-residents from the Philadelphia wage tax?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I would say yes to that question.

Mr. BRETHERICK. That is all, I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I say briefly to the gentleman from Delaware that I have watched year in and year out the amazing job that his party does in Delaware County. They have a darn good machine out there, and while the gentleman from Delaware might not be able to run the affairs of the city of Philadelphia, we will welcome their help to do away with the vicious wage taxes now in force in Philadelphia.

Mr. Speaker, might I say further that the gentleman asked whether or not he could be permitted to come into Philadelphia and run its affairs. I believe that anybody could come in and run Philadelphia better than the Philadelphia machine has done, but that the Democratic party can do it most satisfactorily.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, apparently the gentleman from Delaware brought his bill to the wrong chamber. Apparently the gentleman from Delaware does not know that the dirty linen of the Republican party should be washed out in the caucuses of the Republican party. I only want to say to the gentleman from Delaware that when he comes into Legislature to ask for some relief he should come in with clean hands. Last week, when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scanlon, offered an amendment to the gentleman from Delaware's bill, the gentleman from Delaware voted "No" to the abolition of the wage tax in Philadelphia, which would have wiped out the tax on non-residents. He said then, like his colleague from Delaware, that if the people of Philadelphia want that kind of government, then let them have it. I say the gentleman from Delaware, before he introduces a bill of this kind he ought to confer with his colleagues from Philadelphia. I might inform the gentleman from Delaware that if his bill were to pass this House, it would place the Republican party in Philadelphia in a very embarrassing position, because if the bill were to pass the City Fathers in Philadelphia would be short to the tune of six million dollars in their budget, and then the Republican City Fathers would say to the people of Philadelphia, "The Legislature voted the six million dollars out of the budget, and therefore we will have to assess the good people of Philadelphia that extra six million dollars." If that is the kind of legislation the gentleman from Delaware wants, then the Democratic party says emphatically, "We cannot go along with this nonsense."

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, apparently I will have to, because some of us appear to have a slight defect in our speaking organs.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the gentleman from Delaware was somewhat afraid of the amendments that were presented to his bill last week?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I would reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia by saying that I was not afraid of them. I took the position that if I wanted to eliminate the tax which Philadelphia was imposing upon Delaware County, certainly it would be presumptuous of me in my own bill to try to eliminate Philadelphia's tax which was levied by Philadelphia on Philadelphians.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, couldn't it have been just a little tincture of fear on the part of the gentleman from Delaware, in refusing to accept the amendments which would not only have taken the tax off the residents of Delaware County but would have eliminated the tax entirely?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows that that would not have been the effect. I felt that there was a better chance of getting my bill through in its present form than there would have been had it been so amended.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the gentleman from Delaware asked the members of the House to vote against these amendments?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I most certainly did, for the reasons which I have just expressed. I do not feel that I have the right to impose upon Philadelphia the elimination of a tax since that tax only affected Philadelphians.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, would it have not impaired the bill of the gentleman from Delaware to allow those amendments to enter into it?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I think it most certainly would have impaired my bill and lessened the chance of passing it.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that it would have helped and that it would have had some friends.

Mr. BRETHERICK. It was an honest disagreement.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Delaware. I desire to make a brief statement to the members of the House in regard to this measure. I want to say here that this feeling about the very measure before us would be like an arrow in my heart. If I were to go back to the people of my district and tell them that I voted to sustain this bill, they would immediately confront me with the question, "If you can sustain a portion of the bill to relieve the citizens of the surrounding counties from the burden, surely you ought to be able to do something towards the elimination of this tax for the citizens of our district and for the citizens of Philadelphia generally." So, Mr. Speaker, I want to make it clear that I have nothing against this bill tonight, and I ask every Member who has a fair thought in his mind, every Member who can visualize the fact that this is a bill born in selfishness it relates particularly to one group and that it is a situation in which there is no such thing as taxation without representation because the Members who come from the other counties surrounding Philadelphia are paying for something—they are paying for their wages.

It seems to me that it is altogether unfair that we citizens should be obliged to pay for the wages we receive, and that the citizens of the surrounding sections should be free from that obligation.

Therefore, I ask every one of the Members of this House to vote this bill down. Let us have a bill that will entirely eliminate this tax; it will come sooner or later, and your support of any measure that would amend this would indeed eliminate the evil entirely.

Mr. Speaker, I ask every Member of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I will only take a few moments in reply. The gentleman from Delaware said that I presented the best argument in favor of this bill. He himself is Exhibit A to prove that this bill should not be passed. He told you that the shoes on his feet, the coat on his back, the ring of his finger and everything that he owned in this world—he did not mention his good wife, if he has one, and I hope he got her from Philadelphia—came from Philadelphia. The money he got to pay for those things came from Philadelphia, the electric lights, the elevators in the building in which that wonderful law firm is located—and it is one of the best in Philadelphia—Philadelphia gives him all those facilities, and I know that if he is with that law office he is getting a high salary and he ought to be willing to buy the things that he says he buys in Philadelphia with Philadelphia money.

Now, Mr. Speaker, insofar as this being taxation without representation is concerned, and whether or not it is in the Declaration of Independence, being surrounded by all those law books that are in that beautiful office, he ought to know better than to make that statement. It is not taxation without representation. There is no compulsion by the city of Philadelphia on the non-residents to pay that tax. All they ask them to do, and they are a fine group of people, including the gentleman from Delaware, is "Come back home where you belong and we will receive you with open arms and give you the liberty to vote and elect your councilmen and your mayor." That invitation is open, not only to the gentleman from Delaware county, but is open to every other resident of Delaware county who pays this tax, and the majority of them at one time were Philadelphians. Come back home and we will receive you with open arms and give you not only Philadelphia's blessing but we hope the Lord's blessing also.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE

TUESDAY, March 16, 1943.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time. The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Worship belongs to God alone, the Eternal Unchangeable and Almighty. As we are now in the attitude of worshipers may we also be in the spirit of worship, believing that Thou art the prayer-hearing and the prayer-answering God. Otherwise our prayers are meaningless words, better left unspoken.

In the belief that Thou hearest, we pray that the members of this Senate, and those of similar legislative bodies in all the States, be guided by the Holy Spirit. Thus guided they will encourage respect for the laws of God, the basis of honor and justice among nations and men, and without which nations and individuals are doomed to extinction.

We bring to Thee in prayer our loved ones. Wherever they are may they be secure from all harm, under the protecting wings of the Almighty. Restore to health the members of the Senate who are sick.

For all our leaders, civil and military, and for all our soldiers and sailors and men of the air forces, we pray that divine direction and protection be given them, and that deserved victory be the result of their consecrated efforts.

In the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen!

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Forests and Waters for the maintenance and improvement of Fort Washington Park.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to introduce two bills, and if it is permissible, I should like to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Somerset may proceed.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is in a favorable position financially, because we had in our Constitution a provision that no debt in excess of one million dollars could be created without the consent of the people, and so, heretofore, when we wished to issue road bonds or provide for a bonus for the soldiers, we submitted amendments for the people to vote on.

A few years ago, in order to circumvent this provision of the Constitution which kept Pennsylvania solvent for so many years, an act was passed creating the General State Authority. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania first declared this Act unconstitutional, but later, on reconsideration, the Court changed its view and the Act was declared to be in accord with our Constitution. However, I think that if the members of the Court had forseen the extent to which this Act would be used, they would have perhaps adhered to their former decision.

Mr. President, I do not mean to say that Pennsylvania created an exorbitant debt under this General State Authority Act. It set up a board with the power to erect buildings throughout the State, or to remodel those that had been built, and then, to circumvent the Constitution, these buildings are leased to the Commonwealth and the debt which was created was said, not to be a debt of the Commonwealth, although it is in effect such, because all the bonds of this General State Authority which were issued to raise the funds for these buildings had been turned over to the retirement system of the State, and the Commonwealth is providing for rentals for these buildings, so-called rentals.

In the budget which the Governor has submitted, he asks that an amount of $7,819,000 be provided for State Authority rentals, and then he has a special item for rentals for State College of $731,000.

One of the reasons for the continuation of this General State Authority is that after this war we will be in such a situation here in Pennsylvania that it will be necessary to provide for some building to take care, temporarily, of the unemployed.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania has been a very valuable document but it is only maintained by the people; it is, in itself, a piece of paper, and unless we support the Constitution, the Constitution will not protect and defend us.

Therefore, I wish to introduce two provisions for amending the Constitution. One is to submit to the people the question of creating a bond issue of $60,000,000 to retire these General State Authority bonds. The present debt is perhaps about $50,000,000, a little over $50,000,000, but there have been some commitments for Byberry and for certain other institutions, so that it is difficult to tell just how much this debt will be if this amendment goes through. Of course, only so much of it will be used as will be necessary.

The other bill which I have is a proposal to be submitted to the people of the State to amend our Constitution to provide for the creation of a debt of $50,000,000 for the construction of public buildings, highways, drainage and sanitary systems, anti-pollution, and flood control projects for purposes of reforestration and for the rehabilitation or hospitalization of war veterans. I am not sure of the language of this bill, but this is the way it has been prepared for submission.

It seems to me that if the projects in the future which will be undertaken under this amendment and subsequent act of the General Assembly, if passed, would provide that these projects be carried out by regular departments of our government, so that they could be handled in a much more favorable way; there would be no haste in these buildings, they could be planned for more carefully and with much greater benefit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The General State Authority buildings are, in the main, fine buildings, but many of them were hastily built and they have developed a good many mistakes and things that have to be corrected at great expense.

Mr. EALY read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 309, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto a section.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 310, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto a section.

Which was committed to the Committee on Constitutional Changes.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of information.

Mr. WOODWARD. Is it in order to interrogate the Senator from Somerset on his bills?

The PRESIDENT. No, it is not, Senator Woodward.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODWARD. Is it not always in order to interrogate a brother Senator? I rise on a question of very special personal privilege. Is that in order, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

Mr. WOODWARD. I would rather, Mr. President, they would not be at ease, as I would like them to listen.

The PRESIDENT. After the Senate arises from at ease, then they can listen to you asking questions.

Mr. WOODWARD. It is not terribly important, Mr. President; I will waive my right.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will have plenty of opportunity later. If the Senators start interrogating when bills are being introduced, we will never finish the day's session.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection one of section four of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 1043) entitled "An act establishing a public school employes retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as amended by section three of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1738) is hereby further amended to read as follows

A vacancy occurring during a term shall be filled for the unexpired term by the appointment of a successor in the same manner as his or her predecessor [Until the organization of the retirement association and the election of three representatives therefrom the Superintendent of Public Instruction the State Treasurer and the member appointed by the Governor are empowered to perform the duties of the retirement board]

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this bill, and also to be on safe ground in my interrogation of the President Pro Tempore, so that the President—yourself—can not rule me out of order if I take time to ask him some questions now.

The PRESIDENT. Is the gentleman from Philadelphia asking unanimous consent?

Mr. WOODWARD. No, Mr. President, I am on very sure ground—I do not have to ask anybody.

Mr. President, this bill proposes to increase the Public School Employes Retirement Board by two members. I will leave it to my colleague and co-agitator, Senator Thomas B. Wilson, to paint a terrible picture of the two people that are going to be put on the board. I do not know anything about them, but he seems to know that they are going to be the lowest kind of people.

I am making my plea on scientific grounds. I have in my hand a letter that I received from a member of the retirement board—There are seven members—I am not at liberty to tell you just which one it is, but he says:

"I have read your letter with much interest. I thoroughly agree with you that the Turnpike Commission bonds are a questionable investment and I am pleased to say our Pennsylvania School Employes Retirement Board has never bought any of these bonds. I also agree with you that the 87 Municipal Authority bonds are not a desirable investment for our retirement fund and for this reason our retirement board has never purchased any of these bonds."

Those are two Pennsylvania bonds that are thrown overboard, you notice.

"However, since our Pennsylvania Supreme Court has declared the General State Authority as constitutional and has also declared that the General State Authority bonds are legal for the investment of trust funds, I do not feel competent to question the judgment of our Supreme Court. We would certainly be in an awkward situation if we could not depend upon the wisdom of our Supreme Court concerning the legality of the investment of our retirement fund."

Now, Mr. President, if I may interrupt myself for just a moment on the General State Authority, I sat with one of the high officers of our government the other day and we both said at the same moment "It stinks", so that not only is my opinion but also the opinion of one of the highest members of this State government.

Whenever I get a chance I am going to knock the State Authority. I am pleased to learn only this morning that this State Authority, which puts up a building like the Finance Building and has not paid for it—in fact that was the question I was going to ask the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, why it has not paid for it—but if you go over there to the Finance Building, even the Auditor General looks important in that surrounding, it is palatial. An ex-Senate stenographer came in and spoke with me this morning and since she works over there in that building you would not know her—she changed her entire appearance and dress—to match the building I suppose.

"Under separate cover I am sending you a copy of the twenty-second annual report of our school employes' retirement board, on pages 31 to 81 of which you will find a complete list of the investments of our retirement board"—I would like you also to listen to this, please—"You will note the purchase price of the investments as of July 1, 1941, was $190,350,047." That is the purchase price. "The market value of the investments on that date was about $15,000,000 in excess of the cost price."

These investments had appreciated by $15,000,000. "If you can locate another retirement system anywhere in America that has made as good a record in its investments as our Pennsylvania system please let me know."

I do not want to detain you too long, but there are one or two things here which are really quite interesting. There is a table here, a comparison of other retirement systems, showing returns from their investments; it begins with Utah, which gets 2.2 per cent, and it goes along to Ohio, which gets 3.7 per cent; Pennsylvania has been on the average getting 4.5 per cent, so it is very much at the top of the list.

Then the other point I wish to make is administrative costs per active member. In New York State the cost per active member is over $4 and then it runs along, Wisconsin, Maryland and so on, and finally comes to Pennsylvania—85 cents, and all the others are over one dollar, and then you come to New York State, which is over $4.

My argument is why not let well enough alone? This board has administered this fund most wisely and why Senator Homsher or anybody else wants to pick out two disreputable people to add to this board I do not know, and, therefore, I hope the Senate will vote the bill down. I am going to vote "no".

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, before asking that the Senate reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading, I have some amendments which I want to offer and I will explain them to the members of the Senate so that they may be able to tell better just how they would care to vote.

This bill increases the Public School Employes' Retirement Board from seven to nine members, with the idea of putting two members of the School Board Directors Association on the board. My amendments would cut this number by one, that one member to be the executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State School Directors, who I think would be probably the most qualified person to serve for them.

The other amendment provides that four of the members will be classroom teachers.

I therefore ask, Mr. President, that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. Would the gentleman from Allegheny care to ask unanimous consent.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUESTED TO INTRODUCE AMENDMENTS

Mr. BARR. Yes, Mr. President, to present amendments to this bill.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I object to unanimous consent being granted to present amendments to this bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT Unanimous consent has been refused.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BARR. I rise on a point of information, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, is this bill on second reading?

The PRESIDENT. No, the bill is on third reading. We were about to vote on the bill on third reading.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Merely as a suggestion, Mr President, I might say when unanimous consent is asked for the express purpose of offering amendments, that it would expedite matters considerably if no objection were raised, for the simple reason that the amendments then would be presented and a vote could be taken on the amendments and the desire of the majority of the members could be registered.

When you withhold or refuse unanimous consent to the presentation of amendments, you cause a motion to be made asking that the vote by which the bill had passed second reading be considered, and then a roll call is taken, thereby taking up time and effort, and then, after that is taken, amendments still can be offered and then the roll must again be called.

I believe in order to expedite matters in the Senate that if you allow amendments to be presented, you will expedite matters and stop all this delay and roll-taking that takes place.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the question on which I wish to speak does not seem now to be before the Senate.

When this bill gets on final passage I want to say something about it. In the meantime may I be permitted to say that when I want to criticize any of the people that are going to be nominated or appointed to a board I am not tongue-tied. I will get on the floor and criticize them myself, if I so desire.

I never said to anybody that the people that are going to be appointed on this board were people of low character and if I want to criticize anybody, I will be very frank and say it out loud and I will not ask any other person to do it for me.

The PRESIDENT. The stenographer will note that Senator Thomas B. Wilson is not tongue-tied.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I wish to know if I am in order at this time to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, sir. I am glad to see the gentleman back.

Mr. MUNDY. I am glad to be back, sir. Just a few minutes ago the Senator from Philadelphia referred to the State Authority in terms of unpleasant aroma, and I ask the Senator from Philadelphia what prompted him to refer to the State Authority in those terms.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia answer the interrogation?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, the word "stink" may not be parliamentary—I withdraw that from the record, but the foundation for the word seems to remain unshaken.

I would like to say for just a moment that it gives me great pleasure to know that this General State Authority in order to cultivate a mantle of respectability, has been operating from the Y.M.C.A. in Harrisburg, and the Y.M.C.A. can not stand them any longer and has given them notice to quit and they have no place to go. That is what pleases me. They have built all kinds of buildings—State College, and that is expensive—the Finance Building, which they have not paid for—and now they are thrown out of the Y.M.C.A. and they have no place to go. I hope they will wander on the streets .

The PRESIDENT. Has the Senator from Philadelphia answered the interrogation of the gentleman from Luzerne?

Mr. MUNDY. No, Mr. President, I think he has very cleverly evaded the original question by bringing in some irrelevant things. I say that is a serious statement and we might leave out the facetiousness, and I ask him, as a member of this body, after making such a statement, making reference to the General State Authority in a common, ordinary term, as I recall it "stinks," what prompted him to use that term.

Mr. WOODWARD. I do not quite get the question, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne repeat his interrogation?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I understood the Senator from Philadelphia in his original statement to refer to the State Authority as an organization that was surrounded by—I think he used the word "stink"—am I correct?

Mr. WOODWARD. That is correct.

Mr. MUNDY. Well, Mr. President, I still say that is a serious accusation and I am asking the Senator upon what grounds he bases the use of that term in reference to that body.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I thought I had requested that it be withdrawn from public notice, from going into the record—I do not know what else I can do—apologize perhaps for this awful language—is that what he wants?

I could not quite hear the gentleman; I am sorry.

Mr. President, I will be brief about these authorities. The General State Authority and the Municipal Authority and even the Dream Highway—the Turnpike Commission—are under a ban in my judgment, because they were deliberately organized to evade constitutional limitations. The Municipal Authorities have tried to evade the limitations of seven per cent on their debt, and there are 87 of them now, and I am out against them.

The General State Authority was certainly created to spend money on various projects; they could not get the money in a constitutional way and so they resorted to an unconstitutional way, at least they circumvented the Constitution, and the Supreme Court decided it was unconstitutional and then changed its mind and made it constitutional.

The whole thing—well, I can not go back to that word—the whole thing is unpleasant if you believe, like Senator Ealy and I, in the Constitution.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia answer this question: as the State Authority was constituted since 1938, are not a majority of the members of that State Authority outstanding members of the gentleman's own party, the Republican Party?

Mr. WOODWARD. Membership? Senator Ealy is a member, I know.

Mr. MUNDY. Personally, Mr. President, I must state that I never noticed any serious odor emanating from him.

Let me say this, Mr. President: I have heard repeatedly these statements made here with reference to the State Authority, but when we sum up the activities of any functioning body, we sum it up as individuals and make our own individual appraisals of their activities and their functions and what they perform, and it depends on whether we look on those functions in the cold attitude of a financier or a banker or whether we look on it in the sense of somebody who wants to appraise the moral values that are accomplished.

If we are talking of an investment in the matter of dollars and cents as conducted by the State Authority, perhaps we may concede some places where they have, as the Senator would think, misappropriated—not misappropriated, but badly invested some funds—but if the Senator from Philadelphia was less of a financier and more of a physician, probably he would appraise these things with different values, as it certainly can not be doubted that the State Authority built some magnificent institutions in the State for the care of the sick and the ill, and it seems a shame to me that your late deceased Governor of Pennsylvania, Mr. Arthur James, saw fit to discontinue these activities, because I for one, in the active practice of my profession, find it impossible to get a child of abnormal development into our institutions and I always receive back the same form letter saying that on the waiting list of this institution there are some 1,800 children.

When I attempt to get people into tuberculosis sanatoriums, I am, unfortunately, told that the State of Pennsylvania is only in a position to take care of those most advanced cases. It is a sad reflection on a State which boasts of its individual wealth, its great manufactories and everything else, to have its department heads confess that they are not prepared to take care of the sick and injured.

I want to say this to you, that all you financiers and all you men who are interested particularly in the art of clipping coupons from bonds in the quiet recesses of a palatial mansion, may criticize the activities of men who have tried to do something to uplift the morale of our communities, but that is ineffective when you make a through investigation of the situation that exists in Pennsylvania.

I feel badly, as a member of this Senate, that I have to say to my patients, I am sorry, but the sovereign state of Pennsylvania is not able to take care of its sons and daughters who are born under unfortunate circumstances, who acquire tuberculosis and other diseases, because of the fact that some men in high public life value a dollar more than they do human health and human futurity.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. My parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President, is what we are doing, where the Senate is and what is going on.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate is debating Senate Bill No. 68, just prior to voting on this bill on third reading.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I have not heard anything about that, but perhaps we do not hear very well back here. I have not heard anything about the bill on third reading.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BARR. I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of information.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, where am I with my amendments?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, in order to present amendments to a bill on third reading, it will be necessary for the Senator to obtain unanimous consent, which was refused.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE BY WHICH SENATE BILL No. 68 PASSED SECOND READING

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 68 passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Allegheny vote.

Mr. BARR. I voted "aye" Mr. President.

Mr. COX. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Allegheny vote.

Mr. COX. I voted "aye" Mr. President.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was declared lost.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I had not intended to say anything about this bill. I bow to no one in this Senate in my respect and regard for the very distinguished colleague who is the author of this bill, for his ability and his integrity, and if he needed a vote on this bill I would vote for it, but I do want to say this, Mr. President, that there is not any fund that has been as well conducted as the teacher's retirement fund, and there is no reason on earth for this bill. The people that are being put on this board have nothing to do with this fund. In Pennsylvania we have a teachers' retirement fund. Fifty per cent of it is paid by the teachers, twenty-five per cent is paid by the State of Pennsylvania, and twenty-five per cent is paid by the school districts.

When the districts pay their money into the fund and the State of Pennsylvania pays its money into the fund and school teachers pay their money into the fund, the money in the fund belongs to the teachers and to no one else. There is no one on the face of the earth that has one bit of interest or a dollar of interest in that retirement fund excepting the teachers of Pennsylvania. The school directors have nothing to do with it; they have nothing more to do with that money than I have when I pay for five gallons of gasoline and hand the money over to the man who runs the filling station—it is his money—and the only thing that is to be said for this bill is that the school districts pay one-quarter of the money.

You are making the committee that handles this fund very large and very unwieldy and you are putting on here some people who are professional representatives of the school directors, who do not have a thing to do with it.

From the name of the sponsor I would vote for this bill, if he needed the vote. I know that members of some legislatures, certainly not of the Senate, in looking at this bill, might look over their shoulders and see the school directors of Pennsylvania, and think maybe "I had better vote for it because those gentlemen might not like what I do." Mr. President, I do not care a snap of my fingers whether they like what I do or not, but I want to say this, that I have not cast any reflections on the gentlemen who would be put on this board, because I do not know anything about who they would be, but I do say on principle, possibly, from the sentiment I have had from the old days in the House, when we tried to carry the school districts of Pennsylvania through when there was not any money and no taxes, I have become a great admirer of the way this fund has been run. I do not think any fund has been run as well and I do not think it will be improved any by putting on a couple of representatives of school directors who have nothing to do with the fund, who do not get a cent out of it, and have not any interest in it of any kind or description, except that they contribute to it. They do not belong on the board and it is not any of their business, and this is a move by some people who are quite arbitrarily putting themselves in where they do not belong and do not have any financial interest.

I want, Mr. President, to say this—I did not intend to, but because my name was brought into this—I am, on principle, opposed to this move. If this bill is passed I will live through it, because I have been in the Legislature long enough to know that I do not get what I want very often, and if I do not get this, I will be able to sleep tonight; nevertheless I am opposed to it on principle.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I must beg to differ with my colleague from McKean. I can see a reason for this bill. The school directors of Pennsylvania pay one-fourth of the cost of maintaining the retirement fund; the teachers pay one-fourth and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pays one-half. That fund must be protected. It amounts to many millions of dollars and it has been most successfully managed.

We have among the school directors of Pennsylvania some of our highest class of citizens, financiers, bankers, industrialists and merchants, and the intention is, in the passage of this bill, to place upon that committee probably one of our big bankers of the State, one who is interested in financial affairs and who knows financial affairs, who knows investments, and who could give good advice in consultation with this committee. The other representative from the School Directors Association would be the executive secretary of that association, and I think he should have a place on it.

This fund must be protected in every way possible, and I think that the School Directors Association and the school directors of the State have a direct interest in this matter.

When a school teacher withdraws from the fund she receives the money she has put in. The amount put in by the school board and by the Commonwealth remains in the fund, which has the effect of making it more solvent, but if through some inadvertence, some misjudgment, the fund becomes in any way depleted, are we going to allow the school teachers to suffer in the amount of their annuities or will the Commonwealth and the school districts be asked to make up any deficiency which might occur in the future through any misjudgment?

I think it is only fair and proper that the school directors should have some representation on that board, to follow through and give such advice as may be required, in order to see that no misjudgment takes place, and for that reason I think that they should have some place on this board and are entitled to representation.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I did not realize that the gentlemen had intended to replace those women who have so carefully run this fund, made such a success of it, by putting on bankers. I am even more opposed to the bill now than I was before.

This fund has been run and run in a manner that is a great credit to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. During the time when bankers were jumping out of seventh story windows because they got their affairs in such shape that they could not live any more and the banks were closing and everything that we had was going upside down, those women that ran it and the members of the board that ran it, ran their affairs so that they were in order and so they only had one-tenth of one per cent in failures to pay their interest. They did not have a bond which was not good, and if it is now proposed to put on school directors and bankers so that they can run this fund, I am saying it is like trying to improve the Kingdom of Heaven—it cannot be done.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. You may be assured that I was not taken aback when Senate Bill No. 250 was introduced by Senator Taylor. The fact of the matter is I stated on the floor of the Senate, on Feb. 22nd, while I was discussing the nomination of Dr. Parker, that I predicted an early introduction of a bill designed to hasten the exit of Mr. Beamish. I don't lay claim to clairvoyant powers. Nor am I a false prophet. You may warn the utilities and their powerful lobby against repetition of unfair tactics. You may charge them with unduly influencing members of the Senate, but it does not feaze them in the least. They are a defiant group, and will resort to any extremes to accomplish their purpose, even to the point of changing fundamental law.

Frankly, I am surprised that they have not gone further. They probably will. Sooner or later you may expect amendments to emasculate the Rural Electrification Law, also amendments to the Assessment Clause, Burden of Proof Provision, and Temporary Rate Provision of the present Public Utility Law. The Utility lobbyists, in larger numbers than ever, are congregating in and about these halls, prepared for a killing.

Changes in the law must be slow and gradual. True it is that the law cannot remain static. It is a dynamic organism—developing slowly and surely, without any limit to its growth. Yes, law must be progressive. However, when a change is suggested that strikes at the root of our common law—the law that comes to us as a result of precedent, habit, usage and experience, we should hesitate and examine the proposed change carefully.

What does this bill accomplish? Under the Act of 1937, P. L. 160, par. 1, members of the Commission were appointed for fixed terms of office with the proviso that they serve until their successor shall be duly appointed and duly qualified. In 1937 when this legislation was enacted my colleagues, Senators Heyburn and Chapman voted in favor of this legislation and they are to be commended for so doing. This bill, however, in effect, removes the phrase, "until their successors shall be duly appointed and shall be qualified." This particular phrase has been part of our Utility Law since 1913. It survived Governor Tener's Administration, Governor Sproul's Administration, Governor Brumbaugh's Administration, Governor Pinchot's Administration, Governor Earle's Administration, and Governor James's Administration, and during all these years not one attempt was made to change a single word of this important provision of our utility law.

Why the change now? Surely it has not been designed as an emergency measure to aid in the effective prosecution of the war. Nor does it appear consistent with philosophy of government as enunciated by Governor Martin in his inaugural address. The purpose of this bill is quite apparent. It does not require acute perception to discern, at a glance the motive underlying it.

Commissioner Beamish by his vigorous espousal of the cause of the consumer in Pennsylvania has become non persona grata with the giant utility corporations of the state, and they will move heaven and earth to hasten his exit from office. Commissioner Beamish was appointed for a term of six years and until his successor shall be duly appointed and shall be qualified. Five of my Republican colleagues, now members of the Senate voted in 1937 for his confirmation, and under his appointment he was to serve 6 years and until his successor shall be duly appointed and shall be qualified. The colleagues I have in mind are Senator Ealy, our President Pro-Tempore, Senator Heyburn, our majority floor leader, Senator Deitrick, Senator Chapman and Senator Scarlett. I have confidence in the integrity and intellectual honesty of these gentlemen. I personally have the highest regard for them and I sincerely hope that they will not be misled by the desperation of the utilities to destroy our basic law in order to get rid of Beamish.

I realize all the persuasion in the world will not induce Governor Martin to reappoint Commissioner Beamish, notwithstanding his excellent record. However, I re-echo the sentiments of my colleagues, Senators Barr and Holland, and particularly a statement by the Philadelphia Record "Appoint a man who is efficient, capable and honest, and free from any political or utility entanglement, and whose record can withstand the test of public scrutiny." If such is done, I am sure the Democrats will unhesitatingly vote to confirm.

Commissioner Beamish is not the issue today. It goes beyond him. It is the attempt to destroy sound law, law that has stood the test of time.

This bill, needless to say, renders possible, a vacancy in the office of the Utility Commission as of April 1, 1943, and that vacancy might persist until the end of the session. The law frowns disgustingly at vacancies. In this connection may I quote from the case of Commonwealth vs Kelly, 322 Pa. 178: "Every reason of public policy and public interest speaks against vacancies in office." The Public Utility Commissioner exercises very important governmental duties."

Again I quote from Commonwealth vs Kelly, 322 Pa. at p. 182:

> "There is no appellate court decision in this State on the question we are considering. However, at common law, and Pennsylvania is still and it is hoped always will be a common law State, the rule is that the incumbents of offices whose terms have expired continue in office until action is taken by the appointing power in accord with the law. The principle was fully investigated and reviewed by the Supreme Court of California in Stratton v. Oulton, 28 Cal. 44. As pointed out in that opinion the reason for the rule is because government cannot properly function without necessary officers. As we have before stated, the officers here in question are most necessary to the proper functioning of government."

In Robb v. Carter, 65 Md. 321, 4 Atl. 282, the common law principle was recognized and applied in the case of the city solicitor of Baltimore. There was no provision in the ordinance providing for his appointment that he should hold until the appointment and qualification of his successor. The mayor nominated the then city solicitor to succeed himself, but the nomination was rejected by city council. The solicitor continued to perform the duties of the office and claimed salary for the time that he occupied it after his appointive term expired. In holding that he was entitled to the salary, the Court of Appeals of Maryland pointed out that any other than the common law ruling "might cause a vacancy in nearly every office, and a suspension of business in the various departments of the municipality."

In State ex rel. Rogers v. Johnson, 135 Wash. 109, 113, 237 Pac. 12, the Supreme Court of the State of Washington in passing upon the question before us said: "The courts generally indulge in a strong presumption against a legislative intent to create by statute a condition which may result in an executive or administrative office becoming, for any period of time, wholly vacant and unoccupied by one lawfully authorized to exercise its functions . . . The rule of law is that an officer shall hold office until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless by the language of the statute such holding over is expressly or by clear implication prohibited."

These words were put into the Public Service Law in 1913, and 24 years later were again repeated in the new Public Utility law.

"AND UNTIL HIS SUCCESSOR SHALL BE DULY APPOINTED AND SHALL BE QUALIFIED."

Why? To avoid any possible vacancies. The amendment as introduced, and if enacted into law will haunt us. In conclusion, may I suggest that we view this legislation and its far reaching implications without passion and without regard to personalities—I, therefore, urge with all emphasis at my command that that bill be voted down unless it be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for further study.

Mr. HOLLAND. The bill now before the Senate is an innocent-looking little thing—as harmless in appearance as a new-born baby—just one sentence long, just 26 little words.

In addition, it is sponsored by a man whom we all respect and whose name adds to its prestige—since he is not merely the Senator from Dauphin, great honor though that be, but he is also the Chairman of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania—and, even more, the donor of $50,000.00 to his Party. He is a man of substance and we may presume that when he speaks, he speaks not just as the Senator from Dauphin—but as the leader of a great political party which is in control of the government of Pennsylvania—Governor, Legislature, and High Courts.

Now I think it is the duty of the Senate to look into those 26 words—not that we in any way distrust the Senator from Dauphin—nor that we would impute to him any partisan motivations—but just to find out what we are doing if we pass this legislation which has come before us with such haste since the Governor withdrew the name of his previous nominee to the Public Utility Commission.

I think we might truthfully call this Bill a "post-dated ripper." It has the purpose of terminating the service of a Public Utility Commissioner whose term expires on April 1st—but who would continue in office until his successor was duly qualified—which means, confirmed by the Senate, under legislation as it now stands.

The first question that troubles me is: why the Bill is deemed necessary? This is March 15th. Commissioner Beamish's term does not expire until April 1st.

Surely, there is ample time for the Governor to select a man from his own Party whom the people of the State and this Senate will regard as qualified to regulate the utilities of Pennsylvania in accord with the public interest.

Surely, the Republican Party—deep in debt as it is to the corporate interests of Pennsylvania—still retains within its ranks men who can pass the muster of public opinion and Senate scrutiny—men who have integrity—men who are not owned by the utilities—men who are concerned with the public welfare—men who are fit to serve on the Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania.

And, surely, Governor Martin can find such a man in two weeks time—and surely this Senate will be glad to confirm him.

All the Governor has to do is to forget the Party owes Joe Grundy money—and quit taking advice from G.

Mason Owlett. All the Governor has to do is to forget that the Party owes Joe Pew money—and quit taking advice from the utility lawyer, James MacIntosh.

These men apparently suggested to the Governor his first nomination—for it was they who called on the Governor with the withdrawal letter, as even the Philadelphia Inquirer stated.

Is the Governor going back to them for a second choice?

Diogenes spent a lifetime hunting an honest man—but he didn't belong to the great Republican Party of Pennsylvania. Surely it would not take the Governor a lifetime to find an honest man in Pennsylvania—even among Pennsylvania Republicans.

Or—is this Bill an admission that the species—like the buffalo and the panther—is extinct in Pennsylvania?

Is this Bill an attempt to by-pass the Senate? Is it an attempt to by-pass the peoples' representatives and pave the way for an interim appointment? Is it an attempt to make us forget that we are the creators of the P.U.C. and that its members are our agents and may serve only with our advice and consent?

The Courts of Pennsylvania have said that very clearly. Are they to be asked to reverse themselves now—and make it possible for a Governor to appoint Public Utility Commissioners objectionable to the Senate and the people —to serve during the long periods when we are not in session?

You of the majority love to talk about "rubber-stamp" representatives. You mouth the word lovingly—trippingly on the tongue—and your campaign oratory would be bald and naked without it. You talk "big" on the campaign platform about "limitations on executive power." Is all your oratory based upon the question of whose ox is gored? If you pass this Bill—abrogating the Senate's powers, or paving the way for executive action in your absence—you are worse than "rubber stamps." They, at least, are present and voting. You—by the passage of this Bill—become "Senatorial shadows." You won't even be here when your powers are exercised by the Governor.

This Bill is a "ripper bill" to terminate the service of a Commissioner. It is also a "ripper bill" to terminate the service of this Senate in fulfillment of its constitutional functions.

It is a bad law—and, what is worse, it is bad practice. And—for the Republican Party—it is bad politics.

If it is not the intention to create a vacancy on the Commission which may be filled by an interim appointment, then why—and this I ask the Senator from Dauphin—why bring this Bill in at all?

You know that we on the Democratic side of this Senate recognize your Party's right to fill this job. We believe Dick Beamish has been a good Commissioner. We believe his services well merit reappointment—but—we believe also that, under our political system, you have the right to replace him with a man of your choice. We have organized no "save-Beamish brigade." We have erected no blockade to stop you from appointing his successor. All we ask is that you appoint a man with a clean record—a man of good character—a man who will carry out his oath and this Legislature's purpose and regulate the utilities of Pennsylvania so that they do not rob the consumers of this State. In short—a man who will be as fearless and as able as Commissioner Beamish has been—a man in whom his State and his party can take pride.

Is that asking too much of the Republican Party? Are your debts to the utilities too great—are your obligations too involved—are your secret covenants too strict to enable you to face the Senate with the man of your choice?

That is the only conclusion the people of this State can draw from this Bill before us.

They saw two utilities lawyers come openly to the Governor's mansion with the withdrawal of one Republican nominee to the Commission. Will they see—when you pass this Bill—and the Senate has adjourned—two utility lawyers leave the mansion with the appointment of the next nominee?

Has the Republican Party in Pennsylvania utterly turned its back upon the ordinary folks of the State—the farmers, the small business men, the consumers, the people who elected you Senators—and is it serving those interests to which it is in financial debt—in hock? If that is your policy, and when you pass this Bill—the State will know it is your policy, then your destruction is at hand.

You won't have to worry about appointees to the Public Utility Commission—or any other Commission. You won't be here!

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, in my short time in the Senate I have witnessed the introduction of some very peculiar legislation but to my memory this is the first time that a member of the Senate introduced a bill to rip the Senate out.

If some neophyte, some uninitiated member of the party, had introduced this bill and took pride in its authorship, probably I would not be so disappointed, but when I saw this bill bearing the formidable signature of the State leader of the Republican Party affixed, it gave me considerable surprise and some astonishment. I can not understand how a gentleman who has been burnished by contact with actual political facts would permit himself or allow himself to openly present such a thing and subject himself to recrimination and attack.

I should like to say, in a friendly way, Mr. President, that in some of the days when fortune was not smiling quite so brightly on the future of my friend—may I say by friend "Harve?"—because in the days of vilissitude, recently, we were drawn very close together and both of us took great delight in doing a little manicuring of the Governor himself in the restriction of his powers—by the powers vested within us as Senators, and I know he has always been on the floor very considerate, meticulously considerate of the prerogatives of the Senate, so that they would retain in their possession every possible factor to limit the activities of executive bodies. I have heard the gentleman from Dauphin and his colleagues protest vigorously on the floor against bureaucracy and these orders given out by the heads of different departments, and I have heard him protest violently in committee meetings and on the floor here that such powers should not be vested in individuals, such extensive powers, because there was danger of abuse, and because those days of vicissitude sometimes do recur in cycles. In all friendship I want to say to my friend the Senator, in true friendship, that if he recalls back in the days of the Pinchot administration, while he was battling on the right side at that time, this very weapon now that he wants to do away with was a very formidable weapon in curtailing some of the activities of Governor Pinchot in his first and second administrations.

Perhaps the memories of those days may have come back recurrent to the Senator at the present time, but during the last administration when the Senator was not so fortunate in the primaries in picking the right horse in the race and found himself joined with me in a militant minority in the Senate here, we thought, or at least we felt, that we had learned something, we had learned something in the Senate, to retain those little things, even though they were just irritants to impress upon us—the fact that we still exist as an entity in the Senate, and we still do have certain prerogatives to prohibit the actions of somebody who might possibly deny our powers. I realize, with the Senator and some of his colleagues over there, that the scene has changed, a new drama has been enacted here and the Senator has been fortunate, he has been far sighted enough and had sufficient vision in the early primaries to have selected the proper candidate in the Republican primaries, and, therefore, is in a position where he can be associated with the powers that be.

As far as the accusations of Senator Jaspan are concerned, I would say to the Senator, I am sorry, I would not join in the statement that you associated with and were the confidant of so many of these men who lobby around here for the utilities, because I could not conceive of such a rapid transition from, say, a year ago. Of course, I join with him that none of us resent the social implications, but we do resent the political, the serious political implications.

Senator, just as a friend, I want to warn you that the situation might recur in these days of hobgoblins, that all these things that seem to torture a man wielding political power sometimes come back to haunt him, and I will say to you, in conclusion, be careful, Senator, that some morning you do not wake up and find there is another Arthur James in bed with you.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, since our friends on the other side, are through talking about individuals and have not as yet talked on the bill, I want to say there is just one thing in this bill and that is when the term expires of a public service commissioner, he expires with it, and I think that is right; I do not see why he should have any more tenure and I do not see why he should be frozen in as a public service commissioner and, especially, since I am against civil service, I wanted to be the sponsor of this bill.

This bill will not take away any prerogatives from the Senate of Pennsylvania and as far as ripping is concerned, I would like to call attention of the Senators to a former member who voted to rip out the former Public Service Commission, and succeeded in doing it, and in placing this particular individual in, so anything that we have learned in the way of politics we have learned from the other side of the house, as far as ripping is concerned; I think you will all agree to that. I think I am quite sure that the first speaker voted to rip out the Public Service Commission, the Municipal Court in Philadelphia, county boards and innumerable other things he voted to rip out, so we are just following the rule, it seems.

I think this is a good bill. It has one point in it, and that is when a man's term expires you do not freeze him in, and I do not think that Mr. Beamish for a minute would consider being frozen in; if he could not get in on his ability he would not want to be frozen in under any circumstances.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to read to my distinguished friend from Dauphin, Senator Taylor, from an editorial printed in the Pittsburgh Press, dated March 16, 1943, headed "Name a New Man, A Good Man", as follows:

"NAME A NEW MAN, A GOOD MAN

"Governor Martin has withdrawn his nomination of Frank Parker, University of Pennsylvania professor, to be a member of the Public Utility Commission.

"The withdrawal was made gracefully and the Republican majority in the Senate, gracefully, did not dissent.

"Mr. Martin acted properly. The fact that the Governor nominated a man whose qualifications did not meet the specifications for this position is not necessarily a reflection on the Governor. Not if he accepts the proper Senate criticism of his appointment in good spirit and follows up this 'setback' by nominating a new candidate whose fitness for the post will stand up under the severest scrutiny.

"No Governor possibly can bat perfectly every time.

"But the fact that the withdrawal followed a conference with G. Mason Owlett, new president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Assn., and a representative of a big Philadelphia utility tends to sustain the Senate's objection to Prof. Parker.

"Mr. Parker proposed the withdrawal in a letter to the Governor which termed Senate criticism of his qualifications as malicious and partisan.

"If it had been either, and nothing more, there would have been no occasion for withdrawal.

"The Senate, principally Senator Elmer J. Holland, has done its job, as it was elected to do, and as the Constitution directs it to do.

"But there is no ground either for bitterness or gloating.

"The Governor should appoint the best possible candidate he can obtain.

"The occasion for the appointment is the termination of Commissioner Richard J. Beamish's term April 1. Mr. Martin, if possible, should select a new candidate before that date.

"But, if he cannot, the law provides that Mr. Beamish serve until a successor is appointed and confirmed by the Senate. It is not good taste, good politics, good sportsmanship or good business, in the public interest, for the Senate to pass the spite bill introduced by Senator M. Harvey Tayor, Republican chairman. Mr. Taylor's bill would eject Mr. Beamish from office, whether a successor has been named or not.

"The Public Utility Commission is an important agency, affecting huge investments, vital services and nearly every citizen of Pennsylvania. It is essential that its membership be made up of able men, that it constantly have a full complement of active members, that it not be subjected to grudge politics."

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, much has been said about the Taylor bill, and I want the record to show clearly that so far as the Republican members of the Senate are concerned, we certainly are interested in making sure that the end of Mr. Beamish's term is the end of Mr. Beamish on the Public Utility Commission. That certainly is the purpose of the bill, but certainly that does not rip out the power of the Senate.

How do we know, except from the words of Senators who have spoken of their sincerity with regard to appointment of the Governor that no matter what name may be sent over here, the bloodhound who has searched out utility interests may find out that the man uses electric light or water and find some reason for rejecting the nomination of the Governor? The very fact that they can by minority hold up the wishes of the majority of the Senate in confirmation, may result in Mr. Beamish remaining in office, and for that reason the majority of the Senate would be thwarted by a small group because of that confirmation power. Therefore the reason for this bill, as Senator Taylor so ably stated, is to make sure that the end of the term means the end of the term of that man, and that it ended with the end of the term.

This bill does exactly that and it does not rip out the power of the Senate at all.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Gourley,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	Mundy,	Woodring,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PRAYER

Rev. Dennie W. Hoggard, a Member of this House and Pastor of the Mount Carmel Baptist Church, Philadelphia, guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Gracious Father of Heaven, Thou who hath lifted the curtain of darkness and have ushered us into the effulgent glory of this new day, rid our hearts of all sinful thoughts we beseech Thee, and fill us with Thy spirit, that our lives might become a constant exemplification of the principles of the life of Thy son, Christ Jesus.

May Thy spirit rest mightily today upon the elected heads of our government and their constituency, both local and federal. May Thy spirit guide them in these chaotic times in their most weighty deliberations. These men have been chosen by the people for the spiritual and temporal salvation of our nation. By their decisions we live; by their decisions we die. Oh Righteous Father, leave them not alone, guide them every hour. Speed the day when this awful conflict that now rests upon human society, threatening the very foundations of civilization, may be brought to a glorious culmination of peace and good-will for all mankind.

In the name of Jesus, and for His sake, we pray. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. REAGAN, GYGER, ELY, FULLERTON, JONES and STOCKHAM.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

Whereas, Food is of major importance to the prosecution of the war on the battle front and the home front; and

Whereas, Food is essential for our Allies and our occupied territories; and

Whereas, The production of food for 1943 is gravely impaired by shortage of manpower, lack of availability of farm machinery repair parts and insufficient apportionment of fuel to the agencies from which the farmers are accustomed to procure it; and

Whereas, New machinery supplies for 1944 will greatly affect the extent to which farmers will use up their machinery this year; and

Whereas, Decreased farm production, combined with necessary shipments to our Allies and to the inhabitants of our occupied territories and with greatly increased consumption by your armed forces, will lead to domestic food shortage approaching serious proportions that may easily affect our war production centers; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania is America's ninth largest agricultural state, being first in the value of its poultry products, and fourth in dairy products, potatoes, apples and peaches; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania's farm manpower shortage is especially aggravated by the extent and State-wide distribution of its war production industries which draw from farm areas in all sections of the State; and

Whereas, Pennsylvania's producing farms which supply the cities and the military forces are all mechanized; and

Whereas, The great majority of these mechanized farms are dependent upon young, highly skilled workers who have grown up with the mechanization of the farms during the past 20 years and a large number of whom are now in military service; and

Whereas, It would require years of training to replace these young men without whom it is absolutely impossible for Pennsylvania's mechanized farms to maintain their previous production, not to speak of increasing that production; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvavnia respectfully requests Governor Edward Martin to appeal to the President of the United States as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy, to furlough immediately to Pennsylvania farms, the necessary critical skilled farm workers to maintain previous production, and if possible increase it; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor request the President of the United States to use his authority as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to demand that the necessary farm machinery repair parts shall be made available immediately in necessary quantities to the farmers of the State through their accustomed dealers, and that fuel for farm machinery shall be authorized and made available at once in sufficient quantities to farmers through the agencies from which they are accustomed to procure it, without the use of involved forms; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor shall be asked to request the President of the United States to use his authority to demand that sufficient steel shall be allocated in proper time to farm machinery manufacturers to produce the necessary machinery to replace that which will be worn out by all-out use of present machinery during 1943.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

By Mr. STOCKHAM.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 42.

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

On Pennsylvania's soil the First Continental Congress assembled, September 5, 1774, in Carpenter's Hall at Philadelphia, and the Second Continental Congress met in the State House in the same city on May 10, 1775, and on the same soil of Pennsylvania the Colonies declared their Independence on July 4, 1776, in the greatest state paper of human rights ever penned.

In the same Independence Hall on May 14, 1787, a convention authorized by the Continental Congress met for the sole and express purpose of revising the Articles of Confederation, was presided over by General Washington and finished its work on September 17, 1787.

Again in Philadelphia our forefathers corrected the weakness of its federation and bodily created a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

Here on Pennsylvania's soil was born the United States of America.

The Constitution and its Bill of Rights have given to its people, of all bloods and creeds, opportunities that, in a century and a half have made this the happiest, richest and most powerful nation in the world.

The growth of the new nation under the Constitution demonstrates a practical, sane and tried method for further expansion whereby our guarantees can ultimately be extended to all peoples as they have been to the territorial inclusions of Florida, Texas, the Louisiana Purchase, and the Northwest Territory. In this Constitution is the seed for world peace and brotherhood.

Since all these great historic events, that have made these United States a great nation, took place on the soil of this Commonwealth, it is fitting that this General Assembly should initiate a call for a more permanent union of the peoples of the world now involved in a great global struggle.

The League of Nations, the creative dream of a great American President, was planned to this end and to secure freedom to all peoples.

The wish of our citizens to extend to all the nations of the world the blessings that our form of government has given to America, will create in the hearts of all people, the weary and downtrodden, and all belligerents, a hope and a confidence that we of the United States especially need at this time; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this General Assembly hereby requests His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to suggest to the President of the United States and the Federal Congress now assembled, to proceed by proper action in order to assure a just and durable peace, to invite representatives of all free peoples to meet for the purpose of establishing a definite continuing organization to secure and to maintain global peace as a guarantee to all the peoples of the world life, liberty and justice; and be it further

Resolved, That our Governor be further empowered to invite such world deputies, when such a convention be called, to convene in Independence Hall in the City of Philadelphia, by and through the consent of the custodian of that hallowed shrine, to the end that such a World Government may be born here on Pennsylvania's soil.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. FLACK and LIVINGSTONE.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 43.

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

Whereas, Thousands of families have removed from the anthracite coal areas of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order to procure employment and thereby have established permanent residences elsewhere in the United States; and

Whereas, Many large industrial plants have been located and constructed in various communities already overcrowded and lacking in homes and other facilities to accommodate increased population; and

Whereas, Thousands of dwellings, representing investments of many millions of dollars, remain vacant and unoccupied throughout the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Thousands of qualified mechanics with permanent places of residence and investments of real estate in their own community have been unable to obtain employment in the anthracite area, many of whom pursuant to public advertisement tendering employment in other sections of the United States have left their homes and families to seek employment in sections of the country already overcrowded and congested; and

Whereas, the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania afford excellent opportunities and advantages for industrial purposes; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memoralizes the Government of the United States, the President and other duly constituted officers thereof, to take necessary steps in procuring and establishing industries in those sections of Pennsylvania where adequate housing facilities already exist and services of skilled employes may be obtained, particularly in the counties of Luzerne, Lackawanna, Schuylkill, Carbon and Northumberland; and be it further

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the sponsors of the bill, may I ask that the amendments to Sections 3, 4 and 5 be also read, because the debate on the amendments will encompass all the amendments under one subject heading, and we might save a lot of time in that way.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I thought the amendments just read were the amendments to Section 2.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the amendments to sections 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 to be debated at the same time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Amend Sec. 3, page 1, line 8, by inserting after the word "Governor" the following: "with the advice and consent of the Senate".

(p) To prepare a program extending rural electrification throughout the State.

Amend Sec. 7, page 6, line 18, by striking out the letter "(o)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(q)".

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments to section 2?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, to preface the debate on the amendments just offered I should like it to be known that our position is exactly in line with the oft repeated expressions of the Governor, that in the war effort and in the effort to keep America secure after the war there shall be no tinge of politics, but that there shall be only and at all times a spirit of cooperation between all the people, including those in political office.

I am quite in agreement with the desires of the Go ernor, and I think that all the Members of this House a members of both parties are in agreement with the d sires of the Governor, that this commission to set plans for a program after the war shall have been co cluded are desirable, and that nothing should be do to prevent speedy enactment of this legislation and t selection of the commission.

However, Mr. Speaker, an examination of the bill i dicates, at least to myself and to the Members on th side, that there is too much control from one man. should not like to have a commission of this sort co trolled by any one man, no matter who he might be. is my feeling that a commission of this sort should permitted to operate and function independently of a one person, that the commission should be made up persons who will feel free to make their own studies their own way, to present their reports and recommend tions as they see fit and proper for the consideration the adminisration and the Members of both the Hou and the Senate.

As the bill is now set up, it provides for the appoin ment of a chairman or director to be appointed by t Governor, whose compensation is to be fixed by t Governor; it provides for the appointment of an assis ant director by the Governor whose salary, I believe, also to be determined by the Governor, and it provides f the selection of other personnel, down to the lowlie clerk or messenger to be selected by the director wi the approval of the Governor. It seems to me in this wa one man is going to run the commission, and I shou not like to be the one man with that awful responsibilit

The amendments are directly to the point. The Dem cratic party feels that the post-war planning commissi should be made up, first, of persons not representati of labor, industry, education and so forth, because wh you begin to define what it is representative of, you c get very many shades and various kinds of individua who might be "representative of." I think the perso on this commission should represent industry, labo business and agriculture, because then the people wi have their minds at ease that the selections may at lea have the blessings of the potent and major organizatio who run the affairs of business, labor, agriculture a education. There should be that assurance to the publ at large, and there should be no question of any grou having to complain that their particular group is n properly represented.

This commission should be made up of persons repre senting political views of different natures. We have hea for the last eight years, I believe in the nation and i the state, and even down to the boroughs and township that what makes democracy work is our great two par system of government. Let us preserve our great two par system of government. I merely ask for the precauti of providing that the commission's membership shall n be made up of all members of one party, but shall hav members of both parties represented.

Further, I feel that the director of this Commissio an agency which will take its place in importance, if n exceed in importance any other function of this Com monwealth, should have the status and should hav the pay of a cabinet member, because in that way h can enter into definite deliberations on an equal footin with other cabinet members, and he will be prepared to meet as an equal and not as a subordinate many other persons. I think that would mean that a greater feeling of cooperation would be engendered at such meetings.

Then I think, that the director to be selected by the Governor should not be just anyone the Governor selects, because from recent history there possibly was an error made in one of the first important appointments the Governor had to make, and I refer to the lamentable affair of Dr. Parker. I don't know whether the Governor knew anything about Dr. Parker. I am inclined to believe that he did not, because—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Venango will state his point of order.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, are we discussing the amendments to House Bill 522 or Mr. Parker?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will please confine his remarks to the question on the amendments before the House.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I was about to say that the purpose of the amendment, referring to the appointment of the director, should not be a recurrence of some late Pennsylvania history on the matter of appointments, and for that reason my amendment provides that the director, who should be as good as any cabinet officer, and possibly will be more important in the coming years, should be selected with the advice and consent of the Senate, as other important appointments are in this Commonwealth, and that he should be compensated commensurate with the salaries paid to other members of the cabinet.

I also think that the commission ought to go just a little bit farther in its study. I have no quarrel with the listed and enumerated items to which the commission's attention is turned, but I think also, Mr. Speaker, that one of the issues in the coming years, and so recognized by both parties in Washington, is the question of social security.

I have heard it referred to as "seek-your-ocracy," and have heard it talked about as taking care of people from the cradle to the grave, but at least the people in Washington have expressed a desire of receiving the data concerning the securities program and of examining that security program and debating it at length in order to examine whether or not it is a proper program for these United States. Since this bill as drawn does not provide that this commission shall cooperate with all other agencies, both federal, state and local, it seems that their attention should be directed to the study of social security that they may be in position to cooperate with the federal study on the same subject.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that generally we ought to be non-partisan and we ought to be bi-party when talking about post-war planning, because there are as many Democrats almost as there are Republicans in the state. There certainly are as many poor men as there are rich men, where are any number of different groups who may want to be heard, there are many people who would like to be heard, and I think they should be able to come to this postwar planning commission feeling that they have a bi-partisan and a non-partisan organization to which they can bring their stories and their plans.

I feel that once the commission's report comes to a future Legislature, which may or may not contain many of the men who are here today, that the men in that future session, possibly the next—I hope possibly in a special session to be called as soon as the war ends, that the Legislature should not have to start off on the wrong foot and say that your commission was packed to begin with, and we are going to do this job all over again. I think we should start out in a spirit of cooperation, I think we should start out in a spirit of mutual accord; I think we should start out in a spirit of feeling that the work to be done shall not have been in vain when the actual enabling legislation to carry out the proposed program is presented to a future House, maybe a future Governor, that it won't be behind the eight ball to start with, that it will have no tinge of quarrel and quibble and bi-partisan aroma.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I arise in opposition to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen. I believe that the bill attempts in a very few words to do away with the chaos, the chaotic conditions, if you please, that existed at the end of the last World War conflict. The gentleman well knows that the small amount that is to be appropriated, which I realize as well as he does can be changed when it goes to the Appropriation Committee, but in its present form it calls for only two hundred thousand dollars, will only pay the expenses of the commission after it is appointed by the Governor to make recommendations to future Legislatures for post-war planning, for post-war projects, so that our returning veterans and our citizens who are fighting at home at the present time will not feel the economic depression which is bound to come.

I cannot quite agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia when he says that the Governor should not have the appointing power of this alone. I for one, and I am sure my colleagues on this side of the House, have implicit faith in Governor Martin; we are willing to take his choice of appointments to this committee; we know he will do it in a non-partisan manner; we know that the persons he places on this committee will go out and do a good job for the benefit of all the people of Pennsylvania.

I further disagree with the gentleman from Philadelphia when he says that we can do away with bickering on any plan that might be presented to a future session. That would be Utopian, Mr. Speaker, and we all know that is impossible. Whatever plan is brought into future sessions for post-war planning will meet with opposition on the floor of this House. We can't do anything about it now by amending the bill on this floor.

I, therefore, ask the Members of the House to vote down the amendments presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not feel that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia add anything constructive to this measure as it is presented to the floor. I would, therefore, ask the membership to vote "no" on the amendments.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I think that almost everything that can be said at this time about this bill has been said. I think the record should clearly state and should be clearly understood right now that the minority party will support the bill if needs be and must be in its present form, but just as a reminder that the minority, and I have stated it on this floor frequently, is taking the invitation of the Governor to offer suggestions and to discuss possible improvements in the affairs of the state government, and if the Governor is as sincere as the gentleman from Allegheny says he is, and as the gentlemen on the other side want us to believe he is, and as the Governor himself would want us to believe, I do not think the Governor would say that his idea is so perfect that it cannot be improved upon, maybe even slightly. Mr. Speaker, I think that maybe even if they would accept an amendment on one word, I should say that the Governor is beginning to crawl and almost about to take his first toddling steps toward the cooperation that he asked for but seems not to want.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Amend Sec. 8, page 7, lines 12 to 16, by striking out the following: "It shall be the duty of every agency of the" in line 12, and all of lines 13 to 16, both inclusive.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, we must recognize this to be a very, very important piece of legislation. I am in thorough accord of course with the purposes of the bill. The impact that will be upon us at the conclusion of this war will be terrific. It therefore becomes necessary that we set up the type of machinery that will make adequate and full disclosure to the people as to what will be necessary for the post-war period.

However, as important as that work will be, I am very solicitious that we establish no commission, that we set up no board that may become a part of a super-government that may impose its ideas, that may impose its operations upon other functions of our Commonwealth. For that reason, without destroying any of the purposes of the bill, but in order to clarify and chart for this commission a course which I believe every Member of this House would want, I am asking that the sponsors of the bill and the Members of the House delete, as my amendments do, part of line 13 and to line 17 under section 8, page 7 of this bill.

I am thoroughly convinced that the first part of section 8 will accomplish the purposes desired by the sponsors of this bill and those of us who will vote on it. I am convinced also that the language used in the last part of section 8 will confuse the other bureaus and the other boards of this Commonwealth to the extent that we might defeat the very purpose we want to accomplish under this bill.

I say to the Members that no harm is done by the strike out amendments. We are looking to the future to see that this board or any other board will not have the right, will not be given a mandate of superimposing its structure upon the other properly constituted boards and bureaus of our Commonwealth.

I hope the Members will vote for this amendment, merely to clarify and to chart the course of this commission.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I have looked over the amendments of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, and I think they are very fair amendments. I would ask the membership of this House to vote in favor of them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The ninth and tenth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

FORMER PAGE WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House this afternoon Private First Class Donald McCracken, of Camp Blanding, Florida, who was a House page in the 1941 Session. If there is no objection, and the Chair hears none, the Chair would request Mr. McCracken to rise in his place.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 20, entitled:

An Act to amend section three thousand seven hundred nineteen, four thousand four hundred one, and four thousand four hundred two of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by extending civil service provisions to include park guards.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—Third Class for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 57, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred ten of the act approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven, (P. L. 1987), entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health, animal and aquatic life, and for industrial consumption, and recreation; empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution; providing protection of water supply; providing for the jurisdiction of courts, magistrates, aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof; and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters; imposing certain penalties; and repealing certain acts," by including the drainage of silt in the provisions of article three thereof.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, during the 1941 session I introduced a similar bill to House Bill 51, Printer's No. 115 and during this session Mr. Herman and I introduced a similar bill. We feel that the purposes of this bill are excellent ones, and we are in accord with it, and are going to ask the entire membership of the House to support this bill when it comes up for a vote.

However, I understand that this bill is to be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, and it is our desire to bring to the attention of the House at this time the fact that we introduced a bill similar to the one introuced by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner. We also introduced a few others, the purpose of which was to complete a comprehensive plan for giving Pennsylvania a purification of its streams.

I am referring now to House Bill 216, House Bill 218 and House Bill 248, and it is our thought that if the purpose of recommitting this bill is to ask for a public hearing, that it would be to the benefit of the entire membership of the house that we also be permitted to have before us these other bills.

As I stated some weeks ago there was a committee formed at the last special session to study the purification of Pennsylvania's streams, and all of the purposes of those bills of which I have been speaking were brought before that committee.

I know that both major parties in their political campaigning stated that they were for legislation which would purify the streams of Pennsylvania. I trust that the party now in power will carry through with those promises, and the way for them to do it is to have these bills which Mr. Herman and I have introduced brought out on the floor of the House, and then if need be, recommit them for the purpose of a public hearing. These bills are the type of bills that all Pennsylvania needs. Purification of our streams at the present time is a dire need, and I am asking this House to do what it can to get these bills before us, so that they too can come before the public for a hearing.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have this bill proceed through second reading, in accord with the committee agreement, and then recommitted, which will be evidenced by a motion made by the committee chairman. Appropriate action will then be taken in accordance with the committee's agreement.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SERRILL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of a public hearing.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 304, entitled:

An Act to add section six to the act approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 600), entitled "An act providing that appointive officers and employes, employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its civil service, or by any department, bureau, commission, or office thereof, or by any county, municipality, township, or school district, shall not be deemed or held to have resigned or abandoned their offices or employments by reason of enlistment, enrollment, or draft in the military or naval service of the United States or any branch or unit thereof, in time of war or contemplated war; prohibiting the removal from their offices or employments of such officers and employes during the period of their service in the Army or Navy; directing that one-half of the salaries or wages of such officers or employes as have dependent wives, children, or parents, and not exceeding two thousand dollars per annum, be paid during the term of their service in the Army or Navy to such dependents; authorizing the employment during said term of substitutes to perform the duties theretofore performed by such officers or employes, respectively, and providing for the compensation of such substitutes," requiring counties having county employes' retirement systems to make additional payments into the county employes retirement fund.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy (P. L. 1121), entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An Act for the regulation and government of the Lehigh county prison,' approved the sixth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine," by increasing the salaries of prison inspectors in Lehigh County.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 462, entitled:

An Act authorizing in certain cases the renewal of old motor vehicle operators' licenses for persons honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States, or from any women's organization officially connected therewith, without a learners permit, examination, or additional fee, and the temporary suspension of existing laws requiring the same.

The first section was read and agreed to.

Messrs. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. and EWING offered the following amendment to the bill:

Amend bill, page 2, by inserting at the end thereof, the following: "Section 2. Any person while serving in the United States forces as hereinbefore described during any part of the war in which the United States is now engaged and for a period of one year after the termination thereof, who shall have had a Pennsylvania motor vehicle operator's license issued to him or her for the license year in which he or she entered such service or for the license year immediately preceding his or her entrance into such service, shall have the right to operate a motor vehicle on the highways of this Commonwealth without having a renewal of such operator's license for the current year, and without the payment of any fee, provided such person is not physically or mentally incapacitated."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain to the House membership at this time with reference to the amendment which is being inserted, that when this bill was originally prepared, the thought was to allow anyone who entered the armed services who had an operator's license issued to him by the State of Pennsylvania to have the same restored to him after the war and upon his or her return, subsequent to an honorable discharge from the service, provided they had no physical or mental defects appearing on the discharge. It was felt that the bill should be amended to include this particular provision whereby a person home on leave during this war should be entitled to operate their automobile or any automobile if of course, they were not physically or mentally incapacitated. It is for the purpose of allowing these men and women on leave or on furlough, when they come home, to operate on highways of this state that this amendment is being introduced.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 401), page 3, line 15, by striking out the following: "[each year][every two years] each year" and inserting in lieu thereof: "each year".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, are we taking each amendment separately?

The SPEAKER. We are considering amendments as a whole. These are amendments on third reading.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria to explain the bill with the amendments.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the bill with the amendments accomplishes exactly the purpose of the bill as introduced. However, the bill had been amended on previous occasions and there resulted a confusion which leaves certain errors in the bill. The purpose of this amendment is to remove those errors and clarify the intention of the bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the amendment of the gentleman from Cambria to section 1, it would permit the Banking Department to make examinations once a year or at least once a year.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the amendment to section 1 restores the bill to the form in which the act was before the bill was amended.

Mr. SKALE. The bill as originally introduced, Mr. Speaker, would provide for the Banking Examiner or the Banking Department to make the required examinations at least once every two years?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. That is correct.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, is there anything in the title that would indicate that examinations shall be made at least once a year?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will read the title it says, "By requiring the Department of Banking for a limited period of time to examine all institutions thoroughly at least once every two years instead of each year as now provided."

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, therefore, I assume from that that the title does not conform to the contents of the bill.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask in what way it does not conform?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, since the title requires examination at least once every two years instead of each year, as now provided by law.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would answer the gentleman by saying that the original purpose of this bill was to permit the Banking Department to make investigations less frequently than required under the law. At first when the bill was introduced, the main portion of the law was changed to read once every two years instead of every year. Therefore it was decided that it would be better draftsmanship to put in a proviso after the main clause and restore the main clause to its original condition. When you consider the amendments that appear at the end of section 1 they do exactly what the title says, provide that the Banking Department for a limited period of time makes full examinations less than once a year.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that that is not so provided in the title?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, no, I will not agree to that. I think it is.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that the title does not provide for examination at least once each year?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the title of the bill itself, that is, the law being amended, provides first as to how these investigations shall be made. We are now changing that law by providing that in certain instances examinations need not be made that often. I would say that the title of the bill correctly sets forth the purposes of the bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree that the title does not set forth that the examinations shall be made at least once each year?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, it does not and should not, for the reason that the bill does not.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, then I direct the attention of the gentleman to the amendment to section 401 which he has offered, which requires that the Department shall examine all institutions thoroughly at least once each year. Does the title contain that provision?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. No, Mr. Speaker, and neither does the bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I just read to the gentleman from the bill to which he offered an amendment, requiring that the Department shall make examinations at least once each year.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman that he is picking out a phrase, an isolated phrase, which appears in the bill, instead of considering the section as a whole. If he will consider the section as a whole he will find a proviso in there which covers the present situation.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please explain to us the purpose of the amendment providing that the Department of Banking shall not be required to make an examination more than once every two years? What is the purpose of that provision?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, this particular amendment does not require that. This amendment clarifies a previous amendment which through an oversight permitted the words "each year" which appear in the bill to be underscored, and they should not be underscored. Therefore this amendment strikes out the previous amendment which underscores the words "each year" and reinstates the words without the underscoring, for the reason that that is the way the words appear in the law at present.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I understood that, but I am now referring to a proviso in the bill which reads, " Provided, however, that for the duration of the present war and six months thereafter the Department shall not be required to make such examinations more than once every two years." I am asking the gentleman to explain the purpose of such a provision. Why is it that the Department does not wish to be required to make such examinations more than once every two years?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in order to save time and for no other purpose, I would point out that these amendments being offered do not so provide. That is the substance of the bill and it would be properly debated on final passage, but these amendments do not do that. They merely remove the underscoring which improperly appears in the bill in its present form.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman to explain the purpose of the bill. This is one of the things contained in the bill in its present form.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the reason I hesitated to do that is because that is in the substance of the bill and is not in the amendments. I am perfectly willing to go on and explain that on third reading and final passage if the gentleman wishes it, but the time and place is not here.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman refuse to answer the question?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, no, I think I've indicated my position in that I think it is not properly debatable at this point.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Cambria raising a point of order?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I am doing it in a delicate sort of way so as not to give that impression.

Mr. SKALE. Mr Speaker, is the gentleman able to explain the bill?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please explain to the House the reason or the purpose intended to be accomplished by this amendment and by this bill?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, what does the gentleman mean, by this bill or by this amendment?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, by this bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, is not discussing the amendments before the House.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia know what the amendments are?

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the amendments to sections 1 and two. The Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, have been discussing the amendments. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman from Cambria whether or not he would explain the provisions in the bill and the purpose of the bill which reads, "Provided, however, for the duration of the present war and six months months thereafter, the Department shall not be required to make such examinations more than once every two years." I would like to know the reason for that provision.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will permit me to preface my response by repeating that such a question does not properly come under debate of the amendments, I will go ahead and discuss the bill in full.

I will say to the gentleman that the purpose of this bill primarily was to relieve a shortage of manpower which the Department found. They were positively unable to get sufficient examiners, qualified and competent men to carry out the requirements of investigating at least once every year. Therefore it was thought that if they could be relieved of the duty of examining every institution at least once every year, they could pass over certain institutions which have been in a definitely sound condition and have an extremely good record, in order to devote more time to an investigation of those institutions which are financially shaky, and that it would further serve the best interests of the people of the state and the Department of Banking to have them put the full investigation on the institutions which needed it most rather than try to do a half-job on all institutions.

Mr. SKALE. Was such a report made to the gentleman from Cambria County, Mr. Rose, by the Banking Department?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, not directly. It came to me as a member of a group that discussed it. It was represented by a member of the Assembly that such was the wish of the Department.

Mr. SKALE. I thank the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

Mr. Speaker, no doubt you have gathered by this time that as to this bill in its form and the amendments to be offered, so far as the first amendment is concerned, I am assuring you that I do not have any objections. That is a proper amendment because it restores this bill to its original form, which requires the Banking Department to make examinations at least once each year. But insofar as the bill is concerned as a whole, it is bad, because I can recall in the late twenties when we were reading in the newspapers of men entrusted with the funds of building and loan associations, and banking institutions who were arrested and charged with embezzlement and fraudulent conversion, and as a result of that condition the Act of 1933 was passed, containing a provision that examinations shall be made at least once each year. Now, under the guise of a war-time measure, we are trying to restore conditions in Pennsylvania to the way they existed prior to 1933. We are making it possible by this type of legislation to permit persons who are trustees of the people's money to convert them to their own uses and to embezzle public funds. Now, if that is the type of legislation that you want, if you want to give carte blanche authority to persons who are, shall I say, not entirely straight, but who might be tempted because they handle large amounts of public monies, if you want to give those people carte blanche authority to embezzle public funds, then I say to you vote for this type of legislation. But on the other hand, we who are elected here are representatives of our people back home who have monies invested in these institutions.

We have to see that these institutions are properly protected. We have a Banking Department and a Building and Loan Division to see to it, and if we are going to remove the duty imposed upon this Banking Department to make examinations, then we are breaking our faith and our trust with the people who sent us here.

The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, said that the Banking Department is short of help. If that be so, let the head of the Banking Department come to me, and I am sure that I can give him sufficient competent help to meet the shortage of man power which he says exists in his Department. There are plenty of people who are willing to do this kind of work, who are ready, willing and able to do it, and if the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, is sincere, and I think he is, and if the head of the Banking Department is sincere in his complaint, then I say to him let him come here and we will give him the man power.

I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, that as far as the first amendment is concerned, it is all right, we can approve that, but the bill as a whole would be bad legislation.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to answer this gentleman but not at this time. I think the proper time to make such an answer would be when the bill is up for final passage and not in considering the amendments.

I urge the support of the membership of the House for these amendments.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I have been listening quite attentively to the debate between the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, and I would like to know what the present law is concerning the examination of banks.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the present law is that the investigation must be made at least once a year.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I take it from the gentleman's amendment that it changes the proposed act back from two years to one year?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. That is not correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, what does the gentleman's amendment do?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been previously amended to restore this particular phrase to one year. However, through error the underscoring was permitted to remain under the words "each year." That underscoring should not be there. My amendment merely remove the underscore.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria said that the present law required the Banking Department to examine banks at least once a year. If this law also required the Banking Department to examine banks once a year, why do we need this amendment? Why can we not recommit the bill and leave the law stand as it is?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, because the gentleman has made the same incorrect approach to the subject as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale. The body of the bill in full makes an exception during war emergency. The bill as it stands does that. My amendment merely removes the underscoring which is there incorrectly.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Cambria believe that it is necessary to do this?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if we are to proceed with legislation in compliance with the rules and the form in which bills are to be printed and laws are to be printed, then I think it is necessary.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, I merely wish to say that I have tried to follow his logic. It seems to me that this bill as amended would not change the existing law of the Commonwealth or try to do so. I think, Mr. Speaker, that what should be done in this case is to have the bill recommitted to the Committee on Banking and let the law stand as it is.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I again repeat that the only purpose of this amendment is to correct an error in the way the bill is printed. After the bill is printed properly and the mistakes taken out, we can consider the merits of the bill and I will do so gladly at the time it is up for final passage.

Mr. Speaker, I again urge the Members to approve the amendments so that the bill can be properly drawn and be clear.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I want to know from the gentleman from Cambria whether in the amended bill it makes it mandatory upon the Banking Department of the state of Pennsylvania to examine each and every bank under its supervision at least once every two years, and that there is nothing in this bill that prohibits the Banking Department from examining any bank once a month, if it deems it wise?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has stated the proposition correctly. I wanted to bring that up later rather than at this time. I was anxious to confine the debate as closely as possible to my amendments. The gentleman is exactly correct in what he says.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

NAYS—1

Auker.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 258, as follows:

An Act to validate certain acknowledgments and to regulate the affect thereof

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 All acknowledgments of written instruments made and certified in the manner and form in general use in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prior to the act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 490) are hereby validated and all such instruments in writing so acknowledged and certified may be offered in evidence without further proof and if such instrument so acknowledged and certified conveys or relates to or concerns any interest in lands it may be recorded in the recorder's office of the county or counties where such lands lie and the record of same made before or after the passage of this act shall be constructive notice of all matters contained therein and such record or exemplification of same duly certified shall be legal evidence in all cases in which the original would be competent evidence

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I am always sort of dubious about a short bill, and I would like to have the sponsor of this bill explain it.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver County, Mr. Rowley, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROWLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I only ask that the sponsor explain the bill.

Mr. ROWLEY. Mr. Speaker, there was a general acknowledgment act passed in 1941 and it seemed to be the general consensus of opinion that under that act acknowledgments could be made in the old form in general use prior to the effective date of the act, or that they could be made under the provisions of the act of 1941. However, it seems that considerable question has been raised by certain lawyers and title companies raising the question that acknowledgments must be made under the act of 1941, except certain corporate acknowledgments, and the passage of this act is to validate any acknowledgments which may have been made under the custom prevailing prior to 1941 so as to remove any doubt in the minds of anyone as to the effect of any acknowledgments made between 1941 and the effective date of this act.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Montgomery please inform the House where he is going to get this land?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, we are going to get this land, I hope, from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I thought the gentleman was going to take it away from the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, perhaps it might be of assistance to the Members of the House, including several friends on the other side who frequently arise to ask that measures be explained to them, to say that this is merely a grant by the state of Pennsylvania to the borough of Norristown of approximately fifteen acres of land which will be added to a very beautiful park system which we now have in the borough of Norristown. It consists of bottom ground through which a creek runs, and, which we intend to make quite a few substantial improvements. I am sure that those who read the bill are in favor of it because it provides that in the event this land is not used for park purposes it will immediately revert to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I urge all, including those from my neighboring counties of Philadelphia, to come out and enjoy the wonderful park system which we will have if the gentlemen of this House permit this vital adjunct to our recreational system.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery Mr. Brunner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I apologize for being somewhat inattentive, but may I ask what kind of ground was it the gentleman spoke about?

Mr CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, bottom. May I add that there is no silt there otherwise I would call it "black bottom."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Hunter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Delaware tell me for what reason he feels there is a necessity for this commission or board?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, the real estate brokers have been working ever since the origination of this act under an advisory committee. They have been doing considerable work along that line helping out the Bureau of Construction. It has been sanctioned by the Bureau of Construction that this now be created into a board to help and assist them in their work, so that this matter will be handled entirely by the Board in the future, when the act is passed. We feel that the brokers have been doing considerable work in policing and also in helping out in examinations of brokers and salesmen. The Administration feels, or the Bureau rather feels that the brokers themselves know more about what are the requirements in examinations than the bureau would know when it comes to the taking of examinations of salesmen and brokers.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman why he feels that the brokers or the board should now appoint the commission? Why should they not be appointed by the Governor?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, the board will be appointed by the Governor.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, why does the gentleman from Delaware confine it to the persons who are members of the association that are appointed to this board or commission?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, that is what it has been working under at the present time, under the advisory committee. It is just changing the name of the advisory committee to a board. That is the only change. In other words, it will help to cut down the expense of operation of that department.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman to explain the duties of this real estate board?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, the duties of the board are composed of examinations and also policing and carrying on such functions as are necessary pertaining to the running of a board. We have nothing at all to do as far as the bill is concerned in the matter of any of the work pertaining to the bureau. That is up to the bureau to take care of that end of it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is it true that if a member of that real estate bureau is not a member of the association he could not be appointed?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Oh, no, Mr. Speaker, that is not the case. It is open to any broker who is eligible under the act, if he has been in the brokerage business for ten years.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is it not true he must have the recommendation of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Board?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman feel he would be considered if he was not a member of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Board?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that he would.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, under the gentleman's bill how could he be?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, there are possibly ten names picked out. Of course if anybody wants to propose some broker who is eligible for that, he has that privilege.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, who presents those names, who selects the men?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, would it be possible that we could use a little influence on having them select someone we wanted?

Mr. WILLIAM M. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, well, there is a possibility.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, not very good, though.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARGE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and fellow statesmen, for the past several weeks the Members of this House have been entertained and regaled by the vascilating, valorous and vigorous vaudevillian performance staged by the various Members from Philadelphia. In fact we have been regaled so much that some of the rural Members have wished that the great city of Philadelphia might be annexed to the state of New Jersey.

You have listened with a great deal of patience to the rigorous rantings of the loquacious, lugubrious and lucubrating Mr. Levy, the boy orator from Philadelphia, and to the rejuvenating repartee by the capable and original old Senator from Philadelphia.

And so my friends I fancy that you would perhaps relish a touch of something not quite so pedantic or erudite. Therefore, I call your attention to the remarks made on the floor of this House last week by the able, alert and astute Mr. Alspach from Lancaster when he said that when he desired a name for his new-born son, he perused the Legislative Directory and therein he found six men by the great name of David. And so he decided to give him the name David.

Certainly gentlemen, the gentleman from Lancaster displayed uncanny judgment, unimpeachable eruditeness and impeccable intelligence when he decided to name his boy David.

Mr. Speaker, can you conceive of the joy he must have felt when he scanned that list and decided to name his boy after David Denman, that scholarly attorney from Westmoreland; for David Weiss, the wise attorney from Westmoreland, and for David Livingstone, the reliable printer from Luzerne. What pleasure he must have felt when he found that he had the privilege of naming his boy after David Boies, that honest and trustworthy dentist from Allegheny? Also for the silent and salubrious barrister from Dauphin, David Reese. Also what delectable delight he must have felt when he scanned that Directory still farther and found it was his great privilege to name his boy after the sage, mark you, after the sage from Lebanon County, the county where the little star of Republicanism never sets but shines brilliantly forever, the county and the city, gentlemen, that is mentioned more often in the Bible than any other town, the county which has more cabinet members per square mile than any other county in this great Commonwealth.

Certainly gentlemen, you will agree that the able, alert and astute Mr. Alspach displayed uncanny judgment, unimpeachable eruditeness and impeccable intelligence when he decided to name his boy David, and as a reward for his good judgment and in appreciation of the honor bestowed on us six members of the House and on behalf of these Members and the members of the Bible Belt, I now present to David Alspach this small token, autographed by the six Members and the members of the Bible Belt, with our best wishes for success and happiness. I thank you, gentlemen.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Lebanon in elucidating some famous things that Lebanon County is noted for forgot to mention that Lebanon is famous throughout the state of Pennsylvania for its bologna, not only, Mr. Speaker, the hot air type, but the kind that comes in cases. I thank you.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, in behalf of my son David, who is about three weeks old, I would like to express my appreciation, or should I say our appreciation for the fine gift from the Davids in the House at Harrisburg. I notice there are stamps, war stamps, and I think that is a mighty fine thing. I see also that there is lots of space for me to fill out. I think this is a mighty fine thing.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. COHEN. Does the gentleman from Lancaster express the opinion that we fill the rest of the book?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, the point is well taken. I think it would be a good idea.

I was very much dazzled by the oratory of my colleague from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, and just as soon as I can, I am going to get a copy of his remarks, so when I am pacing the floor between the hours of two or three o'clock a. m., I am going to practice on my son some of those long words such as loquaciousness and lugubrious and a few other things which twist my tongue.

Seriously though I do appreciate this present on behalf of myself and my son and your fine testimonial and fine token. I am certain that when he arrives at the age of understanding, that one of the oustanding things he will remember is how his old man told him how the Members of the House at Harrisburg in 1943 gave him his first start in War Bonds. I thank you, gentlemen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. PETTIT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, you are aware or most of you are that I was a Member of this House during the session of 1941-1942.

At that time there was a glaring need for legislation to help the school teachers of this state, particularly fourth class district teachers.

During that session a bill was introduced by the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

Naturally this bill was referred to the Committee on Education.

At about the same time a bill was introduced by my former colleague, Mr. Polen and myself.

Now it happened that the men on the Educational Committee being men of great learning, could readily see the merits of my bill and likewise the weakness of the bill presented by the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

The bill introduced by Mr. Dix required that teachers' salaries be raised to one thousand dollars with four increments of one hundred dollars each.

My bill likewise required that the salaries of fourth class districts be raised to one thousand dollars with four increments of one hundred dollars.

The gentleman from Wayne has repeatedly stated on this floor that the Democrats stole his bill and on two or three occasions specifically stated that I stole his bill.

Gentlemen, there was a vast difference between the bill introduced by Mr. Dix and the one presented by Mr. Polen and myself.

The bill introduced by Mr. Dix would have made it necessary for school boards to finance the increase in salary and you know and I know that a number of school districts were unable to pay the then existing salaries, and if this bill had been passed many teachers would not have benefited and considerable embarrassment would have been caused the school boards.

On the other hand my bill required both the increases and the increments be paid by the state, thereby making it possible for the teachers in distressed districts to benefit immediately with no additional burden being placed upon local school boards.

On last Wednesday the gentleman from Wayne introduced another bill, mentioning the fact that the Democrats stole his last bill. Now it is my opinion that the gentleman from Wayne is not afraid the Democrats will steal his bill, neither is he afraid that some Republican Member will steal his bill, but gentleman from Wayne trembles lest someone introduce a better bill permitting his bill to rest peacefully in Committee.

However if the bill introduced last Wednesday by the gentleman from Wayne is the best bill presented to the Members of this House I will give it my support without reservation.

During the last session, two Republican Senators, one Republican Member of this House my former colleague and myself were appointed on a special committee to compromise on our bill to meet the approval of the Governor at that time. As far as helping teachers during that period the Governor was "the little man who wasn't there" as he insisted that he would veto any bill for an increase of more than one thousand dollars. Does our new Governor expect to follow in his footsteps?

After several attempts and late on a Saturday evening this Committee finally received the O. K. from the Governor that he would accept only two fifty dollar increments.

This small concession made by the Governor was in part due to the fact that the entire membership of this special Committee pleaded for the essential increments.

Members of this House there is today a glaring need for long term legislation and if it is not enacted, whereby the school teachers of this state are given a salary commensurate with the requirements demanded of them by the state and communities, then we are permitting our first line of defense on the home front to deteriorate.

Gentlemen we must act and act speedily. Neither this House, the Senate, nor the Governor can ever atone for failure to fulfill our most urgent duty which now confronts us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DIX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Pettit, referred to me numerous times during his recent address, and I would just like to make some remarks as a sort of protection to my own record. When I presented the bill for an increase of teachers' salaries the intention of that bill was to have the state pay the increments, and I so stated when I was in the Reference Bureau at that time, but for some reason or other that was not added. It was my intention if the bill was brought out to have it amended.

On the other hand, when I charged the Democrats with stealing my bill two years ago, I might also equally say that the Republicans this year did nothing at all until I rose in the House last week and presented a bill that would give the teachers an increase of fifteen per cent as a flat rate. The next day Governor Martin came out in a statement in which he advocated an increase in salaries for the teachers, and the newspapers of the state carried data relative to a bill which Chairman Sollenberger had proposed to introduce here Monday, so I might well add that while the Republicans have not actually stolen my bill, it certainly seems strange that the day after I spoke in favor of the teachers and the day after I advocated a fifteen per cent increase they come out with a bill which is very much along similar lines.

If the Legislature had seen fit to take care of the bill which I presented two years ago, which would have increased the increment of the teachers of fourth class districts a reasonable amount, there would not have been a demand or a call at this time for an increase in salary, and we wouldn't have to come in here, I believe, to raise the teachers' salaries, because the great need for the increase is among the fourth class districts.

I could go on for some length of time speaking on the merits of my bill, and I believe that I have a more reasonable and a fairer bill than the Republicans have introduced, for the simple reason that this bill gives all teachers the same increase and you know that the teacher who earns fifteen hundred dollars a year eats just as much and wears just as much as those who get fifteen thousand dollars. That is why I considered my bill a fairer one than to give some teachers two hundred dollars or one hundred dollars and others fifty dollars.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FREED asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am one of the three members from Lehigh County, who I believe has had more mail than all the rest of them put together on the matter of these school teachers. I am quite sure that this side of the House is going to give the school teachers something that they will be satisfied with after we are through with it, but I would like to make a little recommendation to the Educational Committee. I have had these letters, and I have looked at all of them, but I had one outstanding one that I think should be made part of an amendment or in whatever way they see fit to take care of it. I would like to read that part into the record:

> Honorable Tilghman A. Freed,
> House of Representatives,
> Harrisburg, Pa.
> Honorable Sir:
> I trust you will recognize the value of the Public Schools and of Public School Teachers to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by passing some legislation which will add to their incomes during this time of increased cost of loving.

I think we should take care of that before we get through with making up this legislation. I thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in the confusion of the session here today, in passing over bills, due to the fact that we do not have enough members present, Senate Bill No. 202 was put through by a sneaker, so that very few of us knew the bill was put through.

I want to go on record as opposing the bill. I believe in being consistent. I do not believe that a man representing the utilities should be on the Public Utility Commission; neither do I believe that an official of a manufacturing company or a representative of a labor union should be on the Labor Relations Commission, and I would like it to be so noted on the Journal, that I would have voted "no" on this bill if it had not been due to the confusion, due to lack of membership and due to the fact that we were passing over all important bills, that this bill slipped through.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The remarks of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, will be noted on the Journal. However, the vote taken on Senate Bill No. 202 shows that there were 35 members present and voting on this bill. The roll was called and the vote taken as indicated.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have absolutely no objection to the gentleman from Allegheny having noted on the Journal that he was in opposition to this bill, and I join with him with regard to confusion, but I think there should be one thing made clear on the record, and that is that at the time the session was opened this morning there was a quorum present in the Senate, there was a quorum present when we took up consideration of the Calendar, there was a quorum present when Senate Bill No. 202 was called up for action by the Chair and there is a quorum present in the Senate at the present time.

I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that there was confusion, and I am sorry he did not get an opportunity to express his opinion and his view on the bill when it was before the Senate, but I do not want the impression created in the record that there was not a quorum present or that there is not a quorum present at the present time.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, when the roll was called on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 202, there was a great deal of confusion around my desk and I did not realize Senate Bill No. 202 was up for action.

As the roll has been called and the result of the vote announced, I would like to now state my objection to this bill, I also desire the record to show that I would have voted "no".

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, if the sponsor has no objection I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 234, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend or further amend the title and sections one and three of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 645), entitled "An act making it unlawful for any individuals to carry on or conduct any business under an assumed or fictitious name, style, or designation, unless upon the filing of a certificate to that effect in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and of the prothonotary; requiring county commissioners, at the expense of the county, to provide books for the entry of such certificates; fixing the fees of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and prothonotary; and providing penalties," extending the provisions thereof to corporations and prescribing penalties.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 235, on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure to issue temporary permits to doctors of medicine legally licensed in other states to practice medicine and surgery in this State under certain conditions for a limited period of time.

be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ST. PATRICK

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, as apparently the green Irish do not desire to extoll the virtues of St. Patrick's day, it may be left to a gentleman who is partly of Northern Irish ancestry to say something about St. Patrick, so here is a little verse on St. Patrick that originated in my mind last night:

ST. PATRICK

St. Patrick was a great old man,
I've often heard them say;
He ruled the roost in Ireland
For many a happy day;
He taught them all religion
And he taught them all to pray,
But the fact we best remember is—
He chased the snakes away
Some say he wasn't Irish,
But was just a good old Scot
But as for me I'm thinking
That is just a lot of rot,
For I've never seen a Scotsman
In all the bloody lot
Who in any part of Erin
Could occupy a spot.
But let's forget past history
And ponder still today
Upon the mighty mighty man
Who chased those snakes away.
And every bloody Mick of us
And every A. P. A.
Start in aprayin' unto God
To hear our prayer today.
For in the world in which we live,
Some snakes there are just now
Of which we soon must rid the Earth
And this I think is how;
Oh, Lord, Send back St. Patrick,
Oh, Send him back to us
To rid this Earth of Serpents
Who are raising all the fuss.
Give Pat a big Shillelah
And let him just wade in,
He'll sure clean up on Hitler, Tojo, and Mussolin!
Just as he did in days agone
Our Pat will do today;
He'll chase those dirty serpents
Beneath the deep blue say.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 1:15 o'clock.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask permission to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have in my hand a copy of Senate Bill No. 177, which bears the notation that I reported this bill, as amended, from committee. I want to say that the Legislative Journal is correct. The Legislative Journal shows that Senator Carr reported this bill from committee, but that the printer has made a mistake and shows me as having reported this bill from committee. I am not a member of the Committee on Labor and Industry. I was in 1941. I think probably I was too good a friend of labor and therefore I did not make that committee this year.

The PESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The remarks of the Senator from Allegheny will be noted on the Journal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, when Senate Bill No. 202 was reported to the Senate the first time it was reported out by me, with the intention and advice of the Committee of Labor and Industry that a public hearing would be held on the bill and that after second reading the bill was to be returned to committee and it was my impression a public hearing would be held on this bill. It is very surprising to me that this bill has passed the Senate without a public hearing having been held, which it was started in the Committee would be held on Senate Bill No. 202.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Cumberland will proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not a member of the Committee of Labor and Industry but I have been informed by the chairman that he asked that Senate Bill No. 202 be returned to that committee for the purpose of hearing complaints from two or three different individuals and I understand from the chairman that that was done, that the bill was returned to the committee and then re-reported to the Senate.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 17, 1943

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Everlasting God, for all who have witnessed a good confession for Thy glory and the welfare of the world; patriarchs, prophets, saints and apostles; the wise of every land and nation; and all teachers of mankind, we praise Thee and bless Thy name. Today we would especially honor Saint Patrick who left a rich deposit of spiritual values in the lives of millions. We thank Thee, O God, for his life, ministry and abiding Christian influence. Grant, O Lord, that the words of the prayer that he prayed, "My Breastplate", may increasingly become a reality in our lives.

"Christ be with me, Christ be within me,
Christ behind me, Christ before me,
Christ beside me, Christ to win me,
Christ to comfort and restore me,
Christ beneath me, Christ above me,
Christ in quiet, Christ in danger,
Christ in hearts of all that love me,
Christ in mouth of friend and stranger."

Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MOSER and MURRAY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 44.

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

After the discovery of the Philippine Archipelago four hundred years ago by Ferdinand Magellan, and until 1898 the islands were held and ruled by Spain.

Following the sinking of the Maine in February, 1898, the declaration of war against Spain and the taking of Manila by Admiral Dewey, the Spanish Government ceased therein and was succeeded by United States Military Rule.

In June, 1898, the Philippines proclaimed their independence with Aguinaldo as President, and within less than a year which was marked by increased hostility toward the United States, the Eatolos Constitution was proclaimed declaring the Philippines a Republic.

On the night of February 4th, 1899, the inevitable conflict between the Americans and the Filipinos was precipitated and Aguinaldo declared war on the United States resulting in a struggle which was not terminated until the capture of Aguinaldo by General Frederick Funston, two years later.

Many of the American soldiers who participated in quelling the Philippine insurrection and bringing peace to the islands and their inhabitants and delivering them from starvation, are alive today and are deeply interested in the freedom of the natives and their full and complete independence, which under the terms of the Tydings-McDuffie Act is scheduled to occur in 1945.

The seizure of the islands by Japan will not interfere with the realization of that dream by the Filipinos, for before the day fixed in 1945 for their independence the Japs will have been driven from the Islands and the loyal natives will be better equipped than before to take their place among the free peoples of the world.

Nothing could better serve to mark this epochal event than to have the men who delivered those islands from slavery in 1899 return as Ambassadors of Good Will to the new nation for whose existence they will in great measure have been responsible; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to take such measures as may be necessary to furnish free transportation on United States warships or other vessels to and from the Philippines as soon after the cessation of present hostilities as is possible to all those men who formed a part of the expeditionary force that made possible the freedom of the Filipinos and the creation of the new Republic of the Philippines; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, in speaking for his amendment to this bill informed the House that there was a shortage of manpower in the examination division of the Banking Department. I should like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, knows how many bank examiners have been lost in the past year?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, this is a Senate Bill; it is not my bill. I have discussed the matter with the Senator, and he did not give me figures, —and it didn't occur to me to ask for them, but they were faced with a proposition in the Banking Department that "we just cannot get the men; we are losing men." I cannot tell the gentleman whether it is one or ten or twenty.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know if the gentleman from Cambria is familiar enough with bank examinations to know whether or not women could be used to make examinations?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would say that women have the ability and mentality to do this work, and they might even be superior in a number of instances, but they are very rarely trained in this work. I am given to understand that they cannot get anybody: they have searched, and they would take women too, no doubt, if they could get them.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, it seems that every time a bill is taken up by the Members of the House there is some effort used to bring the war effort into the bill. I believe, and I think the Members of the House also believe that it is just as important to see that the depositors of the banking institutions of Pennsylvania are protected during war time as it is during peace time. I further believe, Mr. Speaker, that in war times when the banks are more liberal in making loans because of the fact that there is much more income in Pennsylvania, the banks should be examined more frequently than in peace time.

I was an examiner in the banking department from 1936 to 1939. I took part in the examination of many banking institutions in Pennsylvania, more particularly Philadelphia, and I say to you that it does not necessarily mean that a man must be a genius to be a bank examiner; it doesn't mean that a man has to have a lot of training to be a bank examiner, because when banks are examined by the Banking Department, one or two men, after the material is compiled determine whether or not the bank is in good and solvent position. Many of the men who are examined for the Banking Department merely compile figures. They go to the adding machines and take off the balance on the demand ledgers and the time ledgers. It seems to me that we could very easily get girls to do this a whole lot cheaper than we can get men. Further I would like to say this, that in our war industries, when the men went into the service, the war industries didn't say to the people of Pennsylvania, we will turn out only half the number of airplanes, we will only turn out half the number of shells, we will only turn out half the number of tanks. They went out and produced even more than they could produce with manpower by getting women to do this work in the war industries.

I think if the Secretary of Banking of Pennsylvania will give to the women of Pennsylvania an opportunity to become bank examiners he will find that they will be just as competent, and the people of Pennsylvania will be even more protected than they now are by having examinations once a year.

I therefore ask the members on both sides of the House to consider this bill very carefully and remember that the depositors in the banking institutions in Pennsylvania must be protected just as much in war times as in peace times.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, I might say that while the gentleman was talking I inquired and I was told that the Banking Department lost sixteen examiners during the past two years. Incidentally, the Banking Department must still pay half of their salary.

There is a further manpower problem in this situation because of the fact that the federal government pays a much higher salary and also has its examiners under civil service, so that it is a much more attractive position, and they go into the federal government under civil service willingly and more quickly than they will take a position in Pennsylvania. I might also say that this is not a way of tacking something on the war problem, this is directly the result of the war, the increased use of accounting men in the various administrative departments. The OPA and others are draining off the men, and they are not available to the state for their work.

The principal answer, it seems to me on this whole problem is the fact that this bill does not prohibit the Banking Department from making examinations more than once every two years. It does not say that you must make examinations once every two years instead of once every year. The Banking Department can at present, and will be able to under this bill, go in once a month if they feel that any institution is in such condition that they need a monthly inspection. The only thing this bill does is to permit the Banking Department to withhold some of their examinations where they feel it is not necessary and where they are faced with a situation that they do not have enough men to do it, and apply them where they are needed most. This is no danger to the deposits of the taxpayers under our deposit insurance.

Therefore, I say again that this bill is necessary because of the war effort, and deserves the support of the entire House. It should not be political, because I notice in the Senate that some Senators on the Democratic side spoke in favor of the bill, and I therefore urge the entire membership to vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he is familiar with the qualifications of bank examiners?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. No, Mr. Speaker, I am not, other than just in the normal course of business knowledge, that he would have to be trained for his work. I have talked to them from time to time and found them well qualified men with a full grasp of the situation, and they know their problem, so they must be well trained.

Mr. SKALE. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, what are the salaries paid to bank examiners?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I am given to understand, Mr. Speaker, that they range from eighteen hundred dollars to three thousand dollars.

Mr. SKALE. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he knows whether this is the reason for the sixteen or eighteen men leaving that left the department?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. This is not the reason, Mr. Speaker. Those men entered the service.

Mr. SKALE. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he made inquiry of the head of the Banking Department whether if a competent and qualified person were submitted for a position as bank examiner that person would be hired?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I didn't ask him that. It is not necessary to ask him that. Naturally if a man should present himself and is qualified and they are looking for men they will take him.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I might ask that if a qualified person ever submitted himself, if he would have to present the endorsement of the Republican organization, or whether any person irrespective of political affiliation, would be accepted?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. The answer to that is very easily made, Mr. Speaker. Regardless of any machinery that the gentleman has in mind as to how a position is acquired, if a man presented himself and is qualified, I cannot believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia believes that the Republican party would cut off its own nose and hamper its own work by refusing to take a man because he was on the Democratic side.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman expressing his own personal opinion or what the Department would do under such circumstances?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I am expressing what seems to me to be a perfectly obvious fact.

Mr. SKALE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker I think we all recognize by this time that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, is placed in the unpleasant position of attempting to defend a very poor bill.

I do not rise in opposition to this piece of legislation or any type of legislation merely for the purpose of opposing it, and for the same reason I do not rise to support any legislation merely for the purpose of supporting legislation. When I take a stand on any type of legislation I do so because I think it is good or bad, and I follow my convictions, and I will say to you members that that is the way we should look at legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that some friends of St. Patrick have walked in a little late for the earlier celebration.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, has the floor.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'BRIEN?

Mr. SKALE. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I will, I will always yield to a friend of St. Patrick.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman yields and the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I admit being a friendly son of St. Patrick.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, as I was saying, when I consider legislation I consider it from the viewpoint of whether it is good or bad for the people of Pennsylvania. Now, you gentlemen were in the hall of this House yesterday when I interrogated the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, and no doubt you got an idea of what I was driving at from my questions on interrogation. I wanted the gentleman to find out by the time we came here for a final vote on this bill certain information from the head of the Banking Department so that we could have the benefit of that information.

Today we do not know any more from the Banking Department than we did yesterday or before the bill came over here. The gentleman replied to the interrogation with opinions of his own. Gentleman, you have read this bill. If you have listened attentively to the remarks I made yesterday you will note that this bill at the beginning is the same as the present law, namely that the Banking Department is required to make an examination at least once a year. I have no quarrel with that; I think that is good and that was written into the law for specific reasons which I will soon relate to you.

However, the provision, the amending provision in this bill takes away the effect of that examination once a year by providing that the examination may be made once every two years. Of course, as the gentleman from Cambria pointed out, the Banking Department may examine every month, but, gentlemen, let us be logical, let us be reasonable, if the Banking Department is asking for examinations once every two years because it says it does not have enough men, how can anyone stand here and say that they can examine every month when they find it necessary?

This law was enacted in 1933 because of the existing conditions which made it necessary for examinations to be made once a year. You will recall the conditions existing prior to 1933, when officials of building and loan associations and banking institutions were arrested and convicted for embezzlement and conversion of public funds because the Banking Department hadn't been making sufficient and frequent examinations of the affairs of those institutions. Those men who were handling the funds were tempted because they thought that they could not be found out or that they might be able to speculate with that money and make enough to restore the money which they had taken before the Banking Department came in to examine the books.

Gentlemen, do you want it said that you are restoring Pennsylvania to those days? Do want it said that you want those conditions to come back again to Pennsylvania? Why, only a few weeks ago in the state of New Jersey a man was convicted of embezzlement of public funds because he said the Banking Department, or the equivalent in that state, had not made frequent examinations, and he, this embezzler, this convicted embezzler, recommended to the Legislature of that state that examinations be made at least once a year, because that would remove the temptation from the persons who are intrusted with public funds.

The men who guard those funds are trustees of those funds the same as we are trustees of the rights of our people that we represent in these halls. We have no right to violate the privilege which they gave us to come up here to represent them properly. I say to you men, if legislation of this type is supported we are violating our trust. This is poor legislation. If the Banking Department wants more men, all they have to do is ask me, and I will supply them one man in every county. They lost eighteen men, I believe. I can give them sixty-seven men. I say to you, gentleman, this is not a matter of politics, this is a matter of good government; this is a matter of protecting the people back home. We should oppose this bill, we should not permit legislation of this type on our books.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I want to answer a personal point. In the first place I do not like to have it said that I am placed in the embarrassing position of defending bad legislation. If I have any apologies to make, I prefer to make them myself. This is not bad legislation in my opinion and in fact in my opinion we are merely legislating to correct an unfortunate condition that has arisen due to the war, and any legislation that helps the administration of the State government is certainly no unpleasant task for me. In the second place I want to point out that the depositors do not lose in the way the gentleman would have you believe, because they are protected first of all by the federal deposit insurance, and secondly if some men embezzled funds, they are covered by bonds and the money is lost, not by the depositors but by the bonding company.

I again say that this is necessary legislation in order to allow the Banking Department to make examinations as they see they must be made, and to permit them in the case of very sound institutions to pass over unnecessary examinations in order to examine those that are in much more shaky condition. I again urge support of this bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think now the cat has been let out of the bag. The gentleman says that because the banks are protected by federal deposit insurance and by bonding companies it is all right for these people to go ahead and be placed in the position to do what this bill puts them in a position to do. I think that is the answer.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak on this particular piece of legislation, and I would like for a few minutes to give you the good points and then I would like also to give you its dangers. I will not ask anyone to vote for or against the bill.

I think every Member of this House has the perfect right to be acquainted with this very important piece of legislation, which effects every town and every city in the state of Pennsylvania. The Banking Department of the state of Pennsylvania has always been held very jealously in the very highest non-partisan position. It has been an honor both under the Republican administration and under the Democratic administration to the great state of Pennsylvania. We have had in the past many admirable men as Secretary of Banking. I realize that in the past few years the Secretary of Banking has had a very difficult time in securing men of honor, men of integrity to go into the financial institutions of this state and make examinations of the assets and the resources of the banks.

As far as the government's guarantee of deposits is concerned, the limit on that guarantee is now five thousand dollars. Many depositors in banks have greatly in excess of that particular amount of money. It is our duty as representatives of the people to pass legislation that will secure stronger, if possible, laws affecting the banks of the state of Pennsylvania.

There is one particular objection that I see to this piece of legislation, and I want to recount that particular objection so that you may ponder it before you cast your vote. I go into a small city where there are two state banks, one on the east side of the main street and one on the west side of the main street. The one on the east side possibly comes under that preferred list of banks that may not have to be examined except once in every two years. The bank on the other side is a borderline institution.

The Secretary of Banking may feel called upon to protect the depositors and to examine that bank maybe once every six months. This particular village may not be a large city. The people of this city are acquainted with the law that we are about to pass. They notice that the one institution is examined only once in two years. They notice that the other institution is examined maybe every four months. That brings to the minds of the depositors of the banks in that partciular city a suspicion that that bank on the one side of the street, being examined every four months or every six months, is not a healthy place in which to deposit their money. Gradually through that underground channel a little run is caused on that particular bank, and you know the result. That bank will fold, and its doors will close. I think, my friends, that this is a serious piece of legislation

I know that the Banking Department of this state at the present time, has an examination for those applicants who wish to become examiners. I also know personally that no question is asked as to their political affiliation. That is never taken into account in the Banking Department of the great state of Pennsylvania. They are looking for efficient, honorable men for bank examiners.

So with those few remarks to guide you on your vote, I still maintain that this is a questionable piece of legislation, and I hope and pray in the state of Pennsylvania it does not defeat the very purpose for which it is intended.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 310, as follows:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2772) entitled "An act to require certain records of oil and gas wells drilled in the Commonwealth showing the location of the same and the geologic formations encountered therein and to make copies of such records available upon payment of prescribed fees and providing fees and penalties" creating a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the Topographic and Geologic Survey Fund providing for the transfer of certain moneys into said fund by the Department of Internal Affairs and making an appropriation thereof

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2772) entitled "An act to require certain records of oil and gas wells drilled in the Commonwealth showing the location of the same and the geologic formations encountered therein and to make copies of such records available upon payment of prescribed fees and providing fees and penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 All such reports shall be certified by one of the owners of said well or a duly designated official in case of a corporate owner to be true and correct to the best of his or her knowledge and belief and shall be accompanied by a filing fee of five dollars payable to the Department of Internal Affairs which fee shall be used for the copying filing preserving and mapping of said records and preparing forms for such records and for providing containers and transpoprtation and storage facilities for samples when requested of well owners and for the mapping locations of said wells

The Department of Internal Affairs shall prepare and make available forms for the purpose of furnishing said records to the department at a fee of not to exceed five cents per copy

The Department of Internal Affairs shall file and preserve all such records for a period of at least twenty years from the date received

All moneys now in the Department of Internal Affairs to the credit of the Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey and all moneys hereafter collected by such department under the provisions of this act shall be deposited in a special fund in the State Treasury which is hereby created and which shall be known as the Topographic and Geologic Survey Fund As much of said money from time to time in said fund as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Internal Affairs for the proper conduct of its work in carrying out the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Wagner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KENNETH H. WAGNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform the House exactly what this bill does?

Mr. KENNETH H. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, in 1937, P. L. 570, there was passed an Act of the General Assembly creating certain laws relative to the Department of Internal Affairs in connection with mapping and keeping records of the drilling of oil and gas wells in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and there were set up in that act certain specific fees that were to be collected by the Department. That act is silent with regard to the specific method of procedure in which the distribution or the expenditure of those fees are to be handled. The purpose of this amendment, as this act calls for today, is to transfer this money from the custody of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, to the hands of the State Treasurer, creating a fund to be known as the Geological Survey Fund and allowing the Secretary to use this fund or the money in this fund for the purpose as specified in the act of 1937. I might say for the information of the members of the House that there are now $2740.50, which has been collected, and the money is now on deposit in the Capitol Bank and Trust Company in Harrisburg and cannot be expended because the act does not provide for the expenditure or the use of the money.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman then say that this bill corrects a defect in the act of 1937?

Mr. KENNETH H. WAGNER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to vote for this bill. It is very apparent that it simply corrects a defect in the existing law, and that it is a proper bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. DUFFY and HERSCH offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1943.

Whereas, Although March 17th is chiefly celebrated by Irishmen and others as St. Patrick's Day, nevertheless some few individuals have a more personal cause for observing this date; and

Whereas, Our fellow-member, Benjamin Boory, is one of this select group, for March 17th also marks his birthday; and

Whereas, Even apart from this vicarious distinction, Benjamin Boory's birthday is worthy of note; and

Whereas, Although the color "green" is traditionally linked with March 17th, it has no applicability to Benjamin Boory, for he has, this early in his first term, well acclimated himself as a member of this House; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulates the Honorable Benjamin Boory on this, his birthday, and wishes him many happy returns of the day; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Boory.

Mr. DILLON. Mr. Speaker, I think that calls for a speech from our fellow member.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boory.

Mr. BOORY. Mr. Speaker, I just want to thank the Members for this resolution, which I did not expect. Thank you.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. COHEN on behalf of Mr. CULLEN offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1943.

Born on St. Patrick's Day on Green Street in the Dutch town of Reading our fellow-member Herman M. Modell is today thirty-seven years of age.

The years have dealt kindly with Herman and he has come far for one of so few years but life here at Harrisburg for one who has not been sobered by wedded life may make a change in him.

After graduating from the University of Pennsylvania he finished a law course at Harvard which alone accounts for his accent.

He is Chairman of the 46th Ward Democratic Committee which accounts for his presence as a Member of this House.

When not legislating here in Harrisburg the Honorable Herman M. Modell is practicing law in the City of Philadelphia; therefore be it

Resolved, That we his colleagues in this the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extend to the Honorable Herman our most joyful felicitations and wish for him many many happy returns of this day, and we assure our Honorable colleague that if there is any other way in which he desires to celebrate the day or if he wishes to more fittingly show his joy we will gladly join him at any accessible place; and be it further

Resolved, That in further evidence of our desire to be of assistance in the proper marking of this glorious day we direct the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit a copy of this resolution to our fellow-member, the Honorable Herman M. Modell.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the sponsor and the Members of the House for their good wishes, and I want to say that this morning when I had the pleasure of being the guest of the Speaker at one of his breakfasts, I received the usual gift which I understand is given to a member of the House who attends one of those breakfasts on his birthday, a new, crisp green dollar bill, Mr. Speaker, I am now waiting for the presentation of one of those nice green flowers which you have on your rostrum. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will grant the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell and send him one of these beautiful flowers, with the wish for many, many happy returns and many more years of happiness.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Boory, will also receive a flower if he will present himself at the rostrum.

Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien want a flower, too?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, as I interrogated the gentleman at breakfast this morning I still do not understand how these fellows could be born on St. Patrick's Day without being named Patrick.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is curious too.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, to say that he received a new crisp one dollar bill this morning at the Speaker's breakfast, on his birthday?

The SPEAKER. He so stated.

Mr. COOPER. May I invite the Speaker's attention to the fact that on February 24 I attended the Speaker's breakfast on my birthday and I haven't received the dollar bill yet.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Incidentally, Mr. Speaker, I may say that my birthday was February 24 too, and I wasn't even invited to the Speaker's breakfast that day.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Costa.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Costa, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COSTA. I will, Mr. Speaker, but not as Mr. O'Costa.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. O'Costa, whether his mother came from Ireland.

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would leave the "O" off I would be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman refuses to be interrogated as O'Costa. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, how about McCosta then?

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I refuse to answer as McCosta.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman refuses to answer.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, how about as Italiano, will Mr. Costa permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman's mother come from Ireland?

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 35

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 35, Printer's No. 123.

The Resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1943.

The scarcity of farm labor is threatening the production of food stuffs necessary to the successful prosecution of the war.

The greater need of the armed forces for the youth of this Nation has deprived the farm of the labor required to seed and plant and cultivate and harvest the crops required to feed the Nation and our allies.

There are now confined in concentration camps throughout the Nation thousands of strong and capable men whose help on the farm at this time would be of inestimable help in producing the food that will be so much needed during the months that lie ahead. These men are the conscientious objectors whose scruples against war have kept them out of military service. Their strength and their abilities are being wasted.

To put these men and their wasted time and strength at work on the farms of the Nation would not only assist in the production of food, but might keep more certain their pride and self-respect. It might produce farmer patriots instead of soldier or sailor heroes; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation as will be necessary to authorize the use of all conscientious objectors on the farms of the Nation for the purpose of increasing the production of crops essential to the needs of the people of the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Senate, and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Representatives and Senators from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States

On the question,

Will the House adopt the Resolution?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Kennedy, will allow his resolution to go over until Monday.

Mr. KENNEDY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

RESOLUTION POSTPONED

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STOCKHAM asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have had quite a celebration today in memory of that great saint of Ireland, St. Patrick, and some days ago you appointed a committee to arrange for the biennial dinner that is always held by this body in celebration of that grand saint.

I have been asked by that committee to make certain reference to a dinner which will be held Tuesday night, March 23, at the Penn-Harris Hotel at eight o'clock. This reference has to do with a group which is here designated as holding tickets for sale. That committee is composed mostly of men whose names would indicate Irish ancestry, but along with these names there occur two, one the name of Bretherick and another the name of Stockham. Each of those names indicate their English extraction. which brings to my mind the story of a police officer at 46th and Broadway in New York City, by the name of Callahan.

The traffic light turned red. A big limousine with a liveried driver stopped short. Back of it was a little Ford. This Ford squeaked and rattled and came to a sudden stop and banged into the limousine. Officer Callahan walked up to the driver of the little Ford and he said.

"What are you trying to do, running into this fine, big car? What is your number?"

He took his number and said, "What is your name?"

Then the little fellow in the Ford car spoke up and said "Callahan."

"Oh, Callahan," said the officer.

Then he went up to the chauffeur of the limousine and said, "What in the hell are you doing, backing up into this poor little fellow in the Ford?"

So there may be a great deal in a name but these men have tickets for sale to those of you who choose to buy them. I trust that many of you will invite your friends and make this a complete success. The names are: Mr. McAtee, Mr. Bretherick, Mr. Moran, Mr. Corrigan, Mr. Goodwin, and your humble servant. We have tickets at our desks and we offer them to you for sale. We trust that you will avail yourselves of this convenience and call on these six members of the House for the tickets to the dinner next Tuesday evening. I thank you.

THANKS EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. The Speaker coming to the rostrum this morning found two beautiful bouquets. The Speaker does not know who presented these flowers, but does know they are very beautiful. The Speaker wishes to thank the donor or donors, whoever they may be.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, who by Thy wisdom and power ruleth over all, and through whom all just laws are enacted and administered, grant to the members of the Senate Thy Holy Spirit to lead them in their deliberations at this time. May the result of their labors encourage among all people of this Commonwealth that respect for virtue and true religion which makes for righteousness. May the light of divine wisdom illumine them and be manifest in all laws framed for the government of the State.

Whenever possible may they employ their talents and authority to assist every good cause and to overcome every man or agency that in any way injures or handicaps the bodies and souls of our brother-men.

In whatever way they can may the Senators, under Thy direction, work for the recovery of world peace, and the establishment of justice and liberty to all.

We commend to Thy mercy all our fellow citizens in all the States, all soldiers and sailors at home or afar off, all men and women working to restore liberty and peace to a distracted world.

For our President, our Governor and our Lieutenant-Governor we pray that the mantle of Thy protection be over them and Thy strength and wisdom be fully theirs.

In the name of the Lord and Savior of all. Amen.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO HAVE EDITORIAL PRINTED IN LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the Legislative Journal an editorial entitled "One Bad Proposal," which appeared in the Oil City Derrick, Saturday, March 20, 1943.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Permission is granted.

"ONE BAD PROPOSAL

"The oil men of northwestern Pennsylvania are loud in their condemnation of a bill introduced in the state senate. This bill proposes to tear up the 20th congressional district after years of endeavor to get all the oil-producing counties of this section of the state into one district for the effect this unity would have in presenting the oil men's side to the various departments and bureaus in Washington.

"Washington now controls the oil industry. Power of life or death for this industry is vested in the government. The Pennsylvania output is small compared with the whole, but the figure which it cuts in the lubricating field is of prime importance to the country, and certainly to Pennsylvania.

"There are over 80,000 oil wells in Pennsylvania. They produce about 20,000,000 barrels a year. Although the output of the so-called Pennsylvania fields is less than 3 per cent of the total production these wells still produce the crude which supplies approximately one-third the motor oil consumed in the land.

"Oil is one of Pennsylvania's great industries, but it is difficult to make either the state or the national government aware of this. It furnishes employment to thousands of men and brings hundreds of millions of dollars into the state every year. It is an industry which needs informed and intelligent public support.

"This industry needs capable congressional representation. Just now it is suffering severely because the ceiling for crude has been fixed at depression prices, notwithstanding the fact that the costs of labor and material have increased greatly. America and her allies in this war need Pennsylvania's oil, and Pennsylvania crude needs an increase of at least 50 cents a barrel if the industry is to give its best efforts to the war.

"For these reasons the proposal to break up this oil-producing congressional district is bad business and bad politics. Senate bill 272 has been introduced presumably to correct the congressional reapportionment effected two years ago. Let it be corrected some other way. The oil regions are well satisfied with that reapportionment. For the first time it grouped the Pennsylvania industry into one congressional entity. It divorced Mercer county, which is steel, and added McKean, largest oil-producing county in the state, to Venango, Warren, Forest, Clarion and Elk. To round out the district it added Cameron and Potter counties.

"Senate bill 272 would break up this combination. Instead of the 20th this would be the 19th district, with McKean, Potter and Cameron eliminated and Mercer again included. The business men and the voters of this district as it now stands are bitterly opposed to this proposal. They have every reason to be.

"Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, author of this bill, is an able and fair-minded member of the upper house, but he is not aware of the danger to the oil industry of Pennsylvania inherent in this bill. Protests directed to him will receive careful and courteous attention. They should be written or wired to him, care of the senate, Harrisburg, immediately so they will be before him next week.

"Mc Kean county is particularly incensed over the proposal, and this editorial is written at the instigation of one of its leading citizens engaged in the oil industry. The 20th congressional district is satisfied with its present make-up. It wants to be let alone."

MEETING OF FEDERAL RELATIONS COMMITTEE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, through an oversight there has been no mention made of an important meeting in the Senate Chamber tomorrow morning at ten o'clock and, if there is no objection, I simply wish to call the attention of the Senate to this meeting to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. I particularly urge all members of the Committee on Federal Relations to be present.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McQUIDDY. Mr. President, I desire to address the Senate briefly.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lawrence will proceed.

Mr. McQUIDDY. Mr. President, I am just in a little bit of a quandary. Tomorrow there are meetings of two important committees; I happen to be on both of them, and I am wondering how we are going to attend both of these meetings at the same time, Labor and Industry and Federal Relations. Possibly the good doctor from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, could answer the question.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, we all know what a busy day Tuesday is and there is bound to be overlapping. All I can say is that my meeting is a great deal more important than the meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. McQUIDDY. I beg to differ with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. President. I am very serious, but I cannot attend both meetings, I cannot put both hands in two places at one time and therefore I will have to be with the Committee of Labor and Industry, because I feel that is far more important to the people of the State of Pennsylvania than the resolution of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. BOWERS, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 22, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, March 29, 1943, at four o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, March 29, 1943, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1379) entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners providing for their salaries payable by the county abolishing existing boards defining the powers and duties of such board regulating the assessment of persons property and occupations for county borough town township school and poor purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors a solicitor engineers and clerks providing for their compensation payable by such counties abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessors so far as the making of assessments and valuations for taxation is concerned and providing for the acceptance of this act by cities" by removing the limitation placed on the salary received by subordinate assessors

Section 1 Section four of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1379) entitled "An act creating in counties of the third class a board for the assessment and revision of taxes providing for the appointment of the members of such board by the county commissioners providing for their salaries payable by the county abolishing existing boards defining the powers and duties of such board regulating the assessment of persons property and occupations for county borough town township school and poor purposes authorizing the appointment of subordinate assessors a solicitor engineers and clerks providing for their compensation payable by such counties abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessors so far as the making of assessments and valuations for taxation is concerned and providing for the acceptance of this act by cities" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 The said board shall divide the county into convenient districts which it may change as occasion may require and shall appoint subordinate assessors for said districts The subordinate assessors shall receive such compensation as the salary board shall fix [not exceeding two thousand dollars per annum] which salaries shall be paid out of the county treasury The said board shall also have the right to appoint an engineer or engineers and such clerks at such salaries as the salary board of the county may allow for the proper discharge of the duties of said board which salaries shall be paid out of the county treasury

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, maybe I am wrong, but as I understand this bill, it takes the limit off entirely—there will be no limit whatsoever contained in the law—and if that is true I think we are opening up the door to something that might be serious.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland desire to interrogate somebody?

Mr. DENT. The gentleman from Luzerne, Mr Jones, heard the assertion made. If I am wrong, I would like to have him correct me.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to make uniform salaries of all officials in court houses in Luzerne County and in other counties of the third class. At the present time salary boards in third class counties set, fixes the salary that each individual is entitled to.

This bill expects to provide that sub-assessors, who are of the employes of the county, shall have their salaries fixed by the same board. There are in Luzerne County perhaps 600 employes whose salaries are fixed by the salary board. There are 52 who are limited in their salaries under the Act of 1931, which fixes the salaries of sub-assessors.

The general county act which regulates the fixing of salaries for all office holders provides that the salary board shall fix the salaries. The act of 1931, relating to assessment on properties, provides that the salary board shall fix the salaries, but limits the amount it may fix for sub-assessors. The county act has no limitations.

The county of Luzerne has appropriated money for the payment of a fifteen per cent increase to all employes in the county offices, and although the appropriation applies to all employes excepting sub-assessors, the sub-assessors are affected by taxes, by the victory tax and by social security and other taxes, similarly with all other employes, and therefore they should have the same treatment and the same application in the fixing of their salaries as the county act provides for all other employes.

I hope, Mr. President, that I have answered the question of the gentleman from Westmoreland and that he understands it. If he does not I will be glad to answer any further point he may have.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Luzerne, but I still say I do not care whether the salary board fixes the salary or the county fixes it, what you are doing by this bill is to remove the limitation on the salaries of sub-assessors.

Mr. JONES. That is entirely correct, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. That is all I want to know. I do not care who sets the salaries, Mr. President. I am not opposed to the salary board setting them, but I believe it is wrong to lift limitations from the salaries and give to the county board an open door to raise salaries for any man it wants to. The Legislature very wisely fixed salaries for sub-assessors at $2,000, but inasmuch as regular assessors receive $3,000 or $3,600, I think sub-assessors would be rather well paid at a salary of $2,000 a year. Most of our sub-assessors are paid on a per diem basis of $6 a day plus traveling expenses and so forth, and I do not believe we ought to lift the restriction imposed by the legislature.

Therefore I intend to vote "no".

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

Section 2 The members of the commission now in office shall continue as such until the expiration of their respective terms Any vacancies that may happen prior to the expiration of such terms shall be filled by the Governor for the balance of the unexpired term

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, this is a ripper bill, pure and simple. Since 1907 second class cities have had a Civil Service Commission appointed by the mayor. In the City of Pittsburgh we probably had during that period twenty-five years with Republican mayors, and there was no change in the bill. We have had nine years with Democratic mayors in the City of Pittsburgh and now there is a movement here in the Legislature to rip out the mayor, so far as appointing a Civil Service Commission in the City of Pittsburgh is concerned.

We have nine Republican judges in Allegheny County and seven Democratic Common Pleas judges. A number of those judges live outside of the City of Pittsburgh and ought not to have any right to tell the people of Pittsburgh how to run their government.

The people of Pittsburgh elected their mayor and they elected their council. The entire county of Allegheny elected the judges. From my inquiries the Common Pleas judges do not want this bill passed. We have been behind in the Common Pleas courts of Allegheny County for a great many years. We have from two to six outside judges all the time sitting in our courts, to help out our local judges in their duties.

Mr. President, here is a duty that in the first place I do not think belongs to the judges. I think a judge ought to confine his duties to his court and to court work, and I say to you the more we throw on the judges, the more appointive offices outside their regular line of work, the worse it is for the judges and the worse it is for the community.

What is the occasion for this bill? Why is it brought up at this time? I am asking the sponsor of the bill if he will explain if he has any fault to find with a single member of the commission. I defy him or anybody else in Pittsburgh, or any place else, to point to a single unfair decision or a wrong decision, that the Civil Service Board has made in the City of Pittsburgh during its term.

Several months ago the council of the City of Pittsburgh found that they could not get material on account of the war and priorities, and therefore they had to take over a hundred employes, who were not under civil service, from the payroll. There were some engineers and stenographers in certain departments where there was absolutely no work to do; because they could not get material there was not a thing to do.

Then thirty civil service employes were taken from the payroll and as I said the other day, on the other civil service bill, I am convinced that civil service employes become more or less indifferent and careless, indifferent to their duties as citizens back in their own communities.

When these thirty civil service employes had nothing to do, there was no work for them, they were taken off the payroll and every one of them appealed. The other one hundred employes that were not under civil service—and here is a good illustration of the difference between a civil service employe and a non-civil service employe—these one hundred employes that were not under civil service never said a word, they took the decision of council, of the people elected to run the City of Pittsburgh, to look after the interests of the taxpayers, they took that decision and rushed out and found work in other industries, war industries, but the civil service boys and girls, thirty of them, every one of them, took an appeal and defied council for knocking them off the payroll.

The councilmen would not have been true to their oaths of office if they had kept thirty civil service employes on the backs of the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh, when there was no work for them, but, lo and behold you, that did not make any difference to the civil service employes. He has got the idea and she has got the idea that they are put on there for life, that they are on the backs of the taxpayers for life and they ought to stay there whether there is any work for them to do or not. That is un-American, Mr. President, it is wrong.

I can not see why it is better for sixteen judges to pick out three commissioners, rather than the mayor of the city. Those sixteen judges are busy, they have got their minds on legal work and that is what they were elected for. The people of Pittsburgh elect their mayor and their council to run their city government and to look after their employes. Judges were never elected for that purpose and therefore I ask you to vote against this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I appreciate all the things that my distinguished colleague from Allegheny County says about dereliction of duty of civil service employes. It is extremely unfortunate that at this time there is a division of thought as to where the responsibility for the appointments to this commission should be placed. Perhaps if all of the judges in Allegheny County were of the Democratic political faith, or if, perhaps, the mayor was of the Republican faith, this question would be a lot easier for the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, and myself to determine, because then we could discuss it without getting politics involved.

The question narrows down merely to this in the City of Pittsburgh, the School Board for the City of Pittsburgh is appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, and I think that everyone will agree that they have done a fairly decent job up to this time, and those same judges, some of whom come from Pittsburgh and some of whom come from Allegheny County, who are outside the municipality of the City of Pittsburgh, all pass on the qualifications of the prospective members of the City of Pittsburgh Board of Education, so that the analogy is somewhat poorly drawn.

The question presented by the gentleman from Allegheny, of course, is very interesting as to what prompts a bill of this type at this time. What he recounted, of course, is fundamentally true, there were quite a number of employes of the City of Pittsburgh who were discharged at the beginning of the year, and a number have filed appeals. It is interesting to note the comment made by the gentleman from Allegheny about the hundred employes who did not have civil service protection—of course they did not—the rule, of course, applies every time in a case of that kind, when the ward chairman says, "I want this man removed," he is removed. There was no distinction made between the one hundred employes who were not under civil service and the thirty who were under civil service, they were all fired, and the gentleman from Allegheny suggests that it was because of lack of appropriations.

It is an unfortunate condition, perhaps it is just one of those things that happen, but we had an election back in Allegheny County in 1942, and it is an amazing thing that out of those 130 employes who were discharged, so many of them were city employes who felt that they had civil service protection and they were entitled to act as citizens of the city and of the county and of the Commonwealth, and they followed the dictates of their consciences and their own reasoning as to whether they would back the Republican or the Democratic nominees, and it is amazing how many of those 130 employes happened to be fellows who decided that they would back the Republican ticket, and, of course, now the appropriation by council does not cover them and therefore they are let out.

In my own senatorial district I happen to represent four city wards in the City of Pittsburgh. I would say that the population of those four wards totals approximately a hundred thousand people, and a number of those people are employes of the City of Pittsburgh and some of them—and I am very grateful for their assistance—some of them went out and campaigned for me for reelection and when the budget was reduced by council, by an amazing coincidence they were numbered among those who were let out. Of course, that may only be coincidence and that had nothing at all to do with it.

Since this bill was introduced, I have had quite a number of people, still employed by the City of Pittsburgh, who are still in essence affected by civil service, who have come to me and complained because they are confident that this civil service procedure in the City of Pittsburgh does not protect them, because they are at the mercy or the whim or caprice of the ward leaders.

I am not entirely ready to say, Mr. President, that I agree wholeheartedly with my colleague from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, on his viewpoint on civil service employes, as to their efficiency in their jobs. I merely want to say this, that the members of the Civil Service Board, who are also subject to the whim and caprice of the mayor, will have a much better opportunity to do a much better job if the Court of Common Pleas appoints them and removes them as far as possible from politics, because they have functioned very well, and I think the employes of the City of Pittsburgh are entitled to every opportunity.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, has suggested that all they have to do is to go out into industry and get other jobs. Many of those men have served in their present jobs for years in the City of Pittsburgh, they have built up a lot of service priority in the City Employe's Retirement Fund and in their seniority, and they lose all of that when they go out to seek a job in private industry. All during the lean years they have clung tenaciously to their jobs, trying to build up those retirement privileges, and when they are thrown out of those jobs for political purposes, of course, the functions of the Civil Service Act fall. I think this will improve civil service in the City of Pittsburgh.

Again I say to you, gentlemen, I appreciate the fact that my colleague from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, is not in favor of civil service, no matter who appoints the board, but this will strengthen civil service in the City of Pittsburgh.

I think this is a good bill.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, referred to the fact that the city functioned for years under Republican administration and has functioned for the last nine years, I think he figured it was, under Democratic administration. May I say to the gentleman that regardless of which political party happens to control the mayor for the moment, it is immaterial. The point is it is bad to have a Civil Service Commission subject to the political whims of a party that may for the moment be in control of the City of Pittsburgh. The very essence of civil service is to remove it from any political influence and we feel that this bill will help do it.

The gentleman also suggested that this was a ripper bill. It might be compared with one of those delayed fuse bills—it is a delayed ripper—because in 1946 it takes effect. I would like to say to my distinguished colleague from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, that a number of Republican leaders in Allegheny County view this bill with just as much alarm as he does, because they have high hopes that come 1946 we will have a Republican mayor and this commission would be appointed by a Republican and I say to him that is one of the reasons why this bill ought to go through, so that it will remove the commission entirely from political appointment.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I detect a faint trace of insincerity in this bill and I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, ought to admit it. As he originally drew the bill, which is on every member's desk, you will see he was not so concerned about the court appointing these commissioners, he had the Governor appoint them—dear John Walker, the prize man of the Senate for Home rule.

Then, as an attorney, I think he should draw the bill just a little bit better. I notice that he has the court appointing them and then, if there is a vacancy, he has the Governor fill the vacancy, as shown on Page 3 of the bill.

Last week the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, said he did not think this bill applied to the City of Scranton. I have a case in my hand here, which I am going to give to the Journal clerk—I am not going to take the time of the Senate to read it, but it states that it definitely does involve the City of Scranton. There is just a little wonderment in my mind why Senator Walker would not talk to the President Judge of the Common Pleas Court about this bill, when he happens to live in the same borough.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, has the gentleman from Allegheny talked to his friend and neighbor, the President Judge of the Common Pleas Court, Judge Rowand, a Republican from his borough.

Mr. WALKER. I have not, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I think, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Allegheny might call on Judge Rowand and get his views, because I happen to know what they are. My colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, has mentioned that a number of those employes campaigned for him, who were fired by the City of Pittsburgh when council cut the budget. Could the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, name one of those employes

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that when he and I discussed this bill before the Civic Club in Allegheny County, he asked for those names and I said I certainly would not give those names to the Secretary of the Democratic County Committee of Allegheny County.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, did not the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, in front of the Civic Club also tell the members of the Civic Club that these terms were staggered, that is, the members of the Commission.

Mr. WALKER. I do not recall whether I made that statement or not, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I do recall, Mr. President. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, did state that they were staggered. I have read the bill and they are not. In other words, Mr. President, every four years the judges of the Common Pleas Court have to appoint a new civil service commission.

I should like to further interrogate my colleague from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Is the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, acquainted with the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. WALKER. I beg your pardon?

Mr. BARR. I say, Mr. President, is my colleague from Allegheny acquainted with the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission in the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I inquire whether Dr. McKay is the Chairman?

Mr. BARR. He is, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President, I know Dr. McKay. I at one time was a student of his.

Mr. BARR. All right, Mr. President, the gentleman has answered the question. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, know what official position Dr. McKay holds with the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. WALKER. I have not the faintest idea, Mr. President; I know he was on the faculty.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, for the information of my colleague from Allegheny, Dr. McKay happens to be head of the Economics Department at the University of Pittsburgh and he also was a teacher of my colleague, Senator Walker.

Mr. WALKER. And a good instructor, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Does my colleague from Allegheny know who are the other two members of the Commission?

Mr. WALKER. I have not the faintest idea who the other two are.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think before the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, introduce a bill like this, he should get acquainted with the members of the commission he is trying to rip out.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this is not a question of personalities, it is a question of good government.

Mr. BARR. I like the way he bows his head, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President—

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox.

Mr. WALKER. I am sorry, Mr. President. I was asking for recognition.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would be very happy to yield to the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Walker. As a matter of fact, I would value very highly any additional comments he may have to make on this bill.

Mr. WALKER. That is very kind of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox. I will try not to stick my chin out.

Mr. President, I want to just correct one impression. I never like to argue medicine with a doctor and I never like to argue law with one who is not a member of the legal profession.

Our distinguished colleague from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, very kindly handed me a letter from the City Solicitor of the City of Scranton, in which he says "This will acknowledge receipt of Senate Bill No. 149. A copy of the act which you sent me, in my opinion, will not affect the City of Scranton." I would like to give that letter to Senator Barr; he can file a brief with the solicitor of the City of Scranton.

Mr. COX. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it was interesting to me to hear the comment of Senator Walker in his reply to Senator McGinnis to the effect that, perhaps, if a majority of the judges of the Common Pleas Courts of Allegheny County were Democrats, that Senator McGinnis might not object to this bill. I may say in answer to the gentleman that perhaps if the mayor of the City of Pittsburgh was a Republican there would not be any bill.

I have been looking forward anxiously to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny. This is his case, and he is pleading it. He has alleged that he is attempting to help civil service employes of the city of Pittsburgh, and yet I noted with interest that he has refused, not only here but in other public appearances which he has made, to give the name of one person oppressed by the Civil Service Commission of the City of Pittsburgh. I cannot understand that attitude.

This bill is a direct reflection on the integrity of the members of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Pittsburgh. The chairman of that commission, Doctor McKay, is the head of the Department of Economics of the University of Pittsburgh who, as Senator Walker, has said, was a former teacher of the Senator. William Driscoll, another member of the board, and a person whom Senator Walker seems not to know, formerly was Collector of Internal Revenue of the City of Pitstburgh. Anthony Lucas, Republican member of the commission, is a lawyer, a graduate of Michigan, and is the third member. The Senator from Allegheny, Senator Walker, has not made one statement indicting the actvities of these men or their failure to perform the duties for which they were appointed.

It is interesting to note the history of ciivl service legislation in this Senate since I have been a member. I can recall civil service bills which were introduced in 1941 which had the effect of placing under civil service certain employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I do not recall the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, ever rising to his feet and defending the position that the Governor of Pennsylvania should not have the right to discharge civil service employes for the good of the service.

Obviously if we have civil service we cannot have civil service with a loophole which provides that one man, whether he be the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or any other person in the Commonwealth, shall have the right to discharge any one regardless of reason and, obviously, the only reason why the Governor would wish to exercise that right would be for political purposes.

I look back to 1941, and I find the Civil Service Act which was passed to give civil service to police in boroughs and townships, and I recall that that bill provided that the councils of the various municipalities had the right of appointing the Civil Service Commission. There was no attempt made in that act to delegate that power to the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County or any other county.

Only last week a fine bill, introduced by Senator Geltz, passed this Senate and I do not recall that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, introduced any amendments or said anything about having the judges of the Common Pleas Courts of Allegheny County determining the membership of that Civil Service Commission. The commission, of course, was appointed by the County Commissioners of Allegheny County. So, on the basis of the actvities of Senator Walker in the Senate, as indicated by his failure, in other instances on civil service bills, to suggest that the judges of the Common Pleas Courts of the various counties were the proper places to put political patronage, I am only led to this conclusion, that this is an attempt, a purely political attempt, on the part of the party out of power to grab power from those who are in power.

The gentleman well knows that in the life of a political party there comes a time when the "outs" becomes the "ins," and I am just wondering if such were the circumstances and, if the Republican Party was still in control of all branches of the government of Pennsylvania, if we would not find the situation shifted from the Common Pleas Court and the appointment of civil service commissioners in the city of Pittsburgh placed back in the mayor of the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. President, even if we were to change the power to appoint the members of the commission, if we were to give that power to the judges of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County, that would not rectify the situation which the gentleman claims exists today in Allegheny County. It is obvious, and it is good economy, that when the time comes that you have more employes than you need, that you should dispense with their services; that is a matter for the people making the budget to determine, if they need less employes.

Let us take the cloak of secrecy and mystery away from the Senator's actvities. Let us admit with frankness, as our colleague from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, has said, that this is purely a political ripper.

Mr. McGINNIS. It was most amusing to me, Mr. President, to hear Senator Walker tell this Senate that if these appointments were taken away from the mayor and given to the judges of our Common Pleas Courts that that would take it out of politics. Do you know I never knew a judge of the Court of Common Pleas yet but who was a good politician, and I know a lot of them that are the slickest and the slyest politicians in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have decided to vote with Senator McGinnis on this bill and I think I ought to explain why I have gone over to his side.

I was talking with one of the Common Pleas judges in Philadelphia County—due to the energy of my colleague, Senator Shapiro, we have too many judges, you know, in Philadelphia County—and this judge of the Common Pleas Court—I do not remember the number—said that they were all right in their little "threes"—there are three member of each court—he said that they attended strictly to business, but when they had a general meeting to transact business like this bill of Senator Walker's, then he said they were in a mess, twenty-one judges, he said, who all talked at once, and full of politics. That is point number one.

I have always been against what we call extra-judicial duties. Senator McGinnis did not use that term—extra-judicial duties—my eloquence is better than his.

The second point is that I have been in the reform business so many years that I know perfectly well what a sticker this thing is—who shall set up a Civil Service Commission.

When the charter bill we are operating under now was drafted, that was a very hard question. All you have to do is to look at this bill, page two, and you will see that Senator Walker does not know how to handle it because he has bracketed out several people he first thought of. At first we decided in Philadelphia to hand it over to City Council and that was a very daring move, of course, but we did.

Not so long ago we put our Civil Service Commission on trial—one man fortunately died—but the thing had gone completely sour at one time. So therefore, Mr. President, my second point is that this is simply a question of who shall set up civil service and I am going to vote against this bill because I hate to see judges given extra-judicial duties.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I must plead that I am not a statesman or a distinguished lawyer like the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, but I would like to draw to his attention, especially since he is learned in the law, that on page four he again gives back the vacancies that may occur to the Governor to appoint.

I also noted that he must have forgotten to make an amendment—he made so many amendments to this bill—but I doubt very much whether he really knows who is going to appoint the Public Utility's Commission.

I would like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that in this bill the salaries of the men serving on this commission will be fixed by city council. If by chance they are of two different political faiths, there is nothing to stop city council from dropping their salaries down to a hundred dollars a year or increasing them to ten thousand dollars a year and, not that I would dare insinuate or suggest, maybe the Civil Service Commission might be a little bit money-minded and would go to city council and say, "Here, we will play ball with you if you will give us $10,000."

Mr. President, I am one who believes that a political party is as good as the service it renders to the taxpayers, but outside of that, I believe all our government is based on service to the public.

If the mayor of the City of Pittsburgh is not giving service to the public, he can be replaced at the end of four years, and that will be done by the vote of the people. I do not believe that the statesman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, should infringe on the rights of the people in that way.

I would just like to say a little bit about Civil Service. In 1935-1937 I was one of the greatest boosters of civil service. Then I got a job and I had to deal with civil service employes and I found that the civil service employes did not consider any service to the public, but they did consider themselves and holding on to their jobs. They thought that they were above reproach.

I would also like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, that it is absolutely impossible to fire an inefficient civil service employe, as long as he goes to work on time and quits on time. I defy you as an able lawyer to go into court to prove that they are not giving service. It is impossible.

I think that the members of this Senate should look upon this bill exactly as it is. It is not a bill introduced by a statesman; it is introduced by a politician, because every man in this Senate or every judge has to be a politician before he can be elected and any one who tries to bring around his mantle for holiness and statesmanship is only kidding the public.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, said he did not like to talk law with a layman. I might say that I do not mind debating with a lawyer because I get my law by ear, after talking with a lot of attorneys.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, may have a letter from the City Solicitor of Scranton, but I have here a decision by Judge Lewis which reads as follows:

"In Lengler vs. City of Scranton, 41 Lackawanna Jurist 58, decided June 28, 1938, by Judge Lewis, it was held and we quote the syllabus:

"Where the members and the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission of a city of the second class have been duly appointed under provisions of the Act of May 23, 1907, P. L. 206, and subsequently the city relying on powers granted it by the Act of May 31, 1911, P. L. 461, by ordinance reduces their salaries below the minimum fixed by Act which created their office and they sue the City for the difference and affidavit of defense raising question of law was filed by defendant. Held, that affidavit of defense raising questions of law will be overruled. The question at issue being whether the Legislature or the City has the right to fix the minimum annual salary of the members of the Commission the provisions of the Act of Assembly cannot be set aside by City Ordinance."

Further, Mr. President, Senator Walker is such an able attorney, I think he ought to know that appeals from the Civil Service Commission go to a judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and I do not think after they appoint the members they should listen to appeals. I do not think that the appointive powers should listen to appeals from those they appoint. That is not good law and it is not good logic.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, one of the things I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, is that if I have the name of being responsible for having increased the number of the judges of the Common Pleas courts in Philadelphia, I am very proud of that fact, so far as Courts No. 6 and No. 7 are concerned, because I think anyone who will inquire in Philadelphia, who either lives there or who has appeared before those courts, will agree that both of those courts have maintained a very high standard and have obtained the confidence of the community.

I do not think that it gets us anywhere to say that all judges are politicians or to cast aspersions on all judges because, after all, we are a public body and we all hold public office and I think we should attempt to at least maintain a respect for high offices.

All judges are not bad, Mr. President, but all judges find themselves in peculiar situations. I recall, as perhaps do many of you who are from the particular district know, that one judge had a witness before him who was asked to sign his name, and the witness said that he could not write. The witness was a school director. When the judge asked him how he happened to have become a school director the witness replied "Judge, you appointed me."

This same court that is going to appoint these commissioners would have to try them. For instance, take the situation in Philadelphia where three commissioners were appointed by the Court of Common Pleas and those commissioners were charged with an offense and one was convicted. It would be a rather peculiar position if the same judges who appointed these men would have had to try them.

Mr. President, this bill is full of inconsistences, because it attempts to take a bill which was built up upon one basis and then, without considering the effect, change the whole basis of the bill.

When you prepare a bill for a civil service commission to be appointed by council you have one situation, and then you take that same bill, drawn with the view of having the commission to be at the head of civil service, appointed by council and when you change that, without correcting the other situation, you can see the position in which you will find yourself; the same men who appoint civil service commissioners will be obliged to try them or pass upon their behavior.

Mr. President, I do not think civil service has worked out so badly at all. I do not agree that you can not get rid of incompetent civil service employes. For instance, consider civil service covering school teachers. Only recently I read a decision by the Supreme Court by which a school teacher who was about to become a mother had not given proper notice or taken proper steps under the act, and the Supreme Court removed her.

Before that the question of whether the school board had the right to dismiss certain teachers for incompetence was raised before the Supreme Court and they were dismissed.

The fault is not with the Civil Service system; the fault lies with the particular civil service act. If you are going to appoint these gentleman in Pittsburgh by the Court of Common Pleas, why not do the same thing in Philadelphia? Certainly the appointments in Philadelphia were bad, certainly the method of appointment has not worked out in Philadelphia.

I confess that I am not yet prepared to say who shall be the appointing power because, as my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, pointed out, there are always two questions: who will those men be and how will they be appointed. It may be they should be selected by the people at large.

Apparently there has not been any misbehavior in Allegheny County, yet here comes a bill that rips them out. Obviously there has been misbehavior in Philadelphia County and one man was convicted and he received the extreme punishment of a fine of $50.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that you do not correct any evils but you create new ones by this method. I am going to vote against this bill.

RESOLUTION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to introduce a resolution which calls for consultation with and investigation of the Liquor Control Board, and other parties in the State of Pennsylvania that may be interested in the administration of the Liquor Control Act in this State.

There have been serious charges made lately, through the newspapers and through information that has reached me, by mail and otherwise, that there is a system of rationing in effect in the State of Pennsylvania, that there is such a thing as preference being given to certain buyers of liquor stocks in the State, and that in certain localities some dispensers of liquor are able to get a larger supply for their business than others, simply by paying some clerk a small fee or a large fee, depending on who the clerk is and how much liquor they want.

This is a serious problem, Mr. President. The State of Pennsylvania is in the liquor business and if we are in the liquor business let us act like business men and women. Let us do the job right if we are going to do it at all, and if the State of Pennsylvania wants to stay in the liquor business, then, of necessity, it must look after that business.

I understand from information reaching me that the reason that there is such a shortage of liquor in this State is because the former Governor of this State vetoed an order for the purchase of $15,000,000 worth of liquor just prior to the shortage that took place here in the State stores right around Christmas time.

These charges are very serious and the Senate of Pennsylvania ought to look into them. I think that the men and women who pay license fees in the State of Pennsylvania are entitled to the co-operation of the State Liquor Control Board, and if the State Liquor Control Board is going to continue to be made up of one active member and one member who is not active, and a vacancy that has existed for a period of a couple of years, I think the time has come where for the best interests of the State a committee should be appointed to look into the situation and see that something be done.

Charges have been made, for instance, that only certain inferior grades of liquor can be obtained today in the liquor stores, at a higher price than well known brands of liquor that could be obtained in the stores before the so-called shortage existed, and that there were not sufficient stocks bought by the State Liquor Control Board, as has happened in other states; you can go to any of the surrounding states and get any of the known brands of liquor, but you cannot get them in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I introduce the following resolution and ask that it lay over for printing.

URGING INVESTIGATION OF LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 22, 1943.

Whereas, There has appeared in newspapers serious charges against the administration of the Liquor Control Act in the State of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Charges have been made that there has grown up within the State Liquor Stores a system of preferences for liquor purchases, and

Whereas, Charges have been made that only certain brand liquors appear upon the shelves of the State Liquor Stores, and that prices of new brands appear to be much higher than previous obtainable brands, and

Whereas, Said charges have lead to the assertion by some newspapers that there is an unofficial rationing system in vogue in this State, therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five (5) Senators be named to ascertain from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and other sources, the facts relating to the above mentioned Whereas clauses.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, to give the House some specific reason as to why he wishes to amend this bill.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentlemen mean recommit the bill or amend the bill?

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated that he wants to recommit the bill for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I said for further study and possible amendment.

Mr. BOIES. Would the gentleman state the possible amendment, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, that is exactly the trouble, we have been going over this bill and we are afraid, after talking to a number of men in the House who are lawyers, that it is incapable of successful operation in its present form. There is nothing to prevent the reviving of liens as far back as the history of the Commonwealth goes. I would say if it can be worked out and made practical we have no objection to the purpose of the bill, but we are afraid it is not practical in its present form, and we would like to recommit it for further study, that is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. There is no other purpose to this bill except to relieve the school districts and the tax payers of an unnecesssary charge every five years in reinstating these liens. My colleague and myself introduced this bill at the request of school districts in our particular district, and we feel that the bill is simple; anyone can understand it by reading it.

There has been no objection other than from one man, except from lawyers. Now, I do not know, Mr. Speaker—I don't want to accuse the lawyers of anything that they are not guilty of, but I fear that some of the legal profession are looking toward the fees in the matter. We feel that the tax payers are subject to an unjust charge in reviving these liens every five years. There is no reason in our minds why the liens should be revived every five years. Why should they not be for ten years or twenty years or any other set period of years? We feel there is no reason why they should be revived. After the lien has been filed once why should it not be a permanent charge against the property, until the sale of the property or until the lien is satisfied?

The school districts are subject to a charge every five years and the taxpayer is subject to a charge, and we feel that this would be a relief to the school district and to the taxpayers. I, therefore, ask the House to oppose sending this bill back to committee.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I assure the gentleman that he is reading an ulterior motive into a motion that has no ulterior motive in it. We are afraid, as I said, that this bill is impractical in that it might revive taxes many years. It might be on the homes of many Members of this House; it might be on properties belonging to a great percentage of the property owners of Pennsylvania. Therefore, in order to give this bill a real honest study I ask the Members to support the motion to recommit.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, when he says "we are afraid" does he mean the Republican party or does he mean the lawyers on that side of the House?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say that the word "we" was meant to refer to those with whom I discussed the bill, including non-lawyers, who upon explanation felt that our fears were well grounded. It was not in any way limited to Republican Members.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I still think, Mr. Speaker, that I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. O'BRIEN. When he says "we" does he mean the lawyers or does he mean "we" of the Republican party?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. We, the people, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, we the people on this side do not feel or do not see eye to eye on that proposition. I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria the same question, does he speak for "we," of the Republican party or "we, the lawyers" of the Republican party?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Neither, Mr. Speaker. I said before that I meant myself and those with whom I discussed the bill, some of whom were lawyers and some were not; some of whom were Democrats and some Republicans.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, being from a first class city and having no interest in the bill, I will say that the answer to my interrogation brings forth the fact that this is not a political measure, and those people who are not interested in lawyers on the Republican side of the House should vote against this recommittal.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I am advised that any federal lien is a permanent lien against the property and I, therefore, can see no reason why there should be any objection to any other sort of lien being a permanent lien. It is merely a question of relieving both the taxpayer and the local school districts, and I see no reason why there should be any question raised of its being impractical.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, did you state the "ayes" seem to have it?

The SPEAKER. The Chair so stated plainly.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I think you are hard of hearing, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman call for division?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred thirty Members having voted in the affirmative and sixty in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I thoroughly dislike to open up old wounds, but a while ago House Bill 480, Printer's No. 122 was recommitted on a motion by the gentleman from Cambria, and I am wondering whether this bill, which has to do with the repealing of the act of 1897 regulating the use of vinegar is for the purpose of having an unlimited supply of vinegar for the purpose of pickling bills?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of the bill to permit this bill to go over in its order. I am having some amendments prepared which are not ready yet.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I did not wish to interrogate the gentleman. I just wished to ask if he would let the bill go over until tomorrow. I am having amendments prepared which are not ready at the present time.

The SPEAKER. Which is a proper interrogation.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, could I ask the gentleman what the amendments are?

Mr. FLEMING. Yes, they are in the process of being drawn up. I will certainly present the gentleman with a copy of them before they are offered. I believe that courtesy is always extended to the sponsor of the bill,—when they arrive tomorrow.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman give me some idea of what the effect of the amendments is?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I could not at this time, no sir.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman on Wednesday when this bill was before the House made some statement that about thirty other jobs or appointments were in this present act. In the Committee on Counties we put in amendments and removed those thirty jobs. Any amendments that are added to this bill, we would have to take up with the Allegheny County firemen. I would ask the gentleman if he contacted the officers of the Allegheny County firemen on his amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I did contact the President of the Allegheny County Firemens' Association, Mr. Polen, I think is the name.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That is right.

Mr. FLEMING. He knows well the nature of the amendments, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Did he agree with the amendments?

Mr. FLEMING. He did, yes sir.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection this bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none and the bill is passed over.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. For the information of the Democratic members, there will be a caucus immediately after adjournment in the Old House Caucus Room.

For the information of the members of the Aeronautics Committee, there will be a meeting immediately after adjournment in the Conference Room at the rear of the House. It is very important that the members of this Committee attend that meeting.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar, by Mr. SKALE and

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 434, entitled:

An Act providing that in actions for damages for injuries to persons or property allegedly caused by negligence, the question of contributory negligence of the plaintiff shall, in every case, be a matter for determination by the jury.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the first section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill, be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Venango, Mr. McKinney.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McKINNEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us the purpose for recommitting this bill?

Mr. McKINNEY. Well, Mr. Speaker, the purpose is very plainly stated, for further study.

Mr. SKALE. Is there anything that the gentleman does not understand about this bill?

Mr. McKINNEY. I do not care to enter into the merits of the bill on second reading. I think we can study it better in Committee.

Mr. SKALE. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, we have all seen this bill. It has been on the calendar for about three weeks. It is a short bill, the language is simple, and I am sure that everyone can understand it. Now, there might be some who will say that this is a lawyers' bill, and I understand that there are some in the House who do not particularly care for lawyers' bills, but let me say this, gentleman, whenever there is a lawyers' bill it is not the lawyer who is interested, it is the layman, because the lawyer represents the layman.

This bill merely corrects a situation which originally was part of the jury system in this Commonwealth, namely the jury is the trier of all facts in every case before the jury. The jury determines the facts and renders a decision on the facts presented to it. The judge is the one who determines the questions of law.

The basic and fundamental system of our jurisprudence in Pennsylvania and our jury system has been for the jury to determine the questions of fact. However, there are a few judges in this Commonwealth who have usurped that power and have taken away the question of fact from the jury and determine it as a matter of law. That is basically and fundamentally improper.

This bill applies to negligence cases. We know that when a case involving the negligence of a defendant is presented to a jury the jury has the duty of determining whether or not the defendant is negligent, and if it finds the defendant is negligent, it gives a verdict for the plaintiff; and on the other hand, if it finds that the defendant is not negligent then it finds for the defendant.

Shouldn't that also be the case where a question arises as to whether or not the plaintiff is contributorily negligent? In the end the question of negligence is a question of fact, and all that we want to do by this bill is to leave the question of fact to the jury where it properly belongs, and that is all that this bill does. This is good legislation. I say this not because I am the sponsor of the bill, but I say it because it is a part of our fundamental system of jurisprudence for a jury to determine a question of fact. After all when a judge, who is one man, sits on a case, his duty is to apply the law to the facts, and the law only. He is not a trier of facts. That duty is placed upon the jury, and when the judge takes away the right of the jury of determining whether a plaintiff is contributorily negligent, I say to you then that that judge has usurped the powers and the rights given to the jurors.

Now, not all judges do that. In fact you will find that most judges when they charge the jury on the question of the plaintiff's contributory negligence will say to the jury "if you find that the plaintiff contributed to the accident, then you may find for the defendant."

That leaves the questions of fact to the jury. I say to you gentlemen this is good legislation. Many of the states of the Union have adopted this law, and there is no reason why Pennsylvania should not have it. There is no reason why Pennsylvania should always be in the background. I say to you gentlemen that Pennsylvania should be a leader, we should be progressive, and this is progressive legislation. I, therefore, ask you gentlemen to vote down the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SKALE and Mr. BENTLEY and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. I desire to have the gentleman explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I think the purpose of the bill is very simply stated in the provisions, and that is that it requires the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association to be in every drug store.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know what merit there will be in having these books in every drug store.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, the bill as proposed will require that the book contain a copy of all laws and regulations relative to the pharmacy profession, together with a registration form, unified registration form of all goods of an opiate or narcotic character.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether these books can be obtained by the druggists at the present time.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, they cannot because they are not published yet.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, has the price been set on these books as yet?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, the proposed price will be approximately one dollar and fifty cents, depending upon the cost of publishing and the postage.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, is there anything in the bill that would keep the price down to that figure?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, no there is nothing in the bill that would keep the price down to that cost, no.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether these books are to be published by a publishing firm or by the Pharmaceutical Association itself.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, the book is to be published by the Pharmaceutical Association, by a publisher. They not being printers would have to go to a publisher.

Mr. MODELL. I desire to know whether the possession of these books by druggists will guarantee that these druggists will keep the proper records.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, in replying to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I do not believe that anything could be guaranteed in these days, but it would tend to have a more perfect record kept, and according to the State Pharmacy Board and the Director of Narcotic Control of the Health Department, it is believed that desired end would be attained.

Mr. MODELL Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether this is not a manual that is kept for the druggists?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, it would only be a manual in the sense that it is a compilation of those laws which are incident to the practice of pharmacy and the record of a uniform character in which these entries of narcotic drugs would be made, so that there would not be any question about the fact that there was a uniform registration in every pharmacy of the state.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether it is the gentleman's thought that all professional groups should keep manuals in their office, whether lawyers should keep a Purdon's Digest, and whether the medical men should keep medical records. Is there anything in the gentleman's mind that would guarantee that all medical or dental groups should have manuals in their office, by reason of the passage of this legislation?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the introduction of a bill of this sort would commit anyone or any group as to the general idea that all types of manuals and registers should be kept in all professions. However, I do think that an attempt to police and regulate and help those in the profession, according to the suggestion of those who supervise such records should certainly be considered in a particularly favorable light.

Mr. MODELL. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, in looking over this bill, it occurs to me that it might open up a series of bills to supervise every profession. I can see no reason why a body of this kind should tell the druggists or any other group that they shall keep a manual in their office. If the purpose of the bill would indicate to anyone that some merit could be obtained by the general public in the keeping of such a manual or such a book, then I would say certainly there would be no reason to vote against the bill, but I cannot see why we should tell any one single group what type of book they shall keep in their office, and I shall vote against the bill.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I consulted the Legislative Directory and I find we have a druggist, Mr. Paul Gross, the gentleman from Cambria, and I am wondering if he would explain this bill further to us.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Gross?

Mr. DENNISON. I just desire further explanation by the gentleman if he can furnish us with such explanation.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman yield to the gentleman from Cambria?

Mr. DENNISON. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I think this is a very good bill. In the first place it protects human life. On account of different poisons and through the preparation and the manufacture of drugs such as sulphanilimide and sulfathiazol. If you remember, a few years ago down in one of the southern states they put out phenobarbitol and they killed forty-two people before they got it off the market.

In one of the western states, you remember in 1941 there was a bill passed to make all poisons colored. That was to distinguish them from other preparations. In a hospital there was a baker who picked up sodium fluoride which they use for roaches and insects instead of powdered sugar and killed several people. The idea of this bill is to protect human life.

In regard to this book which is being put out, I really do not know the price and I cannot say much about the book, but the balance of the bill is very good, being a bill to protect human life.

In regard to the new drugs that are being put on the market, such as sulphanilimide, sulphathiazol, sulphapyrizine, they are very dangerous preparations and they do not know how to use them. The medical profession don't know how to use them yet.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Gross.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GROSS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Gross, whether or not he is a member of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association?

Mr. GROSS. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I want the gentleman from Cambria to tell me how many druggists there are in the state of Pennsylvania, pharmacists, as they are described in this bill?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, that I am not able to answer.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that there are probably thirty-seven hundred?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I imagine there would be that number.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, of those thirty-seven hundred, if that is the number, how many pharmacists are members of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, that I am not able to answer.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that all of them are?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, no, I would not.

Mr. JAMES. I thank the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. I shall, Mr Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese, if he knows how many pharmacists there are in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, practically thirty-seven hundred.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman further if all of those pharmacists are members of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, all but approximately six hundred.

Mr. JAMES. Am I correct in understanding, or do I have a correct understanding from the interrogations that have taken place so far that this Year Book has not as yet been published and that there is no former edition of it?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. So that this is a proposed publication to be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. By that Association to be privately published?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, not for profit, however.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to stick to the question: is it privately published?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Yes, but not for profit.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I will accept that answer because the question is evidently one of great doubt until after the collections are returned and counted.

Will the proposed Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association contain technical or necessary professional information that is standard that is not contained in the two other publications which all pharmacists are required to carry in their stores?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, not in the language that is incorporated in the United States Pharmacopoeia.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am informed that the word is "pharma", and I cannot pronounce the other part of it.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. I would suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the kibitzer, Mr. Dix, take the microphone.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, that is all I want to ask the gentleman. I am capable, thank you, sir. That is all.

Mr. Speaker, this is utterly hopelessly impossible legislation. In the first place it deals with a private publication which has not yet made its appearance in any form. Nothing is known about what it is, or what it will contain or what it will cost the six or seven hundred pharmacists of the state of Pennsylvania who are not members of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association. It is clearly an effort to by law compel subscriptions to a private publication. If we were to enact this bill and it became a law, there would be nothing in the world to prevent any publisher of any kind of a technical book from simply having the publication sponsored by the association, and then come here with a bill and have a law passed compelling every person in that profession to subscribe to that book.

On those grounds rather than on the grounds that have been developed here by former interrogation, I most sincerely feel that this bill would be a very grave and great injustice upon all of those pharmacists in the state of Pennsylvania who for good reasons of their own do not support and are not a part of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association. I, therefore, on the basis of the discussion and on the clear fact that this is an effort by law to secure a subscription list, ask all the Members of the House to vote against the bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I most certainly disagree with the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James. He apparently is not well acquainted with the outstanding, if not the only association of pharmacists in the state of Pennsylvania. Those gentlemen have come before us. They have by resolution and appropriate action pledged themselves to the publication of this book at cost plus postage. I assume they want to better their profession, and I respect that desire. To say that the cost may be jumped, that it is an effort to privately publish and sell a book is to disregard the long history of efforts to better their profession. There are already in the laws of this state requirements that at least two books, and they are mentioned in this act, be kept by every pharmacist. Those are books that are far more expensive than this registry of the laws and this uniform system of accounts that is to be kept by these books. We have had the word of a respected member of this House who is a druggist and who is thoroughly familiar with the problem of the professional pharmacist that he thinks this book would go a long way to help the professional pharmacy. It is a profession that intimately concerns every one of us. Every time we go to a druggist and ask for a drug we are placing ourselves in his hands. To leave the thought in the minds of this House that this Association, numbering an overwhelming percentage of the members of the profession, is trying to force something on the profession itself, puts the emphasis in the improper place. I think this book is an attempt by the pharmacists to better themselves. I think we should respect that attempt, and I think the membership of the House should support and pass this bill.

Mr. TROUT. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether it is a fact that he is engaged in the printing business.

Mr. JAMES. Alas and alack, that is a fact.

Mr. TROUT. Then I would like to ask the gentleman whether he would think that in the event of the publication of this book, either he or I might have a chance to get the job of doing the printing.

Mr. JAMES. That is entirely within the realm of possibility, but Mr. Speaker, as an ethical printer I am most certainly against forced printing by legislation.

Mr. TROUT. I think the gentleman may be right.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order because I believe this bill in effect violates one of the rules of the House, specifically, House Rule No. 96, which reads as follows:

> "No person shall be permitted to hawk, peddle or offer for sale any article of traffic at any time within the hall of the House; and it shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to strictly enforce this rule."

The SPEAKER. The Speaker will try to keep his eye on those peddlers.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, in the first instance I would like to say a few words in the nature of personal privilege. Mr. Bentley seemed to think, or at least he tried to construe something that I said into a thought that was far from my mind—that this whole set-up was for profit. I know nothing whatever, and neither does the sponsor of this bill, of what the selling price of this book will be. As a matter of fact it is not at all unlikely that this book will actually represent a loss to the Association when it is published.

However, I want to make it very clear in a little further interrogation that this book is certainly not the subject for legislation, and I should like to interrogate Mr. Bentley. I will apologize for not remembering what county he is from.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman if he knows whether or not the proposed Year Book will contain anything by way of professional or technical information that is not already standard in the publications that the pharmacists now carry in their stores?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have relied, in the remarks that I have made, upon the representations made to me by the Secretary of the Pharmaceutical Association of Pennsylvania. I have every confidence in the world in that gentleman and I have every confidence in the Association. They have stated that a uniform system of accounts relating to narcotic and other dangerous drugs is required by law but is not yet to be found in any other book or pamphlet or periodical of any sort whatsoever. They stated further in their considered opinion it is a very necessary thing that druggists be furnished with that sort of uniform system of accounts.

I think my answer therefore on that basis is that relying on those gentlemen that there is no such periodical or book containing that information, and I think it is necessary information, and I think also that there is no publication—

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I did not ask the gentleman what he thinks. I asked him to answer a question.

Mr. BENTLEY. The gentleman from Allegheny can not answer the question without thinking.

Mr. JAMES. In this case apparently something slipped.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman want me to finish?

Mr. JAMES. I think the gentleman has answered as far as he knows, but apparently that is not very far.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman kindly repeat his question?

Mr. BENTLEY. I know the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker. He does not like my answer.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has answered the question, but it is not to the point. I should thank the gentleman for not answering the question.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would thank the gentleman from Delaware for his failure to recognize that I have answered the question.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. Not unless the gentleman permits me to answer the last question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman refuses to be interrogated.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I therefore withdraw my request to interrogate the gentleman further.

It becomes more and more apparent as this debate and interrogation proceed, that this Year Book does contain something that the pharmacists could use, and that, as I gather it, is a form for his convenience in reporting sales that he makes of opiates and poisons and things of that sort. Now, just why every pharmacist in the state of Pennsylvania should be obliged to keep his records of sales of opiates and poisons on a form that is devised and planned and sold by the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, is beyond understanding. Apparently there is no single thing that will occur on any of the pages of this proposed publication with which the pharmacist is not already familiar in a technical or professional way. In other words this publication will add nothing whatever to his necessary store of knowledge as a pharmacist. Also the copies of the laws of the state that ought to be printed, or they allege will be printed in this publication, is very laudable; that is something that any association should do and most associations do it for the betterment of their members. But if the six or seven hundred pharmacists in the state of Pennsylvania do not choose to become members of this Association and do choose to devise their own form for recording their sales of opiates and poisons, and they do get legal information from sources with which they are familiar, then there is most certainly no reason why we should by law compel those six or seven hundred pharmacists in the state of Pennsylvania to subscribe to a private publication. It might be just as reasonable to say that since the Ladies' Home Journal or the Woman's Home Companion improves the minds and adds to the information, the usefulness and perhaps the morals of women of the state of Pennsylvania, therefore we should here by law require that everyone in the state subscribe to the Ladies' Home Journal or the Woman's Home Companion, or what have you. There is just as much sense in that as there is in this bill.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARGE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is from a county that is made famous by the manufacture of bologna, is that correct?

Mr. SARGE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that a certain amount of skill is required to manufacture bologna?

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, there certainly is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, do the bologna manufacturers require a year book when they manufacture bologna?

Mr. SARGE. They do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTZEL. That is all Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman from Lebanon. We have been impressed on this side by what Mr. Gross, the gentleman from Cambria, has said regarding this year book. We want to go along with his opinion and vote for the bill and we want to thank Mr. Gross for setting us right on this year book.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask all those who have any questions in their minds about private publications, as to whether this bill, which is an amendment to the already existing act—whether they realize that the act prescribes that there shall be a publication of the American Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia, and the second publication, the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States in each drug store? They are private publications. They are publications that are not a part of the Pharmacy Association, and yet they are required by the act which we seek to amend. They are not only private publications, but as I understand from information given to me they are publications published for the purpose of profit. Therefore any publication put out by pharmacists in their association in an attempt to regulate their own profession, and which is not for profit certainly deserves serious consideration and commendation of the Members of the House.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, it seems that a number of the Members have stumbled over a couple of words, including the sponsor of this bill. For the information of the House and in order to keep the record straight I would like to say that the word which has been often mispronounced is pharmacopoeia and the other word is pharmaceutical.

While I am on my feet I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley, one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Can the gentleman tell me if there is anything in this bill, after these gentlemen of the pharmacy have received this book, that will compel them to keep these records?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would be very glad to give the same answer as the sponsor of the bill gave, of course, not. There is nothing that can compel a person to keep a record if he does not desire. However, this certainly places before him a simplified, uniform method which, knowing human nature, I think will go a long way towards encouraging the keeping of those records if we put it before the members of the profession.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, in the opinion of the gentleman from Allegheny, aren't we now already having enough records to keep without asking for this additional record? We have our income tax records, our records for tire rationing, our social security records, and I might mention about ten or fifteen others. Does the gentleman not think it is about time that we stop forcing people to keep records?

Mr BENTLEY. On many, many things, Mr. Dix and I heartily agree, but when we deal with a matter of life and death, such as the pharmacist does, I do not think we can take too many precautions. I think this is an important bill, and I think the pharmacists of the state regard it as such.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say in my opinion, not ten percent of the pharmacists would ever use this book to keep their records in, judging from my experience in record keeping and from my experience working in various stores, including a pharmacy.

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman completed his interrogation?

Mr. DIX. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

I just want to serve notice upon the Members of this House—I sort of hesitate to do a little personal advertising, but I want to serve notice upon the Members of this House if this bill passes, I have in the process of publication a book which will be issued in a few weeks, and if this bill passes I expect to present a bill here which will require every Member of this House to purchase this book. The price, Mr. Speaker, will not be over one dollar and twenty-five cents, and the edition contains some three hundred pages. Thank you.

Mr. WALTON. Mr. Speaker, being a pharmacist myself and being a member of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, also a past president of that organization, I know something of the book that is being offered at this time. I have in my hand here the parts of the book that will be compiled.

Mr. Dix say the retail druggists do not keep records. They must keep records, and this will make it so that they can keep them in proper form. I ask the Members of this House to vote for the bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I think before the Members of this House vote on the bill everything should be very clear. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese, has called attention to other books that are required by law in the stores of the pharamacists. In the first place this pharmacopoeia is a United States standard book, it contains every symbol of every drug that the United States government has approved and tested, and it is absolutley necessary information for every druggist. It is not privately published. It is published under the supervision of the Department of the Interior. It contains the formula for every preparation that has been registered in Washington and given approval after exhaustive tests and analysis by the Department. That same thing is rue of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia,—the pronounciation of Mr. Dix to the contrary notwithstanding, because in the homeopathic field of medicine, as is pretty well known, the formulae are pretty much standard. They are little pills rolled up for your convenience, and necessarily they are not compounded as a usual thing from standard drugs except in the hands of the pharmacist who has his standard information for doing that work. It should be thoroughly understood and it should be part of the reason of this body when they vote on this bill, that the other publictions mentioned in the act which is now to be amended, are not private publications, but publications under the supervision of the Department of the Interior.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. LICHTENWALTER,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 356, as follows:

An Act to amend clause one of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" increasing the period for which contracts for lighting may be made

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Clause one of section seven hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 702 Supervisors to Eexercise Powers The corporate powers of townships of the second class shall be exercised by the township supervisors They shall have power

I Lighting To light and illuminate the streets highways and other public places of the township with electric light gas or other illuminating medium and to provide for defraying the cost charges and expenses thereof and for such purposes to enter into contracts or agreements with any person copartnership association or corporation for a period not exceeding [five] ten years for the purpose of securing and maintaining a supply of light

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I hesitate to appear to be taking so much of the House's time this evening, but if the membership will recall this bill was on final passage on March 10th and after considerable debate because of the light House it was passed over. I think in all fairness, a period of two weeks having elapsed, the membership of the House should be reminded of some of the arguments that were advanced against the bill at that time. I do not propose to go at great length into all points that I made then but I would ask the indulgence of the House to permit me to refresh them on some of the fallacies of the measure now before the House.

The bill is very simple, it provides in townships of the second class that township supervisors may enter into contracts for street lighting for a period of ten years, the contracts may exist for that period. The present law, and the law which this bill seeks to amend, provides that no contracts for street lighting may be entered into for a period of more than five years. I developed, I believe, to the satisfaction of many Members of the House two weeks ago that a limitation of five years is a salutary and a beneficial one. It was considered at great length in 1933 when it was written into the Statute Books. The reasons which prompted it at that time are just as forceful, if not more so today, than they were at the time of the original passage of the act. I pointed out at that time that it provides a means whereby the township supervisors may bind their successors far beyond the term of their office, a thing that is neither fair nor just nor what we have been led to expect in legislative action. In addition this bill increasing the period of contracts to ten years may stifle progress in street lighting.

The sponsor of the bill, Mr. Gates, as I understood, stated it was intended particularly to apply to gas lighting on public highways. It was pointed out during the debate every fully, that the utilities companies, and I do not want it to be understood that I carry any brief for the gas or the electric utilities—that gas utility companies might forestall municipal authorities who contemplated installing municipal facilities for electric street lighting by entering into ten year contracts with township supervisors, and thus put off for ten years progress that is always attendant on street lighting by electricity. That seems to me to be a very serious consideration. I assume when this war is over there will be the facilities and the incentive for electric street lighting all over this country. Picture the situation then, Mr. Speaker, if township supervisors have permitted their township to be tied up to a gas street lighting contract for ten years, that is putting off for ten long years the progress that would come with electric street lighting. I do not assume that they do that knowingly, and I do not assume that they do it as a means of favoring a gas utility as against an electric utility, but it must be recognized that the dollar in hand very frequently has an entirely unwarranted weight, when the township supervisors might take the long view on how much more their township would be benefitted, were they not tied to this gas lighting contract. I pointed out also that it permits a utility to enter into competition with other forms of utility service at the expense of its customers.

We have had examples of that just recently, when the gas utilities of this state entered into competition in the small home heating field. They offered exhorbitant, out of line rates, very low to the home owner who wanted to heat his home with gas. They did that by allowing those who used quantities much larger than the ordinary home owner does, to get those quantities at a low rate. Now somebody pays the bill. They entered into competition with the anthracite and with the bituminous coal industries in this state in the small home heating field and they did it by holding up their rates on the very small consumer. He paid the bill for their entry into this field in competition with the anthracite and bituminous coal industries. If we enact this bill into law, somebody has to pay for these rates that are given to a long term user, and the man who pays them is the short term user.

It is said that this is not a "must" bill; it is said that the township supervisors have the discretion to enter into long term contracts if they want to, or refuse to do so. I want to say that they can be sold a bill of goods on the immediate saving in hand and not consider the long term use and long term savings which might result upon that public utility cost, particularly in the street lighting field, as has been done. If we permit the township supervisors in their ignorance, and believe me they do not know the field as the utility expert does, if we permit them to make these long term contracts, they may save a few immediate dollars but in the long run they may lose thousands of dollars by entering into these long term contracts.

These are technical arguments but they drive home a very real point, and that is we must protect these township supervisors from making inadvisable contracts. Five years is a long enough period for any contract of this sort to be on the books. The Legislature of 1933 thought it was proper and right and I think that we too today should continue that practice.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he is familiar with section 702 of the Township Code.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, if he has it before him that he state its substance to me.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, section 702 is the section which is sought to be amended by this bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am familiar with that section.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman how many sections there are in this particular act, how many clauses there are in section 702.

Mr. BENTLEY. I do not know, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman has it before him, let him read it.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny has raised objection to this particular section. I would like to ask him if he is aware of the fact there is another section pertaining to practically the same problem. I will ask him if he has read that section.

Mr. BENTLEY. I have not, Mr. Speaker. I have only read this bill and the sections which it purports to amend.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman whether he has been debating this section without having read the whole act as amended.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman to give me the entire act, if that is his purpose.

Mr. ALSPACH. Since the gentleman has asked for the act in its entirety, and by the act I mean section 702 of the township code, it provides as follows. The first section is that the township supervisors may enter into a contract with a utility to provide for the illumination of the streets and the highways for a period not exceeding five years. On that section then there is a limitation of five years.

The second section of that act which is not printed here because it is not sought to be amended, provides that upon petition by the owners of the properties, the township supervisors may enter into a contract with a utility service. There is no provision whatsoever as to any time length at all. They can enter into a contract under this section for one hundred years. There is nothing in the world to prevent the township supervisors under section two from proceeding along that line and entering into a contract directly with the utility; there is nothing in the world that would prevent the township supervisors from securing the signatures of the persons sought to be benefited along the streets of the township or village, and proceed under the provisions of that section, and thereupon enter into a contract with the utility. In other words, the particular purpose of this amendment is to allow the township supervisors to do directly what they can do indirectly by securing petitioners to sign certain papers.

So far as the savings are concerned, I would like to interrogate the gentleman a little further.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the gentleman is informed or is aware of the fact that all such contracts must be approved by the P.U.C.?

Mr. BENTLEY. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, that being the case, I would like to know whether the Public Utility Commission would have to make inquiry into the fairness, adequateness and good faith of such contracts entered into?

Mr. BENTLEY. I take it, Mr. Speaker, that the Public Utility Commission would require them to conform with the technical requirements and comply with the act as to the rates as they are at present in existence. On that basis, they would make an inquiry but they would not confine themselves to futurities, and that is the vice in this bill. They would not inquire also into the possibility of competitive street lighting methods, and that, I believe, is a further fact which renders this bill inadvisable at this time.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows what savings would be affected by long term contracts such as these?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot say what savings are contemplated in these long term contracts. I have stated that in my opinion considering the trend of lighting costs in the state the savings would be outweighed by the loss in the years to come.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say just a few words on this score. The bill appears to be a very simple one; it appears to me to be a harmless one and it appears to me to be a bill which will allow the township supervisors to do directly something which they can do indirectly at the present time. In other words, it will allow the township supervisors to contract directly for any period of time, it may be ten, or fifteen or twenty or one hundred years, for lighting facilities. At the present time the township supervisors may do exactly the same thing, they may enter into a contract for ten years, providing they go through the red tape and formality of getting the adjoining property owners on the highways to sign a petition. We are all familiar with how easy it is to do that, to get signatures to a petition for street lighting by requiring the township supervisors to go through that red tape and rigamarole, when they can accomplish the same thing by another method or another means. I would state, Mr. Speaker, that the savings have averaged, I understand, over the state somewhere between five and ten percent by virtue of the long term contracts, because every time a contract is entered into the Public Utility Commission is an interested third party, safeguarding the rights of the user himself and every time a contract goes through, a survey must be made, plans must be made and the project as a whole must be specifically set forth. We are all acquainted with the fact that every time a utility wants to change a pole they must go through a lot of red tape to do that, and every time that is done it means money, it means time, it means fees that have to be paid. All of those things are passed on to the user in the form of additional costs. If it is proposed that the township supervisors want to enter into a long term contract, and by long term I mean up to ten years, and save themselves some moneys by lower costs why in the world shouldn't they be allowed to do that?

I am merely asking you gentlemen to compare these two sections. The first section provides that wherever the supervisors themselves directly contract they are limited to five years, but the very next section, which is not printed in this bill because that section is not sought to be amended, allows the supervisors to do that at the present time by going through the formality of getting the property owners to sign on the dotted line, and that being the case I see no reason why this bill does not merit the complete and unanimous support of the membership of this House.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, with the sections referred to by the gentleman from Lancaster now properly before me, if this bill is passed, is it not a fact that this section as amended renders nugatory the section which follows this, and renders it ineffective.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I will answer that by saying that there are many situations in the law, with which the gentleman from Allegheny is very familiar, where we have two procedures to accomplish one purpose. In many cases one procedure is simpler and is very often used, whereas the other procedure is practically totally ignored. I think the gentleman is very familiar with situations such as that, where you have two permissible procedures and you adopt the one which causes you the least trouble, the least concern and the least amount of red tape to all parties concerned.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman agree with the statement that it will render useless the second section if this bill passes?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, no I would not agree that it will render the second section useless, it may render the section not used, but that does not mean that the first section could not and possibly should not be amended.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I think the gentleman has very fairly stated the result of this amendment. Apparently the framers of this act thought there was a very real need to have this section of the act which provides for the signatures and the consent of the abutting property owners in the act. He has now stated, as I understood him, that it will probably not be used, and I agree with him, if this section is passed into law. I think that is a sufficient reason for retaining with equal weight both of these alternative procedures.

I thank the gentleman for having given to me an additional reason to use as an argument against the amendment of this section, and that additional reason is if enacted into law it will probably render useless the alternative procedure. I might say also there would be no use amending this act did it not have a very real purpose.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER

Messrs. STOCKHAM and MORAN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read considered and adopted as follows·

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1943.

That Irish dinner is on again for tomorrow night.

It is an institution of this Legislature, begun in the days of old when Georgie Brennan was the dean of newspapermen and shared with that sweet voiced songster Frank McClain, the distinction of being the most typical Irishmen around the Capitol.

No one ever went to one of these St. Patrick's Day dinners for the food, so present day rationing will have no effect upon the enjoyment you would normally expect.

It's the fun and the wit and the songs that will make it a great night, for it's in memory of that "sweet little, green little shamrock of Ireland," and

For that night it's quite the style
To be a man of the Emerald Isle.

It will be real—it will be devastating—it will be tremendous—it will be as thrilling as the "clamorous call of storm's blown trumpets from the core of night"—it will be good—don't miss it.

Whether you're a Smith, or a Jones or a Cohen dark
Pretend you're Irish and go for a lark;
Put on a shamrock and wear a green tie
Take a bottle of Scotch and another of Rye,
And then when you rise from that rationed food
You'll bless the green island and swear it is good.

therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That nothing short of illness will prevent the attendance of the full membership of the Senate and House of Representatives at the St. Patrick's dinner tomorrow night; and be it further

Resolved, That if no Constitutional provisions prevent, the Chief Clerk of the House is hereby authorized to arrange to have the price of tickets deducted from salaries at the source.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 31

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 31, Printer's No. 173.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 3, 1943.

The suspension of the Food Stamp Program by the Food Distribution Administration of the Federal Government on January 1, 1943, has reduced the value of each relief dollar received by residents of the Commonwealth from the Department of Public Assistance and has consequently reduced the actual relief received.

The mounting cost of living has made the cost of essentials rise far above its former level and instead of subsisting on the relief reduced in value by the discontinuance of the Food Stamp Program, it is necessary that the amount of relief should be raised.

The dollar received has, since January 1, 1943, become worth only fifty cents, and those unfortunates entitled to receive aid from the Commonwealth are becoming more destitute than ever; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly hereby requests the Department of Public Assistance of the Commonwealth to investigate the conditions now forced upon those entitled to receive relief, by reason of the discontinuance of the Food Stamp Program and the higher cost of living and to consider the advisability of increasing the amounts paid to them in order to compensate for the loss suffered by reason of changed conditions and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DENMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in behalf of the American Red Cross and the men and women serving in our armed forces. Those who served in the last war will recall that after shock and injury many thousands of casualties occured because there was no possible chance for a blood transfusion at that time. Since that time there has been discovered the miracle of blood plasma, which can be taken and placed in a blood bank for use, when, as and if necessary. The local unit of the Red Cross in Harrisburg has installed a blood bank, one of the very few, I believe one of the two in the state of Pennsylvania. Many of us come from rural counties where such a blood bank is inaccessible. It has requested the membership of this House and Senate that we show our patriotism, our love of our fellowmen and our regard for these men and women who have gone out to die that our American way of life might prevail.

There was introduced into this House on March 2nd of this year by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, House Resolution 28 which was referred to the Rules Committee. That resolution is on page 203 of the History of the House and in part would request that a joint resolution of the House and Senate be passed asking that the Members of the House and Senate and the employes of the state government donate a pint of their blood to this blood plasma clinic here in Harrisburg. That resolution was referred to the Rules Committee and it has remained there dormant. Upon inquiring tonight I found that there is a bit of dissension in the Committee as to whether or not this resolution should come out. I think it is time in this country that we quit pulling punches. General MacArthur has said "We shall win or we shall die." There is no alternative in this war. A more devilish situation never existed in the minds of human men in all history. Nineteen hundred years ago on the cross died the first disciple of freedom for humanity. Since that time man has been struggling for freedom. Today we are faced with one of the most despicble situations that the mind of mortal man has ever thought of. We are faced, as General MacArthur said, with total extinction. Either we come under the Nazi heel or the heel of the Jap, and we can thank God that the Japs, well prepared as they were, failed to see their opportunity when they struck at Pearl Harbor and stopped.

We can thank God that Germany, when she struck at Britain at Dunkirk, failed to realize their oportunity and stopped, or we would not be here now.

I do not believe in pulling punches in times like these. I have lived with these men, I have seen what they are going through. I believe we have the grandest group of young men and young women in our Armed Forces that ever fought under the Stars and Stripes, and we are letting them down. The complacency of the American people is disgraceful. We might as well realize it. Back in my home town the night before last, in discussing this, all I heard was "taxes." May I ask you if the men of Bataan, Corregidor, Guadalcanal, Africa, Burma and India and the far flung battle lines on this earth are talking taxes? What do they think of us when we talk taxes? What do they think of us when we refuse to give a pint of blood that they might live? Those men are going right through Hell, if ever men did, and the women are going through right with them.

We are asked to cooperate with the Harrisburg Chapter of the Red Cross to go down and give a pint of blood that some man's son, maybe your son, and maybe it is possible before this war is over, you men sitting right here, may be in the Armed Forces, and possibly that pint of blood plasma which someone gave might be injected into you after you have been shot, and it might save your life.

In talking to those interested in this resolution of Mr. Skale's I find some objections. First, they think there is a little politics in it. I am quite certain that Mr. Skale hadn't any politics in mind. I think he was thinking only of the love he had for his fellow man engaged on the battle lines in this country, if we get bombed—and don't think it cannot happen here. I am quite certain he was only thinking of the lives of those who would be preserved through this blood plasma. I am quite certain there is no politics in it. To think of politics in such a thing like that would be despicable to say the least. The next thing I heard was "it hurts." Well, it does not hurt. It does not stop you from performing any duty, it does not hinder you one iota, or I would not be here five hours later. It doesn't interfere with the skill or ability of a man when he goes down or a woman who goes down to give one of these pints of blood. He or she is first examined by competent physicians, a heart test is taken, the blood pressure is taken, and various other tests are given to determine whether that person is or is not fit to give blood for blood plasma. There is no danger whatever. People over sixty years of age cannot donate blood, they are not permitted. It is not compulsory. I heard the statement made that this is compulsion. It is not compulsion. It is only that you have some concern for your fellow man, that you go down and give this blood plasma that someone might live because you did it.

This resolution of Mr. Skale's is now in the Rules Committee, where it has been for twenty days, long past the time it should have been brought out. If we have any regard for the lives of our men it certainly places on record the will of this legislative body and that of the Senate that those who can and are physically fit to do so, should show their respect and their love for their fellow man and the desire that our boys overseas return home, by asking those in this legislative body and those who are employes of the state to go down to this blood plasma clinic of the Red Cross at South and Front Streets and give of their blood. There need be no hesitancy to give their blood at all. My friends, we are here today, but we do not know if we will be here one year from today. We think we will. We are quite certain we are going to win this war, but anything can happen.

I might remind you that it is possible for heavy bombers to fly from Germany up in the sub-stratosphere over to this place and bomb us, and if they do, no where in all Pennsylvania is there a defense airport to protect you. That is the reason too why there is a special Aeronautics Committee asked for, and I know why it is asked for. May I recall to your minds just one little incident that perhaps you have forgotten or did not know. Do you recall that in 1934 our government granted free safe passage over the territory of this country to that German Graf Zeppelin? Did it fly over your city? You know it did over Philadelphia, it did over Johnstown, Scranton, Latrobe, Bethlehem, Pittsburgh, Youngstown and other places, and it hovered over those places making still pictures and moving pictures and getting our names and addresses and our geographical position, so that when the time came they could drop a bomb where they wanted to drop it even though they could not see the target. We gave them the right to do that, and now we are paying the penalty for such freedom or license.

In the name of our boys, in the name of that freedom which our forefathers fought for, which we have inherited, which we did not earn, and which we are now trying to prove whether we deserve or not, I ask the membership of this House to meet after this session with the young lady from the Red Cross seated at the desk right outside the door of this House, and give her your name as one of those willing, not only to give a pint of your blood but as one who is willing and desirous that someone may be saved on the field of battle by reason of having done so. I ask also my colleagues to join with me in requesting the Rules Committee to report from that Committee the resolution of the gentlemen from Philadelphia, that we may show our boys in the camps, who wonder sometimes whether we like dollars better than we like them, that we are one hundred percent with them in downing this devilish octopus that would devour us.

O Lord, in whose presence we are, and in whose hand are all our ways, may all our desires and intentions now be to serve Thee faithfully and to do only good to our fellow men. We know that "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." Therefore, may the thoughts of our hearts and the words of our mouths be acceptable unto Thee, for only then will our thoughts be pure and our words true.

Let us remember Thy goodness and mercy to us as a nation, Thy preserving care over us and over those who are dear to us, Thy promise to honor those who honor Thee. With such remembrance the words of our prayer will be acceptable unto Thee.

We thank Thee for the honor conferred on us by our fellow citizens. May we remember that with honorable position comes responsibility, responsibility to God, to our constitutents and to ourselves. Give us grace and courage to meet all, that Thy name be glorified and the interests of our State advanced.

In all their deliberations and enactments may the members of this body "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

In that Name which is above every name we offer this, our prayer. Amen.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That nothing short of illness will prevent the attendance of the full membership of the Senate and House of Representatives at the St. Patrick's dinner tomorrow night; and be it further

Resolved, That if no Constitutional provisions prevent, the Chief Clerk of the House is hereby authorized to arrange to have the price of tickets deducted from salaries at the source.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I do not know whether it was the microphone or the reader, but the only word I heard was "shamrock."

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am somewhat concerned, as I am always concerned about printing costs, and therefore I am inquiring if this worthy shamrock resolution will be printed for every week until the end of this session? Does it appear in the History printed every week?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, unless otherwise ordered, it will be so printed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Then, Mr. President, that will be another dollar thrown away in costs.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia may make a motion to avoid that.

MOTION THAT RESOLUTION BE READ BUT NOT PRINTED IN THE HISTORY

Mr. WOODWARD. If I am in order, Mr. President, I move that this resolution be read but not printed in the History. I heard it read with considerable satisfaction, and I am willing not to read it in the History.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia moves that this concurrent resolution be read but not printed.

Are there any remarks?

Mr. EALY. I am afraid that this resolution will be printed in the House History, and we can not control the action of the House, because it is a House concurrent resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Does any one second the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward?

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I see now the Senator from Allegheny County, Mr. McGinnis, wearing his green tie, and I therefore will withdraw my motion that the resolution be not printed.

The PRESIDENT. This is a concurrent resolution which is before the Senate. In view of the fact that Senator McGinnis is wearing a green tie, what is the pleasure of this Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that we adopt the resolution.

Mr. STEVENSON. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The resolution was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION

ESSAY CONTEST "SPIRITUAL LEGACY OF THOMAS JEFFERSON"

The PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate a letter from Doctor Francis B. Haas, Superintendent of Public Instruction. The letter is very long, and therefore I am going to ask the Senator from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, to explain it briefly.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President and members of the Senate, the Thomas Jefferson Bi-Centennial Commission has set up a series of prizes for an essay contest throughout the state of Pennsylvania, and I think the members of the Senate should be conversant with this matter, because there will be numerous inquiries made of them as to the nature of this contest.

This contest will be open to everybody. The nature of the essay is upon the spiritual legacy of Thomas Jefferson.

There will be seven districts throughout the state of Pennsylvania, and in each district there will be three prizes. A United States Treasury War Bond of $50 will be the first prize, and a United States Treasury War Bond of $25 for each of the second and third prizes. Dr. Oliver S. Heckman of the Department of Public Instruction, has been appointed co-ordinator for the contest. All of these essays must be in the hands of the committees on or before April 13, 1943, which is the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson.

Each member of the Senate will be given a paper upon which will be listed the counties in each one of these districts, and he will know, after receiving this paper, as to what particular district his counties are in.

These essays will be from two hundred to five hundred words, and the authorship is to be original and each essay is to be written, under a designated teacher, during a two hour period.

Mr. President, I want to merely present this matter to the Senators, so that they may know, when inquiry is made of them, something about this contest which is to be held.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria may state his point of information.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the Senate History shows that I introduced Senate Bill No. 155 on February 15. The History also shows that bill was reported out as amended on March 16, and given first reading.

I can not find this bill on the Calendar on that date or any other date, and I can not find this bill having been referred back to any committee.

I desire now to know the status of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Haluska, the Senate will recess shortly, and if the Senator does not mind presenting his inquiry after that, that will give the Chair an opportunity to look into the matter.

Mr. HALUSKA. That will be satisfactory, Mr. President.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. MALLERY, from the Committee on Municipal Government, re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

MEMORIALIZING OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION TO RAISE SELLING PRICE OF CRUDE OIL

In the Senate, March 1, 1943.

The oil reserves of the Nation are being used up faster than oil is being produced.

It has been stated by competent authority that there will be a serious shortage of oil in the future unless new wells are developed.

The development of new wells can be accelerated only by the raising of the present ceiling price on crude oil.

The present profit per well is now so low that there is no incentive for the assumption of the risk attendant upon the drilling of new wells; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Office of Price Administration of the Federal Government to raise the ceiling price on crude oil so that there will be some prospect of profit held out to those who have oil land which could be developed, in order that the production of oil might be increased and the oil reserves of the country be raised, to normal levels; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

A motion was made by Mr. WADE and Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON,

That Rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from committee to lie over for one day be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO EXTEND POLICIES OF WAR DAMAGE CORPORATION

Mr. WADE offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, March 23, 1943.

Whereas, The Federal Government has properly set up what is known as the War Damage Corporation to indemnify its citizens against loss by damage caused by the enemies of the United States, and

Whereas, Very negligible losses have occurred, which indicates that premiums paid have practically been unused in claim payments, for example the Delaware River Joint Bridge Commission has reported paying a premium of $38,000.00 for one year's coverage, and

Whereas, It is the feeling of the Legislature of Pennsylvania that the Federal Government should not be in the insurance business for profit, but merely for the protection of citizens; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That this General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States by suitable legislation to extend all policies issued by the War Damage Corporation for the period of one year without the payment of additional premiums upon the date of their expiration if at that time no material losses covered by the policies have been incurred in the United States for the reason that the United States Government should not conduct an insurance business for profit, but merely for the protection of its citizens; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives of the United States from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the Senator from Monroe kindly tell me whether or not under this bill it will be possible for farmers and landowners who happen to have streams running through their lands to apply to the Fish Commission and receive a yearly fee or yearly rental for the use of their waters for fishing purposes?

Mr. CROWE. It would, Mr. President, if it was decided that the land was good and should be leased.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Senator Crowe.

Mr. President, any person who has ever hunted in Pennsylvania knows that through the years an evil has grown into the system whereby a hunter or a group of hunters go out to some farmer and give him a small fee and tie up that land for their own private uses. The great majority of hunters in the State of Pennsylvania are restricted to a very small territory.

If you pass this bill under the guise of getting more fishing grounds, you are going to find that the entire proceeds from the fifty cent increase in license fees will go to some landowners who heretofore have never leased their fishing grounds to anybody, they let it become a matter of public use, and immediately upon the passage of this bill you are going to have farmers coming into the Fish Commission and applying for yearly fees or yearly rentals for the use of the border land of the streams.

I say to you, gentlemen, you are doing a disfavor, especially to the soldiers who are not here to express their opinions in these matters; they have not any say whatsoever. How do we know how they feel about this? Thousands of boys in my community have left and gone into the war service and they do not have any say whatsoever as to what we do with their privileges while they are gone, and I say to you, in the guise of doing a good thing, you are really doing a bad thing by the passage of this bill.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred.)

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Monroe will be so recorded.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Will the gentleman from Monroe state the reason for changing his vote from "aye" to "no"?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I desire to get the bill in shape for reconsideration.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, no Senator has the right to change his vote except upon having voted under a misapprehension. Under the rules and regulations of this Senate, a Senator may rise in his place and ask permission to change his vote when he has voted under a misapprehension.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

REQUEST TO CHANGE VOTE WITHDRAWN

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I withdraw my request.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. There is nothing before the Senate except a decision on the point of order, which takes precedence.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia is well taken and the Chair in sustaining the point of order rules that under decision of the Senate, No. 123, a Senator can not change his vote except when voting under a misapprehension.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no," having voted under a misapprehension.

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no," having voted under a misapprehension.

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from McKean will be so recorded.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no," having voted under a misapprehension.

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, now that this bill li over for printing, I would like to suggest to the Senato from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, when he is throug proving his point to the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Car I would like the Senator to consider a suggestion tha was made today in connection with this amendment.

Dr. Ruth, the gentleman from Berks, suggests that thi amendment is unnecessary, because all we need do to ge the same result is to make the salaries of Senators pay able monthly, and make them subject to the call of th Governor each year or any other time without payin them for special sessions. The Senators would then ge their salaries over a period of twenty-four months, in stead of getting them over a period of, shall I say, si months, this year, and the same result can be effecte much more quickly. All we would have to do, instea of amending the Constitution, would be to amend the ac which gives us salaries for Special Sessions and say w shall have no salaries for such Special Session.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, is this an inquiry? If I am in order I would like to say that this questio of salary has to be determined by the Legislature itself and there is one big point that has never been mentioned in support of this proposed amendment and it is this that Governor James, as you know, asked for a blank check so that he could suspend laws. The Genera Assembly was unwilling to give the Governor a blank check.

Governor Martin says he does not intend to ask for as much as that, but he is going to ask for certain privileges for the duration, and the argument is that an annual session of the Legislature would keep its hands automatically on that question, and there would not have to be any embarrassment between the Governor and the Legislature.

If there is any other question I would be glad to try to answer it.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 99, on second reading, entitled:

PRAYER

Rev. Charles Ashton Lantz, Pastor of Lutheran Church, Milroy, guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Everlasting God, King of Glory, and Lord of heaven and earth, as we Thy servants assemble for the duties of the day our first thoughts are thoughts of Thee.

As we think of Thee we are conscious of Thy glory, and we recall Thy goodness and Thy loving kindness to us and to all people.

So, remembering Thee, we pause for a moment that together we might worship Thee and thank Thee for all Thy benefits.

Lay Thy Spirit mightily upon us this day that we may be a people of wisdom, discerning between that which is right and that which is wrong.

And may we, walking in the light of Thy Truth, praise Thee not only with our lips but also with our lives. Through Jesus Christ Thy Son our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SARRAF. RESOLUTION No. 45.

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1943.

The results of many years of trial have been convincing proof of the value of vaccination and the administration of serums in the prevention of contagious diseases.

Immunity from these diseases by those who have been vaccinated has been the means of preventing dreadful epidemics among the people of the world.

In the security and the freedom from fear of sickness furnished to us who have taken advantage of these preventive measures we must not forget that our immunity is not perpetual.

Infants who have been safeguarded against the dreadful results of diphtheria by serum injections are often found to be vulnerable after five or six years.

It is this feeling of security that may be the means of starting an epidemic at this time, particularly because of the greater susceptibility to the germs of a contagious disease by reason of the reduced resistance to disease caused by longer hours of labor, less wholesome food and fewer hours for recreation.

It was during this period in 1918 that an epidemic swept the Nation and accounted for greater loss of life than was suffered in the combat zone; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Health should at once initiate a campaign of education in order to bring home to the people of the Commonwealth the advisability and the necessity of new immunization against disease so that our people will not again be in danger of an epidemic by reason of their false feeling of security, and that the department through its county boards shall make available sufficient serums and vaccines to properly guard the people against disease; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Secretary of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

By Messrs. TATE and COHEN. (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1943.

On March 15, 1918, while a sergeant in the United States Army, the present Judge James C. Crumlish married Miss Ruth R. Hardy at Fort Myers, Virginia.

Judge Crumlish is a graduate of the Philadelphia public and parochial schools and the Law School of Temple University.

While a member of the American Expeditionary Force during World War I, he attended courses in Equity at the National University, Trinity College and Kings Inn in Ireland.

He was counsel for the Delaware River Bridge Commission from 1934 to 1937.

On May 15, 1937, he was appointed Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 7 of Philadelphia County, and in the following November election, as a birthday present from the voters of Philadelphia County, he was elected to the same office for a full term.

Judge Crumlish and his wife are now the parents of six sons and one daughter of whom—

James C., Jr., is a Lieutenant, Junior Grade, in the United States Navy Air Corps.

Joseph D., is a private in the United States Army Air Corps.

Gerald F. X., is an apprentice seaman in the United States Naval Reserve.

Judge Crumlish has graced the judicial bench in Philadelphia County for the past six years with rare distinction. His knowledge of the law is outstanding and he has interpreted it impartially, humanely and intelligently. His decisions have been sound and have brought credit to himself and his colleagues.

His ready Irish wit and keeness of mind have made him a popular member of the judiciary in Philadelphia, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulates the Judge and Mrs. Crumlish upon the anniversary of their marriage and the splendid family that has developed from it, and to them and their seven children, it extends its sincere wishes for many more returns of the same anniversary day, and as evidence thereof, the Chief Clerk is instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to Judge Crumlish and his wife.

Mr Speaker, due to my absence when the order of business, leave of absence, was called for in the House, I was unable to report that my colleague, Representative Glenn Ely of Susquehanna County, has been unable to attend the session this week on account of the serious illness of his daughter, who is in the hospital in Scranton. I would like to have a note made of it, and I ask at this time that my colleague, Representative Ely be granted leave of absence for this week.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the House the commission that was appointed under a joint resolution during the 1941 session, comprised of Members of the Senate and of the House to participate in the celebration of the two hundredth year of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, which happens to fall on April 13. The celebration will be carried on in Washington from a national point of view on that date. We had hoped to have the celebration festivities here in the House Chamber on the evening of April 12th, but due to a conflict in the schedule on the part of the Governor, we will not be able to hold it until Wednesday, April 14th. Quite an elaborate program has been arranged on this occasion. I understand that the Governor of Virginia will be here on this occasion. Quite a number of celebrated citizens of the Commonwealth, including Dr. Johnson, I believe, President of Temple University, will be here.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. STONIER offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 23, 1943.

Anthony Yanoshat, a former Member of this House, died on March 21st, 1943 at his home in Scranton.

Born on June 10th, 1885, in Lithuania, he entered the United States in 1895, and went to work at a coal breaker while he attended night school.

He later obtained work in a grocery store, and in 1929 retired from the ownership of his own meat and grocery business.

Always interested in the civic and social life and in community affairs he was a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the Lithuanian Alliance of America, the Jaurus Club, the Lithuanian Political Club of Lackawanna County, and a Director of the North Scranton Bank and Trust Company.

He was elected a member of this House in 1936; therefore be it

Resolved, That the life of Anthony Yanoshat was an outstanding example of the equality of opportunity afforded by our American Way of life and that his passing marked the end of one who saw that opportunity and took full advantage of it; and be it further

Resolved, That in evidence of our recognition of his qualities and his ability to surmount difficulties and achieve ultimate success the Chief Clerk of this House is directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to his widow, Mrs. Victoria Yanoshat.

RESOLUTION No. 35

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 35, on page 18 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1943.

The scarcity of farm labor is threatening the production of food stuffs necessary to the successful prosecution of the war.

The greater need of the armed forces for the youth of this Nation has deprived the farm of the labor required to seed and plant and cultivate and harvest the crops required to feed the Nation and our allies.

There are now confined in concentration camps throughout the Nation thousands of strong and capable men whose help on the farm at this time would be of inestimable help in producing the food that will be so much needed during the months that lie ahead. These men are the conscientious objectors whose scruples against war have kept them out of military service. Their strength and their abilities are being wasted.

To put these men and their wasted time and strength at work on the farms of the Nation would not only assist in the production of food, but might keep more certain their pride and self-respect. It might produce farmer patriots instead of soldier or sailor heroes; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation as will be necessary to authorize the use of all conscientious objectors on the farms of the Nation for the purpose of increasing the production of crops essential to the needs of the people of the Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Senate, and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Representatives and Senators from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the 3rd paragraph of preamble, page 1, first line of said paragraph, by striking out the word "concentration" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "special".

Amend 3rd paragraph of preamble, page 1, 2nd line of said paragraph, by striking out the word "thousands" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "a large number".

Amend 3rd paragraph of preamble, page 1, last two lines of said paragraph, by striking out the words "Their strength and their abilities are being wasted."

Amend paragraph 4 of the peamble, pages 1 and 2 by striking out the whole of said paragraph and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "A number of farmers, working 72 hours a week, received wages far below those paid in any other employment furthering the ends of the war."

"To utilize the services of these concientious objectors on the farms of the Nation would assist in the production of food so sorely needed at this time."

Amend first paragraph of resolution, page 2, line 3, by inserting after the word "legislation" the following: "consistent with the Constitution of the United States."

Amend 1st paragraph of resolution, page 2, line 4, by striking out the words "use of all" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "utilization of all able-bodied".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The resolution was laid over for printing under the Rules.

RESOLUTIONS REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SOLLENBERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as Committee House Resolution No. 40 and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

On May 24th, 1943, on the initiative oft he Kosciuszko Foundation, the American educational world—including American and Canadian colleges and universities—will pay appropriate tribute to a great Pole, Nicolai Copernicus, on the 400th anniversary of his death which marked the birthday of modern astronomy.

He was a churchman, a painter and a poet, a physician, an economist, a statesman, a soldier, and a scientist; a churchman by the wish of his guardian uncle and by vocation, an artist for relaxation, a physician by training and predilection, an economist by accident, a statesman and a soldier by necessity, and a scientist by sheer love of the truth for truth's sake.

Today—when for the first time in 575 years the Alma Mater Copernicus has been closed by the invader, when the intellectual leadership of the nation is being extirpated and all visible monuments of Polish civilization destroyed—today Copernicus stands like a shining star of hope to the nation that nurtured him, and the recollection of his abiding contribution gives his compatriots courage to endure.

Stripped of all scientific verbiage and reduced to the simplest elements, Copernicus's contribution in the field of astronomy may be stated in the words: "He stopped the sun and set the earth in motion," therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor shall at an appropriate time, issue his proclamation designating and calling upon the public schools, other educational institutions of the State, and the citizens of Pennsylvania to observe with appropriate ceremony, the 400th anniversary of the death of Nicholas Copernicus on Monday. May 24th, 1943, to commemorate the outstanding achievements of contribution to modern science.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to report from the Committee on Rules as amended a House Resolution No. 39 and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 10, 1943.

Whereas, The chief reason for faith in the ultimate victory of the United Nations over the Axis powers and for the return of peace and prosperity to the world, lies in the fact that every national effort of a democracy is based upon the willing and voluntary cooperation of its citizens; whereas the dictator nations operate upon the basis of involuntary regimentation; and

Whereas, There has been no more moving example of voluntary sacrifice to further the ideals of a democratic nation than that to be found in the willingness and eagerness of the eighteen and nineteen year old youths of this country to join the armed forces and play a leading part in the preservation and continuation of the principles for which their forefathers fought so valiantly; and

Whereas, The example set by these youths serves as an inspiration to every man and woman in the land and as a constant reminder to all to make the greatest possible contributions to the furtherance of the war effort; and

Whereas, The spirit, self-sacrifice and determination of these youths who will some day be the leaders of this Nation, are final proof, if any be needed, that the United States of America is not a decadent democracy, but continues as a vital and powerful nation which will overcome every obstacle in the attainment of final victory; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives pay tribute to the eighteen and nineteen year old youths of Pennsylvania, and of the Nation, who have flocked to the colors with such eagerness and determination, and who are to play such a vital part in the future of our country.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HEWITT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, since this evening is the night that we celebrate the event of the birth of the great patron saint, St. Patrick, I though it might be interesting, especially to the Irish in the House, to have me read the following transcription, which is correct:

The first American soldier to kill a Jap was Mike Murphy.

The first American soldier to sink a Jap battleship was Colin Kelly.

The first American flyer to bag a Jap plane was Edward O'Hare.

The first American Coast Guard to detect a German spy was John Cullan.

The first American soldier to be eulogized by the President for bravery was John Patrick Powers.

The first five American Navy brothers to die for Uncle Sam were the Sullivans.

The first American to get four new tires was Secretary Ickes.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would insist that the gentleman's remarks be "spread" upon the Journal of the House with objections.

The SPEAKER. The objections of Mr. Levy will be also "spread."

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I might suggest that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McLevy, is green with envy.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 22, 1943.

That Irish dinner is on again for tomorrow night.

It is an institution of this Legislature, begun in the days of old when Georgie Brennan was the dean of newspapermen and shared with that sweet voiced songster Frank McClain, the distinction of being the most typical Irishman around the Capitol.

No one ever went to one of these St. Patrick's Day dinners for the food, so present day rationing will have no effect upon the enjoyment you would normally expect.

It's the fun and the wit and the songs that will make it a great night, for it's in memory of that "sweet little, green little shamrock of Ireland," and

For that night it's quite the style
To be a man of the Emerald Isle.

It will be real—it will be devastating—it will be tremendous—it will be as thrilling as the "clamorous call of storm's blown trumpets from the core of night"—it will be good—don't miss it.

Whether you're a Smith, or a Jones or a Cohen dark
Pretend you're Irish and go for a lark;
Put on a shamrock and wear a green tie
Take a bottle of Scotch and another of Rye,
And then when you rise from that rationed food
You'll bless the green island and swear it is good.

therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That nothing short of illness will prevent the attendance of the full membership of the Senate and House of Representatives at the St. Patrick's dinner tomorrow night; and be it further

Resolved, That if no Constitutional provisions prevent, the Chief Clerk of the House is hereby authorized to arrange to have the price of tickets deducted from salaries at the source.

PRAYER

In Thee, O Lord, is our hope. both for the life that now is and for that which is to come. We know that by Thy sustaining grace we live today. Because Thou hast planted in our souls the flower of immortal hope we believe that we shall continue to live, though death pluck us by the sleeve and lead us away from these earthly scenes. While we are here may that immortal hope give us courage to live nobly, and faith that casts out fear.

And now we pray to be used of Thee. As willing servants may we give complete devotion to truth, honor, justice and love, then we need never fear what man can do unto us.

Make us sensitive to human suffering and need. Arouse in us a godly hatred for all injustice and oppression. With all our powers help us to oppose all ideas and policies that starve the bodies or demean the souls of men.

We pray for our Nation warring for the right. May we be victorious on all military and diplomatic fronts. Hasten the coming of a just and honorable peace.

We present our petitions to Thee for our President. our Governor and our Lieutenant-Governor. Guard them and guide them in their private and public lives, and make them ambassadors for God. In Jesus' name. Amen.

My dear Governor:

Mr. Anthony Eden, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, will address a joint session of the Legislature of Maryland, Friday evening, March twenty-sixth, at nine o'clock, Eastern War Time. This address will be broadcast over a National hook-up.

This will be a personal address to all Legislatures of the United States and will be the only address of this kind that the Secretary will make while he is in the United States.

While I know the Senate of Pennsylvania will not be in Session, I felt that probably many Senators might desire to tune in at that hour.

Very sincerely,
EDWARD MARTIN.

Honorable John C. Bell, Jr.
Lieutenant-Governor of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate a communication from Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, Executive Director, State Council of Defense, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, dated Harrisburg, March 24, 1943, addressed to the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Executive Director.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the presence of Senate Bill No. 311 on our Calendar is shocking and disheartening. This Session was heralded by gubernatorial assurances of co-operation between the two political parties and between the State and the Nation. Patriotism and harmony was the theme song of every public proclamation by the Governor. On our side we gave full faith and credit to these overtures. The harmonic tones were as soothing as a Beethoven Symphony—so soothing in fact that this side has been found tongue-tied by the aesthetic cords. The discordant notes of the legislative score which should have aroused our senses were wafted away by the warm patriotic breezes of our National Emblem as it was gently waved to and fro by our Republican colleagues.

But the spell is broken. The sweet dulcet tones are fading away. We were awakened by "a little noiseless noise among the leaves" of our calendar. We must indeed be blind and dumb if we fail to see and understand the picture now disclosed in all its shocking details.

This bill is proof positive that this administration has embarked on a definite program, fully planned in its details and charted in its course. The basic purpose of the program is to destroy every possibility of the Democratic Party returning to power in City or State. Neither the presence nor the absence of any law will be permitted to interfere with this purpose. The method is not new and in times of peace it has been tolerated, but in these trying days it is as shocking as it is crude.

Many years ago the son of a Legislator in a western state found great difficulty with the fractional part of "pi," so the Legislator caused an act to be passed by the General Assembly of his state abolishing the troublesome fraction.

Not so many years ago one of our Southern states was compelled to endure for many years a suspension of all law and order until it became a public scandal. Neither the absence of a legal sanction nor the presence of a legal restriction ever stood in the way of Huey Long's program or progress. He would convene his Legislature whenever necessary and would order them to "take a law." The political future of any Legislator ended with his refusal to obey that order.

It was to be hoped that in this present world of blood, sweat and tears, these methods were as dead and gone as their author. Unfortunately this is not so in Pennsylvania.

In this Legislature we are witnessing a repetition of this "take a law" form of government. Senate Bill No. 311 is one piece of the blueprint coming to us in jig-saw puzzle fashion in single pieces to conceal the whole. Eventually all of these pieces will be gathered together to take their respective, but not respected, places in the complete pattern. Here are some of the pieces:

1. Having failed to accomplish their desires in the Congressional Reapportionment bill which the last session of this Legislature passed, and even though the Constitution provides for Congressional Reapportionment only once in ten years, the order has gone out "take a law" and we have Senate Bill No. 272, a new Reapportionment —not of Congressional districts but of Democratic Congressmen.

2. The plan to postpone the operation of the Parole Law until the time when the Republicans hoped to come into power in both House and Senate, was thwarted by the last Legislature. There was nothing for Governor James to do, but to appoint the Commissioners provided for in the Act. These Commissioners made the unpardonable mistake of putting the civil service provisions into effect according to the law. As a result, the Republican Party leaders have some more unemployed committeemen on their hands. Now the Republican Party controls both the House and Senate. So, "take a law" and you have Senate Bill No. 255, a Republican parole law; all of the appointments placed in the hands of three new Commissioners without any strings. You can be sure they are not trusted with or hampered by civil service.

3. The Auditor General is a Democrat. According to the law he makes appointments of mercantile appraisers and therefore has several hundred jobs at his disposal. That had to be tolerated when the Republican leaders could not help themselves, for according to law, the appointments belonged to the Auditor General. But now, with the power back in the hands of the Republican leaders, the solution is easy—"take a law"—presto, and Senate Bill No. 72, transfers the jobs to the Secretary of Revenue, who, incidentally, happens to be the Republican leader of the City of Philadelphia; better still this ripping may be heard. So, "take another law." Make it look as if this is not political but really paternal. Repeal the mercantile tax that these men are employed to assess and you are rid of the tax and the State control over the jobs—all in one fell sweep. See House Bill No. 1056. Now the local leaders can go before their Republican controlled councilmen and tell them to "take a law." This will result in new local mercantile tax laws; and local Republican leaders will have the jobs back and the local citizens will have the tax back at one fell swoop.

4. Is domestic help a problem to you? Are you missing those dinner parties and bridge games with the little snacks that followed? Has your help gone to war? How would you like to have a little fourteen year old girl in your home. She can do your housework for you. What is that? The Child Labor Act! Oh, don't let that worry you, "take a law," and you have Senate Bill No. 34, all wrapped around in beautiful red, white and blue ribbons scented with a well known agrarian aroma.

5. In 1937 the Earle administration enacted a State Labor Relations Act, the only prohibition on the qualifications of members of the Board was that no member shall, during his period of service hold any other office under the laws of this Commonwealth or of the United States.

In 1939 the Republican administration, for reasons best known to themselves changed that law and added the provision that no member of the Board shall engage in any business or commercial enterprise of any kind nor be an officer in any labor organization or be engaged in any political activities.

Today, 1943, only four years later the "chickens have come home to roost" That Republican amendment interferes with his Republican administration, so "take a law" and you remove the restriction. Under Senate Bill No. 202, the Governor may now appoint a labor man. If there is a particular debt or obligation which could not be paid before it can be paid now.

6. Unless this Session consents to the nomination of a Public Utilities Commissioner to succeed Commissioner Beamish, whose term expires around the end of this month, Mr. Beamish by virtue of the existing law will hold over until his successor is appointed and duly qualified. Already the Democratic members of this body have refused to consent to the first nomination of a successor to Mr. Beamish, and the Governor can not under the existing law make an interim appointment in this case. What is the answer? "Take a law"—Now Senate Bill No. 250 will see to it that Commissioner Beamish will not hold over until his successor is duly appointed and qualified—unless these Democratic Senators will forget their nonsense that the Constitution is a sacred document and will rubber stamp the next appointment without any more tomfoolery.

7. You will recall also that this administration came in with the avowed purpose of decentralizing public assistance and at the same time with a strong black against the new Parole Law. All of this spells only one thing—the civil service provisions of these departments and laws hamper the progress of the party. The jobs are needed to keep the Democrats out of power. The first of these proposals, namely, the decentralization of Public Assistance, had to be abandoned. The second, the destruction of the new Parole system, is not receiving much public approbation.

The real objection to the public assistance system and the Parole Law is the Republican Party's traditional objection to civil service, so if they can not succeed in repealing these laws that does not discourage them, for if the objective can be accomplished the method is unimportant. So, again the order rings out—"take a law."

Senate Bill No. 311 abolishing the Civil Service Commission, introduced March 16, is reported out of Committee on March 17 and is on second reading Calendar. Of course the bill is wrapped up in the American Flag.

8. In the City of Pittsburgh the Civil Service Commissioners were under the existing law appointed by the Democratic Mayor; that the members of the Commission are men of standing in their communities and their reputation beyond reproach is not denied; but two of the three members of the Commission are Democrats and that in itself is reprehensible. So, again the order "take a law," and now Senate Bill No. 149 will soon see to it that these Commissioners will be appointed by the judges, a majority of whom are Republicans, and few of whom want this duty imposed upon them. Submitted February 15 and reported out of Committee March 9 this bill which passed finally Monday has been amended twice and will require additional amendment.

9. The bail bond racket which existed in Philadelphia for many years was ended by the Act of 1937; but that deprived a few shyster lawyers and some ward heelers of a substantial income. These community parasites have been hungry now for seven long years—have pity on them, "take a law." Now House Bill No. 312 passed by the House March 9 awaits only Senatorial approval to revive this once lucrative racket. The Democratic members of the House voted as a unit against the bill. What is extremely illuminating in this particular picture is the fact that the real sponsor behind this bill knew that it would pass the House; this is proved by the fact that before this bill, which makes the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions the Bail Commissioner instead of the Comptroller, was even presented, House Bill No. 232 setting up the men and machinery in the office of Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions to take over the duties of the Comptroller as Bail Bond Commissioner was introduced in the House.

Is it merely a coincidence that the Bail Department was set up in the office of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions in a bill introduced in the House before the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions is made the Bail Commissioner? Or does it prove what I say, that the real power behind House Bill No. 232 knew that the Legislature would "take a law" and make the Clerk the Bail Commissioner.

I ask you members of this Senate to remember that House Bills No. 232 and No. 312 concern only Philadelphia. The effect of these bills, as I have said, is to restore a racket and bring more shame and disgrace on the City of Philadelphia. Yet 117 Republicans voted for the first bill and 123 voted for the second of these bills. Why? Who aroused their interest? This vote makes both these bills the responsibility of the Republican Party. Who wanted the House to "take a law" in this case? Who is the Huey Long of Pennsylvania?

Who is the master mind behind the plan to use the emotions and patriotic sentiments of a people whose homes are saddened by departing sons and whose hearts are burdened by the loss of loved ones—who is it in this great Commonwealth who uses these reprehensible methods to further his own or his party's political schemes?

It is my firm belief that unless we are to move with the energetic futility of a squirrel in a revolving cage, we must have a clear understanding not only of what we are fighting against, but what we are fighting for in this war.

If the war is to be used or is being fought to establish the economic supremacy of one group or one nation over another; if this war is to be used to build up a political supremacy of one party over another, then indeed will we have fought and bled and died in vain.

The legislation in this Assembly so far does not give the slightest indication of our awareness of this terrible war or the reasons for it. If we are honest with ourselves we must admit that up until now all of this legislation is purely selfish, local or political.

The legislation that comes before us must, therefore, in my opinion be dealt with for what it is—and not what it is said to be.

I have become suspicious of patriotic preambles and high-sounding phrases. To paraphrase a statement by Herbert Agar in his scintillating book "Time for Greatness," I would like to say that I have learned to distrust big words and flowery language as the fig leaves of a bare mind. Therefore, I have dealt with this picture as plainly and as frankly as I can and the fact that doing so may not add to my popularity is unimportant. What is important is that the whole sordid picture should be exposed to the light of day.

While it is true that we, on this side are, a mere minority and we don't have the votes to prevent your party from carrying out its purposes, we do have this voice to present the true picture to the people. This is not only our privilege but our duty. It is clear to me that the leaders of the Democratic Party both in the State and the Nation must wake up to the situation which confronts the people. They must be alive and quick to speak and act.

No matter how ineffectual our efforts may at present appear to be—in the interest of those who look to us to maintain the social progress won at such great cost we can not—we must not falter. For, though you Republicans in the House and Senate may have the power to pass Senate Bill No. 311, as you have others before it, you make a serious mistake if you glory in that power; for you mistake "power" for "strength." According to the dictionary "power" is the ability to produce a result. This you can do by the power of your votes.

If the leaders of the Democratic party fight the good fight, if they do not falter then the day will come—yes the day will come when you Republicans will no longer have the "power" but the Democratic party will have not only the power but the strength of public opinion.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, has gone at length to clothe his objections to a number of measures in this Session around Senate Bill No. 311, which appears on our Second Reading Calendar today.

This bill, of which I am a co-sponsor, is merely a suspension measure. For the benefit of the members present, it suspends the civil service law of the State of Pennsylvania—not the municipal civil service law—but the State civil service law and the commission, for the duration of the war. I might say that the Federal Government by edict of the President has suspended Federal civil service for the duration.

Then again, Mr. President, if we come to a vote on this measure—and I hope sincerely that we will—and the Senator from Philadelphia votes against the measure, he is saying to the boys, some of whom are present today and another of whom will barely reach the age of eighteen and who will enter the armed services of his nation in a few days, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is saying to that boy, "While you are away, while you are fighting the battles for democracy, while you are fighting the battles for America, we will freeze these boys and men who stay home into positions so that you will have no chance at all to reach when you return."

I ask him is that fair? Is it fair for us to continue to fill these positions, to make civil service appointments permanent, so that when these boys, who are fighting on various and sundry battlefields throughout the world for America, will have no chance to compete in examinations and secure appointments under civil service.

That is eminently unfair and I sincerely hope, as has been expressed by the Minority Leader of this Senate, that all civil service before this Session ends will be suspended for the duration of the war, in order that these boys will have every opportunity.

Then, too, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, referred to various remarks of the Governor. Let me read into the record part of the Governor's statement in this connection, and I quote: "It seems manifestly unfair to fill government positions by civil service now. We should wait until these men come home and have an opportunity to take their rightful places again in society." Thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I accept the challenge of the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, and say to him that I do not think it is fair to freeze positions so that when these boys come back from the war they will not have an opportunity, but I think it is highly unfair to destroy an existing system unnecessarily to accomplish an objective, and in destroying that system to accomplish more than the objective. I suggest to the gentleman that he bear with us and we will have introduced into this Senate a bill which will accomplish the objective without destroying the purpose, namely, it will not suspend or destroy the Civil Service Commission but it will make all civil service employes from December 7 down to the date of the proclamation take examinations over again with every one of the boys when they come back.

It is manifestly unfair to say to a man who took a job on December 7 and passed an examination and brought his family to Harrisburg and arranged his future, to say to him that from now on he is provisionally appointed and he can be fired at any minute. It is not unfair to say to that fellow, however, "You passed your examination, but a lot of people are away who had a right to compete with you, go take another examination at a time when the war is over."

I think that bill will correct that condition in that way. I can wave the flag just as well as my friend on the other side, and I may say that I am just as patriotic, but I am a little more careful about the legislation I suggest.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, briefly?

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the Senator from Cumberland making a reply? The Chair hears none. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I very briefly answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, by saying that in my opinion it is eminently unfair for any permanent appointments to have been made since one boy was drafted into the service of the United States and was not there to take his examination with every boy who did take such an examination.

Mr. President, that closes my part of this discussion, with the exception that I suggest to the Senator from Philadelphia that he wait until the bill is drafted in its final form, amended as it will be—it is now on second reading—and I propose to ask that it go over in its order.

STUDENTS OF ICKESBURG HIGH SCHOOL INTRODUCED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if I may, at this time I wish to state to the members of the Senate that we are honored today by having present in the Senate Chamber a very distinguished group of young Americans of which a young man named Clifford Powell is a member of the Senior class of the Ickesburg High School. They are visiting with us now.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. On behalf of the Senate the Chair welcomes the students of the Ickesburg High School to this session of the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I desire to make a few brief statements in connection with the speech of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, has partly and I think completely answered the arguments of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. I noticed that the speech of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, was rather political. He went through the histories of the Legislature and selected certain bills that are always introduced into the Legislature and then charged them up to the Republican leadership of Pennsylvania. He started off by talking about a bill to make civil service appointments provisional. The Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, I think has satisfactorily answered that, when he said that the Federal Government has done just about the same thing. I would also like to refresh the memory of the gentleman from Philadelphia and call his attention to the fact any number of states have also made civil service appointments provisional.

There are two reasons for that. One is that it is unfair to the boys in the service to freeze them out of civil service positions; the other reason is that the lists are so depleted because of drafts and enlistments, and due to the fact that a great number of people on those lists have entered into defense industries, that those remaining are not the highest type. I talked to one cabinet officer and he told me he would hate very much to see the people he is forced to take now frozen into state employment permanently.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, also talked about ripper legislation, having selected from the history certain bills that might change appointive power. I would just like to say, Mr. President, that would have been a fine speech if some of us did not have memories and think back just a few years ago when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, was the father of the notorious court ripper bill in Philadelphia, which ripped out elected officers of the courts of that city, and in those days, Mr. President, this great tempest was browing beyond the seas which threatened democracy and the finest thing that could have been done would have been to instill confidence in those courts, but this Senator from Philadelphia, this very able Senator, introduced and fathered legislation ripping out the Municipal Courts of Philadelphia, ripping out judges who had been placed there by the votes of the people.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia also talked about the Parole Board. There has been no action by the Republican Caucus here to pass any bill suspending or ripping out the Parole Board. I do say, however, that the Parole Board as now existing is not above suspision—perhaps they have made mistakes unintentionally—but I am told by very good authority they accepted a disbarred lawyer to head up the Parole System in a certain county in Pennsylvania.

The gentleman from Philadelphia also talked about mercantile tax appraisers. It is the program of the party, Mr. President, to if possible repeal the mercantile taxes, which is in line with Governor Martin's tax reduction program. Certainly the Senator from Philadelphia can find no fault with that.

He also made quite an issue, Mr. President—and I think that he was raising a false issue, and I am afraid the good Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, who is very intelligent, must know that—when he talked about the rich, with their cocktail parties and so on, having school children working as domestics. The Senator very well knows the intention of that bill was never to furnish domestics for wealthy people or anybody else. The intention of the bill was to furnish students to work on the farms of this Commonwealth and help harvest the crops, because the food situation is fast becoming very critical. I am afraid that the Congress in Washington took entirely too long in taking notice of that fact.

This matter of school children and especially young girls—and that is what the Senator from Philadelphia referred to and tried to paint a wrong picture of—is simply a case of having a young girl go into a farm home and mind children and do odd jobs around the kitchen while the mother is out taking care of the poultry. Senator Shapiro knows that, because it was explained here on the floor of the Senate. That bill will be so worded in the House of Representatives that it will be very clear when it comes back to the Senate, and I think the Senator from Philadelphia will very well understand it then.

Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, also talked about public assistance. He said that the idea that has been suggested, of returning public assistance to the counties, was merely a diabolical scheme to clear out civil service, which is again not a fact. We must retain civil service even though this control is put back in the counties. I would like on this question to say one word, Mr. President. There are forty-eight states in the union, and only two of them do not have county control of public assistance, the two states being Arizona and Pennsylvania, and all of them, Mr. President, meet civil service requirements and receive Federal moneys. The Senator from Philadelphia should know you can not get Federal moneys unless you do meet civil service requirements.

The gentleman has also tried to say, Mr. President, that civil service is completely out from now on, which is not a fact. This bill was introduced by Senators Taylor and Wade and while it is not in its final form, if the gentleman from Philadelphia would read it, and I suppose he has, he would know that it provides that after the war civil service, is reinstated without any change whatsoever.

He also, Mr. President, said that we are up here to put back into operation the notorious bail bond racket in Philadelphia, and that is another mis-statement. There has been no caucus of the Republican Senators on the bail bond racket, and I am quite sure no bail bond racket will be restored by the Republican members of the General Assembly.

In line with this, Mr. President, it is easy to make a political speech, and make it just tell half of the story but not all of it. I want to refresh the memories of the members here. It has only been two weeks since Senator Shapiro made a speech in which he asserted that it was rumored on very good authority that the Liquor Control Commission had lost a million dollars in having failed to discount bills. The facts are, Mr. President, that the Liquor Control Board has made in the biennium, up to date, by discounting bills, $2,034,872.19. The only bills they failed to discount were very few, when Senator Shapiro and Mr. Achterman had their tax plan at the last regular session and they were so long getting it to the Senate. The Democratic Party was in control of the House and the whole tax program did not get here until very late and therefore it could not be enacted, the tax anticipation notes could not be floated and the Commonwealth was short of money for a short time. In that period the Liquor Control Board could not discount its bills, but the fact remains that Senator Shapiro said they had lost $1,000,000 when the truth of the matter is they have made $2,000,000 in this biennium.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. McQuiddy, has suddenly been called away from the Senate, but before leaving he had prepared a resolution which he desired to have introduced today, and he asked me to offer this resolution, which I am now doing.

RESOLUTION TO STAY WRIT OF EXECUTION FOR THE SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR NONPAYMENT OF TAXES

Mr. McGINNIS on behalf of Mr. McQUIDDY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

In the Senate, March 24, 1943.

Whereas, The present forced sale of real property for the nonpayment of taxes would work tremendous inequities to the persons owning such property and yield a minimum of satisfaction to execution creditors and taxing authorities; and

Whereas, Under existing law various sales of real property will soon be held for nonpayment of taxes; and

Whereas, It appears that sufficient time may not remain to enact suitable legislation before the dates fixed for such tax sales to authorize the stay of such proceedings and the adjournment or further adjournment of such sales; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby authorizes the various courts of common pleas, upon application of interested parties, to stay any writ of execution or proceedings for the sale of real estate for the nonpayment of taxes, and the county treasurers of the various counties if the county commissioners and the court of common pleas of such counties consent thereto, to adjourn or readjourn any tax sale, which under existing law was to be held or is required to be held prior to the thirtieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and the General Assembly hereby declares its purpose forthwith to enact suitable legislation to further provide for the stay of such writs and proceedings for the sale of real property and for the adjournment and readjournment of such sales of real property for the nonpayment of taxes, and to validate any such stay of execution and such adjournment or readjournment of tax sales and to provide for the continuance of such writs and the holding of such sales at a future date, saving the lien of all taxes assessed against real property which was to be sold at such sales.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 24, 1943

The House met at 1 p. m.
The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, as we look out upon a world in which all things seem to be shaken, we thank Thee for the assurances which come to us from the past. We praise Thee that truth crushed to the earth has always risen again; and that, in the long past, ruthless might has always been self-defeating and self-destructive; and that, though love has been crucified, dead, and buried by hate, always it has come to life again. And so we thank Thee for the lift of a long look back, and the lift of a long look back, and the lift of a long look ahead. Amen.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. KOWALSKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution sponsored by all the Members from Luzerne County.

Messrs. GARBER, KOWALSKI, NOWAK, MILLER, FLACK and LIVINGSTONE offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1943.

William P. Roan the efficient, popular and handsome Secretary of this House of Representatives is four dozen years old today.

It is difficult to believe that one who has so well preserved the color of his hair could have passed through forty-eight hot summers and cold winters but that hair is almost as it was forty-eight years ago.

Born in Larksville, Luzerne County on March 24, 1895, our well preserved Secretary graduated from the Larksville High School in 1913 and then took a course with the Wharton Extension School of the University of Pennsylvania.

He was a merchant in his native town and was borough controller for 16 years.

In 1930 he was elected a Member of this House and represented his constituents so satisfactorily that he was reelected in 1932 and 1934.

The fortunes of war caused his retirement from Legislative life during the session of 1937, but he returned to us in the following session and was elected Secretary which post he filled so well that his reelection this year was assured as soon as the election returns of November were received.

This has been a great year for our Secretary and we wish him many returns of the same kind; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House congratulates its Secretary upon this his birthday, envies him the easy manner in which he carries his age and wishes for him another four dozen years of happiness, and in evidence of its high regard for his ability, the House requests the Chief Clerk of the House to hand him a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Secretary of the House, William P. Roan.

The SECRETARY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I was suspicious as to what was going to happen when I saw my fellow countian, Representative Kowalski, preparing to offer a resolution.

I want to assure you that I appreciate the thought in the resolution and its unanimous approval. I can also assure you that I do not need a comb to comb my hair.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 42

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 42, Printer's No. 192.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

On Pennsylvania's soil the First Continental Congress assembled September 5 1774 in Carpenter's Hall at Philadelphia and the Second Continental Congress met in the State House in the same city on May 10 1775 and on the same soil of Pennsylvania the Colonies declared their Independence on July 4 1776 in the greatest state paper of human rights ever penned

In the same Independence Hall on May 14 1787 a convention authorized by the Continental Congress met for the sole and express purpose of revising the Articles of Condeferation was presided over by General Washington and finished its work on September 17, 1787

Again in Philadelphia our forefathers corrected the weakness of its federation and boldly created a government of the people by the people and for the people

Here on Pennsylvania's soil was born the United States of America

The Constitution and its Bill of Rights have given to its people of all bloods and creeds opportunities that in a century and a half have made this the happiest richest and most powerful nation in the world

The growth of the new nation under the Constitution demonstrates a practical sane and tried method for further expansion whereby our guarantees can ultimately be extended to all peoples as they have been to the territorial inclusions of Florida Texas and Louisiana Purchase and the Northwest Territory In this Constitution is the seed for world peace and brotherhood

Since all these great historic events that have made these United States a great nation took place on the soil of this Commonwealth it is fitting that this Geenral Assembly should initiate a call for a more permanent union of the peoples of the world now involved in a great global struggle

The League of Nations the creative dream of a great American President was planned to this end and to secure freedom to all peoples

The wish of our citizens to extend to all the nations of the world the blessings that our form of government has given to America will create in the hearts of all people the weary and downtrodden and all belligerents a hope and a confidence that we of the United States especially need at this time therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That this General Assembly hereby requests His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth to suggest to the President of the United States and the Federal Congress now assembled to proceed by proper action in order to assure a just and durable peace to invite representatives of all free peoples to meet for the purpose of establishing a definite continuing organization to secure and to maintain global peace as a guarantee to all the peoples of the world life liberty and justice and be it further

Resolved That our Governor be further empowered to invite such world deputies when such a convention be called to convene in Independence Hall in the City of Philadelphia by and through the consent of the custodian of that hallowed shrine to the end that such a World Government may be born here on Pennsylvania's soil.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTION RECOMMITTED

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be recommitted to the Committee on Federal Relations.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 35

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 35, Printer's No. 193.

The Resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 9, 1943.

The scarcity of farm labor is threatening the production of food stuffs necessary to the successful prosecution of the war

The greater need of the armed forces for the youth of this Nation has deprived the farm of the labor required to seed and plant and cultivate and harvest the crops required to feed the Nation and our allies

There are now confined in special camps throughout the Nation a large number of strong and capable men whose help on the farm at this time would be of inestimable help in producing the food that will be so much needed during the months that lie ahead These men are the conscientious objectors whose scruples against war have kept them out of military service

A number of farmers working 72 hours a week receive wages far below those paid in any other employment furthering the ends of the war

To utilize the services of these conscientious objectors on the farms of the Nation would assist in the production of food so sorely needed at this time

Resolved That this House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact such legislation consistent with the Constitution of the United States as will be necessary to authorize the utilization of all able-bodied conscientious objectors on the farms of the Nation for the purpose of increasing the production of crops essential to the needs of the people of the Nation and be it further

Resolved That copies of this Resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Representatives and Senators from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JAMES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that it is appropriate at this time to extend to the chairman and the members of the Saint Patrick's Day celebration feast some measure of our satisfaction and gratitude for their labors. I am sure that the spirit of St. Patrick was very much alive and I feel very certain from what I saw that the boys were in the mood. I do not feel that what I say here now is adequate, so I want the House to know that I will take the responsibility for the preparation and introduction of a splendid resolution next week.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETHERICK asked to obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been approached by probably ten different people this morning who attended last night's function, and I daresay that probably sixty percent of the Members of the House who attended that function were made ill as a result of the food that was eaten. Some of the Members were made more ill than others and as a matter of fact a great many of them who are here and others who are not here were affected by that particular function. Personally I think that the matter calls for some investigation. Anything that affects so many Members as this apparently has done calls for some measure of investigation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. REAGAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to suggest to the member from Delaware that in preparing his resolution he do it in a "pharmaceutical" manner.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

Because Thou art to be revered, O God, we approach Thee reverently. Help us to forget for this moment the things that engross our minds, and to contemplate Thy majesty and glory and Thy goodness to us. We are the sheep of Thy pasture. We look to our divine Shepherd for leadership.

Guide us today, and if we stray into forbidden places, restore our souls and enable us to follow the paths of righteousness, for Thy name's sake. These are the paths of honor and peace.

We pray for our loved ones, and for our friends on the battle-fronts of the world. Put underneath them Thy everlasting arms. Bring them home, O Father, when victory is won—and may that be soon—to take up life's duties in an orderly and free world. Sanctify their proved patriotism, and ours, by the spirit of Christ as we pray for hearts of faith and fortitude.

To our President, our Governor and our Lieutenant-Governor grant what Thou knowest they need to equip them to be our leaders under God.

In the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God we come to Thee knowing that the arm of flesh will fail us but confident Thy arm will always help us. As our Legislature is called upon to perform tasks, assume responsibilities and bear burdens, give unto them Thy strength, wisdom and patience. May their decisions work for the common good of all our people. Grant unto the citizens of our country, those within and without the armed forces, a courage so strong, a loyalty so deep, a sacrifice so unmeasured, and a faith so sure that, come what may, the principles of freedom, justice, tolerance and equality which are our heritage from our fathers will not slip or be wrested from our possession but remain safe and secure in our hearts and hands to be given undimished and unimpaired to the generations following us. This we ask in Thy name. Amen.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, March 1, 1943.

The oil reserves of the Nation are being used up faster than oil is being produced.

It has been stated by competent authority that there will be a serious shortage of oil in the future unless new wells are developed.

The development of new wells can be accelerated only by the raising of the present ceiling price on crude oil.

The present profit per well is now so low that there is no incentive for the assumption of the risk attendant upon the drilling of new wells; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Office of Price Administration of the Federal Government to raise the ceiling price on crude oil so that there will be some prospect of profit held out to those who have oil land which could be developed, in order that the production of oil might be increased and the oil reserves of the country be raised, to normal levels; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, before we consider the first reading calendar tonight I want to take issue with the bills that are on the calendar for first reading, not as to their particular merits or demerits, but as a matter of procedure of this House and as a matter of procedure that bears very heavily on the idea of fairness to the people of Pennsylvania and to the members of the Legislature in their efforts to consult with their constituents to determine whether or not bills ought to be acted on favorably or ought to be disapproved by this House.

We are confronted tonight with probably the largest calendar that we have had this year, not that any of this legislation is any more important than the unimportant lgeislation that we have considered up to this time, but this whole situation takes on a very serious note, since at the end of last week's session, the party members stated that the majority party with the approval of the Governor had tentatively agreed on a sine die adjournment for April 29.

I take it, Mr. Speaker, that we are all ready to go into our final drive to attempt to have a short, real, honest-to-God-cooperation-with-t h e-war-effort session, but whether this legislation is important or unimportant, the fact remains that we on this side have been unable intelligently to appraise and study it, we have been unabel intelligently to discuss the legislation at hand back home. We have been unable intelligently to talk to our local officials or talk to any interested constituents, and the reason for this is that the greater part of these bills on first reading tonight is bills which in the main were considered in committee, although the bills were not available in the pink for the consideration and for the study of the members of the committees.

At least the experience on this side has been that consideration was given to bills in committee without giving us a fair chance to take these bills home and to study them. Today the minority party attempted to give intelligent consideration to the bills, and we find that with only one exception the men were unable to tell us what was in the bills until they reached a caucus tonight.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if we are to give you cooperation, if we are to give the Governor cooperation, that cooperation which he has asked for—and he has refused it in the past—but if we are to attempt to give the cooperation which he said it was so necessary to give at the beginning of this session, we insist that there be sufficient time to let us have bills in print and to study them in print, time to debate intelligently and criticize or give our strongest constructive consideration to these measures.

It is not our purpose to delay the consideration of any legislation, but it is understood generally that before a bill comes out, the Committee has acted on the bill. But, Mr. Speaker, when the bills have not been in print it is unfair to anyone on the other side of the House to ask us to vote either "aye" or "no" tonight or tomorrow or even on Wednesday.

The Minority party pledged that it was not going to obstruct the proceedings of this House, and I should say that if the sine die adjournment were not in view, we might be able to delay, take some time out, possibly even pass over the calendar and give us time to study bills. But since there has been a time sine die set for adjournment the minority party will not take the responsibility for having obstructed final adjournment of this House. The minority party said it would be a cooperative minority party, it would be a loyal minority party in the sense that it would be loyal to the people it represents, that it would be liberal in its opposition, not liberal in that we would permit bills to come out on the calendar without proper consideration, but we will do everything within our power, every bit of power we have, to be faithful to liberal concepts and principals of government, and we intend to so continue, whether we have the votes or do not have the votes.

However, I think the situation tonight is serious and the House should debate and consider very carefully whether we shall proceed with the bills on the first reading calendar before we on both sides of the House have had time and opportunity to discuss these bills, and having had this discussion tell you whether we can agree or not agree on these bills.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, just a word in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia. I certainly feel that the men of this side will give every opportunity if he will present a list of bills that were not on file or are not on file that appear on this particular calendar. If they wish to make further study, we are in no way trying to handicap or jeopardize their position. If the gentleman will submit bills that were not on file and could not have been studied, I am sure this side will certainly agree to cooperate.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman from Lehigh got the point. However, the gentleman from Lehigh was using a parliamentary term, and I think the record should have an explanation of the parliamentary term he uses, as it is supposed to apply to the complaint now made.

These bills on the calendar are on file as a rule, and they are on file tonight. However these bills were not on file when they were considered last Tuesday or Monday or possibly last Wednesday, in committee. These bills in great measure were not even in print, or if they were, were not available in the main to the members of the minority.

I repeat again, we do not want to hold up the proceedings of this House, but I think possibly a solution can be arrived at in some measure by passing over the bills we had no chance to examine. If the majority wishes to extend that courtesy there need be no further argument or question, but I think there should be opportunity for further study and further consideration to be given to these bills by the minority.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on first reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for further study.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until the bill passes first reading?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I prefer to have the bill not pass first reading.

The SPEAKER. The bill must pass first reading before a motion to recommit may be accepted.

For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia the Chair will read rule 43: "When bills on first reading are in order, the Speaker shall take up the calendar and announce each bill in the order in which it appears on the calendar. They shall be severally read at length, and agreed to without amendment or debate, and journalized accordingly. No bill after it has once been reported from the Committee shall be recommitted until it has been read the first time."

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on first reading?
It was agreed to.
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I now move that House Bill No. 849, Printer's No. 256, be recommitted to the Committee on Education for further study.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know the reason why the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, would like to have this bill referred back to committee.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I would, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, is there any particular reason why the gentleman would like to have this bill referred back to committee?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, I might answer the question by asking him a question and then answering it. Would the gentleman from Crawford please tell the Members of the House when this bill was introduced?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I think the record speaks for itself. This bill was introduced over a week ago.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand then from the gentleman from Crawford that this bill was introduced last Wednesday, one week ago?

Mr. MAHANY. It was not, Mr. Speaker. However, as I understand it, I am interrogating the gentleman from Philadelphia and not he me.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia asked whether he might ask one question, which the Chair thought would be permitted by the gentleman from Crawford. If the gentleman does not want to go beyond that one question the Chair will consider his objection.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I don't mind if the gentleman sits down.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman correctly when he said that the bill was introduced last Wednesday, a week ago?

Mr. MAHANY. I did not so state, Mr. Speaker. I said over a week ago. I believe the bill was introduced on March 15—March 16, pardon me.

Mr. LEVY. In answer to the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Speaker, I might point out to the Members of the House that House Bill 849 is the first bill under discussion in this House that relates to the Governor's pledge made when he opened the session formally with his opening address in reference to making this a war time session.

Suddenly last Tuesday, or on March 16 if that is the date, as the gentleman says, House Bill 849 came out of committee, and it represented the first real gesture on the part of the administration in relation to child welfare in Pennsylvania. Many months ago when this session opened I introduced on the floor of this House a child care center bill and made a few remarks previous to its introduction. The bill is now in the Committee on Education being seriously studied by an appointed sub-committee.

If it is the purpose or the policy of the Republican party of Pennsylvania during the time a bill is being studied relating to the same subject, having another bill introduced only one week ago reported out on the floor of this House, if that is the proper approach to war time legislation, then I do not believe we understand the Governor's suggestion, so I ask you to recommit this bill to the Committee on Education so that both bills may be studied by the same committee.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to retain the floor?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I have answered the question of the gentleman from Crawford. He asked why I wanted the bill recommitted.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Education has studied this bill and in its wisdom has reported it out, and I believe that every Member here should have the opportunity of voting on it—I mean the State Government Committee rather. Therefore, I wish this bill to stay on the calendar and I ask that the House vote "no" on the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia to recommit.

Mr. LEVY. I might correct the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Speaker, The Committee on Education did not consider this bill, but the Committee on State Government did, as I understand the proper reading of the bill.

Mr. MAHANY. I made the correction, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Probably, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Crawford will have to be convinced of the error in reporting out this bill until the merits of the bill were discussed, but I only want to say to the gentleman from Crawford and to the Republican Members of this House that House Bill 849 is not an answer to the Governor's request to study and pass war time legislation.

As I said before, this bill, House Bill 849, is the first bill in the session that relates to the poor and their needs in Pennsylvania, and I do not think, gentlemen, it would be amiss tonight to show my personal feelings on House Bill 849 to read into the record an article that appears in one of the periodicals in the Commonwealth relative to probably one of the most respected Jurists of all times. This article appeared in a magazine a short time ago in discussing the last active days of the late Mr. Oliver Wendell Holmes.

In this commentary on the last days of former Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes the writer spoke of a visit to his home after he had resigned from the Supreme Court, and a visit was made by the President of the United States. You will recall that the resignation of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes came about immediately after the present President of the United States was elected. On his visit the President and the late Justice discussed many things, and as the President rose to leave the apartment of the Justice he said:

"Mr. Justice Holmes, you are a great American; you have lived a great life, you have seen everything, known everything. What is your advice to me?"

At that the old man so painfully bent during these past years stood straight. It was as if he knew that he had been called upon by one with the right to do so to hand down his last opinion.

"Mr. President," he replied, "You are in a war. I have been in a war. There is only one thing to do in a war, form your battalions and carry the fight to the enemy."

I say, Mr. Speaker, that the words of the late Justice to the President of the United States, facing the great economic crisis of 1933, are applicable to the membership of the House tonight. In House Bill 849 we begin to see the enemies of cooperation in the war effort, and I say to you tonight that we must form our battalions and bring the fight to the enemy.

Why I am so interested in attempting to prevent the passage of House Bill 849 on first reading tonight is because I feel that House Bill 849 is a fraud on the people of Pennsylvania. We all know that the subject of child care in this session is a war time issue in this particular session.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh will state his point of order.

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, I was under the impression that we were discussing the motion to recommit the bill and not the bill.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on the motion to recommit the bill. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am proceeding to give my reasons as to why House Bill 849 should be sent back to the Committee to be studied, and I would appreciate, Mr. Speaker, if the gentlemen on the other side of the House are not the least bit interested in what kind of war program the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is to pursue in the next two years then they might leave the Chamber, but I ask them to show me courtesy and quiet.

The SPEAKER. The question recurs on the motion.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I asked the Chair for the courtesy to inform the membership to give me the courtesy of quiet for the duration of these remarks.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has endeavored to keep order. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 849 provides for a set up in child care which is nothing more than a sop measure to stop decent child care in Pennsylvania. The sponsor of the bill proposes, with administrative sanction, to place into the Office of Civilian Defense the most important agency that will be created in this session. It has been my contention that child care centers should be placed in a permanent department of the state, and through legislation that I have offered child care centers in Pennsylvania would be placed in the Department of Public Instruction.

If the sponsor of the bill or any member of this House can tell me how the welfare of children will be maintained through a voluntary set up in the Commonwealth, through a set up that has no teaching, no training in the welfare of children, against the desire to place it under the supervision of the Department of Public Instruction, then, gentleman, we do not have reason to legislate for children.

I say to the sponsor of the bill tonight, if he is sincere in his efforts—and I believe he is—if he is sincere to give Pennsylvania a proper child care set up bill, he will not sponsor a bill to place child care center in the Office of Civilian Defense. Who comprises the Office of Civilian Defense in Pennsylvania? Voluntary workers, good of heart, generous of design, whose principles are exactly what the name of the organization implies, the creation of a department for the defense of civilians. It is not a department for the care of children, and has no agency which could deal with the question intelligently, and incidentally, Mr. Speaker, the bill carries with it no appropriation to care for this vital need. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, and to the sponsor of the bill and to the members of the majority, this problem is a very vital one. This problem demands the care and the guidance of the best non-partisan agency in the Commonwealth. What better agency could be provided than the agency which cares for our schools in war time and in peace? It is for that very important reason that I plead with the sponsor of the bill tonight to permit this bill to be sent to the Committee on Education along with other bills introduced for this purpose and permit the Committee on Education to bring out the bill they properly think should be brought out.

In addition might I say that I have had an agreement with the Committee on Education in this House that my bill on child care would be given proper study, and I am happy to say tonight that the Chairman of the committee has done just that thing. He sent the bill to a sub-committee for two weeks. It is now in the process of being studied. It is unfair to any Member of this House in the introduction of bills to report out one bill introduced a week ago without proper consideration of a bill introduced three and a half months ago.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, tonight, and I say to the sponsor of this bill, there can be no reason for delaying. The bill could be sent to the committee tonight and studied over the weekend and reported back, if in the wisdom of that committee House Bill 849 is the best bill on the calendar.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I would like to answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy. I would like to invite him to come up to Lehigh County, the city of Allentown and visit the new department that we started there. We certainly did not put it in the Department of Education. We have it where it belongs, with the welfare workers, and I invite the gentleman to drive the fifty-six miles from Philadelphia to Lehigh County and the city of Allentown to see how it works. I thank you.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would remind the gentleman that there is a limit to the number of times he may be heard during the discussion of a single bill.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Levy.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the Speaker that he has oft times ruled that debate should be encouraged, and I say to the Speaker tonight that he has not had on the calendar of the House this session a bill more important than House Bill 849, and with the Speaker's indulgence I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FREED. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh what number of child care centers have been organized in the county of Lehigh.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, we have a number of organizations that have been in operation for a number of years, but we have just started in the last few months—and I might say that the Democratic Judges have been very strong in the movement—we have taken everybody in the town to put on a big movement on child welfare, and that has been going on sixty days or something like that.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, are the various child care centers that have been organized in the county of Lehigh under the supervision of welfare workers of Lehigh County or the office of Civilian Defense of Lehigh County?

Mr. FREED. The welfare workers of Lehigh County.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that House Bill 849 provides that the child care centers in Pennsylvania shall be supervised, managed and directed by the Office of Civilian Defense in Pennsylvania?

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, for my part, in Lehigh, I believe that would be a very good thing, because at the present time the entire cost is borne by Lehigh County or the city of Allentown, and it would then become part of the state cost instead of local cost.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman realize that House Bill 849 provides no appropriation?

Mr. FREED. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Why is the gentleman from Lehigh so anxious for the child care centers in Lehigh County to be governed and managed by the Office of Civilian Defense when they come without funds?

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I have not seen any bill yet that came from the State Government Committee where there was no appropriation in the first place, that they did not take care of it afterwards. That is why the question of appropriation does not interest me at all in the bill.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, apparently the gentleman from Lehigh is now "all bottled up".

Mr. FREED. Not yet, Mr. Speaker. Perhaps a little later.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, from the interrogation of the gentleman from Lehigh the Members of the House can readily see that House Bill 849 has neither been studied by the Republican Members of the House nor have they any idea as far as this bill is concerned what appropriation is to be made to the Office of Civilian Defense, and I would ask if the Majority Floor Leader has any rabbits to pull out of the hat tonight, that he might inform the House what sort of appropriation bill is to be tacked on to House Bill 849.

If the gentleman has no answer, then I ask the House, how can they refuse to entertain a motion to recommit this bill when the bill means nothing in its entirety? The state Legislature is going to enact a child care center bill giving the powers to an organization with no money to function and no money to spend, and I say to you that I am more convinced than ever that House Bill 849 is not only an insult to the intelligence of the Governor of the Commonwealth, but is a fraud on the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, in looking over this bill it appears very evident that someone is making an effort to tie the hands of the Committee on State Defense. How anyone for a moment, as our Governor suggested yesterday, would have the nerve to ask the Council of Defense in this state to act as a nursery for children, I do not know. Perhaps some people need to be bombed to let them know that war is serious and that this war in which we are engaged is dangerous right now.

I intend to support the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy. I think it is well taken. Let us keep the hands of the Committee on State Defense free from entanglements. Let us not shackle them, because God only knows when we are going to call on them to give us the utmost within their power. In our local Councils, in our home towns we have volunteer workers who are giving of their time and their substance to protect us from harm in case of air raids. Certainly it is nothing more than ridiculous to expect those people also to act as nursemaids to children.

If you want to see what happens when you shackle the hands of Civilian Defense, go to Tennessee, where you will find groups of men supposed to take care of children with the result that in the city of Memphis prostitution among girls fourteen years of age was such that the city had to call in federal aid to clean up the hotels. I ask the House to support the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 561, entitled:

An Act to amend section two, of the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 685), entitled "An act designating certain life insurance companies as limited life insurance companies, and further describing the powers thereof," by increasing the amount for which, under certain conditions, such companies may issue policies in the event of death from natural or accidental causes.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mintess, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MINTESS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, in rereading the bill of the gentleman from Philadelphia I note that this bill will affect insurance companies that are now limited to policies of five hundred dollars in this state. I should like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia how many companies in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be affected by this bill?

Mr. MINTESS. I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia know what the outstanding liabilities to policy holders these companies that will be affected by the bill amount to in dollars and cents?

Mr. MINTESS. I cannot answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, know how many claims were filed against these companies in the years 1940, 1941, and 1942?

Mr. MINTESS. There are claims filed against every company, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know, Mr. Speaker, whether the gentleman knows the amount of the claims in dollars and cents filed against these companies.

Mr. MINTESS. Mr. Speaker, I am not in the insurance business and I cannot answer the question.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia one more question. I should like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia as to whether or not he has taken this bill up with the Insurance Department and whether the Insurance Department approves it?

Mr. MINTESS. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, by way of explanation, this motion is being made to conserve the time of the House. The Committee on Education will meet tomorrow to consider these amendments, and when the bill is rereported to the floor it will be on second reading.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lackawanna as to whether or not the Committee on Education is going to consider all of the amendments brought before it tomorrow.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I am quite certain that the Chairman of the Committee on Education will have every amendment offered by any Member of this House considered at the meeting tomorrow, and if in the wisdom of that committee amendments that are offered should be inserted in the bill they will be inserted. If any Member of the House desires to have amendments considered by the House he can present them when the bill comes back on the floor.

Mr. LEVY. I understood, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman to say a moment ago that the bill is to be recommitted for the purpose, and he specifically said, for the purpose of making certain amendments, and that is all. Now I don't know whether the Chairman of the committee or the sponsor of the bill desire to answer the question, but I would like to know whether all of the amendments to House Bill 816 will be considered in detail by the committee.

Mr. CORDIER. I answered that question, Mr. Speaker, very positively by saying that if any Member of the House has any amendments to present he can present them to the chairman of that Committee when it meets tomorrow.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want to know of the gentleman from Lackawanna, and directly so, whether or not he means that we shall consult with the Chairman of the Committee or bring our amendments into the Committee room to be debated and discussed?

Mr. CORDIER. That is within the province of the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Speaker. If the gentleman has amendments he can present them to the Chairman of the Committee. He can make the request to appear before that Committee to discuss his amendments.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of that Committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the Chairman of the Committee on Education as to whether it is the intention of the Chairman of the Committee to hear all amendments offered tomorrow, or just those amendments offered by the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. All amendments, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Cities—Second Class for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SARRAF. I would like to ask, Mr. Speaker, the reasons for the recommittal of this bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, my colleague, Dr. Sarraf, I would like to say there was an agreement in the Committee when the bill was brought out, that after it has passed second reading it would be sent back for further consideration in the committee, for possible amendments.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask another question. This is a very vital bill, to Pittsburgh especially, and to the state, I would like to ask the gentleman, who is also the Chairman of the Committee and the sponsor of the bill, whether this bill will be brought out, and not just be allowed to remain in that Committee.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the gentleman that since I am the sponsor I will bend every effort to bring it back to the floor of the House and I will ask that he help support me on that.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, the Allegheny County delegation on the Democratic side is for this Bill. The people of Allegheny County are for this Bill. It is for the protection of the health of Allegheny County. The sponsor, I believe, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, did not so far as my opinion goes, assure this House that this Bill would come back for our consideration. Will the gentleman give the House that assurance?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, much as I would like to give that assurance to my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, that this bill will come back out, I am not in a position to so do. There are twenty-one other members of the Committeee. I can assure the gentleman publicly with all the force at my command that I will endeavor to bring this bill out and if, as he said, the Democrats from Allegheny County are in favor of this bill, I can assure him it will meet with no obstacles from the Republican Members of Allegheny County because we are unitedly for it.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, it is more or less a custom when you recommit a bill that it is generally for the purpose of permitting it to lay there and die. If I was going to recommit a bill I would require to be pretty well assured that the Committee it was going to would allow it to come out or I would not let it get into their hands.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I want to say a few words in defense of the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, the Chairman of the Committee.

He is just as much in favor of the bill, possibly more so, than anyone of us, but under the agreement made in Committee to recommit the bill, it is necessary, because of that agreement, that it go back.

I might say that I think the Bill was brought out for the purpose of sounding out reaction and all of the reaction has been favorable. We can do no less than honor the agreement made in Committee and I do not think Mr. Fleming should be put in a spot where it looks as though he is doing something to kill his own bill. I can say, Mr. Speaker, that the purpose is merely to honor the agreement entered into among all of us.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, in all fairness to the Chairman of the Committee, the sponsor of the bill, I feel as my colleague from Allegheny County has said, having heard very favorable comment and reaction with regard to this bill, which is vital to the health of Allegheny County, that since the Committee has acted as it has, it is only fair to the rest of the membership to vote to return this bill to Committee. I hope the Committee will take favorable action and return this bill to the floor of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 629, entitled:

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 135, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 250, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph (a) of section one of the act, approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 160), entitled "An act creating a commission to be known as the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission; defining in part the powers and duties of such commission; abolishing The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, terminating the terms of the members thereof, and transferring to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the records, employes, property, and equipment of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; authorizing the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to appear in and complete all pending proceedings, legal or otherwise, instituted before, by or against The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; providing that all certificates of public convenience, contracts, orders, and rules and regulations of the latter commission shall remain effective until repealed, changed or modified by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and transferring and appropriating to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission any unexpended balance of any existing appropriation to The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," by providing that members of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, upon the expiration of their terms may not hold over until their respective successors are duly appointed and qualified.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BENTLEY offered the following amendment:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 3, line 24, by inserting after the word "qualified" the following: "Provided, however, That the Governor shall appoint no member of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to serve in the interim during the time the Senate is not in session."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, this is a most important bill. It comes to this House over the signature of the Senator from Dauphin, the State Chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania. It is a very simple bill in its unamended form. It consists, I believe of but twenty-six words, and it provides, Mr. Speaker, that members of the Public Utility Commission shall not hold office after their term of office has expired. The amendments just offered are short and simple, and this is as it should be also when it is considered that the change as such in the bill is but one sentence long, yet for a complete understanding of the bill and the amendment which has been offered the House must have the background of the matter.

On March 8, Mr. Speaker, the Governor withdrew the name of Dr. Frank Parker from consideration by the Senate for the position as a member of the Public Utility Commission. The commotion incident to the nomination of Dr. Parker was state wide and it was not lessened by the fact that the withdrawal followed and was suggested in a letter by Dr. Parker addressed to Governor Martin, delivered in person to the Governor's Office by G. Mason Owlett, President of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and a utility lawyer. That, however, is now water over the dam. There still remains ample time for the Governor to submit a new candidate as a member of the Public Utility Commission, but to date he has not done so. To date there has only been this bill introduced, by strange coincidence also on March 8, which provides, as I have said, that the incumbent shall not hold over beyond his term of office until his successor is appointed and qualified.

What is the purpose of this bill? What is the necessity? What great urgency exists which prompts the Chairman of the Republican party in Pennsylvania to offer this legislation? The sponsor of the bill, Senator Harvey Taylor, has said on the floor of the Senate, and I quote from the Legislative Journal of the Senate for March 16, 1943, "I want to say there is just one thing in this bill, that is when the term expires of a Public Service Commissioner he expires with it and I think that is right".

Now, Mr. Speaker, if that is all there is to this bill, then there can be no objection to the amendment I have just offered, for that provision is retained and the incumbent Commissioner is through, at the end of his term, on April 1st, just as Mr. Taylor has said is his sole desire. If, however, there are hidden motives behind this bill, then I shall expect opposition to my amendments. For instance, if it is the intention of the Republican party, hard driven by the utility demands, to have the Governor make an interim appointment of a non-qualified and unfit member of the Public Utility Commission, one who cannot stand the light of public scrutiny through Senatorial confirmation, or perhaps even Dr. Frank Parker, then I shall expect opposition to the amendments.

Perhaps, is it the object of this bill in its unamended form to do away forever with the confirmation of members of the Public Utility Commission by the Senate. Certainly this bill goes a long way in that direction in that it attempts to open the doors heretofore closed, permitting interim appointment of members of the Public Utility Commission. What a sorry step that would be! Since 1913 the Senate of Pennsylvania has had the statutory right to check the appointment of members of the Public Utility Commission. But here in one fell swoop, it is suddenly taken away. Where is the love for the system of checks and balances which Republicans so loudly profess? Where is that hatred for the rubber stamps which rings through the halls of Congress whenever a Republican arises? Do you cast aside your love for checks and balances and your hatred for rubber stamps when you cast aside your prerogatives as legislators? I say you are worse than rubber stamps if you permit this bill to pass in its unamended form, for at least those rubber stamps are present and vote. You and your brothers in the Senate will not even be here when and if the Governor makes an appointment to the Public Utility Commission, if these amendments fail. If your hands are clean, if there are no ulterior motives behind this bill, if there is no desire for an interim appointment when the session of 1943 has become history, you will accept these amendments. If not, then confess what you desire, a utility dictated appointment for the Public Utility Commission to be made by the Governor after the close of the session, when the appointee's qualifications cannot be checked. The people of this state, Mr. Speaker, have already witnessed the spectacle of two utility lawyers coming openly from the Governor's mansion with the withdrawal of one Republican nominee in their pocket. If you pass this bill unamended, will the public have the same opportunity to see, after the Senate has adjourned, the same two utility lawyers leave the Governor's mansion with the appointment of a new Public Utility Commissioner in their pockets? If that happens then I say to you gentlemen of the Republican party, return to your constituents, the small businessman, the farmer, the laborer, the consumer, the people who elected you, and explain to them how it was that they were betrayed.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to say that I heard the arguments that I heard today over in the Senate, where they were propounded by Senator Jaspan, who by coincidence appeared in the Hall of the House this evening, but unfortunately, like reading a book, I was not impressed the second time because I had a chance to go into the bill which I did not have at the time it was debated in the Senate.

The gentleman from Allegheny has spoken at some length as to what will happen if the bill passes in its unamended form. I should like to ask him a question or two as to what will happen if the bill passes in its amended form. For that reason I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to say I am prepared and would appreciate the gentleman telling me what happens to the Commission through a vacancy if the bill passes in its amended form? When the vacancy occurs, how can it be filled?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman apparently anticipates that the Governor will not submit to the Senate between this date and April 29th the name of a properly qualified, fit candidate for the position of member of the Public Utility Commission. If the Governor submits such a person he can be appointed, and if the Governor does not see fit to nominate, or is unable to nominate from the ranks of the Republican party a qualified and fit candidate within the period of a month, then if there is a vacancy it lies on the Governor's shoulders.

But the quick answer to the gentleman is that there is no need for a vacancy on the Public Utility Commission, even with the amendments. If the Governor, as every newspaper over most of this state has called upon him to do, offers a suitable candidate, and lets that candidate be submitted for confirmation by the Senate, and of there is an arbitary refusal then we on the Democratic side will accept the responsibility, but I can promise the gentleman there will be no such arbitrary refusal.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would still like to ask the gentleman if the vacancy occurs how it can be filled?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have already answered the gentleman on that point. If the vacancy occurs after the session has adjourned, then it will have to occur, as I have said but there is no need for anything of that sort. Let the Governor merely offer his candidate.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, has it occurred to the gentleman that death strikes us all sooner or later, and it might conceivably strike a member of the commission after we adjourn, and if so, if that happens, how can he be replaced?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I might answer the gentleman by asking him a question, does he think the submission of one name and only one is a sufficient attempt to fill the vacancy on the part of the Governor?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman knows the answer under this amendment, no vacancy could be filled and he dodges the answer, I will ask him what happens if all of them die or meet with a common fatality through a train wreck or an automobile wreck or any other cause, do we still have a Pennsylvania Commission?

Mr. BENTLEY. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that the present act provides for the appointment in case of death by accident or resignation or anything of that sort.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, then it is true that in the following section of the bill it is provided that the Governor may appoint to fill a vacancy, but under this amendment the gentleman said that the Governor shall appoint no member, therefore, I say there is no machinery set up, and if all the members should die or have to leave office for any reason, we would have no Public Utility Commission.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman accept a very readily drawn amendment to take care of that situation, which will still preserve the integrity of the commission?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman interrogate me after I have finished, when I will be glad to answer him?

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman finished with his interrogation?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I have, Mr Speaker.

It seems quite obvious in the confusion and exicitement in answering my questions that the minority is proposing this amendment solely for the sake of a single situation, and by putting in an amendment such as this he would be creating a situation that was far worse than the situation which they accuse us of, putting one man out. Since this amendment would exactly provide that no Public Utility Commission would exist if something should happen to all the members, I say this amendment must be defeated. This Public Utility Commission has been held by the Supreme Court as completely and particularly a legislative body. It amounts to a delegation of legislative authority which the courts have said is an exception to the general rule, and therefore this commission acts as our arm in our absence, and there must be some way in which it can continue despite any emergency. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we are changing no substantive law. As this amendment would change it, it would permit a situation to arise where we would have no Public Utility Commission and I, therefore, ask the membership to oppose the amendment.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to answer the last question of the gentleman from Cambria. The gentleman has supposed a situation in which the membership of the Public Utility Commission, by reason of death or resignation or other calamity has been depleted at a time when the Senate and the House were not in session. He has asked how then could the Governor or anyone fill the vacancy when such occurs. As I reread the amendment and the bill it seems quite clear that that situation would not be covered either by the bill in its present form or in its proposed amended form. As the bill is proposed to be amended, it applies only to an expired term. The act as it reads provides no commissioner upon the expiration of his term as aforesaid, and refers merely to the lapse of time caused by the expiration of the term. So, it is not intended and would not contemplate such a situation if through an accident a vacancy did occur through death or resignation before the end of the term. The bill as presently drawn merely shuts off a term when it expires through lapse of time, and it is in that situation and only in that situation the the Governor would be prevented under my amendment from making an interim appointment.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I cannot arrive at the same legal interpretation of the act that the gentleman from Alleheny has placed upon it. I cannot as a member of a legislative body legislate on the life of a legislative arm or to permit an opportunity to arise where a court might agree with me in arriving at a different interpretation than the gentleman's. I say that we here dare take no chances to ever allow this Public Utility Commission to be in a position where it is hampered in the exercise of its functions.

I suppose the situation which I have him was rather unusual of five men going out of office, but suppose that only two or three went out; it is quite conceivable that the remaining members would be so overburdened with their work that they could not possibly carry it on. I, therefore, repeat I cannot go along with this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Bentley and Mr. Cohen and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 686, entitled:

An Act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Whereas The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania here heretofore made a legislative finding of fact that "milk is the most necessary human food vital for the promotion of the public's health and for development of strength and vigor in the race" and

Whereas Butter produced from pure unadulterated milk has a recognized food value unequalled by any imitation product made from other substances and

Whereas By the act of May 23 1893 (P. L. 112) the use or purchase by or the sale to or the furnishing to the inmates of any charitable or penal institution in Pennsylvania of any article designed to take the place of butter produced from pure unadulterated milk or cream from the same or of any imitation or adulterated butter was prohibited and made unlawful and

Whereas Due to the present war effort and to the exportation of vast quantities of butter to our Allies there is a present shortage of butter and such charitable and penal institutions are presently unable to purchase adequate supplies of butter for the use of the inmates of such institutions and

Whereas It may become necessary for a limited period of time for such institutions to supplement the available supplies of butter through the purchase and use of imitation butter or oleomargarine

Section 1 The provisions of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 112) are hereby modified and suspended as follows

(1) Any charitable or penal institution shall not use or furnish to its inmates any imitation butter or oleomargarine when adequate quantities of butter are available or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets

(2) In the event adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets each such institution shall purchase all of the butter which is available or obtainable

(3) In the event of the rationing of butter as a part of the war effort any such institution shall purchase the full amount of butter apportioned to its inmates and to its employes residing within the institution

(4) In the event that adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets or through rationing any such institution may purchase sufficient quantities of imitation butter or oleomargarine to supplement the quantities of butter so available

(5) Each charitable or penal institution so purchasing imitation butter or oleomargarine shall keep full and accurate records of all purchases of imitation butter or oleomargarine showing the date and amount of such purchase the amount paid and the name and address of the person partnership or corporation from whom purchased and on or before the fifteenth day of each month shall file with the Secretary of Agriculture of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a report giving such information in detail of the purchases so made during the preceding month together with information of the total quantity of butter purchased during that period

Section 2 Any persons knowingly violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or imprisonment not exceeding two years for each offense or both at the discretion of the court

Section 3 This act is a temporary act and shall be effective only for a period of two years after its enactment

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 41

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 41, Printer's No. 191.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 15, 1943.

Whereas Food is of major importance to the prosecution of the war on the battle front and the home front and

Whereas Food is essential for our Allies and our occupied territories and

Whereas The production of food for 1943 is gravely impaired by shortage of manpower lack of availability of farm machinery repair parts and insufficient apportionment of fuel to the agencies from which the farmers are accustomed to procure it and

Whereas New machinery supplies for 1944 will greatly effect the extent to which farmers will use up their machinery this year and

Whereas Decreased farm production combined with necessary shipments to our Allies and to the inhabitants of our occupied territories and with greatly increased consumption by our armed forces will lead to domestic food shortage approaching serious proportions that may easily affect our war production centers and

Whereas Pennsylvania is America's ninth largest agricultural State being first in the value of its poultry products and fourth in dairy products potatoes apples and peaches and

Whereas Pennsylvania's farm manpower shortage is especially aggravated by the extent and State-wide distribution of its war production industries which draw from farm areas in all sections of the State and

Whereas Pennsylvania's producing farms which supply the cities and the military forces are all mechanized and

Whereas The great majority of these mechanized farms are dependent upon young highly skilled workers who have grown up with the mechanization of the farms during the past 20 years and a large number of whom are now in military service and

Whereas It would require years of training to replace these young men without whom it is absolutely impossible for Pennsylvania's mechanized farms to maintain their previous production not to speak of increasing that production therefore be it

Resolved (If the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania respectfully requests Governor Edward Martin to appeal to the President of the United States as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to furlough immediately to Pennsylvania farms the necessary critical skilled farm workers to maintain previous production and if possible increase it and be it further

Resolved That the Governor request the President of the United States to use his authority as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to demand that the necessary farm machinery repair parts shall be made available immediately in necessary quantities to the farmers of the State through their accustomed dealers and that fuel for farm machinery shall be authorized and made available at once in sufficient quantities to farmers through the agencies from which they are accustomed to procure it without the use of involved forms and be it further

Resolved That the Governor shall be asked to request the President of the United States to use his authority to demand that sufficient steel shall be allocated in proper time to farm machinery manufacturers to produce the necessary machinery to replace that which will be worn out by all-out use of present machinery during 1943.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, if I may I would like to speak briefly to this resolution.

In the tremendous enlargement of federal bureaus and personnel to manage and regiment our lives with a purpose of better winning the war, there has come so much confusion as to endanger the very course of the struggle.

Priorities, ceilings, subsidies, limitations of crops, the killing of food animals, the ploughing under of other crops, and now the draft have greatly crippled war production. In all of this confusion the farmer has suffered the most. His skilled help has been taken into the armed forces and his sons continue to go. He cannot get machinery parts and is restricted to distraction in gasoline rationing. The farm machinery industry has been so hampered in the denial of critical materials to its use as to make production for 1943 farm machinery almost an impossibility, and has created a very critical condition.

Pennsylvania farmers need about 10,000 of their skilled help back home. These men should be sent back from the Army and their ranks replenished from the great horde of clerks cluttering up the departments at Washington and causing further impediment to winning the war. The rest of the experienced farm boys yet to be called should ge assured of the fact that they are to stay home to do a job.

Unskilled labor will be recruited from the youth in the schools. Hours of schooling will have to be arranged to suit the crop season and demands.

The Governor has appointed a commission, headed by the Secretary of Agriculture and with him the Superintendent of Public Instruction and through them and under the advice of the rest of the Board they will personally through the agencies now set up in the Commonwealth work to provide this help. In the schools the vocational training department will be asked to pick the boys from the town and city schools physically able to go on the farm. The Boy Scout Councils will cooperate in having Scouts do their part, and there are none better fitted than trained Scouts to take up emergency work. The state college extension bureaus through the local farm agents will direct and head this work, and each county superintendent of schools will have his part to do in this plan.

Norman Wood and I have introduced a bill giving the commission of the Governor's a legal status, and for their use the sum of $250,000 to provide the extra expenses which will be entailed by the farm agent offices, the county superintendent of public instruction or the use of the teachers colleges or private college dormitories and Boy Scout camps for the housing of these youths for distribution through the various farm areas.

The Pennsylvania farmer has every confidence in the State Department, and with this practical set-up, Governor Martin, who is at once a trained organizer of men, will soon have the Pennsylvania farmer growing his crops and harvesting them in this crisis.

The soldiers, the war workers, the business men and all their families must be fed. Soldiers cannot fight without food any more than they can without arms and equipment. The factory cannot produce tanks, planes, shells, and guns without well-fed workers. And the stores throughout the nation must be supplied with the necessary edibles.

Napoleon said that an army moves on its belly; and I say that the war worker must ride to work on a full dinner pail. In all of our war effort and purpose to do our job as Americans generally so thoroughly do it, the Federal Government has left weakest the one link which should be strongest of all in our plan to win the war: that of the food producer. The dairy man and the mechanized farmer needs to have his organization kept intact.

It would be well for the President of the United States to give to the farm boys, as well as to heroes from the battlefield and to industry the penants which they fly from their standard head, some badge of merit in order to give them the sense of patriotic equality emphasized in other war pursuits.

This resolution is a plea for the Commander-in-Chief of the Armed forces of the United States to strengthen the arm of the farmer and to give him his proper place in the war effort, particularly for Pennsylvania where the farm industry makes this great Commonwealth one of the leaders of the nation. As we may be the arsenal of America, so, too, are we one of the great food stores of America.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the Resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am introducing a Bill this evening amending the Public Assistance Act, which as you may know, was first enacted in 1937 and amended in 1939. It appeared to me that a brief summary of the proposed amendments in this bill might be in order at this time.

These amendments were prepared after much consideration as a result of the experience gained in the administration of Public Assistance, not only in Pennsylvania, but other states as well. Nothing revolutionary is intended in the bill and it contains nothing new or untried. The guiding principle underlying these amendments offered is that assistance should be administered in such a way and manner as to encourage self-respect, self-dependency and the desire to be a good citizen and useful to society.

This measure does not disturb Civil Service, nor the organizational set-up of the Department of Assistance on either the State or County level. It does not make possible the introduction of politics in the administration of Public Assistance. The power of the Department of Public Assistance with the approval of the State Board to fix maximum grants, to determine legal eligibility or prescribe the type of records and reports to be kept and made by the local boards, is retained.

The bill does provide for the following changes on the State level:

(1) It eliminates the requirements that milk shall be included in assistance grants.

(2) It provides that the power of the State Board shall be regulartory and advisory, but not administrative or executive.

(3) The five-year residence requirement for eligibility for Old-Age Asisstance is amended so as to make it possible for old people to move from one state to another and receive needed old-age assistance in the new state after a years' residence, provided reciprocal arrangements have been made between such states.

(4) It authorizes the granting of assistance for special needs of individuals, eligible for assistance, to relieve sufferings and distress arising from handicaps and infirmities.

(5) An amendment to the Support Law relieving the responsibility of grandparents and grandchildren for the support of each other is taken care of in separate bill already introduced.

The following changes are provided on the County level:

(1) It gives to the local boards the power to determine the number and qualifications of its employees and to direct and supervise their services, so as to attain the maximum degree of efficiency.

(2) It provides that County Boards shall be composed of the same number of members as the present law provides, but where there are seven members, the Governor shall appoint three, the Court of Common Pleas two, and the remaining two shall be the County Commissioners, one of whom shall be the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, and the other shall be a member of the opposite party; where there are eleven members, the Governor shall apoint five, the Court of Common Pleas four, and the remaining two shall be the County Commissioners, as aforesaid. The terms of the appointed members are staggered.

(3) The Counties are required to participate financially in the County cost of Public Assistance by paying 10% of the total State Cost of the grants and administration within the county, but in no case shall a county be required to pay a sum exceeding one mill of the last adjusted valuation of taxable property on which county taxes are levied.

(4) This law shall be effective July 1, 1943, but as to financial participation by the counties, it shall be January 1, 1944.

It is interesting to know that financial participation by the counties will mean that approximately $4,000,000 in the aggregate will thus be paid annually by the counties based upon the estimate for 1944, and that in the case of 42 counties, the financial obligation will be less than one mill, and in 25 counties it will be one mill.

It is suggested that further study be made of all the Welfare Services in the counties with a view of integrating and co-ordinating the services, so as to affect the greatest degree of efficiency and economy. It would be advisable to consolidate Public Assistance, institutional, and other welfare services, so as to be administered by a single agency in each county under the general supervision of the State.

There are other matters that require consideration, such as the consolidation of the Department of Public Assistance and Welfare, and that the Civil Service examination questions should be prepared with consultation of the local boards of assistance.

I hope it is obvious that the purpose of these amendments in part is to improve the administration of Public Assistance by stimulating interest and cooperation on the part of local officials, individual citizens, and welfare groups. A vigorous local government makes for better citizenry and insures the preservation of democracy.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. NORMAN WOOD offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1943.

Yesterday was a great day in Saucon Township in the County of Lehigh. Church bells pealed, the sun shone, and all the folk donned their Sunday clothes for it was not only Sunday, but also the birthday of Squire Lichtenwalter, who is known among us as the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Majority Floor Leader of this House.

Frank was born in Palmerton on March 28th, 1910, attended the public schools of Palmerton, Upper Saucon Township and Allentown High School, after which he became a student at the McCarrie School of Mechanical Dentistry.

After finishing school he engaged in the insurance business and in 1935 was elected Justice of the Peace of his home township, showing at the early age of twenty-five that he was destined for leadership.

Our leader is President of the Southern Lehigh Republican Club, a Trustee of the Pennsylvania Association for the Blind, an Honorary First Defender of Allentown, and a member of the Grange, Junior Order United American Mechanics, Lions Club and American Business Club.

This business of leadership finally brough him to this House as a member in 1939; he has appeared regularly ever since, and in three sissions has reached the heights; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extends to its majority leader its congratulations upon his accomplishments prior to having reached his thirty-third year, its best wishes for his further success, and its hopes for the return of many more similar celebrations of his natal day, and in further testimony of our high regard for our leader, we request the Chief Clerk to furnish the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter with a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate very much the resolution which has been presented and adopted. Birthdays, I believe, become more enjoyable as one grows older and takes on greater responsibilities in life. I well remember in my younger days before the era of the automobile, child care centers, public utility commissions and all of those things, and because of the conditions that we find ourselves in today, brought about by the war gas rationing and all of these many things, I certainly want to assure you that I enjoy this birthday as I did in the good old days.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as a further tribute to the birthday and its enjoyment by the Majority Floor Leader, I am thankful that the hour of twelve has struck and we are one minute past, so that what I have to say may not disturb the fond recollection of subsequent enjoyment by the gentleman from Lehigh.

Mr. Speaker, I do hesitate at this late hour, but the statements made previous to the congratulatory resolution by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg, have compelled me to make a few brief remarks. You will recall that some time ago the Governor appointed a committee, and the purpose of this committee was to study the relief situation in Pennsylvania. Peculiarly enough, I had intended addressing the House on the subject tonight but because of the long calendar and the great amount of work that had to be done I deferred and had expected to address the House tomorrow, but since the gentleman from Erie has made a statement on a bill which he has introduced tonight, concerning the relief setup of Pennsylvania, I feel that the appropriate place for my remarks would be close to his. On many of the proposals discussed by the gentleman, I feel that most everyone can be in hearty accord. For instance we are thankful that civil service will not be disturbed. I wonder what the Governor thinks of that. Certainly the Democratic party, I think, is going to say that finally we are victorious when we find that the majority is getting rid of the old milk provision of the law which was so strenously fought by us ever since its inception in 1939.

I will comment very briefly and say that without reading the bill I should not like to be quoted as an authority, but it seems to me that this new setup of local relief boards and putting the politicians in, county commissioners—and I assume that both Democratic and Republican county commissioners are political—it seems to me to be just a little bit of what we should not have in the Pennsylvania relief setup. Pennsylvania has been blessed with a non-political relief administration, and we propose to keep it that way.

It seems to me further that the thing I warned against some time ago is now about to come to pass. When the Governor some time ago made a suggestion, I believe in his address to the Legislature, or possibly publicly after that, that relief should be returned to the counties, I expressed a great deal of concern on the subject, I think both here and publicly. I said that the system could not work and it should not work, because we ought to keep local politics out of relief.

The proposal as outlined by the gentleman from Erie refers to putting politicians into county relief boards, and he talks about contributions by the counties, which is an opening wedge, we fear, for a general drive to return relief to the counties. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether if there had been minority representation on the Governor's committee to study this question of relief, the voice of the minority might have been able to pave the way to keep these political provisions out of the proposed legislation. The Governor at one time publicly said it was a mistake in not permitting the minority to have a voice on the committee. I expected after he had publicly admitted that mistake that he would rectify the mistake by appointing minority representation to further study the question, but now, Mr. Speaker, it is very apparent that the cat is out of the bag. The Governor never wanted minority representation on that committee, because he did not want to give the minority an opportunity to debate in committee, the special committee, the question of local relief and politics mixed up with it. We have taken the position that there should be no politics in relief. We have taken the position that the burden of relief should be borne by the state, where it has been and where it properly should be for real integrated coordination. There has been no objection to relief in this state, there has been no scandal, and this is no time to change it. I think we were kept off the committee because if we had been on the committee we might have been able to go out to the various counties and secure such a scourage of protest against any such plan at this late hour in the session that such plans would not be forced upon the Legislaturc and through them upon the people.

When the bill reaches the committee I trust that committee will carefully read it, and I hope the committee may find time to have a public hearing to allow the public charities association and other non-partisan and public spirited people to come forward and express their approval or disapproval. We should have real debate and real consideration in the committee, so that the political aspects of the bill may be eliminated entirely and Pennsylvania may continue to be proud of its non-political and high standards of relief administration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARRAF asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, some weeks ago I introduced a very important resolution into this House. In Pittsburgh particularly where I represent a group and where I practice medicine, with rationing, with congestion of travel, and with the limitations on food, disease which in former years has cost more lives than the guns and ammunition, is a very important and vital thing. I introduced this resolution asking the State for no appropriation, for no money to be expended, to adopt a system whereby throughout the state, with the aid of local communities, mills that have their setup, schools and otherwise, the farmer, laborer and the school children might be protected. This resolution has gone to a committee. I feel, gentlemen, that it is important on my part as a member of this House to warn our state, especially our Health Department that it is imperative that they go into this optional inoculation and examination of the workers and students of this state. You all know that today in infancy the doctor advises you to have your child inoculated. As a medical man I know, and it is the opinion of others, that this inoculation may be good for five or seven years. Vaccinations are limited. Your child after the first year is at school at six or five years of age, depending upon the school district. After five or six years have elapsed that child may be in the presence of others who may be carriers, yet if the mother is not intelligently instructed there is a possibility of spread of many of the communicable diseases. As I say, I issue this as a warning to our State, the greatest industrial state in the Union, about a very vital thing. If an epidemic were to arise in our state, the burden of it naturally would rest locally, but then again we, the legislative body, can ask our State Health Department, with no appropriation asked for it, with all the aid all the way down to the lowest and smallest municipality, to enter into a very vigorous campaign wherein we protect everybody in this all-out war. I thank you.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the deadline for the introduction of bills was supposed to have been on the fifteenth day of March of this year?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct. There was a resolution to that effect. For the information of the gentleman bills which have been certified by the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau in writing, with the knowledge of the Minority and Majority Leaders were permitted to be presented after preparation by the Reference Bureau, when preparation had been rquested before the fifteenth day of March.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, all bills that were sent for preparation and writing to the Legislative Reference Bureau by March 15, 1943, were permitted to be introduced on the floor of this House, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, would you tell the members of the House what the number of Mr. Van Allsburg's bill is tonight?

The SPEAKER. The bill was introduced tonight, and the Chair is unable to give the gentleman definite information, but the number will probably be 1071.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not House Bill 1071, if I may call it that, was sent to the Legislative Reference Bureau before the deadline of March 15th.

The SPEAKER. It is on my certified list.

Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, attest to the fact that it is on the certified list?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have my list here; it is in my office, but if my memory serves me correctly, there is a reference to a bill by Mr. Van Allsburg and I believe it referred to Public Assistance but I would not swear to it. However if the Speaker has it on his list, of which I do not have a copy, I will say that it is so.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, attest that this bill has been certified to by the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I took the time this afternoon to check my list and I find that the Bureau certified Mr. Van Allsburg's bill, together with one other bill which was requested before March 15th.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want to understand the ruling of the Chair correctly, because I want to know whether or not the introduction of a bill is permitted, even though it might not have been sent to the Legislative Reference Bureau by March 15th, or whether or not the resolution intended to convey to the members of the House the impression that if there had been an agreement by the Minority and Majority leaders and that agreement was forwarded to the Speaker, as to whether or not then, even though it had not been sent to the Bureau and presented subsequent to March 15th, if such a bill would have been permitted to have been introduced?

Bear in mind, Mr. Speaker, I am not going to question the integrity of the Speaker, neither am I going to question the integrity of the Majority Leader, nor the integrity of the sponsor of the bill. If they say they have an agreement that is all right. I think this subject is important enough—Mr. Speaker, I did not include probably the loud ejaculations from the other side of the House, because I did not mention my esteemed colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, but I want to say that his answer was that he did not remember, so I have excluded his name. But the Speaker said that he did not recall that is was on his certified list.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LEVY. I yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair said it was on the certified list.

Mr. LEVY. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, I have no doubt it was and I believe you and I believe also the Majority Leader if he said it was, and I also believe the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until we inquire of the sponsor of the bill?

Mr. LEVY. I yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg, also certify that this bill was in the hands of the Reference Bureau prior to March 15th?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. It is quite impossible to present a bill to the Reference Bureau before it is written, Mr. Speaker, so I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia that this bill was in the making. I had conferences with the Director and talked to him about what changes would be necessary, and specifically asked him to provide the bill. The request was formally made for the introduction of the bill, so that there would be no mistake about it. Won't you please believe me?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I certainly will. I have the list in my hand now; it has just been given to me by the Minority Floor Leader, in reference to the bills that were requested from the Legislative Refernce Bureau, and I might say to the gentleman from Erie and to the Majority Leader that it does have reference in the list to a revision of public assistance by Mr. Van Allsburg. Now, I am clear on that question.

Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Erie as to wehther or not the reference to the revision of the public assistance law might not carry with it the possibility that this closed, special, secret sub-committee on relief might in the near future decide that they have not emasculated the Goodrich Plan enough, and that they might again introduce amendments for the revision of the Public Assistance law. In other words Mr. Speaker, the list carries with it a general term—"Revision of Public Assistance Law." What guarantee have we tonight that next week there may not be additional emasculations of the Goodrich Public Assistance Law of 1937?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not accept any such bill at this date and refer it to committee or that has not been certified to.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I again repeat that I have every confidence in the world in what you say, and I know you would not have permitted the introduction of House Bill 1071 tonight had it not been certified, but I say to you under the certification the general term of "Revision of Public Assistance Laws" what assurance have we that this secret sub-committee of the Welfare Committee of the House will not between now and next week further attempt to emasculate the Goodrich Plan of 1937?

I am not questioning the Speaker's integrity when I ask that question, but I have a perfect right to ask the gentleman from Erie; is this the end of his emasculation; is this the end of his tearing apart of the one decent, constructive, progressive relief bill ever placed on the statute books of Pennsylvania? If this is not the end, we in the Democratic party want to know where the Republican party stands. In other words, if we are going to have more, we want to know it, but certainly the general terms is an agreement, "Revision of Public Assistance Law," does not tie the Chairman of the Welfare Committee down to the amendments offered tonight. He may come in next week and sponsor other amendments. We want to know where this secret sub-committee stands and I have a right to an answer.

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, I do not see why the gentleman from Philadelphia is so much concerned about what is going to take place in the future. What will take place in the future has nothing to do with the question. We are deciding the question whether this bill was in order to be introduced, and it was in order. Proof has be presented of that, and I cannot see why we want to borrow any more trouble.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I would say had the agreement permitted that there were to be so many amendments to a certain bill, or had the agreement been written that these specific amendments were to be introduced, I might say that that would be specific and final, but he still has a wide latitude, and I am not satisfied.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that no one can introduce a bill without the unanimous consent of the House of Representatives; no one can introduce amendments without unanimous consent of this House.

There is still another way that legislation could be introduced; a rule would have to be suspended. A bill could not be filed with the Clerk nor would the Speaker refer it under any other circumstances.

Mr. LEVY. I think the introduction of these amendments is serious enough, and I again repeat, what assurance do we have that the gentleman from Erie, the Chairman of this Committee will not come in next week and say he has still further amendments to emasculate the Public Assistance Act of 1937? Bear in mind that the gentleman from Erie has not answered the question: is this the final set of amendments to the Public Assistance Law of 1937? Under the agreement made by the minority floor leader he has a wide latitude. He might come in a few weeks from now and introduce another bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already informed the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, how bills can be introduced.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from Erie asked unanimous consent to introduce Bill 1071?

The SPEAKER. Because it was on this authorized list he was not required to get unanimous consent.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is your interpretation of the revision of the Public Assistance Law specific enough to exclude any other amendments that might be offered in the future?

The SPEAKER. In the form of bills, absolutely yes.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, every amendment introduced in this House is in the form of a bill. We do not introduce an amendment as amendment A or amendment B; we introduce amendments as bills, with a number.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is trying to be very tolerant. Statements may have been made which were somewhat doubtful, so the Chair will endeavor to further clear the atmosphere. The Chair will inquire of the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg, whether he will consent to be interrogated by the Chair?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Is this a bill coming from the Committee appointed by the Governor or is it your own personal bill?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. I introduced it in my own name, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That was all. The Chair simply wanted to clarify the situation, and be even more tolerant to the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. LEVY. I certainly appreciate every courtesy you have extended to me, but Mr. Speaker, I asked for an answer.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to assure the gentleman from Philadelphia that on the list which he has in his hand, there is a bill which was introduced this evening, which came under the resolution adopted concerning the final day for the introduction of bills on March 15. Certainly there will be no bills introduced in the future affecting this particular subject, and I want to assure him that if there are I will join with him in objecting to their introduction.

Mr. LEVY. I whole heartedly appreciate the answer of the Majority Leader. It was clear cut and it was specific. That is exactly the answer that I wanted. I thank you.
